INTRODUCTION

The Association of Psychology Postdoctoral and Internship Centers (APPIC) is an educational, non-profit organization with the mission of enhancing internship and postdoctoral training programs in professional psychology. Members are independent agencies conducting or sponsoring internship or postdoctoral training programs, with over 800 programs represented. The Association of Psychology Internship Centers (APIC) was formed in 1968 to bring order to the process of internship selection by publishing a directory of programs and to begin the development of national intern selection procedures. In 1991, APIC changed its name to APPIC adding postdoctoral training programs. In 1999, APPIC developed the national computer match for internship placement and in 2000 developed the APPIC Application for Psychology Internships (AAPI). In 2011 APPIC moved their Central Office from Washington, DC to Houston, Texas.
APPIC Mission Statement

The Association of Psychology Postdoctoral and Internship Centers (APPIC) is committed to enhancing internship and postdoctoral training in professional psychology.

To accomplish this mission, APPIC:

1. Develops minimum standards for quality internship and post-doctoral training programs.

2. Facilitates the development of new internship and postdoctoral programs.

3. Develops selection policies and procedures to facilitate a fair and orderly process of matching applicants with internship programs.

4. Publishes a directory of internship and postdoctoral programs in professional psychology that meet APPIC membership standards.

5. Facilitates the placement of unmatched internship applicants through the APPIC Post Match Vacancy Service.

6. Promotes the discussion of relevant selection and training issues for interns and postdoctoral fellows.

7. Facilitates, through both formal and informal mechanisms, problem consultation for issues and problems that arise during selection or training of interns or fellows;

8. Develops relationships with professional associations committed to doctoral and postdoctoral training and other aspects of professional psychology;

9. Facilitates the exchange of information between doctoral programs and agencies offering internship and/or postdoctoral training in professional psychology;

10. Represents the views of internship and postdoctoral agencies to relevant groups and organizations in professional psychology.

11. Disseminates information on experiential training to members of the psychology community.

12. Encourages research in the areas of psychology training and supervision.
APPIC MEMBERSHIP

APPIC is not an accrediting agency. Programs that would like to include their membership in written materials may list their programs as “APPIC member,” but not as “APPIC accredited” or “APPIC approved.” APPIC membership indicates that a program meets all membership criteria and conforms to APPIC policies.

APPIC WEBSITE

Since 1997, APPIC has offered a website (www.appic.org) on the World Wide Web as a service to members, psychologists, graduate students in professional psychology, peer associations, and the public. The APPIC website is available without restriction to anyone who has WWW access. The goals of the website are to create an efficient, professional information tool for psychologists, and to publish information quickly so that it is available to all that are interested – consistent with APPIC’s objectives as an association.

The website contains the following “pages” or sections:

ABOUT APPIC
- Joining APPIC; Organizational Information; APPIC Policies;
- APPIC Mission Statement; Member and DPA Surveys;
- Postdoctoral; APPIC Membership Conferences; News

MATCH
- About the Match; APPIC Match Phase II; Post Match Vacancy Service; Match Policies; MATCH-NEWS E-mail List; Match Statistics; National Matching Services Web Site;

DIRECTORY ONLINE
- About the APPIC Directory; Stats & Other Directories; APPIC Directories (PDF Copies); Access the Directory Online; APPIC Member Directory Login

PROBLEM CONSULTATION
- General Information – Problems; Informal Problem Consultation Form; Intern Exploitation

The APPIC website is used to publish the results of membership ballots (Board elections, Committee appointments, policy changes, revisions in membership criteria), membership alerts, survey results, and other fast-breaking news of interest to psychologists involved in doctoral and postdoctoral training in professional psychology. In addition, the website has APPIC membership application forms, information about the Match Program, and access to the APPIC Directory online. The information available on APPIC’s website will be the most up-to-date that APPIC has to offer.

Permission is granted to other websites with related interests to link to this URL: http://www.appic.org.
APPIC POST-MATCH VACANCY SERVICE

Since 1976, APPIC has offered a professional psychology internship placement "clearinghouse" that provides information about internship positions that are still available after APPIC Match Day which is now called the Post Match Vacancy Service (PMVS). Instructions for using the APPIC Post-Match Vacancy Service can be found on the APPIC website (www.appic.org). APPIC added a Match II in addition to the computer match. Details regarding the APPIC Match and Match II can be found in the following sections.

APPLYING FOR MEMBERSHIP IN APPIC

Agencies sponsoring doctoral internship and/or postdoctoral training programs that are interested in joining APPIC should write to APPIC Central Office or access the application forms on the website (www.appic.org). The application fee is $300 and must be received prior to committee review. Membership applications and application fees must be received by Central Office by April 1 or September 1 of each year. Applicants must meet criteria listed in the policy section of this directory. Once approved, members receive all benefits listed for members below. Membership in APPIC is required for listing in the APPIC Directory. In addition, to be included in the Directory, APPIC policy requires that each member's listing is updated each year and dues and fees are in good standing. Directory updates are completed online by accessing the member page after accessing the Directory Online from the APPIC website. A program code and password will be included in acceptance materials sent to new members in order to access their member page on the Directory Online. In addition to the yearly update, APPIC members can update their Directory page online at any time. Programs that list information that is out of date or has not been updated are subject to removal from the APPIC Directory Online.

APPIC PUBLICATIONS AND SERVICES

Universities and schools offering doctoral programs in psychology can become Doctoral Program Associates (DPA) with APPIC for $225 per year plus a $100 Match Fee. DPA programs have access to the APPIC Newsletter, and the program is offered access to DPA News email list. In addition, Directors of Clinical Training (DCTs) from APPIC Doctoral Program Associate sites whose students participate in the APPIC Match will receive notification directly from National Matching Services as to where their students have been matched. Students from Doctoral Program Associate sites receive a $30 discount on the APPIC Directory Online fee due at the time of the Match (all students participating in the Match are required to pay a fee for the Match and the Directory Online).

An APPIC DPA form can be found on the APPIC website (www.appic.org) - click on the Joining APPIC link for more information.

APPIC DIRECTORY

APPIC Directory is available in a PDF Format on the APPIC Web. To access the electronic file go to our web address www.appic.org.

Doctoral Program Associate application forms, and payments can be made online or checks should be sent to APPIC Central Office at the address listed below.

APPIC Central Office
17225 El Camino Real,
Suite 170
Houston, TX 77058
(832) 284-4080 Fax: (832) 284-4079

DIRECTORY INCLUSION CRITERIA

1. In order to be included in the Online or Print Directory dues must be paid by April 1st each year. Inclusion in the PDF Directory also requires that the Training Director, or his/her designate, update their program and user information by a designated date in the spring of each year.

2. Certain items of information are critical to applicants and/or are required by APPIC policies. These items are marked with an asterisk in the Directory Online update page. Member updates cannot be submitted for editor approval without entries in each of these required fields. Editor approval is required each year during a designated update period in the spring for the program updates to be included in the PDF Directory and to be viewed on the Directory Online.
3. A program’s Training Director may make changes to its Directory OnLine listing at any time. Each Training Director is responsible for ensuring that the program’s information listed in the APPIC Directory is accurate and up-to-date. APPIC takes no responsibility for inaccurate or outdated information or for information that has been incorrectly entered by the program. Programs are subject to removal from the Directory On Line if information is out of date or program dues have not been paid prior to April 1.

4. Each APPIC member is entitled to one listing in the Directory. Consortia or collaborative programs and single programs with separate tracks must designate a single Training Director and chief psychologist for their single Directory listing.
APPIC POLICIES

APPIC MEMBER POLICY

Adopted 1994

1. APPIC member programs conform to the basic ethical requirements of the profession as set forth in the current APA Ethical Principles for Psychologists.

2. APPIC member programs demonstrate high regard for human dignity.
   Dehumanizing practices or other restrictions on the exercise of civil and human rights in any part of the activities of APPIC members is unacceptable. As members of APPIC, training agencies have practices that are nondiscriminatory in regard to race/ethnic background, gender, age, sexual orientation, lifestyle, and disabilities.

APPIC MEMBERSHIP CRITERIA:
DOCTORAL PSYCHOLOGY INTERNSHIP PROGRAMS
(Criteria Revised May 2006; Clarification Revised June 2011)

INTRODUCTION

Internships that are accredited by the American Psychological Association or the Canadian Psychological Association are recognized as meeting APPIC doctoral membership criteria. All others must meet all of the following criteria (i.e., 1 through 16 below) and are reviewed for adherence to the criteria every three years. It is the program’s responsibility to submit their updates in a timely manner and must receive approval for continuing membership with a formal review conducted at least every 3 years.

EDUCATIONAL NOTE: A program's adherence to APPIC membership criteria does not guarantee that the trainees in the program will meet individual state, provincial, or territorial licensing requirements.

CRITERIA AND CLARIFICATION (Criteria In Bold)

1. A psychology internship is an organized training program which, in contrast to supervised experience or on-the-job training, is designed to provide the intern with a planned, programmed sequence of training experiences. The primary focus and purpose is assuring breadth and quality of training.
Clarification:

The organization of an internship program is evident in a clear:

a. statement of the goals and objectives of the training activities.

b. description of the plan, location, and sequence of direct service experiences.

c. description of the training curriculum; i.e., the content, duration, and frequency of the training activities.

d. description of how the psychology training program is integrated into the larger organization.

For programs with multiple sites, the services rendered by interns, the supervision offered, and the training director's involvement is clearly described at each site.

2. The internship agency has a clearly designated doctoral level staff psychologist who is responsible for the integrity and quality of the training program. This person is actively licensed, certified, or registered by the State Board of Examiners in the jurisdiction where the program exists, and is present at the training facility for a minimum of 20 hours a week.

Clarification:

The internship is administered by a doctoral level licensed (certified or registered for independent practice) psychologist who:

a. directs and organizes the training program and its resources.

b. is responsible for selection of interns.

c. monitors and evaluates the training program's goals and activities.

d. documents and maintains interns' training records.

3. The internship agency training staff consists of at least two full time equivalent doctoral level psychologists who serve as primary supervisors and who are actively licensed, certified, or registered as a psychologist by the Board of Examiners in the jurisdiction where the program exists.

Clarification:

"Full time equivalent" typically refers to 40 hours/week. However, there may be a range of hours that qualify as "full time equivalent" depending on the norms of the program. 35 hours/week is the minimum that will qualify for "full time equivalent" for APPIC member programs. "Full time" for interns could also be set at 35 hours/week if this meets licensure requirements in your jurisdiction. APPIC believes supervisor expectations should be similar to intern expectations.

It is expected that interns receive supervision during the year from at least two different supervisors. Interns' primary clinical supervision and role modeling must be provided by psychologists on the program's staff who are licensed (certified or registered) for independent practice at the doctoral level and who are:

a. officially designated as psychology intern supervisors.

b. significantly involved in the operation of the training program.

4. Intern supervision is provided by staff members of the internship agency or by qualified affiliates of that agency who carry clinical responsibility for the cases being supervised. Regularly scheduled individual supervision is provided by one or more doctoral level licensed psychologists, at a ratio of no less than one hour of supervision for every 20 internship hours. Supervision is provided with the specific intent of dealing with psychological services rendered directly by the intern.

Clarification:

Supervisors need to be clearly designated by the agency as clinically responsible for the cases (for example, countersigning documentation or having their name on the treatment plan or case summary). Depending on clinical needs, increased hours of supervision are expected. The required hours shall be through face-to-face individual supervision (rural sites may use visual telecommunication technology in unusual circumstances and when face-to-face supervision is impractical, but must demonstrate that such technology provides sufficient oversight). Programs shall adhere to all requirements of their state licensing boards.

5. The internship provides training in a range of psychological assessment and intervention activities conducted directly with recipients of psychological services.

Clarification:

Internship training in Psychology is primarily based on experiential learning which:

a. provides psychological services directly to consumers in the form of psychological assessment, treatment, and consultation.
b. exposes interns to a variety of types of psychological services and consumers.

6. At least 25% of trainees' time is in face-to-face psychological services to patients/clients.

7. The internship must provide at least two hours per week in didactic activities such as case conferences, seminars, in-service training, or grand rounds.

Clarification:

The Psychology training program should have scheduled didactic experiences available to meet the training needs of their interns. Didactic activities refers to actual training opportunities and should include training activities beyond Intern Case Presentations.

8. Internship training is at post-clerkship, post-practicum, and post-externship level, and precedes the granting of the doctoral degree.

Clarification:

Interns must have completed adequate and appropriate prerequisite training prior to the internship. This would include both:

a. completion of formal academic coursework at a degree-granting program in professional psychology (clinical, counseling, school), and
   b. closely supervised experiential training in professional psychology skills conducted in non-classroom settings.

9. The internship agency has a minimum of two interns at the predoctoral level of training during any training year. These interns must be at least half-time (i.e., 20 hours per week). The minimum number of interns must be on site and in training at the time of the initial application for APPIC membership.

Clarification:

The intention of this criterion is to allow opportunities for personal (face-to-face) interaction with peers in formal settings in the training program and on the training site during each training week. Part-time internships must ensure that intern schedules sufficiently overlap to allow substantial and meaningful peer contact.
10. The internship level psychology trainees have a title such as "intern," "resident," "fellow," or other designation of trainee status.

11. The internship agency has a written statement or brochure which provides a clear description of the nature of the training program, including the goals and content of the internship and clear expectations for quantity and quality of the trainee's work. It is made available to prospective interns.

Clarification:

Internship programs must make available descriptions of their training program which give their applicants and interns a clear understanding of the program in terms of:

a. the program's training goals and objectives.

b. the program's training methods, content, and curriculum (for example, required rotations, sample weekly schedules, or available training seminars).

c. the program's training resources (e.g., training/supervisory staff, physical facilities and training equipment, clerical support, etc.)

d. the sites at which training and services are provided. For programs with multiple sites, clear descriptions are given for each site of services rendered by interns, supervision offered, and involvement of the training director.

Clarification: APPIC must be notified in writing of substantive changes to the training program (personnel, placements, etc.) that have the potential to impact quality of training or which substantially alters the advertised training experience. The training program is likewise responsible for maintaining an up-to-date and accurate description of the program in the APPIC Directory.

12. Internship programs have documented due process procedures that describe separately how programs deal with (1) concerns about intern performance, and (2) interns' concerns about training. These procedures include the steps of notice, hearing, and appeal, and are given to the interns at the beginning of the training period.

Clarification:
Due process procedures describe how an agency deals with intern deficiencies and how the interns' handle grievances with the training program. The documentation would include:

a. description of formal evaluation and complaint procedures.

b. the program's and intern's responsibilities and rights in the process.

c. the appeal process.

d. description of procedures if interns have grievances about their training or supervision.

Programs need two written policies: (1) Due Process and (2) Grievance Process. The procedures must be specific to the internship training program; reliance on a more general HR policy is insufficient. Both procedures should be provided to interns at the commencement of training.

Due Process is a written procedure that comes into use when an intern's behavior is problematic. (The use of the term "impaired" is discouraged because if one identifies an intern by that term, legal issues having to do with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) could be invoked.) Due process must include three elements: Notice (i.e. the intern must be notified that problematic behavior has been identified and that the internship is addressing the problem); Hearing (i.e. the program must have a formal process by which the identified problematic intern has an opportunity to hear concerns and to respond to the concerns); and Appeal (i.e. the intern must have an opportunity to appeal the actions taken by the program in regards to the identified problematic behavior. The appeal should extend at least one step beyond the Training Director).

A Grievance Procedure is a process that is invoked when an intern has a complaint against the training program. The procedure should include specific steps an intern takes in the complaint process and be broad enough to cover any and all complaints that may arise for interns (e.g. complaints about evaluations, supervision, stipends/salary, harassment, etc.)

13. The internship experience (minimum 1500 hours) must be completed in no less than 9 months and no more than 24 months.

Clarification:

Internships may be conducted on a full or part-time basis. Only School Psychology programs will be accepted for 9-10 month internships.

14. APPIC member programs are required to issue a certificate of internship completion, which includes the word "Psychology," to all interns who have successfully completed the program.
15. At least twice a year the internship program conducts formal written evaluations of each trainee's performance.

Clarification:

The written evaluation process provides comprehensive evaluative feedback to doctoral psychology interns as follows:

a. The evaluation provides summary information of performance in all major competence areas that are a focus of internship training.

b. Interns have the opportunity to review their evaluation with supervisors to ensure the fullest possible communication between supervisors and interns.

c. Evaluation procedures provide feedback that validates trainees' achievements by noting areas of unusual strength and excellence and facilitate trainees' further growth by identifying areas that would benefit from additional training.

d. The program provides the doctoral psychology intern's graduate training director with feedback concerning the intern's progress in the internship program.

16. The program has the necessary financial resources to achieve its training goals and objectives. Intern stipends shall be reasonable, fair, and stated clearly in advance. Unfunded internship positions are allowable only in unusual and infrequent circumstances.

Clarification:

APPIC requires internship positions to be equitably funded across the site. Intern stipends shall be set at a level that is representative and fair in relationship to the geographic location and clinical setting of the training site. Stipends should be reasonable based on a comparison with other APPIC member programs in your area. Unfunded or poorly funded internship positions are allowed only in unusual and infrequent circumstances in which the creation of such a position would serve to alleviate a hardship for the potential intern candidate. The "burden of evidence" lies with the program to demonstrate that the lack of funding does not adversely affect morale or quality of training. In addition, training resources should be sufficient to afford the same training for an unfunded or poorly funded position as for fully funded positions.

The payment of a stipend is a concrete acknowledgment that a trainee in the agency is valued and emphasizes that the primary task of the year is educational in nature. Stipends are generally lower than a salary received by a regular employee and implies that there is a significant training component in addition to experiential learning. Stipends are equal among trainees unless there is an extenuating circumstance (e.g., specialized skills, consortia agreements). This distinction between trainee and regular employee emphasizes that an internship is "an organized training program, in contrast to supervised experience or on-the-job training."
APPIC MEMBERSHIP CRITERIA:
POSTDOCTORAL TRAINING PROGRAMS
(Criteria Revised May 2006; Clarification Revised June 2011)

INTRODUCTION

Postdoctoral training programs that are accredited by the American Psychological Association are recognized as meeting the APPIC Postdoctoral Membership criteria. All others must meet all of the following criteria (i.e., 1 through 14 below) and are reviewed for adherence to the criteria every three years.

EDUCATIONAL NOTE: A program's adherence to APPIC membership criteria does not guarantee that the trainees in the program will meet individual state, provincial, or territorial licensing requirements.

1. A postdoctoral training program is an organized experience which, in contrast to on-the-job training, is designed to provide the Fellow with a planned, programmed sequence of supervised training experiences. The primary task is advanced training in an area of professional psychology.

   1. Clarification:

   The organization of a postdoctoral program is evident in a clear:

   a. statement of the goals and objectives of the training activities.

   b. description of the training plan, location, and sequence of direct service experiences.

   c. description of the training curriculum: i.e., the content, duration, and frequency of the training activities.

   d. description of how the psychology training program is integrated into the larger organization.

   For programs with multiple sites, the services rendered by the Fellow, the supervision provided, and the training director's involvement is clearly described for each site.

2. The postdoctoral program has a designated psychologist who is clearly responsible for the integrity and quality of the training program, who has administrative authority commensurate with those responsibilities, and who is licensed as a psychologist in the jurisdiction where the program exists. This director has expertise in an area of postdoctoral training offered and has credentials of excellence such as the American Board of Professional Psychology diploma, status as a Fellow in APA or CPA, record of active research productivity, or clear evidence of professional competence and leadership.
Clarification:

The postdoctoral program is administered by a doctoral level licensed (certified or registered for independent practice) psychologist who:

a. directs and organizes the training program and its resources.

b. is responsible for selection of Fellows.

c. monitors and evaluates the training program's goals and activities.

d. documents and maintains Fellows' training records.

3. The sponsoring institution has two or more psychologists on staff who are currently licensed as psychologists in the jurisdiction in which the program exists. The postdoctoral program has a training faculty which includes at least one psychologist with expertise in each area of postdoctoral training offered and has credentials of excellence such as a Fellow in APA or CPA, record of active research productivity, or clear evidence of professional competence and leadership in that program focus area.

Clarification:

Postdoctoral Fellows' primary clinical supervision and role modeling must be provided by psychologists licensed (certified or registered) for independent practice at the doctoral level on the program's staff who:

a. are officially designated as postdoctoral program supervisors.

b. are significantly involved in the training program.

c. show evidence of expertise in the focus area(s) of the training program.

4. The postdoctoral program includes a minimum of two hours per week of regularly scheduled, face-to-face individual supervision with the specific intent of supervising the psychological services rendered directly by the Fellow. This supervision is provided by staff members of the sponsoring institution who carry professional practice responsibility for the cases being supervised and are licensed as psychologists in the jurisdiction in which the program exists.

Clarification:

Supervisors need to be clearly designated by the agency as professionally responsible for the cases (for example, countersigning documentation or having their name on the treatment plan or case summary). Two hours of regularly scheduled, face-to-face, individual supervision by a licensed psychologist should be provided weekly regardless of whether the postdoctoral program is one year full-time or two years half-time.

5. In addition to individual supervision, the program includes at least two additional hours per week in learning activities, such as: case conferences involving cases in which the Fellow is actively involved; seminars dealing with clinical issues; co-therapy with a staff person, including discussion; group supervision; or additional individual supervision.

Clarification:

Above and beyond the two hours of individual supervision each Fellow receives weekly, the Postdoctoral Program should provide two hours per week of additional learning experiences, regardless of whether the program is one year full-time or two years half-time. These learning experiences should be regularly scheduled, and may include but are not limited to additional individual or group supervision, seminars, case conferences, workshops, or co-therapy with a supervisor. Clear descriptions of the learning activities should be provided.

6. At least 25% of the Fellow's time is in professional psychological services.

Clarification:

A minimum of 25% of the Fellow's time should be spent in provision of professional psychological services to patients/clients, students, consultees, and/or agencies. These services may include but are not limited to assessment, intervention, consultation, policy making, program design and implementation, provision of supervision, and clinical research.

7. Admission requirements include completion of all professional doctoral degree requirements from a regionally accredited institution of higher education or an APA/CPA-accredited program and predoctoral internship meeting APPIC standards. This is defined as having on the first day of the fellowship either the diploma in hand or a letter from the Director of graduate studies verifying the completion of all degree requirements pending institution graduation ceremony.

APA guidelines on specialty change are followed. Fellows having completed doctoral studies in fields other than clinical, counseling, or school psychology must have received a certificate of equivalency from an APA/CPA accredited university program attesting to their having met APA/CPA standards, including internship.

Clarification:

Postdoctoral Fellows must have completed the doctoral degree before beginning their postdoctoral training. At a minimum, Fellows must have completed all requirements for the doctoral degree from a regionally accredited institution of higher learning, including an internship meeting APPIC standards.

a. If the Postdoctoral Training Program requires that Fellows possess a doctoral degree from an APA- or CPA-accredited program, it need not state the requirement that it be a regionally accredited institution of higher learning. In this case, the brochure should state that Fellows must have completed all doctoral degree requirements from an APA/CPA-accredited program.

b. If the Postdoctoral Training Program requires that Fellows have completed an APA- or CPA-accredited internship, it need not state the requirement that... it meets APPIC standards. In this case, the brochure should state that Fellows must have completed an APA/CPA-accredited internship.

c. If the Postdoctoral Training Program does not require completion of an APA- or CPA-accredited doctoral degree program or an APA- or CPA-accredited internship, the brochure should state that Fellows must have completed all professional doctoral degree requirements from a regionally accredited institution of higher education, including an internship meeting APPIC standards.

d. If the Postdoctoral Training Program accepts applications from individuals who have previously received a doctoral degree in some area of psychology other than clinical, counseling or school, the brochure should state that such applicants must have received a certificate of equivalency from an APA/CPA accredited university program designed for the "retraining" of such psychologists, attesting to completion of all requirements, including an internship meeting APPIC standards.

