Informal Problem Consultation
Learning Objectives for the IPC Presentation at the Conference:

1. Learn effective strategies for managing problematic interns in a way that might feel both fair and transparent to them.
2. Learn effective strategies for developing remediation plans for problematic interns who are evidencing weaknesses in their development of specific competencies commensurate with the training goals of the internship.
3. Learn effective strategies for managing the impact of unanticipated life events among interns (e.g., intern pregnancies, illnesses, family issues)
4. Learn about the informal problem consultation process that is available to APPIC members, trainees, applicants, and doctoral programs.
2012 IPC - APPIC Informal Problem Consultation

Please refer to APPIC policies governing the Informal Problem Consultation (IPC) process. These can be found at the following link: http://www.appicdev.info/ProblemConsultation.aspx

This consultation form should be used by APPIC Members, APPIC Doctoral Program Associates (DPAs) and psychology trainees that are enrolled in or completing one of these programs.

Please complete the following information. When you click on submit, the information is submitted to an APPIC Central Office database. Information will be provided to the APPIC Board or Executive Director (usually the chair of APPIC) for match release issues. It is expected you will be contacted within 24 Hours of your submission but not longer than 3 days. If contact information is missing APPIC will have no way to contact you. You may wish to print a copy for your records.