8. The postdoctoral agency has a minimum of one full-time equivalent postdoctoral Fellow at the postdoctoral level of training. This postdoctoral Fellow must be on site and in training at the time of initial application for APPIC Membership.

Clarification:

The agency must have a minimum of one full-time Fellow or two half-time Fellows in training at the time of initial application for APPIC Membership, and should maintain this minimum for any period of training. In special circumstances, such as changes in funding or reorganization, the Postdoctoral Training Program may maintain APPIC Membership for up to one year without training Fellows, as long as the training program is otherwise in good standing.

9. Postdoctoral trainees have a title, such as "Intern," "Resident," "Fellow," or other designation of trainee status.

Clarification:

The title should indicate the Fellow is in training, and it is helpful if the title distinguishes the Fellow from other trainees, e.g., if the title "Intern," is used, then the full title should be "Postdoctoral Intern," to distinguish the Fellow from those completing a predoctoral internship.

10. The sponsoring institution has a written statement or brochure made available to prospective Fellows which describes the goals and content of the program, program organization, entrance requirements, program faculty/staff, and mechanisms for Fellow evaluation.

Clarification:

Postdoctoral training programs must make available descriptions of their training programs which give applicants and Fellows a clear understanding of the program in terms of:

a. the program's training goals and objectives.
b. the program's training methods, content, and curriculum, including rotations offered or required, seminars, supervision, and other training experiences.

c. the program's training resources, including training/supervisory staff, physical facilities, training support.

d. the sites at which training and services are provided. For programs with multiple sites, clear descriptions are given for each site of services rendered by Fellows, supervision offered, and involvement of the Director of Training.

e. specific application requirements. Postdoctoral programs must clearly indicate that applicants must have completed all requirements for the doctoral degree before beginning their postdoctoral training, and that they must have received the doctoral degree from an APA/CPA-accredited program or from a "regionally accredited institution of higher education," including an APA/CPA-accredited internship or an internship "meeting APPIC standards," as described in Criteria #7.

f. methods of Fellow evaluation, including the frequency of evaluation (a minimum of 2 written evaluations per year) and an indication of due process procedures in the event of a grievance.

g. licensure requirements for postdoctoral supervised practice. Programs must indicate whether satisfactory completion of the postdoctoral training program meets postdoctoral supervised practice requirements for licensure or certification in the jurisdiction within which the program resides.

11. Postdoctoral programs have documented due process procedures, including notice, hearing, and appeal for postdoctoral trainees. The procedures are given to postdoctoral trainees at the beginning of the postdoctoral training period.

   Clarification:

   Due process procedures describe how an agency deals with postdoctoral fellows' deficiencies and how the postdoctoral fellows handle grievances with the training program. The documentation would include:

   a. a description of formal evaluation and complaint procedures.

   b. the program's and fellow's responsibilities and rights in the process.

   c. the appeal process.

   d. a description of procedures if fellows have grievances about their training or supervision.

   Programs need two written policies: (1) Due Process and (2) Grievance Process. The procedures must be specific to the postdoctoral fellowship training program; reliance on a more general HR policy is insufficient. Both procedures should be provided to postdoctoral fellows at the commencement of training.

   Due Process is a written procedure that comes into use when a postdoctoral fellow's behavior is problematic. (The use of the term "impaired" is discouraged because if one identifies a postdoctoral fellow by that term, legal issues having to do with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) could be invoked.) Due process must include three elements: Notice (i.e. the postdoctoral fellow must be notified that problematic behavior has been identified and that the postdoctoral fellow is addressing the problem); Hearing (i.e. the program must have a formal process by which the identified problematic postdoctoral fellow has an opportunity to hear concerns and to respond to the concerns); and Appeal (i.e. the postdoctoral fellow must have an opportunity to appeal the actions taken by the program in regards to the identified problematic behavior. The appeal should extend at least one step beyond the Training Director).

A Grievance Procedure is a process that is invoked when a postdoctoral fellow has a complaint against the training program. The procedure should include specific steps a postdoctoral fellow takes in the complaint process and be broad enough to cover any and all complaints that may arise for fellows (e.g. complaints about evaluations, supervision, stipends/salary, harassment, etc.).

12. The postdoctoral training program (minimum 1500 hours) must be completed in no less than 9 months and no more than 24 months (two years half-time). Depending on the area and standards of specialty practice, a postdoctoral program may be more than one year.

Clarification:

Postdoctoral training programs may be part-time or full-time experiences, and must be completed in not less than nine months, and not more than two years. Fellows must receive two hours per week of individual supervision and two hours per week of additional training activities as described in Criteria #4 and #5, regardless of their full-time or part-time status.

13. A certificate of completion is granted upon fulfillment of the program requirements.

Clarification:

The certificate should clearly indicate:

a. the name of the institution, organization or agency.

b. the postdoctoral nature of the training program.

c. the focus area of the training program, if applicable.

d. beginning and ending dates of the Fellow's training.

The Director of Training should sign the certificate.

Example: the XYZ University certifies that Jane Doe, Ph.D. has successfully completed a postdoctoral fellowship in Clinical Psychology from September 1, 2001 to August 31, 2002.
14. The program has the necessary financial resources to achieve its training goals and objectives. Postdoctoral stipends shall be reasonable, fair, and stated clearly in advance. Unfunded postdoctoral positions are allowable only in unusual and infrequent circumstances.

Clarification:

APPIC requires postdoctoral positions to be equitably funded across the site. Postdoctoral stipends shall be set at a level that is representative and fair in relationship to the geographic location and clinical setting of the training site. Stipends should be reasonable based on a comparison with other APPIC member programs in your area. Unfunded or poorly funded postdoctoral positions are allowed only in unusual and infrequent circumstances in which the creation of such a position would serve to alleviate a hardship for the potential postdoctoral candidate. The "burden of evidence" lies with the program to demonstrate that the lack of funding does not adversely affect morale or quality of training. In addition, training resources should be sufficient to afford the same training for an unfunded or poorly funded position as for fully funded positions.

The payment of a stipend is a concrete acknowledgment that a trainee in the agency is valued and emphasizes that the primary task of the year is educational in nature. Stipends are generally lower than a salary received by a regular employee and implies that there is a significant training component in addition to experiential learning. Stipends are equal among trainees unless there is an extenuating circumstance (e.g., specialized skills, consortia agreements). This distinction between trainee and regular employee emphasizes that a postdoctoral fellowship is "an organized training program, in contrast to supervised experience or on-the-job training."
In addition to meeting the APPIC membership criteria for Doctoral Psychology Internship Programs or Postdoctoral Training Programs, consortia programs must demonstrate evidence of the following:

1. A primary consortium director or co-directors must be present at one or more of the training facilities for at least 20 hours a week.

   Clarification:

The program is administered by a doctoral level licensed (certified or registered) for independent practice psychologist or psychologists who:

   1. must be at one facility at least 20 hrs./week and can be at additional facilities for additional hours beyond the 20 hours spent at the first facility.
   2. coordinates and organizes the consortium-wide training program and its resources.
   3. coordinates the selection of interns or post-doctoral residents.
   4. monitors and evaluates the training program's goals and activities.
   5. oversees the documentation and maintenance of interns' or post-doctoral residents' training records.

2. Each agency or site has at least one clearly designated, appropriately credentialed doctoral level staff psychologist who is responsible for the integrity and quality of training and present at the agency/site for a minimum of 20 hours per week.

   Clarification:

   At each site there is a doctoral level licensed (certified or registered) for independent practice psychologist who:

   1. directs and organizes the training program and its resources at that site.
   2. is involved in the selection of interns and/or post-doctoral residents.
   3. monitors and evaluates the training program's goals and activities at that site.
   4. is responsible for documenting and maintaining interns' and/or post-doctoral residents' training records at that site.
   5. regularly participates in the consortium wide training faculty/staff meetings.

3. Regularly scheduled consortium-wide activities, including formal, didactic face-to-face contact among trainees at least monthly; ongoing informal contact among trainees across sites; and structured faculty meetings at least quarterly.

Clarification:

The Psychology training program should have scheduled didactic experiences available to meet the training needs of their interns and/or post-doctoral residents.

a. Provide a schedule of face-to-face contacts when all the interns or post-doctoral residents are together including dates, hours, topics covered, and presenters.

b. Describe opportunities for ongoing informal contact among trainees (e.g., listserv, scheduled lunches).

c. At least quarterly training faculty/staff meetings, where faculty discuss issues related to the overall program, interns'/post-doctoral residents' performance and program evaluation.

4. A formal plan outlining the didactic activities and procedures provided in the training program.

Clarification:

A description of the complete training program for each site must be provided.

a. Please refer to Clarification #3a for Consortia programs above as well as Item #1 for Doctoral Criteria and Item #1 for Post-Doctoral Criteria.

b. Information should be provided for all training that is provided throughout the consortia, as well as all training that is provided specific to each site.

c. If this information is already well documented elsewhere, please reference to those sections of the report.

5. Assurance of trainee contact with more than one supervisor.

Clarification:

Interns' primary clinical supervision and role modeling must be provided by two or more psychologists licensed (certified or registered) for independent practice at the doctoral level within the consortium who are:

a. officially designated as psychology intern or post-doctoral resident supervisors.

b. significantly involved in the operation of the training program.

6. A written consortia contractual agreement delineating:

   o the nature and characteristics of the participating entities;

   o the rationale for the consortial partnership;
o each partner's commitment to the training/education program, its philosophy, model, and goals;

o each partner's obligations regarding contributions and access to resources;

o each partner's adherence to central control and coordination of the training program;

o each partner's commitment to uniform administration and implementation of the program's training principles, policies, and procedures addressing trainee/student admission, financial support, training resource access, potential performance expectations, and evaluations (Guidelines and Principles for Accreditation of Programs in Professional Psychology; Committee on Accreditation of the American Psychological Association); and o due process procedures including notice, hearing and appeal.

Clarification:

This document should be signed and dated by an individual with administrative authority (such as Director, Executive Director, Director of Finance, or Department Chair) from each of the agencies within the consortia. It is advisable that the Director of Training of the consortia internship training program also sign the agreement.

h. The documentation should clarify the length and duration of the contract, as well as the renewal process.

i. This document should be binding for at least the duration of the internship/post-doc program training year.

j. This document should be reviewed annually by the training faculty.

k. Due process procedures describe how each agency within the consortia deals with problematic intern performance issues and how the interns' grievances with the training program are handled. The documentation would include:
   - the formal evaluation and complaint procedures;
   - the program's and intern's responsibilities and rights in the process;
   - the appeal process;
   - procedures if interns have grievances about their training or supervision.

l. Consortia member sites should document that these due process procedures have been reviewed in their consortia-wide training faculty/staff meetings. The training faculty/staff should determine the compatibility of their procedures. Given the constraints of each site, where possible procedures should be made comparable.

m. Please describe how you will inform APPIC within one month that there have been significant changes in any aspect of the program outlined above (e.g. leadership, site membership).
Preface: What is a Consortium?

A consortium is comprised of multiple (more than one) independent agencies that have joined together to offer a well-rounded, unified psychology training program. A formal written agreement among the agencies in which lines of responsibility and financial commitments are delineated creates the consortium. The trainees (a) physically work at the multiple sites (or some combination thereof), and/or (b) obtain training from one primary site with some experience at or exposure to aspects of the other setting(s) that their primary site does not offer. Agencies within a consortium complement each other rather than duplicate strengths and weaknesses.

1. What is the purpose or rationale for a consortium? How can that purpose be assured?

The purpose of a consortium is to pool the resources of more than one site to enhance and ensure the quality of training provided to interns and/or postdoctoral fellows. Consortia agencies each have a unique training objective that, when combined with other sites in a consortium, enhance and complement the overall mission of the consortium. In some cases, isolated agencies within a consortium cannot meet certain APPIC criteria for an internship or postdoctoral fellowship (e.g., they lack breadth of training experiences or resources to fund more than one trainee or licensed psychologist, etc.), but are able to contribute to a comprehensive training program when various types of resources are combined.

Together (but perhaps not independently), the sites are able to meet APPIC requirements, which include:

- provide breadth of training experiences;
- increase exposure to a variety of service delivery options;
- maximize trainees' exposure to a range of theoretical and professional orientations;
- enhance trainees' experiences with diverse populations;
- increase exposure to broad-based and diverse professional resources; and
- provide efficient mechanism for ensuring trainee interaction and collegiality.

Trainee refers to a psychology intern and/or postdoctoral fellow.

2. When should a program be considered a consortium or several independent sites?

Consortia should have a clearly articulated mission that can only be met by a consortial arrangement and a unified perspective on training. Regular, ongoing communication and direct interaction should occur among licensed psychologists serving as training directors at each site. The purposes of these communications are to (a) monitor training needs and remain responsive to training issues as they arise, (b) ensure adequacy of individual sites at providing quality training experiences, and (c) consider means by which needs unique to the consortium can be met.
3. What are the criteria needed for a consortia?

Please refer to the Consortia Guidelines and Clarification Document for the answer to this question.

4. Can a site be both free standing and part of a consortia? Or must it be one or the other?

Consortia sites must make a commitment to one model of training (i.e., they cannot be a free-standing internship or postdoctoral fellowship and a member of a consortium). This ensures that adequate attention to important and unique consortia issues remain focal to all agencies within the arrangement, and minimize internal competition for trainees, role and responsibility confusion among participants, and other sources of potential conflict of interest.

5. If an established consortium accepts a new member into the consortium, what impact does that have on their APPIC membership?

Consortia should have the flexibility and ability to add new members (or omit existing members) when necessary to sustain their mission. New applicant agencies should apply directly to the consortium, which should have established membership criteria consistent with their mission statement and in compliance with APPIC criteria. The consortium must notify APPIC in writing within 30 days of adding a new member to the consortium, omitting a current member, or other major change. Documentation should also include changes to the APPIC application face sheet, revised tables (A, B, C), and a new signed and dated consortium agreement. The change will be reviewed by the APPIC Internship Membership Review Committee or Postdoctoral Review Committee to insure ongoing adherence to the Membership criteria.

The Committees reviewing the materials will then decide whether the change(s) warrants having the consortium reviewed at an earlier date than the normal, formal three-year review cycle for non-APA accredited programs. Consortium programs maintain their APPIC Membership during the review process. Only non-APA/CPA accredited programs need to have a formal review.

New applicant agencies should submit a formal request for consideration that includes a clear description of:

- the goals and objectives of the training activities;
- the plan, location, and sequence of direct service experiences;
- the training curriculum; i.e., the content, duration, and frequency of the training activities;
- a supervision plan, including the person responsible, number of hours devoted to supervision per week, and on-going availability of the supervisor; and o how the psychology training program is integrated into the larger organization.

Agencies should be added to the consortium based on careful and thoughtful consideration of variables such as:

o How the applicant agency contributes to the unique mission of the consortium -- for example, does it offer experiences:
  - that are not otherwise available in the consortium (e.g., a diverse population or clientele); and/or
  - in a setting or area that presents unique service-delivery needs (e.g., rural locale)?

o Does the agency agree to the requirements of the consortium -- for example,
  - supervisors' representation at board meetings (if applicable);
  - trainees' attendance at regularly scheduled consortium meetings;
  - continuous annual selection and hiring of trainees, with no more than one year on inactive status; and/or
  - other consortium procedures and practices deemed necessary to maintain ongoing APPIC membership?

Sites that are added to existing APPIC-member consortia may not represent themselves as an independent APPIC member. Further, consortia members are listed only once in the APPIC Membership Directory; each agency is not listed separately.

For new member applicants, independent membership in APPIC is wholly and completely contingent upon successful review by the APPIC Doctoral Membership Committee or the APPIC Postdoctoral Membership and Review Committee.

If a site existing within an existing APPIC member consortia wishes to apply for independent membership, it can retain its status in the consortium while its application is being considered. If approved as an APPIC member, the site must resign from the consortium (i.e., it cannot be an independent member and part of a consortium simultaneously).

If two or more sites within an existing APPIC-member consortium wish to leave and create a new consortium, they will be reviewed as new member applicants and must submit all materials that would be required from a first time applicant. Their application would be reviewed by the APPIC Doctoral Membership Committee, or by the APPIC Postdoctoral Membership and Review Committee. Their prior status as APPIC members based on their relationship within a consortium is not sufficient to warrant continued membership status.

6. Do consortia internship programs have different needs from single site programs with regard to the APPIC Match?

Some consortia do have relatively complex needs for the internship selection process. However, the APPIC Match has a number of features that provide consortia with considerable flexibility in selecting interns. For example, a consortium can specify that it has multiple "programs" (e.g., rotations, training opportunities, sites) in the Match, which allows the Training Director to submit separate ranking lists for each program, and allows applicants to rank each program at the consortia according to their preferences. The instructions from National Matching Services (NMS) provide extensive information about these options, and the APPIC Match Coordinator and NMS are available for consultation as needed.
APPIC MATCH POLICIES: 2012-2013
Adopted July 19, 2012

The following policies will guide the 2013 APPIC Match and Post-Match Vacancy Service. Adherence to these policies is a condition of membership in APPIC and of participation in the APPIC Match and/or Post-Match Vacancy Service.

Phase I of the Match
- The Rank Order List Submission Deadline is February 6, 2013 at 11:59 p.m. Eastern Time.
- Results of the Match will be released on APPIC Phase I Match Day, February 22, 2013.

Phase II of the Match
- The application deadline (see Policy 3b) is February 28, 2013 at 11:00 a.m. Eastern Time.
- The Rank Order List Submission Deadline is March 18, 2013 at 11:59 p.m. Eastern Time.
- Results of the Match will be released on APPIC Phase II Match Day, March 25, 2013.

1. These policies apply to all participants in the APPIC Match and Post-Match Vacancy Service, including APPIC member internship programs, non-APPIC member internship programs, and student applicants and their doctoral program faculty.

   a. All participants shall abide by their agreements with APPIC for participation in the APPIC Match.

   b. Internship training directors must ensure that all people involved in recruiting or selecting interns understand and adhere to these policies.

   c. Directors of APPIC Doctoral Program Associates and other doctoral programs with students participating in the APPIC Match are requested to ensure that their students understand and adhere to these policies.

   d. Violations of APPIC Match Policies or Match Agreements by applicants or programs may result in sanctions by APPIC (e.g., being barred from future Matches) or legal action by other Match participants. In addition, violations by applicants may result in disciplinary action by the applicants’ graduate and/or internship programs.

2. Internship programs must offer all of their internship positions in Phase I of the APPIC Match.

   a. Positions for which funding is not assured should not be offered in the Match.

   b. Positions that are left unfilled in Phase I of the Match must be offered in Phase II of the Match, in accordance with paragraph 8 and its subparagraphs below.

   c. Positions that are not offered in Phase I of the Match, such as positions for which funding becomes assured after the Phase I Rank Order List deadline or newly created positions, may be offered in Phase II of the Match, in accordance with paragraph 8 and its subparagraphs below.

   d. Positions that are not offered in Phase I or Phase II of the Match can be communicated and/or offered to applicants only after the results of Phase II of the Match are released, in accordance with paragraph 9 and its subparagraphs below.
3. For both Phase I and Phase II of the APPIC Match, the AAPI Online application service must be used by applicants to apply to all internship programs that are participating in the Match. For both Phases of the Match, all applications must be submitted using the AAPI Online, and no site may request a printed copy of an applicant's application materials.

   a. Internship programs and applicants must abide by the APPIC AAPI Online Supplemental Materials policy, which states that the only supplemental materials that may be requested by internship programs or submitted by internship applicants are (a) a treatment or case summary, and (b) a psychological evaluation report.

   b. All programs participating in Phase II of the Match must accept applications until the application deadline for Phase II established by APPIC. Programs may elect to continue accepting applications for Phase II beyond the application deadline, but are not required to do so.

4. For Phase I of the Match, internship programs that conduct on-site or telephone interviews must make a reasonable effort to notify every applicant who submits a complete set of application materials as to his/her interview status.

   a. Sites that conduct open houses to which all applicants are invited and conduct no other interviews are exempt from this interview notification requirement (this process should be clearly stated in the APPIC Directory Online and/or sites' publicity materials).

   b. Notification of interview status for Phase I of the Match must occur no later than the interview notification date that appears in the program's APPIC Directory Online listing and/or other publicity materials, and may be communicated via e-mail, telephone, regular mail (to be received no later than the interview notification date), or other means.

   c. For Phase II of the Match, notification of interview status is not required.

5. Participants in the APPIC Match, including applicants and internship programs, may not communicate, solicit, accept, or use any ranking-related information pertaining to either Phase of the Match prior to the release of the results for Phase II of the Match.

   a. Internship programs must include the following statement on their web sites and in their brochures: “This internship site agrees to abide by the APPIC policy that no person at this training facility will solicit, accept, or use any ranking-related information from any intern applicant.”

   b. Internship programs may choose to inform applicants as to whether or not the applicants remain under consideration for admission (e.g., whether or not the applicants will be ranked) but may not communicate any other ranking information. The spirit of this item precludes any communication of rankings for either Phase of the Match prior to the release of the results for Phase II of the Match, however “veiled” or indirect such communication might be. However, sites and applicants are allowed to communicate about matters that do not involve the sharing of ranking information.

   c. Internship programs and applicants may never solicit information regarding applicants' and programs' rankings at any time, either during the Match or after the Match results are released.
d. Internship sites that offer more than one program in the APPIC Match (i.e., sites with more than one program code number) are expected to ask applicants to identify the site's programs to which they are applying. In addition, these sites may, for the sole purpose of arranging interviews, ask applicants to designate their preferences regarding the programs at the site for which they wish to be interviewed. These sites may request interview preference information only when it is essential for making interview arrangements, and such information may not be used for any other purpose in the selection process. Furthermore, these sites may not solicit any information about applicants' final rankings of programs. Sites requesting interview preferences must state clearly in their written materials that these preferences will be used for arranging interviews only and for no other purpose.

e. Any ranking information that is communicated between applicants and internship programs, even though such communication is a violation of these policies, is non-binding and may be changed at any time prior to the Rank Order List submission deadline. The only binding rankings are the confidential Rank Order Lists that are submitted to the APPIC Match.

f. Internship programs may choose to provide applicants with information about the size of the applicant pool.

6. Results of the APPIC Match constitute binding agreements between applicants, internship programs, and APPIC that may not be reversed without APPIC’s consent.

a. Failure to receive timely notification of the APPIC Match results, for any reason, does not constitute a release from the obligations of the APPIC Match.

b. Appointments of applicants to internship positions may be contingent upon the applicants satisfying certain eligibility requirements. Such eligibility requirements must be clearly specified in the internship programs’ written materials and provided to applicants in advance of the deadline for submitting rankings for the APPIC Match.

c. Internship training directors are encouraged to contact matched applicants by telephone as soon as possible after (but not before) 11:00 a.m. Eastern Time on the APPIC Match Day for each Phase of the Match. On each APPIC Match Day, no contact between internship sites and matched applicants should occur prior to 11:00 a.m. Eastern Time.

d. It is not necessary for internship training directors to contact applicants with whom they have not been matched.

7. Internship training directors must put in writing their appointment agreements with matched applicants in letters postmarked or e-mailed no later than 7 days following receipt of the APPIC Match results for each Phase of the Match.

a. Letters must be addressed to the applicants and must include confirmation of conditions of the appointment, such as stipend, fringe benefits, and the dates on which the internship begins and ends.

b. Copies of these appointment letters must be sent simultaneously to applicants’ academic training directors.
8. Positions that remain unfilled in Phase I of the Match must be offered in Phase II of the Match to applicants who do not obtain a position in Phase I. Positions not offered in Phase I of the Match, such as positions for which funding becomes assured after the Phase I Rank Order List deadline or newly created positions, may also be offered to eligible applicants in Phase II of the Match.

   a. All applicants who register for Phase I of the Match and who do not obtain a position in Phase I (e.g., those who withdraw or remain unmatched) are eligible to participate in Phase II of the Match. Applicants who match to a position in Phase I are not eligible to participate in Phase II. Applicants who do not register for Phase I cannot register for or participate in Phase II.

   b. All positions at an internship site that remain unfilled in Phase I of the Match must be offered to applicants in Phase II of the Match. A site can decide not to offer an unfilled position in Phase II only if it decides not to fill the position in the program for the coming year (e.g., anticipated loss of funding, shifting of funding to other purposes). Removing an unfilled position from Phase II of the Match for any other reason requires APPIC approval.

   c. Internship programs with positions that are offered in Phase II of the Match may not take any actions to fill these positions prior to 11:00 a.m. Eastern Time on APPIC Phase I Match Day. Applicants who do not obtain a position in Phase I of the Match, along with other individuals acting on their behalf (e.g., doctoral program faculty), may not contact internship programs about available positions prior to 11:00 a.m. Eastern Time on APPIC Phase I Match Day. All applications to programs for Phase II of the Match must be submitted using the AAPI Online, as specified in paragraph 3 above.

9. Upon completion of both Phases of the APPIC Match, internship programs that have one or more open positions may then make other direct offers of admission (verbal or written) to applicants who are not already matched or to applicants who did not participate in the APPIC Match. Applicants who are not matched to a position may then receive other direct offers of admission.

   a. Internship programs that have or anticipate having open positions after completion of Phase II of the Match may not take any actions to fill these positions prior to 11:00 a.m. Eastern Time on APPIC Phase II Match Day. Applicants who are not matched to a position after completion of both Phases of the Match, along with other individuals acting on their behalf (e.g., doctoral program faculty), may not contact internship programs about open positions prior to 11:00 a.m. Eastern Time on APPIC Phase II Match Day.

   b. Prior to making offers to fill open positions, internship training directors must verify with applicants, to the best of their abilities, that the applicants have not previously been matched to other internship programs nor accepted other offers.

   c. Prior to making offers to fill open positions, internship training directors must ensure that doctoral programs have verified their applicants’ eligibility and readiness for internship. Such verification can occur via a review of the appropriate application materials and/or via direct communication with the doctoral programs.
d. Applicants may not accept an offer if they have been matched or have already accepted an offer from another internship program.

e. An offer (verbal or written) that has been tendered by an internship program and accepted by an applicant constitutes a binding agreement between the program, the applicant, and APPIC that may not be reversed without APPIC’s consent.

f. The internship training director must put in writing the appointment agreement with the applicant in a letter postmarked or e-mailed no later than 7 days following acceptance of the offer by the applicant, as described in paragraphs 7a and 7b above.

10. Individuals who perceive violations of these policies are urged to request compliance with APPIC policies from the appropriate party (parties).

a. Unresolved compliance problems should be resolved informally, whenever possible, through consultation among applicants, internship training directors, academic training directors, and/or APPIC, or by other informal means. APPIC sponsors an “Informal Problem Consultation” process (described on the APPIC web site) that is recommended for use in addressing these issues.

b. Internship training directors who become aware of violations of these policies by other internship training directors should (a) urge the affected applicants and academic training directors to follow the informal resolution procedures described above, (b) directly contact the other internship training directors, and/or (c) use the APPIC “Informal Problem Consultation” process.

c. Perceived violations of APPIC Policies and/or the Match Agreement that are not resolved through the APPIC “Informal Problem Consultation” process may be reported as a formal complaint to the APPIC Standards and Review Committee (ASARC).

11. If a formal complaint is filed with APPIC regarding an alleged violation of these policies, the APPIC Standards and Review Committee (ASARC) will evaluate the allegations and recommend an appropriate course of action to the APPIC Board of Directors. The APPIC Board of Directors is the body that ultimately determines the course of action. ASARC policies are described on the APPIC web site. Formal complaints regarding violations of APPIC policies should be filed by submitting an ASARC Complaint Form (available from the APPIC web site) to:

APPIC has adopted the following policies of the American Psychological Association concerning intern applicants:

(1) Intern applicants shall have completed practicum experience and be enrolled in a doctoral program in professional psychology which requires internship training; or

(2) The internship is an essential component of the training for persons seeking to change to a professional specialty for which they were originally not prepared.

It must be stressed that taking an internship, or acquiring experience in a practicum setting, is not sufficient preparation for becoming a clinical, counseling, or school psychologist without prior training in the relevant specialty area. The internship experience is properly seen as only one element in the change of specialty. Thus, doctoral psychologists who are attempting to qualify as practitioners in an area different from that emphasized in their original training must be certified in writing by a director of a doctoral-level professional psychology training program in the new specialty, as having completed an organized program of didactic and practicum work which is the equivalent of the usual pre-internship preparation in the specialty area. APPIC members will not, therefore, accept applicants who do not meet these and other current policies regarding re-specialization in professional psychology.
Article I. Name

The name of this association shall be the Association of Psychology Postdoctoral and Internship Centers.

Article II. Purpose

The Association is organized and operated to:

- promote high quality training in professional psychology.
- provide a forum for exchanging views; recognizing differences; establishing policies, procedures and contingencies on training matters; and resolving issues for which common agreement is either essential or desirable.
- represent the views of training agencies to groups and organizations whose functions, objectives and/or actions impact our membership.
- facilitate exchange of information between institutions and agencies offering doctoral and postdoctoral professional training and doctoral and postdoctoral students in psychology.
- establish and monitor policies for matching students seeking internships or postdoctoral training with sites providing such training.

Article III. Offices

The principal office of the Association and such other offices as it may establish shall be located at such place or places as may be designated by the Board of Directors.

Article IV. Legislative Powers

Section 1. Vested Powers.

The legislative powers of the Association, including the power to amend the Articles of Incorporation and the bylaws and to specify methods of voting, are vested in the delegates of the member agencies and institutions present and voting at an annual or special meeting or by mail ballot.

Section 2. General Functions.

A. The Association so voting may promulgate policies and recommend procedures relative to standards of internship and postdoctoral levels of training, uniform notification times for internship matches, and other related matters.
B. The Association so voting may instruct its officers and the Board of Directors; authorize the raising of funds and appropriate available monies; create committees or authorize the appointment thereof; and initiate investigations and studies of such problems as it may designate.

C. The Association so voting may employ, or authorize the employment of staff.

D. The Association so voting may take such other actions not in conflict with these bylaws as it deems necessary, expedient or desirable to fulfill and implement its stated purpose.

Article V. Membership

Section 1. Classes and Eligibility.

The Association shall have one class of members: North American doctoral internships and postdoctoral training programs in professional psychology under the director of a licensed psychologist and in accordance with standards and regulations as APPIC shall determine shall be eligible for membership.

Section 2. Membership.

Members shall be duly elected dues paying programs in good standing. Each member program shall be represented by its Training Director or his/her designee. Such a designee shall be a credentialed psychologist actively involved in the administrative or clinical conduct of the member program by whom she/he has been designated. All applicants for membership shall file with the Secretary, or designee, a written application in such form as the Board of Directors shall from time to time determine.

Section 3. Voting Rights.

Each member shall be entitled to one vote on each matter submitted to a vote of the members.

Section 4. Termination of Membership.

The Board of Directors may (a) by a majority vote of those present at any regular constituted meeting, terminate the membership of any member who becomes ineligible for membership or suspend or expel any member who shall be in default in the payment of dues for the period fixed in Article XIV, Section 3 of these bylaws; and (b) by a two-thirds vote of the members of the Board suspend or expel a member for cause after an appropriate hearing.

Section 5. Resignation.

Any member may resign by filing a written resignation with the Secretary, or designee, but such resignation shall not relieve the member so resigning of the obligation to pay any dues, assessments or other charges theretofore accrued and unpaid.

Section 6. Reinstatement.
Upon written request signed by a former member and filed with the Secretary, or designee, the Board of Directors, may, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the members of the Board, reinstate such former member to membership upon such terms as the Board of Directors may deem appropriate if the former member has been inactive for one year or less. If a former member has been inactive for greater than one year, the program must reapply through the formal application process.

Section 7. Transfer of Membership.

Membership in this Association is not transferable or assignable.

Article VI. Membership Meetings

Section 1. Annual Meeting.

An annual meeting of the members shall be held at a time and place designated by the Board of Directors and announced to the membership at least three months in advance for the transaction of such business as may come before the meeting.

Section 2. Special Meeting.

Special meetings of the members may be called by the Chair of the Board of Directors, the Board, or not less than one-tenth of the members having voting rights.

Section 3. Place of Meeting.

The Board of Directors may designate any place as the place of meeting for any annual meeting or for any special meeting called by the Board. If no designation is made or if a special meeting be otherwise called, the place of meeting shall be the registered office of the Association; but if all of the members shall meet at any time and place and consent to the holding of a meeting, such meeting shall be valid without call or notice, and at such meeting any association action may be taken.

Section 4. Notice of Meetings.

Written notice stating the place, day and hour of any meeting of members shall be sent to each member entitled to vote at such meeting, not less than ten nor more than one hundred and fifty days before the date of such meeting, by or at the direction of the Chair, or the Secretary, or the officers or persons calling the meeting. In case of a special meeting or when required by statute or by these bylaws, the purpose or purposes for which the meeting is called shall be stated in the notice. If mailed, the notice of a meeting shall be deemed to be delivered when deposited in the United States mail addressed to the member at his/her address as it appears on the records of the Association, with postage thereon prepaid.

Section 5. Informal Action by Members.

Any action required by law to be taken at a meeting of the members, or any action which may be taken at a meeting of members, may be taken without a meeting if a consent in writing, setting forth the action so taken, shall be signed by all of the members entitled to vote with respect to the subject matter thereto.
Section 6. Quorum.

No less than twenty-five members shall constitute a quorum at any meeting. If a quorum is not present at any meeting of members, a majority of the members present may adjourn the meeting from time to time without further notice.

Section 7. Proxies.

At any meeting of members, a member entitled to vote may vote by proxy executed in writing by the member. No proxy shall be valid after eleven months from the date of its execution, unless otherwise provided in the proxy. Proxies shall be exercised only by other members.

Section 8. Manner of Acting.

A majority of the votes entitled to be cast on a matter to be voted upon by the members present or represented by proxy at a meeting at which a quorum is present shall be necessary for the adoption thereof unless a greater proportion is required by law or by these bylaws.

Section 9. Voting by Mail.

Where the Board of Directors is to be elected by members such election may be conducted by mail in such manner as the Board shall determine.

Article VII. Management of the Association

Section 1. Board of Directors.

The affairs, business, government and management of the Association shall be vested in a Board of Directors.

Section 2. Number, Tenure and Qualifications.

The number of Board of Directors members who are representatives of the members of the association shall be seven. Each member shall hold office for three years and until his/her successor is elected and qualified, subject to restrictions found in these bylaws. Service on the Board of Directors shall be limited to two consecutive terms which must be followed by a three year interval before further terms. This section does not apply to members appointed to fill vacancies on the committee, as provided by Section 5 of this Article. In addition, there will be one member who represents the public. The term for the public member will be three years, or until her/his successor is elected and qualified, subject to restrictions found in these by-laws, and renewable at the pleasure of the Board and the public member.

Section 3. Election to Board of Directors.

Board members who are representatives of the members of the Association shall be elected by members by mail ballot from nominations submitted by the Board prior to the annual meeting of the membership. The ballot shall be deemed to be delivered when deposited in the United States mail addressed to the member at his/her address as it appears on the records of the Association, with postage thereon paid. Ballots shall be returned within 30
Section 4. Meetings.

A. Regular Meetings. Two regular meetings of the Board of Directors shall be held without other notice than this bylaw, one immediately before, and at the same place, as the annual meeting of members. The Board may provide by resolution the time and place for the holding of additional regular meetings of the Board without other notice for such resolution.

B. Special Meetings. Special meetings of the Board of Directors may be called by or at the request of the Chair or any two Board members. The person or persons authorized to call special meetings of the Board may fix any place as the place for holding any special meeting of the Board called by them.

C. Notice. Notice of any special meeting of the Board of Directors shall be sent at least two days previous to the meeting to each Board member at his/her address as shown by the records of the Association. Any Board member at any meeting shall constitute a waiver of notice of such meeting, except where a Board member attends a meeting for the express purpose of objecting to the transaction of any business because the meeting is not lawfully called or convened. Neither the business to be transacted at, nor the purpose of, any regular or special meeting of the Board needs to be specified in the notice or waiver of notice of such meeting, unless specifically required by law or by these bylaws.

D. Quorum. A majority of the Board of Directors shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at any meeting of the Board; but if less than a majority of the Board are present at said meeting, a majority of the Board present may adjourn the meeting from time to time without further notice until a quorum is present, when any business may be transacted that may have been transacted at the meeting as originally called.

E. Manner of Acting. The act of a majority of the Board of Directors present at a meeting at which a quorum is present shall be the act of the Board, unless the act of a greater number is required by law or by these bylaws.

Section 5. Vacancies.

Any vacancy occurring in the Board of Directors and any Board position to be filled by reason of an increase in the number of Board members may be filled by the affirmative vote of a majority of the remaining Board. A Board member elected to fill a vacancy shall be elected for the unexpired term of his/her predecessor in office.

Section 6. Compensation.

Board of Directors members as such shall not receive any stated salaries for their services, but by resolution of the Board a fixed sum and expenses of attendance, if any, may be allowed for attendance at each regular or special meeting of the Board; but nothing herein contained shall be construed to preclude any Board member from serving the Association in any other capacity and receiving compensation therefore.

Section 7. Informal Action by Board of Directors.
Any action required by law to be taken at a meeting of the Board, or any action which may be taken at a meeting of the Board, may be taken without a meeting if a consent in writing, setting forth the action so taken, shall be signed by all of the Board members.

Article VIII. Duties and Powers of the Officers and Executive Committee

Section 1. Officers.

The Officers of the Association shall be a Chair, Vice-Chair, a Secretary, a Treasurer, and/or such other officers as may be elected in accordance with the provisions of this Article. The Board of Directors shall elect from among its members the officers it shall deem advisable, such officers to have the authority and perform the duties prescribed, from time to time, by the Board. The term as officer shall be determined by the Board, as it shall deem advisable, but in no event, shall the term as officer exceed three years. It is permissible for an individual to have more than one term in office subject to the provisions of Article VII, Sections 2 and 5. No two offices may be held by the same person simultaneously.

A. Chair. The Chair shall be the principal officer of the Association and shall in general manage all of the business and affairs of the Association. He/she shall preside at all meetings of the members and of the Board of Directors. He/she shall sign, with the Treasurer or any other proper officer of the Association authorized by the Board of Directors, any deeds, mortgages, bonds, contracts, or other instruments which the Board has authorized to be executed, except in cases where the signing and execution thereof shall be expressly delegated by the Board or by these bylaws or by statute to some other officer or agent of the Association; and in general he/she shall perform all duties incident to the office of the Chair and such other duties as may be prescribed by the Board from time to time.

B. Vice-Chair. In the absence of the Chair or in event of his/her inability or refusal to act, the Vice-Chair shall perform the duties of the Chair and when so acting, shall have all the powers of and be subject to all restrictions upon the Chair. Any Vice-Chair shall perform such duties as from time to time may be assigned to him/her by the Chair or by the Board of Directors.

C. Treasurer. If required by the Board of Directors, the Treasurer shall give a bond for the faithful discharge of his/her duties in such sum and with such surety or sureties as the Board shall determine. He/she shall have charge and custody of and be responsible for all funds and securities of the Association; receive and give receipts for monies due and payable to the corporation from any source whatsoever, and deposit all such monies in the name of the Association in such banks, trust companies or other depositories as shall be selected in accordance with the provisions of Article X of these bylaws.

D. The Secretary shall keep the minutes of the meetings of the members and of the Board in one or more books provided for that purpose; see that all notices are duly given in accordance with the provisions of these bylaws or as required by law; be custodian of the Association records; keep a register of the post office address of each member which shall be furnished to the Secretary by such member; and in general perform all duties incident to the Office of Secretary and such other duties as from time to time may be assigned to him/her by the Chair or the Board.

Section 2. Staff.
The Board may employ staff who shall provide Central Office Services under the direction of the Board.

Section 3. Removal of Board of Directors Members.

An officer or other Board member may be removed for just cause by a two-thirds (2/3) majority vote of the membership of the Board of Directors.

Article IX. Committees

Section 1. Authorization.

Such committees as are necessary to carry out the functions of the Association may be created by the Association at any meeting, by the Board of Directors, or by the Chair.

Section 2. Committee Functions.

A. Such committees shall refer to the charge given to them by the Association, Board of Directors, or the Chair.

B. Each committee shall develop a mission statement which must be approved by the Board of Directors. The designation and appointment of such groups and delegation thereto of authority shall not operate to relieve the Board, or any individual Board member, of any responsibility imposed upon them by law.

C. Each committee shall report back to the Board of Directors upon completion of its mission, and at such other interim times as may be directed by the Chair or the Board.

Article X. Contracts, Checks, Deposits and Funds

Section 1. Contracts.

The Board of Directors may authorize any officer or officers, agent or agents of the Association, in addition to the officers so authorized by these bylaws, to enter into any contract or execute and deliver any instrument in the name of and on behalf of the Association, and such authority may be general or confined to specific instances.

Section 2. Checks, Drafts, etc.

All checks, drafts or orders for the payment of money, notes or other evidences of indebtedness issued in the name of the Association, shall be signed by such officer or officers, agent or agents of the Association and in such manner as shall from time to time be determined by resolution of the Board of Directors. In the absence of such determination by the Board, such instrument shall be signed by the Treasurer or by the Chair or Vice-Chair of the Association.

Section 3. Deposits.
All funds of the Association shall be deposited from time to time to the credit of the Association at such banks, trust companies or other depositories as the Board of Directors may select.

Section 4. Gifts.

The Board of Directors may accept on behalf of the Association any contribution, gift, bequest or device for the general purposes or for any special purpose of the Association.

Article XI. Books and Records

The Association shall keep correct and complete books and records of account and shall also keep minutes of the proceedings of its membership, Board of Directors and committees having any of the authority of the Board, and shall keep at its registered or principal office a record giving the names and addresses of the members entitled to vote. All books and records of the Association may be inspected by any member, or his/her agent or attorney, for any proper purpose at any reasonable time.

Article XII. Publications

Section 1. Authorized Publications.

There shall be two principal publications of the Association:

1. An annual Directory of doctoral internship and postdoctoral training programs in professional psychology. Listing in the Directory shall be in accordance with such criteria, conditions and standards as may be determined by the membership or the Board of Directors.

2. A Newsletter containing reports of the Annual Meeting, Board of Directors meetings and actions, and other such information deemed important to the membership.

Section 2. Copies.

All members of the Association will receive copies of the publications gratis. Other organizations, agencies, bodies and individuals may subscribe to the publications for fees to be determined by the Board of Directors on a periodic basis.

Article XIII. Fiscal Year

The fiscal year of the Association shall begin on the first day of January and end on the last day of December in each year.

Article XIV. Dues
Section 1. Annual Dues.

The membership, on the recommendation of the Board of Directors, may determine from time to time the amount of annual dues payable to the Association by the members.

Section 2. Payment of Dues.

Dues shall be payable in advance on the first day of each fiscal year. Dues of a new member shall be paid in a manner to be determined by the Board of Directors.

Section 3. Default and Termination of Membership.

When any member shall be in default in payment of dues for a period of twelve months from the beginning of the fiscal year, the membership may thereupon be terminated by the Board of Directors in the manner provided in Article V, Section 4 of these bylaws.

Section 4. Reinstatement.

Any member that has terminated membership while in good standing or that has forfeited membership by nonpayment of dues may be reinstated by the Board of Directors of the Association in the manner provided in Article V, Section 6 of these bylaws and payment of the current year’s dues and any dues in arrears.

Article XV. Waiver of Notice

Whenever any notice is required under the provisions of the relevant Non-Profit Corporation Act or under the provisions of the Articles of Incorporation or the Bylaws of the Association, a waiver thereof in writing signed by the person or persons entitled to such notice, whether before or after the time stated therein, shall be deemed equivalent to the giving of such notice.

Article XVI. Amendments to Bylaws

These bylaws may be altered, amended or repealed and new bylaws may be adopted by two-thirds of the members responding by mail ballot. The ballot shall be deemed to be delivered when deposited in the United States mail addressed to the member at his/her address as it appears on the record of the Association, with postage thereon prepaid. Ballots shall be returned within thirty days of that date. Any Article or Section thereof contained in these bylaws may be amended to have full force and effect upon current and future members, without reservation.
LISTING OF DOCTORAL INTERNSHIP PROGRAMS

- Programs are organized alphabetically by state; by city within state; and by agency within city. Programs outside of the United States are listed last.

- APPIC is not an accrediting agency. Listing in the directory indicates that program applications have been reviewed by APPIC Membership Committees and that the programs as submitted are in compliance with the requisites for APPIC Membership described in the policy section of the Directory.

- The information in the directory listings has been updated online by each program's training director and was correct as of May 2012. APPIC does not take responsibility for information that has been incorrectly entered by training directors.

- APA accreditation status is accurate as the directory goes to press, and may change between this date and the appearance of the directory. Interested readers should contact APA and/or individual programs for information about current APA accreditation status.

Other Application Requirements

Interns are expected to follow all the clinical procedures as a psychotherapist/psychologist intern at CSI.

Program Description

We provide long-term psychodynamically-oriented treatment, psychological testing and consultation for ethnically diverse and economically disadvantaged children, adolescents, and families in a community, home & school-based setting. Multi-cultural submersion experience in Jamaica during the winter.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities

Treating families with complex problems is neither short-term nor solely problem-focused. It is long-term, and relationship based, with incremental changes occurring over time. Our clients have trauma-induced disorders (i.e. complex traumatic stress disorder), not chronic mental illness.

Program Description
FWISD offers diverse, urban training opportunities. Interns refine existing skills while acquiring new techniques. The goal is for interns to transition from student to colleague/practitioner. The program promotes a developmental model of supervision and supports the Practitioner Model of training.

Employment at Student Health is contingent upon a negative drug screen. At the start of the internship year, Student Health will provide this screening at no cost to the intern.

Program Description
Our training is conceptualized as a developmental-practitioner model, which builds on the knowledge and skills that interns acquire during doctoral training and prepares them for entry level positions as generalist psychologists.

Program Description
At the Barrow Neurological Institute, St. Joseph’s Hospital and Medical Center (SJHMC), individuals have the unique opportunity to be exposed to a wide variety of patients with neurological conditions. U.S. News & World Report has named SJHMC one of the 10 best hospitals in the United States for Neurology and Neurosurgery. In addition, St. Joseph’s has been recognized nationally as one of the Top 100 Best Places to Work in Healthcare by Modern Healthcare. Barrow Neurological Institute, the neurological division at St. Joseph’s, has long been recognized for providing state-of-the-art care for people with brain and spine disease, disorders, and injuries. There are over 20 neurosurgeons on site as well as a large neurology department including a movement disorders program, stroke center, and comprehensive epilepsy program. The residency (fellowship) program is two years. Residents in clinical neuropsychology are involved in direct patient care in several settings. Those settings may include the Inpatient Neuropsychological Consultation Service, the Muhammad Ali Parkinson’s Center, and the Inpatient Neuropsychological Consultation Service. Our department also participates in a number of ongoing clinical research trials. Our setting is primarily dedicated to patient care, with heavy clinical demands placed on the resident. However, there is a strong interest and support for research and education. We believe this provides an excellent training setting in return for the clinical services provided by the residents, the staff neuropsychologists in the Section of Clinical Neuropsychology provide clinical supervision, teaching seminars, and research opportunities.

Program Description

The Arizona Psychology Training Consortium is a non-profit subsidiary corporation of the Arizona Psychological Association. The Consortium was developed to create internships and postdoctoral residencies. School psychology, neuropsychology, sex offender treatment, inmate psychiatric, out-patient Native American community health, and private practice sites are available. There are few clinical rotations among the training sites. Each of the residencies provides advanced training in assessment, psychotherapy, cultural diversity, and independent practice. Residents participate in two-day didactic training events each month. There can be significant travel to some of the monthly training events. Training opportunities are provided by academicians and practitioners from several Arizona universities, community agencies, and practices. There is a selection preference for applicants from Arizona universities and internship programs, but applicants from any regionally accredited Clinical, Counseling, or School Psychology program are encouraged to apply. Applicants must send at least two complete application packets. One complete application packet goes to the Consortium. Also send one complete application packet to each individual training site of interest. Please review the application procedures described on the Arizona Psychological Association website at www.azpa.org. During the application process, frequently check the website for new Consortium training opportunities.

Program Description

The ASU Counseling Services (ASU CS) Postdoctoral Residency is a 2000 hour, 12 month program designed to provide advanced training for professional and leadership roles in university counseling center settings. The program uses a developmental-practitioner training model and training activities are focused on developing existing skills through a range of professional activities, training, and feedback. Residents provide individual and group therapy, outreach, consultation, crisis intervention (both daytime and after-hours), and may supervise masters or doctoral level advanced practicum students. In addition to consolidating general clinical skills, residents engage in professional activities and receive training in a focus area related to their career interests. Available focus areas include: - training administration, wellness psychology, counseling center administration/resident life consultation, Besides clinical and focus area training, residents participate in agency staff meetings, staff development programs, and agency committees and teams. ASU CS has a multidisciplinary staff, including psychologists, counselors, social workers, and psychiatrists. Its mission is to serve a diverse student population, and models and promotes the valuing of human differences on individual, organization, and community levels as well as the facilitation of human potential.

Program Description

Four full-time 12-month postdoctoral fellowships beginning September 1, 2013. Pediatric Psychology and Neuropsychology Postdoctoral Fellowships are available. Fellows in pediatric psychology receive training in various activities including pediatric inpatient consultation/liaison, participating in a variety of outpatient multidisciplinary medical clinics in pediatrics. Over 20 diverse rotation experiences are offered including involvement with TBI, SCI, Autism spectrum, obesity, sleep disorders, chronic pain, palliative care, cardiology, asthma, CF, vent-dependent, burn, ADHD, learning disorders, neurodevelopmental disorders, etc. Fellows in pediatric neuropsychology receive training with various populations including epilepsy, head injury, neuro-oncology, and various disorders impacting the CNS. TRAINING PROGRAMThe Pediatric Psychology fellowship is part of a comprehensive interdisciplinary training effort in the Department of Pediatrics at the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences. Training sites include the J. L. Dennis Developmental Center and Arkansas Children’s Hospital (ACH). The fellowship is partially funded by the multi-site LEND grant that provides training in neurodevelopmental disabilities. SETTINGThe Department of Pediatrics at the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences has over 200 faculty members, including 18 psychologists. The Department provides its clinical services through Arkansas Children’s Hospital (ACH). ACH is the largest pediatric hospital in the nation and provides outstanding clinical facilities. As the capital city of Arkansas, Little Rock provides many of the benefits of living in a large city without the negative aspects, such as traffic congestion and high cost of living. The population of the greater Little Rock areas is approximately 500,000. Little Rock is located in a picturesque setting in the foothills of the Ozark Mountains.

Program Description

Our goal is to prepare trainees for an advanced level of competence in the practice of Clinical Psychology. Two tracks emphasize Serious Mental Illness/Psychosexual Rehabilitation and Post Traumatic Stress Disorders work. One PTSD fellow and two PSR/SMI fellows are usually chosen each year. Persons with training and experience in areas are especially competitive applicants. Integral training components include direct service, strong didactics and supervision, development of supervision skills and professional development activities. Fellowship training includes required core experiences based on the chosen area of emphasis, as well as options based on the learning and training goals of each fellow, whether clinical, research and scholarship, or other areas of professional development. The PSR fellowship involves ongoing work with fellows and staff of other disciplines. Fellows interact with our APA-accredited interns throughout the year. Our strength lies in the rich diversity of clinical opportunities available and the supportive and collaborative stance of staff toward fellows. We believe that postdoctoral education and training is primarily experiential, through supervised service delivery, with an emphasis on ethical and legal considerations, individual and cultural diversity, evidence-based practice and professionalism. The training staff promote professional development of the fellow as a clinician, consultant, clinical scholar, supervisor, educator, program innovator, interdisciplinary team member and consumer advocate. We strive to provide exemplary postdoctoral training consistent with a practitioner-scholar model and a biopsychosocial, recovery-oriented approach. We accept application materials (paper or electronic) in one packet or separately, if received by deadline. Letters of reference sent via email should be sent from supervisor's work email. Note: VA physical exam & drug screen are required by start of fellowship.

Program Description
Residents will be responsible for providing: (a) individual, couples, and group therapy; (b) assessment and referral services; (c) crisis intervention and on-call services; (d) outreach programming; and (e) psychological consultation to the campus community. Residents may also have involvement in training and supervision of practicum students through Humboldt State University’s Master’s level Counseling and Social Work programs. Residents will receive both individual and group supervision commensurate with the requirements for licensure. Although the training is in brief therapy, each resident may carry one longer term client. CAPS is housed in the Health & Counseling Center building on campus. Each resident will have a private office, with computer and internet access, and an assigned video camera to use for clinical supervision purposes. The counseling facility includes a group room, a professional library, and a staff kitchen. CAPS currently consists of five professional therapists working as a team. Peer consultation is emphasized and constantly utilized in a supportive and collegial atmosphere. The staff is especially interested in residents who will support this type of work environment. Residents will engage in both formal and informal supervisory contact with all professional staff. In addition to supervision, residents will participate in our weekly case conference and training seminar. Humboldt State University is located on the northern California redwood coast, in the community of Arcata (pop. 13,000). The hillside campus overlooks Humboldt Bay and the Pacific Ocean, amidst the surrounding Redwood forest. As one of the smaller campuses of the California State University system, with about 7,500 students, HSU is known for its open and friendly campus environment.

Program Description

The postdoctoral fellowship program is committed to providing comprehensive training experiences that will facilitate postdoctoral fellows’ development as independent professional psychologists. A primary goal of the program is to assist fellows in strengthening and consolidating their clinical and professional skills and integrating these skills into their professional identities as psychologists. The postdoctoral year marks a significant developmental transition of fellows from trainees to well-rounded, independent professionals. It is expected that fellows will be able to function competently and autonomously by the end of the training year. The fellows will receive advanced clinical training and supervision in brief therapy and crisis intervention in a multidisciplinary, multicultural university counseling service. The responsibilities of the fellows include intake assessment, crisis intervention, individual personal and career counseling, Co-facilitation of structured CBT and/or process groups, Providing workshops, Outreach to the campus community, Special projects as needed (e.g., groups, outreach, research), Postdoctoral fellows typically provide 20-22 hours of clinical work per week, which includes intakes, groups, brief individual and couples therapy, and a 3-hour crisis on-call shift. Postdoctoral fellows receive 2 hours of individual clinical supervision, one hour of group supervision, and participate in a weekly multidisciplinary case conference. Additionally, postdoctoral fellows participate in a weekly Professional Development seminar and spend 2 hours per week working on a project/apprenticeship and 1 hour per week receiving supervision for this project.

Program Description
Casa Pacifica is a residential treatment center and a non-public school for emotionally disturbed adolescents within the community. We also offer temporary shelter for abused and neglected children and adolescents as well as transitional aged youth services through our CITY (Coaching Independence in Transitional-Aged Youth) program. Our two-year postdoctoral program offers advanced general training in child and adolescent clinical psychology with emphasis on community mental health. Our training program is an organized experience which, in contrast to on-job training, is designed to provide the Fellow with a planned, programmed sequence of supervised training experiences. We also provide advanced clinical training in cognitive-behavioral interventions, crisis management, brief and long-term psychotherapy, group therapy, and consultation. Our supervision satisfies California licensing requirements. To be eligible, applicants must have completed a doctoral program in clinical or counseling psychology and preference is given to applicants from programs with APA accreditation. Admission requirements include completion of all professional doctoral degree requirements from a regionally accredited institute of higher education or an APA/CPA-accredited program and completion of a Predoctoral internship that meets APPIC standards. Applicants must provide a letter from the director of the graduate program that stipulates the applicant has completed requirements for the doctorate and will graduate by the starting date of the Fellowship. WE REQUIRE COMPLETION OF A CASA PACIFICA POSTDOCTORAL APPLICATION. Casa Pacifica is located outside of Los Angeles in the community of Camarillo, a few miles from the Pacific Ocean and one hour south of Santa Barbara. It is a beautiful setting adjacent to California's newest University at Channel Islands.
Kaiser Permanente - South Bay Consortium
Postdoctoral Training Program

Program Description
The South Bay Consortium is a joint program supported by the Santa Clara and San Jose Medical Centers. The Consortium began in 2006 as part of a restructuring of the larger Northern California Regional postdoctoral training programs. The goal was to provide an integrated and comprehensive training program while retaining local support. The South Bay Consortium is a comprehensive program that is well integrated into the Kaiser Permanente health care system. A total of 12 Clinical Psychology Residents are placed in Departments of Child or Adult Psychiatry or our Autism Spectrum Disorder Clinic. Their required clinic time is 40 hours per week during a 12-month period. One-half of the residents’ time is spent providing direct services to clientele through individual, group, family, or couples therapy and conducting psychological assessments. In addition to the required two hours of individual supervision weekly by a licensed psychologist, residents also participate in two hours of group supervision, case conferences, team meetings, and weekly seminars. Residents are also encouraged to attend the monthly grand rounds for the general staff, in addition to weekly seminars and individual and group supervision, residents are expected to attend a monthly half-day seminar, which is also open to supervising psychologists for continuing education credits. The first seminar focuses on Ethics and the Law. This ensures all postdoctoral residents have a sound working knowledge of California’s professional code of conduct. Please refer to web site for further description of the program sites: http://residency.kp.org/ncal/mental_health_training/postdoctoral/clinical_psychology/south_bay

Program Description

Program provides advanced training opportunities in the core service areas provided by CAPS including: Intake Assessment, Crisis Intervention, Brief Psychotherapy, Multicultural Counseling, Consultation to Campus Units and Departments, Program Development and Outreach. The program is designed to provide training grounded in the scientific principles of our profession that emphasize the area of applied practice. The overarching objective is to train ethical, competent psychologists who are capable of functioning independently and will contribute both to the welfare of society and to the profession. The training staff realizes that the most important learning occurs through providing service under the direct supervision and mentorship of a senior staff professional. Such “learning by doing” is guided, enriched and deepened through the postdoctoral fellowship program.

Program Description

*NOT UPDATED RECENTLY. CONTACT PROGRAM FOR INFORMATION. Kaiser Permanente offers postdoctoral residencies in the Union City/Hayward Medical Center and the Fremont Medical Center. Together they form the South East Bay Consortium of Kaiser Permanente Northern California Residency Program. Each of the medical centers is comprised of different departments, including Psychiatry in Union City and Fremont, as well as the Chemical Dependency Recovery Program in Union City. The residency is a comprehensive program that offers a broad range of training experiences in one of the richest multicultural areas in the nation. The residency is seen as a vital component of the integrative Kaiser Permanente health care system. Residents complete 40 hours per week in either the Department of Psychiatry or the Chemical Dependency Recovery Program for 12 months. One half of the residents’ time is spent providing direct services to children, adolescent, and/or adult clientele through individual, group, and/or family therapy as well as conducting psychological assessments. Residents also participate in a program evaluation/research project and community service. In addition to the required two hours of weekly individual supervision by a licensed psychologist, residents also participate in at least two additional hours of individual and/or group supervision each week. Residents from each of the three programs together attend weekly didactic seminars. Psychiatrists or other licensed mental health professionals, with particular advanced knowledge and expertise, attend the postdoctoral residents on such topics as: Psychopharmacology for Adolescents, Treatment of OCD, and Issues in Mental Health for Deaf Patients. Once a month the seminar is held in Oakland for a half-day and over 60 residents from all of the Kaiser Permanente Medical Centers in Northern California attend. Some past seminars include: Ethics, Clinical Supervision, Diversity, and License Preparation.

Program Description

The Sullivan Center for Children is an intensive outpatient treatment center that specializes in providing psychological services to children, adolescents and their families. The Sullivan Center is a Psychological Corporation currently employing 16 clinicians. Five of those clinicians are Ph.D. or Psy.D. Psychologists. We also have two LMFT's and one Board Certified Child Psychiatrist. The populations we treat vary greatly in terms of age, type of pathology, socio-economic status, and cultural backgrounds. The Center is dedicated to the treatment of children, adolescents and their families. We provide intensive assessments and individualized treatment programs. We have a team approach in which, if appropriate, children and members of their families can be involved in an integrated treatment approach using more than one modality. We provide individual treatment for the children, individual therapy for the parents, if appropriate, educational/suppository therapy for the parents around the child's needs, couples therapy if the problems lie in the parents and not in the child, family therapy if the pathology is best treated from a family systems perspective, group therapy for children, and supportive and educational groups for parents. If a child and their family are involved with more than one therapist, then a team approach is used to coordinating treatments. If the problems lie in the parents and not in the child, family therapy is the best option. We also have contracts with the Fresno Unified School District and Central Valley Regional Center that allow us to provide services to children who have a lower socio-economic status. We deal with problems of childhood that range from mildly to severely disturbed.

Program Description
LMU is a private Catholic undergraduate and graduate institution located on the bluffs above Marina del Rey in California. Student Psychological Services (SPS) is a department in the Division of Student Affairs. The Division of Student Affairs supports the University mission through programs and services designed to advance student learning. In keeping with the mission, SPS aims “to foster students” personal, social, and intellectual development and emotional health by providing psychological services to students and by serving as an educational and consultative resource to the University community. Services are provided in a safe environment that is respectful of cultural and individual differences. LMU is a highly ranked regional university, and the student body of approximately 5,500 undergraduates and 2,500 graduate students is highly diverse. SPS is centrally located in relatively new offices. In addition to providing direct services, Fellows participate in designing consultation and outreach programs, campus events, and conduct program evaluation. Supervision meets licensure requirements, and Fellows have the opportunity to work with all staff members. Fellowship meets 1500 required hours with up to a 44 hours week.

Program Description

This Postdoctoral Fellowship is for psychologists who are looking to train in diagnostic and psychotherapeutic work with children, adolescents and their parents/caregivers from a psychodynamic perspective. The Center is located in the heart of West Los Angeles on the beautiful 17 acre campus of the parent agency, Vista Del Mar. The Reiss-Davis Clinic has been serving the mental health needs of a racially, ethnically, and socio-economically diverse population since 1950. The fellowship functions within the overall structure of the clinic. Modeled after the Hampstead Clinic in London, the fellowship program has been offering advanced training in psychoanalytic child-adolescent work for sixty years. The program's curriculum incorporates the latest in developmental interpersonal neurobiology. Fellows are available on a part-time basis (25-28 hours/week), and begin in September. A typical week for part-time fellows is comprised of 12 hours of diagnostic and therapy cases and 2-3 hours of individual supervision. All fellows receive 10-15 hours of weekly group supervision and didactic teaching from psychodynamically-trained faculty who are practicing clinicians.

The program is small and collegial, allowing ample interaction time with the teaching faculty. The two-years provide a unique opportunity to gain experience in longer-term intensive psychotherapy. The goal of the Reiss-Davis Fellowship is to graduate mental health professionals who have solid observational, diagnostic, and therapeutic skills, are knowledgeable about psychoanalytic theory and technique, are grounded in their familiarity with normal and pathological development and parenting issues and ultimately feel confident in their ability to integrate theory with practice.

Program Description

The Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in Neuropsychology at the UCLA Semel Institute for Neuroscience and Human Behavior aims to prepare clinician-scientists for careers in academic research and clinical applications within the specialty area of neuropsychology. The program offers training in a series of six tracks with clinician/educator and academic/research emphases, including: 1) General Track - 1 opening; 2) Child Track - 1 opening; 3) HIV/AIDS Research Track - 1-2 openings. All fellows, regardless of track, receive broad training and experience in both research and practice. All residents share an extensive curriculum of didactic and experiential offerings, and training programs are individually tailored to achieve specific goals considering the resident's prior competencies and experiences. Patient populations span all age groups, and both clinical applications and research projects target a diversity of neurologic, psychiatric, and general medical disorders, with integration across diverse departments and centers including: Psychiatry and Biobehavioral Sciences, Neurology, Neurosurgery, the Brain Injury Research Center, and Ahmanson-Lovelace Brain Mapping Center at UCLA. Additional offerings are made possible through strong collaborations with centers of excellence off-campus, including The Help Group (with a focus on neurodevelopmental disorders), the Veterans Administration Greater Los Angeles Health Care System (VAGLAS, with a focus on HIV/AIDS and major mental illness), and the University Neuropsychology Group in Pasadena.

Program Description

The University of Southern California, Division of Student Affairs, offers a postdoctoral fellowship in College Student Disability Services. The central training goal for this fellowship is that the postdoctoral fellow complete training with advanced knowledge, confidence, and competence in the following areas: clinical practice, short-term counseling, group counseling, awareness and appreciation of human diversity, professional ethics and decision making, outreach/consultation, and clinical supervision. This fellowship is a 12-month position with an emphasis in clinical assessment, including psychodiagnostic assessments of learning disabilities and ADHD. The fellow will provide clinical services to students with disabilities who register with the Disability Services and Programs office as well as the general student population seeking support and learning assistance.

Program Description

The University of Southern California University Center for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities (USC UCEDD) at Children’s Hospital Los Angeles (CHLA) offers an advanced two-year postdoctoral training program in Clinical Child Psychology. The program offers unique training experiences in clearly defined emphasis areas. Individuals are recruited for specific emphasis areas and are offered training opportunities in a variety of departments and clinical services. The emphasis practice areas include Pediatric Psychology, Early Childhood Mental Health, Trauma Psychology, Child and Family Therapy, and Adolescent Psychology. The postdoctoral training program at CHLA is based on an integrated community mental health and health psychology scientist-practitioner model. It is designed to train psychologists to assume leadership roles as experts in clinical psychology in pediatric community and medical settings. Depending on the emphasis area chosen, fellows may be gaining professional experiences in outpatient mental health clinics, community clinics, schools and/or pediatric hospital units. Through intensive supervision, didactic lectures and seminars, research and program development activities, and ample direct patient contact and consultation opportunities, fellows enhance and develop advanced clinical skills in their emphasis area. The program will only accept graduates of APA accredited programs who have completed APA accredited internships and all the requirements for graduation by September 1, 2013.

Program Description

The USC Institute of Psychiatry, Law, and Behavioral Science is an integrated part of the USC Department of Psychiatry and in existence since 1963. It offers a full-time 1-year Fellowship and an option for a 2nd year. Psychology Fellows are offered the same training and education as Psychiatry Fellows. All Fellows serve under supervision as consultants and as expert witnesses for the State & Federal Criminal Court, Dependency & Family Court, Mental Health Court, Juvenile Court, and County Probation as well as the State Parole Board. Each Fellow is given approximately 2 cases per week involving psychological-legal issues for courts and various administrative hearings. The Fellows have at least 7 USC Fellowship-trained faculty supervisors. The Fellows conduct treatment of mentally disordered offenders. Courses specifically designed for Fellows include: criminal, civil, juvenile, family, and mental health law; videotape seminar; landmark mental health law cases seminar; legal research; correctional psychology; and legal and ethical issues for the practice of forensic psychology. Courses and seminars are approximately 14-18 hours per week. Lecturers are forensic psychologists and psychiatrists, judges, attorneys and professionals in other forensic related disciplines. Each Fellow teaches and supervises USC psychiatric residents who treat forensic patients. Each Fellow will have opportunity to conduct a psychological autopsy for the Los Angeles County Department of Coroner. Use the telephone number or web address listed above for inquiries and application. We adhere to APPIC’s Uniform Notification Date (UNDr) and the UNDr procedures outlined on the APPIC website.

Program Description

Our training program seeks to ensure the development of advanced clinical competence in the general practice of professional psychology integrated with specialized, in-depth, training in a specific area of emphasis. Our program supplements clinical training with regular didactics and clinical research experience within a specific area of emphasis, to further develop depth in addition to breadth of exposure. All four of our Fellowship emphasis areas enjoy strong connections with local academic institutions (especially University of California, Los Angeles) and/or on-site VA researchers, allowing for additional educational and research collaborations. Our program emphasizes the application of current scientific knowledge to professional service delivery, including strong training in evidence-based practices. At the completion of training, Fellows are expected to be prepared to obtain licensure and, if relevant, be prepared for the board certification process in their area of emphasis. Ultimately, we strive to support the VA's training mission of producing competent, creative psychologists who will go on to either VA jobs or will work in academia, other medical centers, the private sector, etc.

Program Description

The Wright Institute Los Angeles Postgraduate Center's full-time and half-time postdoctoral training program is designed to develop and refine competence in the conduct of long-term, intensive psychotherapy and brief psychotherapy. The theoretical orientation of most of our faculty is contemporary psychodynamic/psychoanalytic. The field of psychodymanic psychotherapy has undergone a substantial evolution in recent years. The program presents the core of theory and technique that has endured through this evolution as well as relatively recent developments which have advanced theory and enlarged the range of application and effectiveness of psychoanalytic psychotherapy. The program consists of the conduct of psychotherapy with an adult caseload presenting with a broad range of diagnoses and issues, individual and group supervision, an extensive series of seminars on theory and technique, and case conferences. Focused training in eating disorders, offered through our eating disorders program, is available to interested Postdoctoral Fellows. Full-time Fellows may also participate in a clinic project, the nature of which varies from year to year. Teaching and supervision are conducted by a small core faculty and a large group of mental health professionals on our Teaching and Supervisory Faculty. The training staff includes 2 full-time and 4 part-time psychologists and 40 mental health professionals in private practice who have appointments to WILA's Teaching and Supervisory Faculty. All faculty are licensed and experienced and have specialty training in psychodynamically oriented psychotherapy and psychoanalysis. Participation in the postdoctoral training program requires a Ph.D. or Psy.D. in Clinical or Counseling Psychology. Due to our lack of a stipend WILA will not be an APPIC member after the 2012 training year. The program remains in operation. Ten Postdoctoral Fellows will be admitted for 2012-13. For further information contact WILA directly.

Program Description

The Central Bay region encompasses the cultural and geographic heart of the San Francisco Bay Area. The training sites of the Central Bay Consortium (CBC) are located in the cities of Oakland and Richmond. The Departments of Psychiatry at each site provide psychotherapy, psychological testing, and psycho-educational programs. Each department includes Adult Services, Child & Family Services, and an Intensive Outpatient Program (IOP) that offers services to recently hospitalized individuals. Training sites in the CBC also include the Chemical Dependency Recovery Program (CDRP), which offers intensive chemical dependency services. Each site delivers individual and group therapy, including Dialectic Behavioral Therapy (DBT). Residents at the CBC are placed in Departments of Psychiatry and are required to complete 40 hours per week over a 12-month period. In addition to the required two hours of individual supervision provided weekly by a psychologist, residents also participate in two or more hours of additional training, including group supervision, case conferences and/or team meetings, and weekly seminars. Depending on the program and site, other seminars may be required or recommended to residents. Residents also attend periodic half-day Kaiser Permanente Northern California Post-doctoral regional seminars. These seminars provide an opportunity for residents to develop professional relationships within a large community of psychologists that will help orient the residents to their careers as professional psychologists. We at Kaiser Permanente’s CBC have made a commitment to utilizing evidence-based treatments. Departments throughout the region send specialists to develop Best Practice guidelines based on the most current research for major psychological disorders. The Best Practices literature is available to all residents and is considered part of the overall curriculum of the residency programs. Residents must have an unrestricted right to work in the US.

Program Description

WCC is a private, non-profit community psychology clinic that provides comprehensive psychological services to children, youth, their families and caregivers. Our clients represent a variety of racial, ethnic, cultural and socioeconomic groups. Many of our clients come from disrupted families.

Many are involved with the foster care system. Residents provide services in the Outpatient Therapy Program and/or the Assessment Program. The primary theoretical orientations of the program are psychodynamic and systems informed by current research and literature. Assessment training is based in the therapeutic-collaborative model. Rorschach training and experience is preferred (Exner & R-PAS). Residents work in the community (in homes and schools, for example) as well as in the clinic setting. Applicants must have received a degree from an APA accredited program and completed an APA, APPIC or CAPIC internship. All doctoral requirements must be completed prior to the start of Residency. Residents contract for a 12-month, 40 hour/week commitment. The postdoctoral program exceeds the 1500 hour post degree supervised professional experience requirement of the California Board of Psychology. Selection criteria includes academic preparation, successful completion of a predoctoral internship program of at least 1500 hours, clinical experience relevant to the population we serve, diversity and multicultural experience, experience with the foster care system, match with the mission of the agency, excellent professional writing skills, and strong letters of recommendation. Fluency in Spanish is a plus. Applicants are expected to have a high level of general training at the predoctoral level with some training in the area of their desired track(s). Racial and ethnic minorities are encouraged to apply. Download brochure from website (http://www.westcoastcc.org/2210.html).

Program Description
The focus of the Postdoctoral Fellowship training program at Children's Hospital of Orange County (CHOC) is to provide advanced in-depth training in child/pediatric psychology and prepare individuals for careers in medical settings. The CHOC Fellowship offers specialized training in child clinical psychology applied in a general pediatric tertiary care setting. Postdoctoral Fellows are supervised by Psychology faculty who have expertise in pediatric and child clinical psychology, as well as specialized interests in neuropsychology, pain management, disruptive behavior disorders, infant development, and sports psychology. The Program provides experience with consultation/liaison to sub-specialty pediatric units, neuropsychological assessment, and work in our outpatient Pediatric Psychology Clinic. One position is with our Consultation and Liaison Program and one with the Oncology Service. A third position is anticipated with the Epilepsy program. The training program is housed within the Department of Pediatric Psychology which provides comprehensive psychological services throughout the Children's Hospital. Postdoctoral Fellows share some training experiences and seminars with interns in an APA accredited psychology internship as well sharing some educational opportunities with medical residents. Further, fellows have the opportunity to evaluate/consult to a wide variety of families from multicultural backgrounds. Fellows participate in research activities and complete a clinical/research project during their fellowship. Fellows also have the opportunity to provide supervision to psychology trainees and interns.

Program Description

Please see the Training Program website at www.paloalto.va.gov/MentalHealth/PsychologyTraining.asp for program brochure and application instructions. Application due date is January 7, 2013. All application materials must be sent by email to the Postdoctoral Coordinator at William.Faustman@va.gov. All offers will be made by early March 2013. Contact Dr. William Faustman with specific questions. Applicants must be U.S. citizens and graduates of APA-accredited internships and APA-accredited doctoral programs in Clinical or Counseling Psychology. Dissertation must be completed to begin postdoctoral program.

Postdoctoral training at the VA Palo Alto builds on the generalized foundation of the knowledge, skills, and proficiencies that define clinical psychology, and offers both breadth and depth to develop both advanced general clinical skills and specific skills within the following 8 areas of emphasis:
- Behavioral Medicine
- Clinical Geropsychology
- Palliative Care
- Clinical Neuropsychology
- Rehabilitation Psychology
- Psychosocial Rehabilitation
- PTSD
- Substance Use/Homeless Rehabilitation

*Each emphasis area provides training in established or emerging competencies for psychologists working in these areas. The Clinical Neuropsychology emphasis area provides training in all areas of Neuropsychology competency as described by APA Division 40. The Rehabilitation Psychology emphasis area provides training in all areas of Rehabilitation competency as described by APA Division 22.

Program Description

NOT UPDATED RECENTLY. CONTACT PROGRAM FOR INFORMATION This fellowship offers three tracks: Forensic Psychology (3-4 positions), Advanced Clinical Psychology (1-2 positions), and Neuropsychology (1-2 positions). The Forensic Psychology program provides training in the specialized practice of forensic psychology, including case and statutory law, use of specialized forensic assessment instruments, forensic reports, and expert testimony. Fellows perform forensic evaluations and consultations, including trial competency, criminal responsibility, sex offender evaluations, mentally disordered offender evaluations, assessments of psychopathy and general risk and sex offender risk assessment. The Advanced Clinical Psychology Program is designed for the fellow who has significant experience working with severely mentally ill patients, seeking advanced training in therapy and assessment with a forensically involved population. The clinical fellows conduct intensive long-term individual psychotherapy and psychological assessments focused on treatment needs, diagnosis, and readiness for discharge. The Neuropsychology fellowship is a two-year training program (consistent with the Houston Conference Guidelines), and provides advanced training in the specialized practice of neuropsychology while working in a forensic setting. The program addresses core knowledge areas of neurobehavioral syndromes, functional neuroanatomy, neuropsychological assessment, and report writing. Fellows lead cognitive remediation groups, perform hospital-wide neuropsychological evaluations, and serve as consultants to treatment teams. We anticipate partnering with local medical hospitals and rehabilitation centers so we can offer assessment opportunities of non-psychiatric individuals.

Training in empirically validated techniques gives residents a menu of interventions, while supervision keeps a focus on the particulars of each therapist/client pairing. There is a clear emphasis on the role of the psychologist in a multi-cultural community, an outpatient setting and integrated with the medical center in providing quality health care to its members. The residency consists of three components: 1. Regular exposure, through active participation, to all facets of outpatient services; 2. Professional guidance through sessions of formal supervision, staff meetings and informal contacts with staff members. 3. Regular weekly and monthly training seminars.

For open house: 2012/2013 East Bay Consortium (Friday, March 13th, 12:30-2PM) at Walnut Creek Mental Health, room 3E. RSVP to Director of Training.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities
Register at kaiserpermanent.jobs.org. Submit applications online through kaiserpermanent.jobs.org. We cannot review applications sent directly.

The East Bay Consortium consists of at least three fellowships at each of three site locations in the Bay Area: Antioch, Pleasanton, and Walnut Creek. Residents are generalists, but may have a primary affiliation to the Adult, Child & Family, or Chemical Dependency teams depending on the site. Separate applications must be made to each site of interest. Our training philosophy is to foster clinical competence and professional identity through the mastery of basic and specialized skills. Training in empirically validated techniques gives residents a menu of interventions, while supervision keeps a focus on the particulars of each therapist/client pairing. There is a clear emphasis on the role of the psychologist in a multi-cultural community, an outpatient setting and integrated with the medical center in providing quality health care to its members. The residency consists of three components: 1. Regular exposure, through active participation, to all facets of outpatient services; 2. Professional guidance through sessions of formal supervision, staff meetings and informal contacts with staff members. 3. Regular weekly and monthly training seminars. One half of the residents' time is spent providing direct services to Kaiser members through individual, group, & family therapy. Residents complete 2 psychological test batteries over the course of the training year. SERVICES: The Departments of Psychiatry at each site provide individual, group, family, child and adolescent therapy, post-hospital stabilization programs for teens and adults, and chemical dependency services for adults, as well as evidence based treatment groups for common disorders. Some specialized services are sub regionalized at Walnut Creek, such as Adolescent Chemical Dependency and Eating Disorders. STAFF ORIENTATION: Members of the staff represent a variety of theoretical orientations.

Program Description
The Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences is recruiting 3 clinical psychology fellows. The fellowship will begin September 1, 2013 and will continue for 1 year. In conjunction with the Sacramento County Division of Mental Health, we are recruiting 3 fellows to provide psychological services, under supervision, in 3 division of mental health clinical programs associated with the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences; an adult inpatient service, an adult outpatient service, and a children’s outpatient service. Two psychology fellows will be child focused and be based in the Sacramento County Child and Adolescent Psychiatry Services Clinic, and one fellow will be adult focused and will split their time between the county inpatient and outpatient facilities. In addition, fellows from both of these tracks may have the option of placing a minor emphasis in either adult or child work.

The West Bay Consortium is well-integrated into the Kaiser Permanente health care system. The central San Francisco Bay region encompasses the cultural and geographic heart of the Bay Area. The training sites of the West Bay Consortium are located in the cities of Redwood City, San Francisco, and South San Francisco. The Departments of Psychiatry at each site provides psychotherapy, psychological testing, and psycho-educational programs. Each department includes an intensive Outpatient Program (OP) that provides services to recently hospitalized individuals, or individuals at risk for psychiatric hospitalization. Certain sites in the West Bay Consortium include Chemical Dependency Recovery Programs (CDRP) which offer intensive chemical dependency services. Each site runs many different groups such as Depression, Anxiety, and Dialectic Behavioral Therapy (DBT). All residents are required to complete 40 hours per week over a 12-month period. In addition to the required two hours of individual supervision weekly by a psychologist, the resident also participates in two or more hours of group supervision, case conference, and/or team meetings and a two-hour weekly seminar. Residents are also encouraged to attend departmental grand rounds and seminars. Residents will also have the opportunity to teach and gain experience conducting supervision. Residents from each of the sites will attend weekly seminars in San Bruno. Residents also attend regular half-day Kaiser Permanente Northern California Post-Doctoral regional seminars. A core feature of our training program is supporting and mentoring new professionals in their transition from internship through licensure.

Program Description
The Sharp Mesa Vista Hospital Post-doctoral Fellowship offers training in a fast paced intensive treatment outpatient program. The Fellow will specialize in an intensive mode of Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (CBT) as well as be trained in Dialectical Behavioral Therapy (DBT). Our model of training is based on the Practitioner/Mentor Model as our primary mode of treatment is group therapy. The postdoc will facilitate group treatment as a co-therapist with a supervisor, psychologist & will also cross-train with other licensed professionals. Fellows will function as a therapist and case manager within the outpatient department of Sharp Mesa Vista Hospital. The Fellow will spend the majority of the training year with the Cognitive Intensive Outpatient Program (Cog-IOP) and other training with the Dialectical Behavioral Therapy-IDP Skills Training Program. Our clients are primarily high functioning adults diagnosed with acute mood and personality disorders. Roughly 50-75% of our clients are referred from our private acute care inpatient psychiatric hospital. Other patients are referred from outpatient providers. Postdocs are an integral part of an interdisciplinary hospital based outpatient program. The combination of clients who have a high baseline level of functioning yet are in the severely acute phase of a mood disorder creates a most opportunistic training environment. The program has high expectations for change in a relatively short period of time, and when clients leave the program feeling confident about resuming their lives, it is most gratifying to consumers and staff alike. I hope you find this program interesting and that you apply. We offer a very competitive benefits package and pay and it is hard to beat the best weather in the USA and the California lifestyle. Sharp Healthcare is also the largest non-military employer in San Diego. Post-postdoc factoid: 5 of our staff/faculty members were former post docs. Are you next?

Additional Information About Training Opportunities
Development, implementation and dissemination of evidence-based practice through research/program evaluation are high priorities. The residency is primarily a clinical training program using a scientist practitioner model, and there are ample opportunities for both clinical and research experiences.

Program Description
The VASDHS/UCSD Clinical Psychology Postdoctoral Residency Program is accredited by the American Psychological Association as a postdoctoral residency program in clinical psychology. In close affiliation with the University of California, San Diego, Department of Psychiatry, the program offers 1-year positions in two tracks: Evidence Based Psychotherapy (EBP) and Psychosocial Rehabilitation (PSR). In the EBP Track, five positions are available, one in each of the following emphasis areas: Anxiety and Trauma, Geropsychology and Home-Based Care, Mood Disorders and Suicide, OEF/OIF/OND PTSD, and Family Mental Health. Residents complete a major rotation in the emphasis area and a minor rotation in primary care mental health integration. Residents learn to deliver evidence-based psychotherapies in a recovery model context, including developing personalization of goals and participating actively in treatment by choosing from a menu of treatment options and community service opportunities. Residents also are prepared to help other mental health professionals to appreciate the value of evidence-based care and to train their colleagues to deliver such care. In the PSR Track, two clinical psychology positions are available. Residents provide PSR services to veterans with psychotic disorders on primary and minor rotations in acute care (inpatient), outpatient and community-based programs. Using a Recovery Model, our programs empower veterans to develop personalized functioning goals and choose from a menu of treatment options, including medication management, vocational skill development/supportive employment, social skills training, cognitive behavioral therapy for psychosis, illness management and recovery, substance use-diagnosis treatment, neuropsychological evaluation, and access to vital community resources that support personal goal attainment through assertive community treatment and case management.

<td>The Help Group's post-doctoral Fellowship focusing on Autism Spectrum Disorders provides fellows an opportunity to obtain advanced clinical training and experience in intervention (individual, family, and group therapy) and assessment of children with autism spectrum disorders. In addition, fellows will develop skills in supervision of practicum students, and during clinical training and evaluation, and management in areas related to typical work practices with ASD population. The Help Group is one of the largest providers of school-based and outpatient services for children on the autism spectrum in the U.S., assessing and treating children and adolescents from pre-school through young adulthood. The year begins with the fellow completing a self-assessment of their strengths and areas in need of further training and experience. This self-assessment aids in the development of the individualized learning plan, which informs the training agreement for the year. The Help Group's year long post-doctoral fellowship program helps fellows develop specific skills and competencies to increase readiness for independent practice in the field of professional psychology with specialized skills and knowledge in working with children and adolescents with autism spectrum disorders in a community mental health center. The fellow's post-doctoral year will provide extensive experiences and exposure to the multifaceted roles psychologists take on in community mental health, with a focus on autism. The post-doctoral fellow will be given more autonomy and independence as the year proceeds, while always having access to supervisors and training opportunities.</td>

Program Description

Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) Postdoctoral Fellowship Program provides opportunities for advanced training and supervision in crisis intervention, assessment, on-call coverage, brief counseling, long-term counseling, individual and couples counseling, group psychotherapy, and consultation. The Postdoctoral Fellowship emphasizes a generalist training in preparation for a Staff Psychologist position at a university counseling center. Over the course of the year, Postdoctoral Fellows continue to enhance and solidify the development of clinical skills required for professional practice in psychology including: skills to effectively respond to crisis situations, consultation and collaboration skills to work with an interdisciplinary staff, the campus community and off-campus community, skills to work with individual and cultural diversity, and consultation, administration, education, liaison, and outreach skills. Additionally, CAPS provides Postdoctoral Fellows opportunities to select year-long specialized training: Gender and Sexual Identities Track (GSI) or Mental Health Promotion and Prevention (MHPP). Fellows in the GSI track provide clinical services, education, liaison, and training to the Stanford community while Fellows in our Health Promotion Track teach a course in Peer Counseling and provide consultation, education, liaison, and outreach to the campus community. Postdoctoral Fellows have provided 20 hours of clinical work per week. This includes weekly intakes, on-call coverage, consultations, referrals, short-term individual, couples, or group psychotherapy, and two long-term fee-paying students. Postdoctoral Fellows receive two hours of Primary Supervision, one hour of Specialty Supervision, and one hour of Case Consultation per week. Postdoctoral Fellows also attend a weekly team meeting and an Education Meeting.

Program Description
The Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences at Stanford University School of Medicine offers clinical and research fellowships. Clinical fellowships are available in five areas: 1) the Psychosocial Treatment Clinic offers training in evidence-based assessment and treatment of adults with anxiety, mood disorders, eating disorders, interpersonal problems, personality disorders, and couple and family therapy; 2) the Sleep Medicine Program offers training in non-pharmacological treatments of sleep disorders; 3) the Pain Medicine Clinic offers training in the assessment and treatment of pain disorders; 4) the Child Psychiatry Clinic offers training the assessment and treatment of anxiety and mood disorders, PDD, disruptive behaviors, and eating disorders for children and adolescents; and 5) the Pediatric Psychology Program offers training in the assessment and treatment of children with medical illnesses. Clinical fellows spend 50% time in direct clinical activity, with the balance in supervision, case conferences, and seminars. Extensive individual and group supervision is available. Training is designed to promote professional development and prepare fellows for independent practice as psychologists. Clinical fellowship appointments are full-time for 1 year. NIMH-funded research fellowships are for 2-3 years. Research opportunities for NIMH fellows are in depression, anxiety, eating disorders, sleep disorders, and developmental psychopathology. NIMH fellows spend at least 80% of their time in research-related activities with one primary faculty mentor and spend 4-6 hours per week in direct patient care and supervision. NIMH fellowships are also open to MDs. Our fellowships are open to PhDs and PsyDs from APA- or CPA-accredited clinical or counseling psychology programs, who have completed APA- or CPA-accredited internships. Completion of this fellowship meets all requirements for California state licensure as a psychologist.

Program Description
The Postdoctoral Program in Clinical Psychology at Harbor-UCLA Medical Center is in a UCLA affiliated County Hospital's Psychiatry Department. APPLICANTS ARE RESTRICTED TO GRADUATES OF APA ACCREDITED PROGRAMS IN CLINICAL OR COUNSELING PSYCHOLOGY WHO WILL HAVE COMPLETED AN APA ACCREDITED PRE-DOCTORAL INTERNSHIP BY SEPTEMBER 1, 2011. Fellows are selected to develop expertise in one of the following tracks: 1. Adult Psychology (CBT/DBT and other “new wave” treatments); 2. Child/Pediatric Psychology; 3. Behavioral Medicine (HIV Mental Health Services, Women’s Health—Women’s Health is split with Adult Inpatient Psychiatry); 4. Correctional (all Mental Health); Community Psychosocial Rehabilitation, or 5. Neuropsychology (2 year program APA-accredited, APPCN-member program). Fellows may perform diagnostic assessments ranging from mental status exams to comprehensive psychological batteries. Treatment may include short and long term therapy with individuals, families or groups, and emphasis is placed on evidence-based practice. Participation in program evaluation or clinical research is required. A minimum of 4 hours supervision per week is required, which may include assessment, therapeutic interventions, case management, consultation and research, in addition to case conferences and didactic seminars. Electives outside of the primary expertise focus are available. All courses required for California licensure are made available during the year.

Program Description

The North Bay Consortium (NBC) is a comprehensive postdoctoral training program that is well integrated into the Kaiser Permanente health care system. NBC residents are placed at one of three medical centers: Santa Rosa, San Rafael, and Vallejo. The program accepts 13 psychology residents. 8 positions are split between adult and child teams in both Santa Rosa and San Rafael, 2 positions are in chemical dependency services in San Rafael, and 2 positions are on the adult team in Vallejo. Our training philosophy is to foster clinical competence and professional identity through the mastery of basic and specialized skills. Depending on which site they choose, residents are involved in DBT group programs, teen and child programs, eating disorder programs, behavioral medicine, emergency services, etc. Emphasis is placed on the role of the psychologist in a multidisciplinary medical center. Departments of Psychiatry at each site provide mental health and ED services to Kaiser members in the form of evaluation, psychotherapy, psychosocial educational programs, and intensive outpatient treatment. The focus of treatment is on brief therapy using CBT, ACT, DBT, and IPT. Evidence-based treatments are offered for depression, anxiety, child/adolescent family problems, eating disorders etc.

Program Description
Three individual postdoctoral programs are offered: Primary Care Psychology Fellowship. Applications open November 1, 2012. Acceptance Notification March 1, 2013. The fellowship will function as a member of an integrated care team which includes PCPs, medical residents, medical students, pharmacists, nurses, and care managers. Duties include clinical service delivery, medical student and residency teaching, and participation in research and policy activities related to the nation’s first collaborative care research network (www.aafp.org/ccrn). Fellows will have the unique opportunity to learn the skills necessary for modifying primary care practice and the accommodation of team-based integrated and collaborative care. Fellows will have the opportunity to research the impact of mental health in primary care through current departmental grants and other initiatives. For latest information, contact Dr. Ben Miller at benjamin.miller@ucdenver.edu. Developmental Disabilities: Focuses on the development of leadership skills in an interdisciplinary university setting which serves people with a wide range of cognitive, social/emotional, sensory, language, and motor disabilities. For latest information, contact Dr. Hal Lewis, by phone (303-724-7640) or email (Hal.Lewis@ucdenver.edu). Deadline March 1. Irving Harris Program in Child Development and Infant Mental Health: This is an infant mental health training program that provides training for postdoctoral graduates as well as mental health professionals seeking "mid-career" training. It is an advanced fellowship in infant mental health, consultation, and treatment, which includes didactic and clinical experiences focused on the problems of infancy, toddlerhood and parenthood. For latest information, contact Nancy Plummer by phone (303.724.3728) or email (nancy.plummer@ucdenver.edu). Deadline January 1.

Program Description

The Colorado Blood Cancer Institute (CBCI) at Presbyterian/St. Luke’s Medical Center is a large regional transplant center for Colorado and surrounding states, transplanting over 240 patients per year. Utilizing a multidisciplinary team approach, CBCI provides comprehensive care to transplant patients and their family members. The training program for the postdoctoral fellowship follows a developmental model. Fellows are assumed to have a strong basis of competency in assessment, diagnosis and intervention. In addition, many fellows come with a strong background in health or medical psychology. The transplant program is busy, with a brisk pace, which provides opportunities for fellows to master how to work efficiently within a medical setting as well as how to prioritize their time with the demands of their clinical responsibilities. Fellows carry a clinical case load that is comprised of individual transplant patients and their caregivers (usually family members). Approximately 25 hours per week are spent in direct and indirect patient care. Direct clinical services include conducting patient intakes and providing individual, family or group interventions. Indirect patient care includes providing consultation to staff regarding patient behaviors, treatment planning, and active involvement in 3 weekly multidisciplinary meetings. The rest of the fellow’s time is spent in supervision, didactics, administrative activities, or other training activities. Colorado has a large Latino population and a large Spanish-speaking only population. Therefore, there are opportunities for bilingual Spanish-speaking postdoctoral fellows to work with Latino patients and their families in the transplant program. Supervision for these clients is provided by a bilingual psychologist on staff at CBCI.

Program Description
The Mission of the VISN 19 MIRECC is to study suicide with the goal of reducing suicidality in the Veteran population, through increased understanding of contributing cognitive and neurobiological underpinnings of suicidal behavior, and the development of evidence-based educational and clinical materials. Fellows within the VISN 19 MIRECC are provided with training in the areas of research, assessment, and intervention, with the ultimate goal of facilitating independent research and practice in the area of suicide prevention. Housed at the Denver Veterans Affairs Medical Center (DVAMC), part of the VA Eastern Colorado Health Care System (http://www.denver.va.gov), the MIRECC offers the opportunity to work with a highly diverse group of Veterans. Supervisory staff are accomplished in the fields of research and suicidology. The Fellowship Program is designed to support individuals in their growth from students to professionals. Towards this aim, Fellows are provided with multiple learning opportunities. For more information please visit http://www.mirecc.va.gov/visn19/

Program Description

The Institute of Living offers Postdoctoral residency positions in the following areas of emphasis: (1) Clinical Neuropsychology, (2) Adult Inpatient Psychiatry, (3) Schizophrenia Rehabilitation/Persistent Mental Illness, (4) Anxiety Disorders (Available 2014), (5) Child and Adolescent School-based treatment and assessment, and outpatient therapy, (6) Health Psychology, Behavioral Medicine, (7) Child Adolescent Inpatient Psychiatry, (8) Pediatric Consultation/Liaison. Clinical Neuropsychology area provides a 2nd year of training beyond the accredited first year. The first year is primarily spent in a psychiatric setting (Institute of Living), whereas the second year is primarily in a general medical/rehabilitative setting. This area of training complies with APA Division 40, INS, and Houston Conference guidelines. We have residency positions in the following areas: Schizophrenia Rehabilitation Program/persistent mental illness, using cognitive rehabilitation models and functional MRI, and inpatient treatment; Adult Inpatient Psychiatry providing integrative psychodynamic and evidence-based individual, group, and family therapy; two positions in our behavioral/exposure-based Anxiety Disorders Clinic (second year available beyond accredited first year); combined school-based individual and group therapies, assessment of children and adolescents, and outpatient treatment of urban children and adolescents. Health Psychology/Behavioral Medicine position includes inpatient consultation, cognitive assessment and outpatient psychotherapy; Child/adolescent inpatient psychiatry involving advanced training in brief acute individual, group, and family therapy; Pediatric Clinical Psychology providing consultation/liaison services to Connecticut Children's Medical Center. The department is led by senior Psychologists who adhere to a scholar-practitioner model that actively integrates contemporary psychodynamic and cognitive behavioral models.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities

CHC offers a variety of training opportunities within the clinic-based site with additional opportunities available at school-based health centers and our Whenever You Are homeless outreach programs.

Program Description

Health care is rapidly changing. To continue delivering high-quality care in a way that meets each patient's individual needs, Community Health Center, Inc. (CHC) has adopted a new model of team-based, integrated care in which behavioral health clinicians, primary care providers, dentists and pharmacists all work closely together, sharing the same electronic health record, working under the same roof, and often seated together in the same pod. Designated a Patient-Centered Medical Home at the highest level (Level 3) by NCQA in April 2011, CHC is committed to providing effective, efficient, and elegant behavioral health care in the primary care setting. The Postdoctoral Psychology Residency program provides comprehensive training in the provision of psychological care to uninsured and underserved populations under this patient-centered medical home model, with a focus on positive client outcomes and building healthy communities. We believe this is the future of psychology and are looking forward to training the next generation of behavioral health providers in our model. The postdoctoral resident will have the unique opportunity to work closely with medical and dental providers as part of CHC's model of integrated care. Develop clinical and assessment skills with clients of all ages in a variety of settings, including in primary care settings, licensed outpatient mental health clinics, schools and homeless and domestic violence shelters. Gain experience using electronic health records and other state-of-the-art technologies to manage and deliver care. Complete psychological assessments to assist primary care providers and members of the behavioral health team in clarifying diagnosis and developing care plans. Participate in training seminars and supervision covering individual, family and group treatment within primary care. Training sites are located across the state in Middletown, Meriden, New Britain, and Fairfield County.

Program Description

The Child Guidance Center of Southern Connecticut is an independent non-profit agency that has served southwestern Fairfield County since 1954. A staff of over 35 clinicians offers a full array of outpatient mental health services to children, adolescents, and their families. The agency's focus is to thoroughly evaluate each child and family so that treatment services can be matched to specific developmental, dynamic, systemic and behavioral needs. Evaluations at the Center include Developmental Evaluations of pre-schoolers, psychological and neuropsychological testing, psychiatric and psychopharmacological evaluations, crisis evaluations, and sexual abuse forensic investigations. Individual, group and family treatment, along with 3 EBT's & psychopharmacological services are available for patients. The Center also provides consultative and psycho-ed services to schools, service providers, child protective services, and police. The Center provides two hours of individual supervision each week for post-doctoral fellows. A full schedule of weekly seminars and case conferences are provided for all staff and trainees. Fellows also participate in treatment planning meetings. They also attend a weekly psychological testing seminar, as well as other bi-weekly didactic seminars. A parent engagement study group is also part of the training experience. Fellows may also have the opportunity to supervise an intern or extern on testing cases, or coordinate consultation to a local Head Start Program. The Center has 2 facilities in Stamford, CT and community offices in the surrounding towns of Greenwich and Darien. The Clin. Dir. oversees all of the agency’s clinical programs. Fellows will spend the majority of their time at the Stamford facilities, but may be asked to see patients in any one of the community offices. Fellows working at those offices will always have immediate access to a clinical supervisor either in person or by phone.
Postdoctoral Training Program

Clinical Health Psychology Section

Program Description

Our program subscribes to the guidelines for the specialty of Clinical Health Psychology advanced by the American Psychological Association and espouses a strong scientist-practitioner model. Training emphasizes the following 4 core competencies: (1) research/scholarship; (2) advanced clinical practice; (3) interprofessional training; and, (4) program development/policy guideline implementation. With the assistance of the training committee, residents develop an individualized training plan to meet these 4 core competencies. While residents are invited and encouraged to participate in existing projects (i.e., current research, teaching, clinical, or program development activities), training opportunities in other areas of behavioral medicine of particular interest to a resident are also supported. A brief summary of the 4 core competencies is below:

RESEARCH: Current faculty research interest areas include: adherence, alcohol/tobacco interactions, smoking cessation/income dependence, chronic pain, diabetes, health promotion, obesity, patient-provider interactions, primary care psychology, tinnitus and telemedicine.

CLINICAL PRACTICE: Several clinics are supported by the Clinical Health Psychology Section, including (but not limited to): Primary Care Clinics, the Comprehensive Pain Management Center, the Smoking Cessation/Substance Abuse Clinics, Obesity Management Clinics, and Health Promotion Programs (stress management, healthy lifestyle). INTERPROFESSIONAL TRAINING: Opportunities to teach, mentor, and supervise other trainees (predoctoral interns, practica students, and undergraduate research assistants) and provide educational activities for other health professionals are provided.

PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT: Most opportunities include the development of innovative, integrative, and multidisciplinary models of care and/or involvement in hospital, regional- or nation-wide program development projects.

Program Description:
We offer two tracks in our residency program: General Inpatient and Forensic. The Program's training model is the Practitioner Apprenticeship Model which is characterized by learning by doing and refinement of clinical skills under the guidance and supervision of experienced practitioners. Trainees spend the majority of time (70%) in service delivery. The treatment setting is inpatient psychiatric hospital working with the severely mentally ill population that is either civilly or forensically committed to the hospital. Trainees have input in tailoring programs to meet their needs and interests. Generally trainees spend 16-20 hours per week at a major rotation and 8-12 hours per week at a minor rotation. Training activities include: individual and group psychotherapy, psychological assessment, leading seminars with dental or psychiatric residents, treatment team consultation, treatment planning conferences, and clinical supervision of psychology externs. The residency is a 12-month, full-time experience beginning on August 1st of each year, totaling to 2000 required hours. Qualified applicants must be a graduate of an APA-accredited doctoral program in clinical or counseling psychology and must have completed an APA-accredited or APPIC member internship and all degree requirements prior to beginning the residency. Training period is 1 year. Applicants must apply to either the forensic or general inpatient tracks. Send request for electronic program brochure to seh.psychtraining@dc.gov for a more detailed explanation of the programs. The program uses Dropbox to share the brochure.

Program Description
The Psychology Residency training program at Nova Southeastern University supports the mission of Nova Southeastern University by developing Professional Psychologists through multidisciplinary training activities including teaching, research, program evaluation and clinical experience. Our philosophy is that sound clinical practice is based on scientific research and empirical support. Our training model is the Scientist-Practitioner Model of Training where research and scholarly activities guide and direct clinical practice, and clinical practice leads to research questions and activities. Overall, the Residency year is in preparation to function effectively and autonomously as a psychologist. The goals of the Postdoctoral Training Program in Psychology include: 1. To develop advanced clinical skills, including psychological assessments and report writing competency in working with multicultural populations. 2. To develop advanced levels of research skills. 3. To develop professional supervision skills of interns & graduate and undergrad students. 4. To develop advanced levels of teaching skills. 5. To develop advanced levels of program evaluation and grant writing skills. 6. To develop professional socialization Objectives. The objectives of the Postdoctoral Training Program in Psychology include: 1. Resident will participate in opportunities which will develop and improve research & grant writing skills and participate in seeking grant funding from federal agencies. 2. Resident will provide clinical services, assessments, interventions and report writing to a diverse population with competencies of entry-level & continue to improve and gain new skills as a clinician. 3. Resident will provide instruction to faculty, practitioners & students. Resident will participate in program development & evaluation and prepare for a career in an academic environment. 4. Resident will provide consultation services to relevant constituents.

Program Description
We offer three fellowships in Clinical Psychology, one each in the emphasis areas of substance abuse, geropsychology, or post traumatic stress disorder. The structure of the program allows for specific training in the above clinical areas as well as additional training experiences of the fellows' choice, including medical psychology, pain psychology, primary care, neuropsychology, women's clinic, mental health clinic, and palliative care. Our web-based brochure describes each of the emphasis area training experiences as well as the additional training experiences described above. The program also includes ongoing supervision experience with our APA accredited internship program's interns. Our Medical Center is a large, comprehensive university-affiliated facility with 46 doctoral level psychologists and multiple treatment milieus and theoretical modalities. Fellows can expect to be collaborative partners in the development of their training plans for the year and will receive a comprehensive training experience while also developing a specialized knowledge and skill base in their respective emphasis area. 12 of our eighteen past fellows have gone on to VA careers in an area related to or consistent with their emphasis area training.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities
Training in the area of Clinical Psychology with the goal of preparing candidates for Board Certification. A rich program of didactic seminars, colloquia & supervision with a large faculty body.

Program Description
 INFORMATION MAY BE OUTDATED. PLEASE CONTACT PROGRAM DIRECTLY FOR INFORMATION.Citrus Health Network, Inc. has defined its training philosophy to reflect a "practitioner informed by the literature" orientation. By virtue of this orientation, we seek to train residents in a variety of clinical skills augmented by regular seminars in related subject areas, scientific colloquia and reviews and discussions of relevant current and past literature based on the Empirically Supported Practice Documentation created by the Society of Clinical Psychology, Division 12 APA, Committee on Science and Practice. Postdoctoral residents also receive training and exposure to empirically supported treatments through seminars, colloquia, supervision, review and discussion. However, residents are expected to enter the training program with an understanding of fundamental principles and are expected to practice more independently. Unlike the predoctoral program, which provides a wide range of experiences in different programs throughout the agency, the postdoctoral program provides a more intensive experience in a single program. Residents are expected to provide direct services to clients. However, in an effort to continue the professional development of trainees, the resident positions are designed to facilitate residents in becoming comfortable in leadership roles.

Program Description

FIU’s Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) is housed on two campuses: one on the bay (BBC), the other in southwest Miami (MMC), where the Post-doctoral fellow will work. FIU is a large, dynamic, urban, multicultural, and multi-ethnic Research 1 University with approximately 42,000 students, 10% of whom are international students. The Fellow has the opportunity to provide individual, group, and couples therapy, as well as crisis intervention services. The Fellow participates in Outreach workshops and offers consultation to various university departments including residence life. The Fellow also participates in a specialty track training experience. Specialty tracks currently include Diversity, Clinical Supervision and Training, Psychological Assessment, Mindfulness and Wellness, Administration, and Research. TRAINING FOCUS: Population: Registered FIU students; Treatment Modalities: Outpatient individual, couples, and group therapy, crisis intervention, consultation, workshops, and other outreach programing; TREATMENT APPROACH: CAPS offers time-limited, brief psychotherapy. Treatment plans are individualized to reflect the cultural and developmental needs of the students. PHILOSOPHY OF TRAINING: CAPS maintains a strong commitment to training. The Post-doctoral Fellowship is designed to reflect APPIC guidelines. Supervision is based on a developmental approach to learning. Goals are individualized to integrate the Fellow’s strengths and interests with CAPS’ needs. CAPS emphasizes treatment within the matrix of cultural differences. The full-time professional staff is comprised of psychologists from diverse ethnic and cultural backgrounds who maintain a wide spectrum of theoretical and psychotherapeutic approaches. See our website for application information.

Program Description

The Mailman Center offers a diverse postdoctoral training experience that may encompass both pediatric and child clinical research and clinical training, as well as developmental neuropsychological training. Postdoctoral positions are offered as they become available through training or other grants. Many postdocs remain in residence for more than a year which, along with funding, leads to fluctuations in the number of positions available. As such, it is best to contact the Training Director before sending in an application.

Program Description

The Psychology Service of the Veterans Affairs Healthcare System, Miami VA Medical Center, Miami, Florida has availability of two (2) one-year fellowship positions in Clinical Psychology with emphases in Health Psychology and Ger-No Psychropsychology. Choices among clinical experiences include: Patient Care Teams, Palliative Care and Hospice; Pain Management; Disease Management (obesity, liver disease, organ transplants, cardiology, diabetes and infectious diseases); Primary Care/Consultation & Liaison: Neuropsychology; and Geriatric Neuropsychology (outpatient and Community Living Center). The Post-Doctoral Residency program is accredited by the American Psychological Association. For information regarding APA accreditation of this residency, or other accredited programs contact the Office of Program Consultation and Accreditation, APA, 750 First Street NE, Washington, DC, 20002-4242, or phone (202) 336-5979, or email apaaccred@apa.org Web: www.apa.org/ed/accreditation

The goal of the fellowship program is to prepare scientifically-minded, doctoral-level psychologists to function effectively and autonomously in priority areas of health care for veterans and military patients. Applicants must have completed an APA-accredited Ph.D. or Psy.D. program, including an APA-accredited internship, preferably within a medical setting. Previous clinical and research experience in emphasis area is highly desirable. The program places strong emphasis on clinical activity. Residents are expected to achieve competencies based on the practitioner-scholar model in psychological assessment and diagnosis, psychotherapeutic intervention, professional consultation and supervision, professional issues, administration, ethics and sensitivity to diversity, and scholarly inquiry.

Program Description
J. M. (Jackson) Memorial Hospital is an accredited, tax-assisted, tertiary teaching hospital with 1,558 licensed beds. Associated with the Florida International University Herbert Wilhem College of Medicine and the University of Miami Leonard Miller School of Medicine, JMH provides a wide range of patient services and educational programs, a clinical setting for research activities, and a number of health-related community services. It is a regional referral center and a magnet for medical research and innovation. JMH's world-renown treatment facilities include the Ryder Trauma Center, UM/JM Burn Center, Holtz Children's Hospital, Jackson Rehabilitation Hospital and the Miami Transplant Institute. Based on the number of admissions to a single facility, Jackson Memorial is one of the nation's busiest hospitals. JMH Mental Health Hospital consolidates evaluation, treatment, teaching and research, offering the highest quality of care for children, adolescents, adults and seniors, including inpatient, partial hospitalization, day treatment and outpatient programs. In association with UM's Department of Psychiatry, JMH offers specialized treatment for numerous conditions including depression and mood disorders, schizophrenia, suicidal ideation or behavior, anxiety and panic disorders, drug and alcohol abuse, Alzheimer's disease, maternal substance abuse and criminal justice mental health services. JMH provides a supportive, recovery-oriented, safe and nurturing environment, compassionate and well-qualified staff and support groups for patients and their families. Post-doctoral Fellows are integrally involved with staff Psychologists and Psychiatrists in the assessment and treatment of mental health patients at JMH. Positions are available for the following tracks: Adult Mental Health, Child and Adolescent Mental Health and Behavioral Medicine. Admission into the program is highly competitive and candidates are drawn from a nationwide pool of applicants.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities
The available positions include the following: Adult Mental Health (2 positions); Behavioral Medicine (1 position); Child and Adolescent Mental Health (1 position). See our online brochure for the populations, treatment modalities and experiences specific to each track.

Program Description

Training Setting NeuroBehavioral Institute is a privately-funded center (fee-for-service clinic) that provides evidence-based treatments and specialty services for psychological conditions, including Anxiety Disorders, Obsessive Compulsive Disorder and Related Conditions (Tourette’s Syndrome, Trichotillomania, Body Dysmorphic Disorder, Hoarding, Body-focused Repetitive Behavior Disorders), Autistic Spectrum Disorders, and other neurobiologically-based conditions such as ADHD.

A specialized group of clinicians provide psycho-developmental, psycho-educational, and psychological assessment services. The Institute is affiliated with Academic Options, an Educational Consulting practice that provides services (i.e., college counseling, young adult post-secondary services, therapeutic placement, and school counseling) to students of all ages, abilities, and needs. Research protocols are in place to evaluate new and existing treatments for Obsessive Compulsive Spectrum Conditions as well as their phenomenology.

Program Structure

This two-year full-time clinical fellowship is a training program in Cognitive and Behavioral Psychology. Postdoctoral Fellows will be license-eligible after the first year of the fellowship program, and strongly encouraged to obtain their license at that point. This two-year clinical fellowship program provides Fellows with the opportunity to continue specialty training in Cognitive Behavioral Psychology for one year following eligibility for licensure, including the experience to develop skills in clinical supervision as a second-year Fellow and the ability to complete comprehensive research projects.

Program Description:
The Counseling and Psychiatric Services (CAPS) postdoctoral fellowship program is designed to develop advanced skills in the practice of psychology. Our diverse faculty is able to provide training in multiple approaches in working with clients including: psychodynamic, humanistic, cognitive-behavioral, developmental, and multicultural. Fellows will have the opportunity to work with 14-18 clients in individual therapy per week as well as the opportunity to work with clients in a group. Concentrations within CAPS are available in the areas of eating disorders and alcohol/drug. Additionally, each fellow will work 4-8 hours per week providing brief evaluation and crisis intervention in our walk-in counseling service. Opportunities to provide workshops, educational programming, consultation, and supervision to practicum students are also usually available. Postdoctoral fellows will work in close collaboration with senior staff and will function as professionals with many of the same responsibilities. Fellows attend all case conferences, professional development workshops, and staff meetings.

Program Description

The program provides exemplary training consistent with a scientist-practitioner model. The competency-based training is developmental and contextual in nature, and centered on the fellows’ individual needs and goals. While our expertise is in developing professional psychologists for leadership roles that combine service, research, and education, our ultimate commitment is to helping fellows define and progress towards their own chosen career path.

We offer training at the following sites: (1) Grady Hospital: (a) child clinical psychology working in a community based program with abused children and the Teen Clinic; (b) adults with serious mental illness working on inpatient units, psychiatric emergency service, intensive outpatient program, psychosocial rehabilitation program, and outpatient community mental health clinic; (c) women’s health working with abused and suicidal women and women with breast cancer; (d) psychoanalytic research, (e) health psychology with individuals living with HIV/AIDS, and (f) trauma psychology; (2) Children’s Healthcare of Atlanta - (a) pediatric consultation-liaison and neuropsychological assessment with youth with oncological and hematological disorders, (b) pediatric neuropsychology, (c) pediatric feeding disorders, (d) fetal alcohol syndrome, and (e) developmental and behavioral disorders; (3) Department of Rehabilitation Medicine - (a) rehabilitation and neuropsychology. Positions at all sites include a focus on direct clinical service (assessment, intervention, consultation), research/scholarship, the receipt and provision of supervision, and professional development activities. START DATE IS FLEXIBLE FROM JULY THROUGH THIRD MONDAY IN SEPTEMBER.
The Emory University Counseling Center (EUCC) provides comprehensive mental health and preventive services for a student population that is culturally & clinically diverse. In addition to working at EUCC, Fellows spend two half days per week working at Emory's Faculty Staff Assistance Program (FSAP), which provides outreach, clinical services, organizational intervention & consultation to Emory's 21,000+ employees & dependents. Fellows gain experience in individual, couples & group psychotherapy, outreach, intake assessments, consultation, teaching & supervision of practicum students, & crisis intervention. The EUCC is a multidisciplinary setting, with staff and trainees representing Counseling Psychology, Clinical Psychology, & Clinical Social Work; staff also have consultative relationships with University psychiatrists. A variety of theoretical orientations & intervention models are represented among the senior staff. The Center's model of training emphasizes three components: development over the course of the training year, mentoring relationships with senior professionals, & the importance of combining practice with science (practitioner/scholar model). Fellows at the Emory Counseling Center receive intensive, supportive training, which is designed to prepare Fellows for the diversity of roles which psychologists assume in their career paths. Postdoctoral Fellows have the opportunity to work with a variety of clients, cultural backgrounds, presenting problems and treatment modalities, & each Fellow also has the opportunity to work with an identified Specialty Supervisor in order to focus his or her training on a particular area of clinical interest. The 2000 hour Postdoctoral Fellowship meets or exceeds all requirements for licensure in the State of Georgia. EUCC's clientele is diverse in terms of age (from late teens to 60's), race, ethnicity, religion, national origin, gender, gender identity, sexual/affectional orientation, disability status, & SES.

Program Description

The 2000 hour postdoctoral fellowship at the Georgia State University Counseling and Testing Center balances individual, group and couples therapy with outreach, supervision of practicum students, program development and outreach. This full-time position assumes 25 hours of direct contact per week within a 44 hour work week. Nontraditional, as well as traditional diverse students seek services. Postdocs participate in case conference, group psychotherapy, seminar, staff meetings, and case disposition meetings. The Counseling and Testing Center's orientation and training programs stress cultural competency as a key component of the learning year. Fellows co-lead at least one of 10 interpersonal or support groups, provide emergency coverage after hours for students residing in university housing, conduct walk-in initial consultations with students who present at the CTC, and treat individual clients and couples with a wide range of presenting concerns. Consultation and campus outreach activities may include classroom and student organization presentations, Safe Zone, stress management and suicide response/education presentations, serving as housing liaisons, and leading intercultural dialogue groups.

The Kapi'olani Child Protection Center's Post-Doctoral Psychology Fellowship Training Program was started in 1992 to provide specialty training in child clinical psychology with an emphasis in child maltreatment. The training program is part of KCPC's Training Institute, which includes Pediatric Residency training, Nurse Specialist training, Social Work Practicum, University of Hawaii Law Student Training and the Argosy University-Hawaii clinical psychology graduate practicum training. The program offers the opportunity to work in a multidisciplinary setting with multicultural families. The program provides 2,000 hours of supervised training within a one year period. Meets requirements for licensure in Hawaii & most States. Training on areas includes: Comprehensive psychological evaluations and report writing. Supervisors and Center Director observe initial psychological evaluations, provide feedback and supervise interpretation and report writing. Fellows complete an average of eight to ten child or adult comprehensive evaluations per month, focused on the impact of child maltreatment, parenting abilities and treatments/service planning. Referrals are screened and assigned according to increasing complexity throughout the training year. Psychotherapy training is ongoing throughout the training year. Intakes are presented weekly and cases are assigned with increasing complexity. Training in Family therapy for reunification with biological parents and Parent Child Interaction Therapy is also provided. Fellows participate as co-therapists for group therapy. Case load averages six to eight clients per week. Case consultation training in working with Child Welfare Services Workers, Guardians Ad Litem, foster parents, school counselors, etc. Special training in mentoring children in foster care, substance abuse, expert testimony, psychopharmacology, diversity, etc. Supervision of Peer Mentors & Psychology Practicum Students.

Program Description

NOT UPDATED RECENTLY. CONTACT PROGRAM FOR INFORMATION The TAMC Postdoctoral Psychology Training Practice Program strives to provide each fellow with advanced training. Fellows can choose from one of our three Specialty Training areas: Clinical Child Psychology, Clinical Health Psychology, or Clinical Neuropsychology. The training includes workshops by Visiting Distinguished Professors, a significant emphasis on graduate-level training in psychopharmacology, Ethics Seminar Series, Specialty Areas Seminars, and case conferences. Fellows in each specialty area train to national standards. Clinical Health Psychology Fellows have the option of completing a research project of publishable quality or opt to complete a Master's in Psychopharmacology. Clinical Child Psychology and Clinical Neuropsychology fellows may also elect to participate in the Master of Science in Psychopharmacology. The training programs are housed at TAMC, a major teaching hospital, with residency and fellowship programs in a variety of medical disciplines. The Clinical Child Psychology, Clinical Health Psychology and Clinical Neuropsychology are accredited as separate Specialty training areas by APA. TAMC provides a rich environment for training and learning. Faculty of the Department of Psychology participate in ongoing programs of research in pediatric oncology, ADHD, telehealth, tobacco cessation, weight management, pain management, biofeedback, memory disorders, virtual reality, etc. Fellows receive training from faculty from various other disciplines including psychiatry, endocrinology, oncology, and pediatrics, and learn to work closely with physician colleagues. Refer to our webpage for further information or contact the director of training for copies of the Specialty Handbooks.

The overarching purpose of the program is to prepare postdoctoral Clinical Psychology Fellows for general advanced practice across a broad range of competencies viewed as necessary for independent professional psychology practice. These competencies include assessment; psychotherapy and intervention; consultation; program development and evaluation; supervision; teaching; strategies of scholarly inquiry and clinical problem-solving; organization, management and administration relevant to psychology; professional, ethical and legal conduct; and issues of cultural and individual diversity relevant to the above. Complementing our goal of preparing Fellows for advanced professional psychology practice, the Program also helps Fellows develop skills for practice in high priority areas of health care for veterans. The Program's four Emphasis areas include Medical Rehabilitation Psychology, Neuropsychology, Primary Care and Health Psychology, and Posttraumatic Stress Disorder and Substance Abuse. Through their training across a variety of clinical placements, Fellows develop general advanced professional practice knowledge and skill as well as depth of advanced knowledge and skill in working with specific populations. Reflecting our principle that clinical practice must embody a research and theory based orientation, we afford the Fellow an experience in which clinical practice is integrated with the scholarly inquiry surrounding practice. Reflecting our evidence-based model, we especially seek applicants with strong scientific and theoretical grounding in professional psychology. The Fellow, the Fellow's Mentor and the Training Director design each Fellow's training at Hines to ensure that it is integrated with the Fellow's doctoral training and is aimed at further progression and development of the Fellow's knowledge base, professional judgment and identity, and skill attainment.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities
Please see our Brochure (available on our webpage) for additional information regarding training opportunities available within the Program and across Emphasis areas.

Program Description
The overarching purpose of the program is to prepare postdoctoral Clinical Psychology Fellows for general advanced practice across a broad range of competencies viewed as necessary for independent professional psychology practice. These competencies include assessment; psychotherapy and intervention; consultation; program development and evaluation; supervision; teaching; strategies of scholarly inquiry and clinical problem-solving; organization, management and administration relevant to psychology; professional, ethical and legal conduct; and issues of cultural and individual diversity relevant to the above. Complementing our goal of preparing Fellows for advanced professional psychology practice, the Program also helps Fellows develop skills for practice in high priority areas of health care for veterans. The Program’s four Emphasis areas include Medical Rehabilitation Psychology, Neuropsychology, Primary Care and Health Psychology, and Posttraumatic Stress Disorder and Substance Abuse. Through their training across a variety of clinical placements, Fellows develop general advanced professional practice knowledge and skill as well as depth of advanced knowledge and skill in working with specific populations. Reflecting our principle that clinical practice must embody a research and theory based orientation, we afford the Fellow an experience in which clinical practice is integrated with the scholarly inquiry surrounding practice. Reflecting our evidence-based model, we especially seek applicants with strong scientific and theoretical grounding in professional psychology. The Fellow, the Fellow’s Mentor and the Training Director design each Fellow’s training at Hines to ensure that it is integrated with the Fellow’s doctoral training and is aimed at further progression and development of the Fellow’s knowledge base, professional judgment and identity, and skill attainment. Our Brochure, which is available on our website, provides detail regarding our Program.

Program Description

Connection's Day School (CDS) is a private therapeutic day school, founded in 1998, that serves high-risk children and adolescents who require an alternative school program that is both educational and therapeutic. CDS utilizes therapeutic, educational, family and community connections to promote social/emotional well-being, academic achievement and personal growth. CDS Staff Members employ a variety of methods to help students make academic progress, appropriately manage their behavior, and develop their coping and social skills. By utilizing a combination of respect, humor, empathy, and kindness balanced with firmness (i.e., maintaining high expectations and ensuring that students adhere to rules, boundaries and expectations), Staff Members are able to establish and maintain supportive, nurturing relationships with our students. In turn, these relationships can help the students be more open to learning the life skills required for long-term success. We are seeking highly-motivated individuals, who have experience working with challenging young people, and are interested in being an active part of our dynamic clinical staff. Our Post-Doctoral Fellows get opportunities to provide Secondary Supervision for our Pre-Doctoral Interns and 4 Psychotherapeutic Externs - our Fellows, Interns & Externs have all reported this training opportunity to be an extremely valuable learning experience. Please check out the Connection’s Day School website: http://www.connectionsdayschool.net to get general program information; and for specific information about our Fellowship program, go to the “Clinical Training” page of the website, and click on “Post-Doctoral Fellowship Program.” APPLICATION NOTE: Please do not send any application materials under separate cover - all materials should be sent together in one envelope.

Program Description

The Forensic Psychology Training Program provides the following learning opportunities: Direct, face-to-face, contact with residents will be greater than 35% of the Fellow's time; other clinical activities will represent approximately 60%. Nonclinical activities will be included in the Fellowship (e.g., administrative). Care will be taken to ensure that active clinical activities are kept to a minimum; less than 5% of the Fellow's time. The Fellow will receive two hours of licensed supervision each week; one from the Director of Training & Research and another from a Licensed Psychologist on staff. The format of supervision is trainee focused; addressing services provided and other topics the Fellow might bring. The Fellowship is a 2000 hours training experience involving the following learning opportunities: Treatment: co-facilitate 15 hrs/wk Sex Offender specific groups treatment with a senior staff member; and a primary caseload of 10-12 residents. A minimum of five psychological batteries will be completed during the year. The Fellow will be responsible for preparing detailed treatment plans and quarterly treatment plan reviews for the residents on the primary caseload. The Fellow will attend and participate in both the bi-weekly team staffing and the weekly case conceptualization. The Fellow will be providing supervision to an assigned Intern, which will focus specifically on psychological testing and report writing. Didactic training is committed to diversity awareness, knowledge, and the acquisition of skills to increase multicultural competencies. Three Multicultural case presentations will be required. During the training year the Fellow will be exposed to a broad scope of Forensic issues through various learning methods and opportunities. There will be the opportunity for research at the facility if this is an area of interest for the Fellow. Specific research topics will be provided at the commencement of the training year.

Program Description

Applications for the program should include: 1) CV, 2) Two sanitized reports (one psychological evaluation and one other--forensic, neuropsychological evaluation, etc)3) Cover letter outlining interest in LSH and license plan (e.g., planned graduation dates and plan to obtain temporary license in Kansas)4) Graduate school transcripts5) Three references (one of which being a current supervisor). Fellows will complete a 24-month rotation on one of the three programs at Larned State Hospital (LSH): 1) State Security Program (SSP)2) Psychiatric Services Program (PSP)3) The Sexual Predator Treatment Program (SPTP). On SSP, all fellows will be exposed to working with criminally committed patients. Fellows will complete various forensic evaluations (e.g., competency to stand trial assessments, mental state at the time of the offense determinations, sexual predator evaluations, and pre-sentence evaluations), provide treatment, and serve as a treatment team facilitator. On PSP, all fellows will be exposed to working with patients either voluntarily or involuntarily civilly committed by court for inpatient treatment due to psychiatric issues causing them to be a danger to themselves or others. Fellows will serve as a treatment team facilitator, provide therapy, and complete various assessments. On SPTP, all fellows will work directly with sex offenders who have been found to meet the criteria of Sexually Violent Predators pursuant to Kansas law. Specific activities will be assigned by the Supervising Psychologist of SPTP and will include psychological testing, serving as a treatment team facilitator, report writing, facilitating various therapy groups including phase groups, DBT groups, Co-Occurring Disorders groups, and individual therapy. As a post-doc, court testimony is also likely to occur during the training year.

Where Did Former Postdoctoral Fellows Go?

Program Description
NOT UPDATED RECENTLY. CONTACT PROGRAM FOR INFORMATION. The counseling or clinical psychology post-doctoral fellowship is a full-time 12-month temporary position. The start date is to be arranged. It is designed for advanced training and supervised practice to prepare an individual for a staff psychologist position in a university counseling service. Duties include 2000 hours of supervised practice in professional psychology activity within the counseling service and also with special assignment to the athletic department including athlete referrals, biofeedback, team and individual consults, performance enhancement class, psychological support for injury rehabilitation. Kansas State University Counseling Services is a comprehensive counseling service located in a comfortable, attractive facility. We have an interdisciplinary staff including counselors, psychologists, psychiatrists, and a psychiatric resident. We are an APA accredited training site for pre-doctoral psychology interns and a practicum site for students in a counselor education program. The service includes an alcohol and other drug prevention program, a stress management/biofeedback laboratory, and a career development program that includes credit classes. The mission of the service is to support the educational goals of students through the process of decision-making, crisis intervention, and personal skill building. Education and prevention are a major part of the agency purpose. While students are seen and evaluated with a wide range of student concerns, those requiring intensive, long-term treatment may be referred to outside agencies. Kansas State University is a land grant institution of 23,000 students in Manhattan, KS a city of 45,000 in the beautiful Kansas Flinthills. There are abundant recreational, cultural and educational activities in the area. Kansas State University is an equal opportunity employer and actively seeks diversity among its employees.

INFORMATION MAY BE OUTDATED. PLEASE CONTACT PROGRAM DIRECTLY FOR INFORMATION.
The University of Louisville School of Medicine, Division of Child, Adolescent & Family Psychiatry, Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, has provided post-doctoral fellowship for candidates desiring specialization in pediatric health psychology since 1993. The fellow assumes administrative and clinical responsibilities in an innovative outpatient project teaching adolescents with chronic pain and fatigue conditions. The Children's Health and Illness Recovery Program (CHIRP) is currently underway to assess for treatment effectiveness with opportunities for presentation and publication of this data. Additionally, the fellow maintains primary responsibilities providing inpatient consultation-liaison services within the tertiary care Children's Hospital. Patients with a variety of chronic illnesses and serious medical problems (cystic fibrosis, childhood cancer including bone marrow transplantation, chronic fatigue syndrome, fibromyalgia, juvenile diabetes, kidney disease, heart transplantation, traumatic injury, brain injury, burns, etc.) are routinely seen on this service, with opportunity for outpatient involvement. The fellow participates in individual and group supervision, seminars, case conferences, and service rounds. The division also maintains an APA-accredited (since 1986) pre-doctoral internship in clinical child pediatric psychology. There is opportunity to supervise a doctoral-level practicum student providing outpatient therapy services, conducting assessments, and engaging in inpatient consultation-liaison. The multiple facilities of the University of Louisville Health Sciences Center, Norton/Kosair Health Care System, and the Bingham Clinic provide state-of-the-art resources for the training program.

Program Description

The Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in Pediatric Psychology is designed to provide trainees with assessment and therapy experiences that are consistent with the professional expectations of a pediatric/child clinical psychologist. The goals of the fellowship are to familiarize the trainee with pediatric populations, to introduce assessment and therapy techniques that are relevant to and adapted for the acutely or chronically ill child. The fellowship is also designed to provide experience working with child and adolescent outpatient populations and their families, and to promote professional development through experience within an interdisciplinary model. A mentoring model of training is followed and consists of assigning the Fellow to one primary supervisor for the entire year, with additional supervision provided by staff involved in the trainee's specialty rotations. In addition to verbal feedback, training will consist of observation and modeling from staff in clinical settings. Fellows will receive at least two hours of individual supervision and one hour of group supervision on a weekly basis throughout the fellowship year. The supervision provided meets post-doctoral supervision requirements for licensure by APPIC and the Louisiana State Board of Examiners of Psychologists. A competitive stipend is provided for the 12-month fellowship position. The hospital also provides a full benefits package for the fellow. Applicants should send a letter stating their interests and goals, a current vita, and 3 letters of recommendation.

Program Description
We offer and implement advanced Clinical Psychology training within a rural psychology context, in accord with a scholar-practitioner model. In the process of rebuilding a formal research program, we identify with and conceptualize from a scientist-practitioner model. We offer advanced postdoctoral training within the traditional practice area of Clinical Psychology, with an emphasis in Posttraumatic Stress Disorder/Mental Health. At the postdoctoral level, we aim to train ethically grounded, culturally aware clinical psychologists with advanced competency in thoughtful development and application of evidence-based psychological assessment, treatment, and consultation skills for the benefit of persons and organizations, particularly within a rural environment. Training consists of 2080 hours per year with training experiences in at least two different treatment settings. We are located on spacious wooded grounds five miles east of Augusta, the state capital of Maine. The Clinical Psychology positions represent a one year appointment. Start date is variable: July 1, August 1, or September 1.

Program Description
The Department of Behavioral Psychology provides clinical services to a variety of pediatric populations with learning, behavioral and developmental disabilities. The Department's philosophy is that the principles and procedures of behavioral science form the basis for effective and ethical clinical services. Fellows typically elect to develop their expertise through advanced training in one or two clinical services under the direction of an identified mentor(s). Specific training opportunities include hospital consultation in severe behavior disorders, family therapy, pervasive developmental disorders, autism, inpatient and outpatient, and parent training. Research participation is strongly encouraged and typically integrated into clinical experience. Fellows have the opportunity to work with their mentor to tailor the training experiences to meet their needs with regard to clinical, supervisory, research, and didactic training. Fellows complete their 12-month training in one clinic, rather than completing rotations across clinics. Applicants are encouraged to specify the clinic(s) in which they are interested. Please note, we require a background check prior to final acceptance into our postdoctoral fellowship program.

Program Description

The postdoctoral fellowship in Trauma Recovery emphasizes one of the signature injuries of the most recent conflicts: PTSD. This fellowship has goals of training and refining skills in assessment, treatment, consultation, research, supervision, and administration relating to the specific needs of returning veterans, as well as facilitating the development of fellows from trainees to independent psychologists. Our program philosophy is to base both the process and the content of training in research, with the goal of developing psychologists who apply scientific method and knowledge to the assessment and treatment of chronic PTSD. The Trauma Recovery fellowship is a one-year fellowship designed to allow the fellow to experience assessment and treatment of trauma spectrum disorders across residential and outpatient programs. The fellowship adheres to the APA Guidelines for Accreditation for postdoctoral fellowships, with respect to providing education and training in preparation for entering professional practice at an advanced level of competency § consisting of a sequence of clinical activities that are § characterized by greater depth, breadth, duration, frequency, and intensity § than internship training, focused on the assessment and treatment of PTSD. The program is designed to prepare students for clinical careers in a VA medical center with specialization in PTSD. The fellowship is a full-time work commitment, with an average of 40 hours worked per week. Trauma fellows’ distribution of effort will be approximately 60% clinical, 20% didactic, and 20% research/administrative/policy implementation. The emphasis of the program is on development of clinical skills; however, there is an expectation that fellows would participate in ongoing research and program development efforts. The training provided meets licensure requirements for the state of Maryland; all supervisors will be licensed in a jurisdiction and able to certify training hours.

Program Description

The program is a two-year postdoctoral fellowship in clinical neuropsychology. The program is designed to produce an advanced level of competency in the specialty and to prepare graduates for board certification. Training is based on written objectives that fellows must meet for graduation. Approximately 50% of the fellow’s time is spent in direct clinical services and 20-20% in research. Training activities include: (a) closely supervised training in neuropsychological assessment of adults; (b) organized didactic training in clinical neuropsychology; (c) medical school neurosciences course; (d) neurology and neurosurgery rounds; (e) case conferences, invited speakers, and outside educational activities. All fellows are active duty military officers. Further information about the fellowship can be found on the Walter Reed National Military Medical Center web page under the Graduate Medical Education section.

Program Description
The program offers positions within six areas of emphasis: Center for Psychotherapeutic Change (CPC) In collaboration with Psychology staff, two residents will assume administrative and program development responsibilities. Residents engage in individual and group therapy, with a particular opportunity to pursue one’s particular interests. Interdisciplinary Postdoctoral Research (PSR): Within this position, the resident will become part of a team of postgraduate fellows. Residents train within two primary PSR venues, and will also become actively involved in program development and educational dissemination. Primary Care Behavioral Health (PCBH): Residents fully participate in all aspects of an integrated PCBH program. In addition, residents will be a part of a collaborative training program with the UMass School of Medicine. Intimate Partner Violence (IPV): The resident will be trained in the provision of evidence-based treatment for IPV victimization and perpetration within an innovative program to assist veterans who use violence or have been victimized by IPV. Smoking Cessation Treatment Program: The resident will engage in motivational enhancement and other empirically-based interventions via individual and group psychotherapy with veterans who smoke. Opportunities for research also exist. Neurropsychology: Within this 2-year residency, the resident will engage in neuropsychological assessment and treatment of neuropsychological and psychiatric patients. The resident spends one full day/week at the Alzheimer Disease Center, where a range of research opportunities and clinical work are available. The philosophy of the program involves an integration of training from four primary domains: clinical; program development and administration; supervision and teaching; and research. The resident is afforded considerable flexibility regarding training experiences and clinical focus.

Program Description

All requirements (clinical, academic, administrative) for the doctoral degree must be completed prior to September 1, 2013. Training Programs: The fellowship consists of two APA Accredited Training Programs: Clinical Psychology and Neuropsychology. The mission of the VA Boston Psychiatry Postdoctoral Training Program is to produce independently functioning psychologists. Our model for training entails four core components: (1) to identify, respect, and nurture the unique personal attributes that the Fellow brings to his or her work with patients, by providing an environment with support and guidance through supervision and collaboration with faculty actively working in the field; (2) to encourage and model a scientist-practitioner approach to professional psychology, wherein empirically-informed knowledge informs psychological assessment and intervention with adults and wherein questions arising from clinical practice drive research endeavors; (3) to provide a range of training settings and experiences that allow Fellows to develop a breadth of expertise in psychological practice, as well as options for developing more specific interests in depth; (4) to provide training in interdisciplinary care environments in which the Fellow develops confidence as a local mental health expert who collaborates effectively with a range of providers in the context of a large medical care system. We are an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to excellence through diversity.

The Clinical Psychology Training Program prepares Post-Doctoral Fellows in Psychology to understand and treat persons suffering with a broad spectrum of emotional distress, using a scholar-practitioner model. With close faculty-trainee interaction, we provide a solid grounding in treatment and assessment that takes into account ethnic and cultural influences. We also teach Fellows to integrate a variety of treatment modalities while working with persons with an array of psychological problems, including persons diagnosed with major mental illness and severe personality disorders. A distinctive feature of our program is that Psychology Fellows can pursue a wide variety of individual specialty interests in the context of a Fellowship program that emphasizes growth as a professional clinical psychologist. All Fellows meet together weekly in a Professional Development Seminar, which includes access to seminars in Department, discounted CME courses, Professional Development Time; Sick Leave; Vacation.

Program Description

The Clinical Psychology Training Program prepares Post-Doctoral Fellows in Psychology to understand and treat persons suffering with a broad spectrum of emotional distress, using a scholar-practitioner model. With close faculty-trainee interaction, we provide a solid grounding in treatment and assessment that takes into account ethnic and cultural influences. We also teach Fellows to integrate a variety of treatment modalities while working with persons with an array of psychological problems, including persons diagnosed with major mental illness and severe personality disorders. A distinctive feature of our program is that Psychology Fellows can pursue a wide variety of individual specialty interests in the context of a Fellowship program that emphasizes growth as a professional clinical psychologist. All Fellows meet together weekly in a Professional Development Seminar, which includes such topics as providing supervision, teaching in both medical and academic settings, writing for publication, obtaining grants and conducting research, Licensing procedures and legal and ethical issues for the psychologist. Fellows are evaluated by supervisors and training directors twice yearly, and the program follows the Cambridge Health Alliance's due process and grievance procedures. All fellows are now two-year positions. Fellowship options are: 1. Neuropsychology (Adult) 2. Clinical Psychology (Behavioral/Medical Clinic) 3. Clinical Psychology (Child/Adolescent Acute Services) 4. Clinical Psychology (Psychological Assessment/Psychotherapy Research Clinic) 5. Clinical Psychology (Program for Psychotherapy) 6. Clinical Psychology (Victims of Violence Program)
The fellowship is designed to provide postdoctoral fellows with a training experience that is first, concentrated on deepening their diagnostic and clinical skills, and second, representative of university mental health practice today. We are a relatively large counseling service, highly utilized on this campus of over 14,000 undergraduate and graduate students. In this setting fellows are actively engaged in the varied roles and functions of our work: evaluation and treatment of students; crisis and emergency response; consultation; and outreach programming. Boston College (BC) students are diverse and talented. At an institutional level, BC is invested in the integration of students' intellectual development with their personal formation. This makes for a psychologically rich population with which a fellow can explore closely and intensively the practice of psychotherapy. A fellow's clinical work and individual supervision, which are the core of his/her training, are embedded in the more encompassing experience of being part of a clinical staff that is committed and thoughtful in its work. In formulating client difficulties, we emphasize psychodynamic, developmental, and culturally sensitive approaches. Formal training functions include individual supervision (2 hrs weekly); case conference; group/peer supervision with discussion on diversity and other clinical issues (1.5 hrs weekly); a professional practice seminar; and administrative participation. Distinct features of this advanced training experience include: 1) fellows generally advance their formulation and treatment-planning skills significantly; 2) they learn psychotherapy process with a particular class of clients who are high-functioning while also very troubled diagnostically; and 3) they develop a practical understanding of the intersections of psychopathology with developmental forces. This is an eleven-month fellowship.

Program Description
The Austen Riggs Center is a Joint Commission accredited not-for-profit private psychiatric hospital and residential treatment center with 65 patients and 25 full-time Ph.D. and M.D. staff. Situated on Main St. in the Berkshire Hills town of Stockbridge, the center has maintained an open setting for over 90 years in which patients collaborate in all aspects of treatment. A psycho-social treatment model, drawing on the work done at Riggs by Erik Erikson and other psychoanalysts, includes four times weekly intensive psychotherapy, groups, medication, activities, and family work in the context of an active therapeutic community of examined living. A full range of assessment, including diagnostic psychological testing, is provided to each patient. At least ten hours per week are devoted to seminars, supervision, and case conferences. Research opportunities are available and presentations at national meetings are encouraged and fully supported. We offer a two-plus-two year post-doctoral Fellowship/Advanced Fellowship with benefits such as health and life insurance, annual vacation, and 2 years of psychoanalysis. We require a doctoral degree from an APA-approved program and APA-approved completed internship.

Program Description
This is a 2-year training program. The three tracks are APA-Accredited. The training of our residents is based on the scientist-practitioner model. We hope to prepare psychologists for academic careers or positions of leadership in clinical and educational settings. The core curriculum exposes residents to cutting edge topics in psychology and health care, and enhances residents’ understanding of medical/legal issues, ethical dilemmas, career development, EPPP, grant writing skills, sensitivity to cultural diversity and eventual ABPP Board Certification in their specialty. The Clinical Psychology program focuses on depression, anxiety, sleep, and clinical outcome, and emphasizes scientific behaviorism and learning theory. Residents are expected to become knowledgeable about and to employ empirically-supported interventions for the treatment of self-management and self-regulation disorders, anxiety, depression, sleep disorders, and various other psychiatric conditions. The Clinical Child Psychology specialty program emphasizes the developmental and social contexts of child psychopathology, and the use of empirically validated assessments and interventions. Residents gain expertise in diagnosis, assessment, and treatment of children with a wide range of psychological difficulties. They also participate in cutting edge topics in psychology and health care, and enhances residents’ understanding of medical/legal issues, ethical dilemmas, career development, EPPP, grant writing skills, sensitivity to cultural diversity and eventual ABPP Board Certification in their specialty.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities
Training is provided in various inpatient and outpatient settings in the University of Michigan and outpatient settings at the VA Ann Arbor. This fellowship has a strong research orientation.

Program Description

Our Post-Doctoral Fellowship is a twelve-month, full-time experience. (Full Michigan licensure requires 2000 post-doctoral hours.) The intent of this program is to support new professionals during the transition from internship to licensure. Fundamental to this program is our value of working in multicultural, multi-disciplinary and multi-theoretical environment, which we believe enriches us both personally and professionally. We strive to create a micro-community at CAPS that reflects the university and mental health fields at large. Post-Docs are expected to value and respect collaboration, teamwork, effective conflict processes, self-awareness, and openness to learning. Post-Doctoral Fellows receive supervision, mentoring, and participate in a weekly seminar. Post-Docs provide service in: intake evaluation; individual counseling and psychotherapy (both brief and longer when appropriate); crisis intervention and emergency services; third party consultation; outreach; program development; group interventions (structured, semi-structured or process groups); and supervision of practicum students. Opportunities are available to conduct clinical screening assessments of substance use/abuse, eating issues and ADHD. Fellows also serve on agency committees. In addition, Post-Doctoral Fellows will choose an area of specialization. Examples include but are not limited to: 1. Administration (clinical, training, or outreach); 2. Clinical Practice (anxiety; eating disorders; multicultural counseling, etc.); 3. Outreach (to specific campus communities, campus substance abuse network or eating issues network, etc.); or 4. Clinical Scholarship/Writing. Additional program information and learning supports are described on our web site: www.umich.edu/~caps.

Program Description
We anticipate 2 postdoctoral positions available for 2013-14, one adult-focused and one child/adolescent-focused. The University of Michigan Institute for Human Adjustment Postdoctoral Fellowship Training Program is designed to provide advanced training in professional psychology to qualified postdoctoral psychologists. Training is based in either the Psychological Clinic, a multidisciplinary training-focused adult outpatient center, or the University Center for the Child and Family, a comparable clinic serving children and families. Both clinics have a welcoming and supportive atmosphere. The training prepares fellows for licensure in the State of Michigan (or any other state with similar requirements) through a one year full time program that provides robust, advanced training in many key professional competencies (two year option is available if desired). These competencies include assessment and diagnosis, psychological testing, intervention including individual and couples therapy, consultation and interdisciplinary collaboration, multicultural competencies, clinical teaching and supervision, professional development, ethics, and leadership/administrative skills. These competencies are enhanced through direct clinical service with supervision from expert clinicians, participation in seminars and clinical meetings and conferences, consultation with other professionals outside the Clinic, teaching of seminars to psychology interns and social work students, supervision of clinical work conducted by social work and psychology students, and participation in the Clinic's senior staff meetings and workgroups.

Program Description
As the first program in the nation to be specialty accredited in Clinical Health Psychology by the American Psychological Association (APA), we are pleased to offer a 24 month long postdoctoral residency in association with Michigan State University/Flint Area Medical Education (MSU/FAME) and the three area affiliated teaching hospitals - Genesys Regional Medical Center, Hurley Medical Center, and McLaren - Flint. Within each of these institutions consortium faculty and fellows provide clinical and didactic teaching to a variety of medical residency training programs, medical student programs, and allied health programs. Consistent with experts in the field of health psychology, the residency works toward the goal of training professional psychologists in general knowledge and skills as well as specific proficiencies and competencies. Each program offers both individual and group supervision and didactic training such as: Psychopharmacology (2 hours/month), Pathophysiology (1 semester in PGY I), Clinical Health Psychology and Core Curriculum Seminars (9-12 hours/month), Rehabilitation Psychology Seminars (3 hrs/month), Leadership and Management Seminars (PGY II). Continuing medical education lectures, Behavioral Grand Rounds, Journal Club, Guest speakers, Noon conference, and more. Upon graduation, fellows possess: advanced practice clinical competency in Clinical Health or Rehabilitation Psychology with sufficient preparation to be credentialed and ultimately Board certified by ABPP in these areas, the ability to assume a leadership role in medical education and supervisory training, expertise in hospital and ambulatory practice utilizing a transdisciplinary model and emphasizing a team process approach, and the ability to critically review research, make scholarly contributions to the field and adopt a commitment to lifelong learning. Online application process begins October 1, 2012 for September 2013 positions.

Program Description:

MCARPT is an alliance of behavioral health professionals, mental health agencies, social service providers, medical health facilities and both federal and tribal government facilities along with allied agencies located in rural Becker and Ottertail counties along with the White Earth Reservation. The primary goal of MCARPT is to recruit and prepare doctoral level psychology graduates to assume positions of healthcare leadership in rural and frontier communities. The MCARPT program subscribes to a practitioner-scientist training model. It is our belief that professional psychologists are uniquely trained to assume clinical, teaching and leadership roles in rural communities. We value the combination of scholarship, academics, familiarity with research in psychology, and the ability of these to directly inform applied practice. MCARPT envisions the one year postdoctoral training experience as the minimum necessary preparation for trainees to assume positions of psychology leadership in rural areas. As rural psychologists are by nature and by need, generalists, the MCARPT program strives to provide supervised training in a diverse spectrum of ages, patient populations, patient problems, psychopathology, and treatment modalities. Further, MCARPT emphasizes the understanding and appreciation of the unique needs, culture, and customs of rural America to optimally deliver services. The MCARPT program is based on the acquisition and mastery of 11 core competencies that MCARPT believes are necessary to function as a psychologist clinician, consultant, teacher and community leader in rural areas. All clinical activities of the fellowship are based on their relationship to these competencies and it is these values that drive the continuous quality assurance and ongoing evolution of the training program.

Program Description

Our training program follows a Scientist Practitioner model with an emphasis on mentoring and self-directed development, and training which provides both breadth with depth. We emphasize a scholarly approach to clinical work and an integration of scientific data into the varied training experiences. Residents choose an area of special emphasis including Primary Care/Health Psychology, Rehabilitation Psychology, or Serious Mental Disorders. We also have an accredited program (1 2 year position) in Clinical Neuropsychology.
The Program in Human Sexuality is one of the premier sexuality programs in the country with an internationally renowned faculty. We anticipate two openings in September, 2013. There is a possibility that we might add one additional fellow position but that still depends upon funding.

We have two different postdoctoral fellowships. One is in human sexuality and the other is in behavioral medicine. There is sometimes an opportunity for some fellows to have a split fellowship if desired. This is a two-year full-time fellowship with an outstanding faculty and extensive supervision provided. The emphasis is on clinical experience and training, however there is a required research or scholarly project requirement as well. The human sexuality fellowship is more specific to assessment and treatment of sexual dysfunctions and disorders; the behavioral medicine fellowship is more general dealing with integrated care and behavioral medicine.

Training Opportunities

The opportunities are different for each of the two fellowship opportunities. The human sexuality fellowship is more specific to assessment and treatment of sexual dysfunctions and disorders; the behavioral medicine fellowship is more general dealing with integrated care and behavioral medicine.

The human sexuality fellowship is offered through one or two of our family practice clinics which are training sites for family practice residents. This is an excellent opportunity to be involved in behavioral medicine in a busy outpatient family practice clinic serving an ethnically diverse and urban client population. The fellows are also involved in the behavioral medicine teaching component of the residency training program. We had one fellow complete in 2009 and an other in 2012. We added a new fellow in September, 2011 and will be adding a second fellow in September, 2012. We anticipate another opening September, 2013.

Program Description

The Medical Psychology Fellowship Program at Mayo Clinic Rochester, is designed for recent graduates of an APA-Accredited Clinical or Counselor Psychology Doctoral Program and an APA-Accredited Predoctoral Psychology Internship who wish to acquire specialty training in one of three specialty practice programs offered in this fellowship: Clinical Child Psychology, Clinical Health Psychology, or Clinical Neuropsychology. The fellowship prepares doctoral-level psychologists for a career in an academic medical center by offering them clinical training, integrated with teaching opportunities and research in the scientist-practitioner tradition of training in psychology. Clinical service areas and research training opportunities are available to you to ensure you are provided an integrated experience that is relevant to your needs and career goals.

Clinical Child Psychology: Clinical training in diagnostic neuropsychology, developmental disabilities, learning disabilities, behavior therapy, and special education.

Clinical Health Psychology: Multidisciplinary clinical training and research in major rotations including: Blood and Marrow Transplantation, Behavioral Medicine Program, Psychosurgery Service, Pain Rehabilitation Center, Primary Care Psychology, and Obesity Program. Application Deadline: 2/1/13

Clinical Neuropsychology: Clinical training in diagnostic neuropsychology evaluations of a wide range of neurological, medical, and psychiatric conditions; inpatient and outpatient treatment settings. Application Deadline: 1/4/13

Program Description
The Rural Mental Health Fellowship's training model is scientist-practitioner in nature as our program strives to provide a research training environment which fosters a coordinated blend of research and informed application. The goal is to train competent generalists whom can advance theoretically based empirically driven services, policy, and research that effectively enhances the quality and form of healthcare provided to rurally living individuals and communities. The program philosophy is that psychological training is developmental in nature and is a process which we engage in, and foster, through provision of structured, developmentally sequential, experiential, and educational learning opportunities. We strive to provide a learning environment which promotes ongoing professional development and the attainment of professional competencies and skill sets. Further, our program envisions and creates a training environment wherein the Postdoctoral Fellow is equivalent to a GS-11 staff psychologist. The Fellow, while being supervised, is acquiring a specific skill set through graduated learning opportunities as coordinated by an individualized training plan which wedges general programmatic goals and objectives with the Fellow's identified career development goals. Please see web brochure for additional information.

Training Model and Program Philosophy
Fellowship training at the GVS M VAMC is rooted in the Scientist-Practitioner model. Fellows receive mentoring in the use of scientific methodology to guide their decision making and skills in: Clinical practice; Using scientifically valid assessment methods, tools, and techniques; Learning to inform their Veterans of scientifically-based findings and approaches to their problems; Building and maintaining effective teams, work with other healthcare professionals that supports the delivery of scientist-practitioner contributions; and Evaluating and disseminating, clinically relevant, practice-based, research. Our underlying philosophy is that clinical psychologists should be well-prepared to apply empirical sciences towards the 1. Amelioration of maladaptive, dysfunctional, and abnormal behavior in individuals, families, groups, and communities; 2. Relief of human suffering; and 3. Promotion of adaptive, fulfilling, and more meaningful living patterns in which people can thrive. The primary theoretical orientation of our faculty is (cognitive-behavioral). However, we believe that any knowledge or principle, which is scientifically derived and/or validated, may be considered and incorporated into practice.

Program Description
Please see our website www.psychologytraining.va.gov/kansascity/ for more detailed information and application instructions. The postdoctoral residency is in clinical psychology with a mental health focus emphasizing substance abuse and PTSD treatment, with opportunities in other aspects of mental health, including evidence-based practices, inpatient and outpatient experiences in mental health and substance abuse are available. In addition, some introductory experiences in neuropsychology, and health psychology may be available. The philosophy of training at the KCVAMC is best described as a "scholar-practitioner" model. The training experiences have a strong clinical focus. However, knowledge and use of empirically supported processes and interventions are expected and encouraged in all aspects of the program. At the end of the program, residents will be prepared to function autonomously as practicing clinical or counseling psychologists in a broad range of applied, teaching, and research settings. Applicants must have completed an APA accredited doctoral program in clinical or counseling psychology, including an APA accredited internship, prior to the residency start date. Preference is given to students who have completed their dissertation at the time of their application. We especially encourage applications from students with knowledge and experience in diversity issues. Applicants are required to have a strong interest in mental health issues and treatment with long-term goals to provide service and contribute to this area in psychology. In addition, residents must be interested in studying and utilizing different theoretical orientations that have evidence-based or empirically supported elements of treatment. Candidates must be citizens of the United States.

Program Description
Our one-year, full-time Pediatric Psychology postdoctoral training program is housed within the Department of Psychology at St. Louis Children's Hospital. We serve a diverse population of families from urban and rural settings, range of SES, range of ethnic diversity, ages (newborn-young adult), referral concern, and disease presentation. We are primarily a clinical training program, with several year-long primary clinical rotations and the opportunity to choose two 6-month elective rotations that allow for additional specialty training in specific disease areas. Formal and informal didactic opportunities exist within our department as well as within the Washington University School of Medicine Departments of Pediatrics and Child Psychiatry. We offer an individualized training program that allows us to tailor training opportunities to the specific clinical and professional needs of the resident. The resident is a valued member of the Department of Psychology as well as the medical teams with whom he or she works.

Program Description

The mission of the postdoctoral residency is to provide a structured training program designed to develop advanced competency in clinical practice and program evaluation. The resident will be required to spend part of their time in specific research and program evaluation activities and part in providing direct services. The primary theoretical orientation of Burrell clinicians is cognitive-behavioral, but most would describe themselves as eclectic. Clinical area options include medical psychology; child or adult treatment in inpatient and/or outpatient environments.

Program Description

St. Louis Behavioral Medicine Institute (SLBMI) is an academic affiliate of St. Louis University Health Science Center. Our primary mission is to provide state-of-the-art, specialized services for various disorders and patient populations. Our Postdoctoral Positions include opportunities for group and individual treatment modalities as part of our multidisciplinary teams: 1) Anxiety Disorders Center: Anxiety disorders work is done primarily in the context of a cognitive behavioral intensive outpatient program for people with severe anxiety disorders, including obsessive-compulsive disorder, panic disorder, generalized anxiety, social anxiety, post-traumatic stress, phobias, and related problems. Anxiety Disorders Center residents are provided ongoing training in evidence-based treatments for Anxiety Disorders. The Dual Program resident works with both the Psychology and Religion team (providing treatment of obesity with religious professionals, integration of spirituality and evidence-based practice, and comprehensive psychological assessment) and the anxiety disorders team (providing intensive cognitive behavioral treatment for people with severe anxiety disorders). Appointments are for 1 year with possible renewal for an additional year. In general, training in most programs follows a clinical preceptorship model with two hours of individual supervision per week, plus seminars and group supervision. Requirements include APA-accredited doctorate degree and internship completed. Submit application form and send 3 letters of reference, copies of relevant publications, CV, and graduate transcript. Application forms and program description may be found at www.slbmi.com. Application deadline February 15; selections made by March 15 or until filled. An Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities
Fellows have a major rotation and may have several minor clinical rotations. A major concentration will extend over the two years of the fellowship and minor concentrations are typically of 6 month duration.

Program Description
The Nebraska Medical Center Department of Psychology has clinical and neuropsychologists with expertise in a wide spectrum of clinical services and research skills. The department cares for adults and children and provides inpatient and outpatient services. During the fellowship, the training committee provides structure and guidance to help satisfy the training and supervision requirements for independent licensure and meet the training needs for independent practice. Clinical health psychology training is based upon education and training guidelines as endorsed by the Council of Health Psychology Training Directors. During the two-year fellowship, the fellow will provide psychological services, attend and participate in educational programming, and conduct research under the supervision of staff psychologists. Fellows will have a primary major clinical concentration (rotation) and will have 4 minor clinical concentrations (rotations). A major concentration will extend over the two years of the fellowship (50% of clinical experience) and minor concentrations are typically of 6 months duration. Didactic opportunities will include conferences, seminars, small discussion groups, and one-on-one supervision. Psychiatry and Neurological Sciences offer regular Grand Rounds. Additionally, a seminar series will meet twice monthly for a didactic series, case conference, and/or journal club. During training, fellows will present research or a pertinent clinical topic at our department’s seminar series. Research training will consist of 20% of the fellowship activities, and prospective or retrospective investigations in either basic science or clinical studies are possible. Fellows will have the opportunity to work with established clinical researchers on ongoing projects as well as develop independent research projects. Fellows are expected to generate at least one national presentation by the end of the fellowship, and highly encouraged toward one publication.

Program Description
Postdoctoral training is offered in adult (1 position) and pediatric (1 position) neuropsychology. Emphasis is placed on professional development through teaching and research opportunities, advanced seminar work, intensive individual supervision, and inter-disciplinary collaboration. Each fellow negotiates with the training director for an individual program which balances these learning experiences. Interest in brain imaging technologies and their application to neuropsychology is encouraged; previous experience in these areas is not required. Program Description
The Cognitive Behavioral Institute of Albuquerque, LLC has an immediate opening for one 24-month Full-Time Postdoctoral Fellow specializing in Cognitive and Behavioral Psychology. To qualify, candidates must have earned a Ph.D. from an APA accredited doctoral program in Clinical Psychology and must have completed an APA accredited internship. Candidates may be considered for positions as Clinical Fellows prior to their dissertation defense. Successful candidates must demonstrate a primary career interest in providing evidence-based psychotherapy.Fellows typically engage in approximately 25 hours of direct client contact per week. The Postdoctoral Fellowship is designed to meet the supervised experience requirements for independent licensure in all states. The training program is also tailored to meet the specialization requirements for Board Certification in Cognitive and Behavioral Psychology, with potential sponsorship for certification by the Academy of Cognitive Therapy, the American Board of Cognitive and Behavioral Psychology, and the American Board of Professional Psychology (ABPP). Opportunities to earn more than $50000 annually depend on the clinical services provided. The institute is committed to a high level of professional collegial support, therefore the successful candidate must demonstrate the ability and commitment to collaborate as a member of a highly supportive skill-building team. To apply for a position, simply forward a current copy of your CV to Bradford C. Richards, Ph.D., ABPP, Director and Supervising Psychologist, at br@cogtherapy.com. No cover letters or references are required during the first stage of application. All APPIC rules apply; however due to our particular staffing requirements we provide notifications of acceptance at times other than the suggested Uniform Notification Date. Candidates qualifying for further consideration will be contacted by the institute within four weeks of their CV submission.

Program Description
The postdoctoral residency at NMVAHCS supports 2 one-year residents in Clinical Psychology, PTSD emphasis and 2 two-year residents in Clinical Neuropsychology. The residencies focus on preparation for the ABPP in their respective fields, and the Directors of Training are each board certified. Residents can spend up to 20% of their time in research or program evaluation activities. NMVAHCS has an evidence-based focus for training, and is a scientist-practitioner program. We have national trainers in Prolonged Exposure, Cognitive Processing Therapy, ACT, and Motivational Interviewing on faculty. Residents devise their own training plans and are encouraged to expand their professional repertoire to include administration, consultation, supervision, and program evaluation activities in addition to assessment, intervention, and research.

Program Description

The Samuel S. Stratton VA Medical Center (VAMC) offers two trainees per year the opportunity to complete a postdoctoral residency in Clinical Psychology with emphasis in Post Traumatic Stress Disorder. The training year runs from September through August, and applications are invited from individuals who will have completed an APA accredited doctoral program in Counseling or Clinical Psychology and an APA accredited internship by the start of the training year. The residency is housed in the PTSD program of the Behavioral Health Clinic, and this is the primary placement throughout the year. However, training is broad based and integrative, and residents also have opportunities to work in the Chemical Dependency Rehabilitation Program, Inpatient Psychiatry, the Behavioral Health Recovery Center, Home Based Health Care and Community Based Outpatient Clinics. In addition, there is an emphasis on the neuropsychology of PTSD and evaluation of traumatic brain injuries. Training in all these settings highlights varying presentations of post traumatic stress as seen in different age cohorts and types of trauma. Supervised experience in supervising interns and practicum students in both group and individual settings is provided. Finally a series of didactic seminars complement the clinical experiences of the residency. Research and scholarly activity are viewed as integral parts of the postdoctoral training experience. To this end, residents will be provided with up to 20% of their training time to complete a research, scholarly, or program development project commensurate with their interests and areas of PTSD Program staff expertise. The residency received initial funding in the fall of 2007 with our first class beginning in September 2008. Residents will join well established and fully accredited Psychology training programs at the internship and practicum levels.

Program Description

Two year intensive scientist-practitioner training within a Brain Injury Research Center housed in the Department of Rehabilitation Medicine, Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York. Fellowships are federally funded positions under NIDRR and CDC grants focused on Traumatic Brain Injury. Fellows spend 80% of their time working closely with a multidisciplinary team of renowned clinical researchers in the field of brain injury. Opportunities include collaboration with the team to develop, implement, evaluate and disseminate clinical rehabilitation interventions focused on group cognitive remediation for executive dysfunctions, cognitive behavioral therapy for depression, evaluation of the benefits of exercise and complete evidence-based reviews, in addition to any new studies funded over the next 18 months. Fellows will spend 20% time in direct clinical service delivery reflective of their prior clinical training. Intensive research and clinical didactics are provided each week. Each fellow will complete an individual research project under mentoring provided by senior clinical researchers. Fellows will be involved in teaching within the department's APA internship program. Fellows will participate in NIH, hospital based trainings and workshops to round out their research expertise.

Program Description
The basis of the UCC postdoctoral training program is an apprenticeship model which promotes the independent practice of the fellow to competently perform in positions in which advanced level college mental health psychologists function. To this end, the fellowship is tailored to accomplish the following objectives: 1) Add to clinical competencies already established by rounding out training (e.g., increasing one’s depth and breadth of brief treatment); 2) refine one’s multicultural skills and sensivity; 3) develop one’s level of supervising and teaching; 4) begin to understand and perform administrative functions in which counseling center psychologists engage; and 5) develop outreach and consultation skills. Possibilities are numerous and are determined in conjunction with the director of training and postdoc coordinator. The fellow conducts individual, couples and group psychotherapy, receives 4 hours of supervision, provides 2-3 hours of supervision to advanced graduate students, offers consultation and outreach services to the university community, performs administrative functions (e.g., administrative evaluations, mandated assessments), co-teaches a clinical issues seminar to practicum students, and attends selected case-oriented seminars. The postdoctoral fellow is also responsible for a special outreach/consultation project in the area of individual and cultural diversity.

Program Description
We are committed to the development of psychologist leaders who have sufficient breadth and depth of clinical knowledge to assume full responsibility for patient care, teaching, and administration of clinical programs in a variety of health care settings. Depending on the track selected and the professional goals of the applicant, trainees may also gain continued exposure to clinical research in a variety of areas. This year we will offer advanced education and training in the following substantive areas of clinical psychology: Child and Adolescent Psychology, and Primary Care Family Psychology. Program Description

Cincinnati Children’s Hospital Medical Center is one of the largest children’s hospitals in the country with a reputation for excellence in clinical care, teaching, and research. Fellowships are available on a one- and two-year training cycle across several subspecialties and offer a combination of training opportunities across research and clinical care. An apprenticeship model focused on active mentoring, career development, professional role identity, and development of skills in clinical research and care that ensures success as a scientist-practitioner, is a hallmark of the training program. Postdoctoral training focus areas include: 1) Behavioral Medicine, Nutrition and Health (Scott Powers, PhD, ABPP); 2) Pain Management (Susmita Kashikar-Zuck, PhD), Adherence (Dennis Kroenke, PhD), and Risk and Prevention (Robert Ammerman, PhD); 3) Child Clinical/ADHD (Jeff Epstein, PhD); 4) Developmental Disabilities (Patricia Eiler-Sims, PhD); 5) Autism (Nicole Bing, PsyD); 6) Neuropsychology (Dean Beebe, PhD, ABPP). Training is specific to each focus area but is expected to take place in clinical care (not less than 25%), research, teaching, administration, professional development, and community activities. Each program is developed within a focus area such that the fellow will be eligible for licensure at the end of the fellowship. For all areas, applicants must have a doctoral degree from an APA approved program, completed an APA approved internship, and defended their dissertation prior to beginning the fellowship. The majority of the positions are supported by NIH research grants, and some are supported by an NIH/NIDDK T32 postdoctoral Training Grant in Child Behavior and Nutrition (Program Director: Scott W. Powers, PhD).

Program Description
The VA National Center for Organization Development (NCOD) offers a two-year postdoctoral fellowship in Organization Consulting and Development. There is one track for practitioners and a separate track for researchers. The Center serves VA facilities and offices nationwide. The Center’s practice is based on an action research model, including executive coaching, leadership development and assessment, team building, strategic planning, large and small group facilitation, survey design and analysis, change management consultation, and psychoeducation interventions. All fellows are involved in the AS Employee Survey of job satisfaction (administered annually to 250,000+ employees) and the CREW (Civility, Respect and Engagement in the Workplace) initiatives. The training program offers trainees the opportunity to "learn by doing" and they also participate in weekly didactic seminars based on readings from psychology and business sources and on work experiences in the field. The supervision model affords trainees the opportunity to learn from multiple senior practitioners. Trainees are expected to have a strong organizational and academic background and to display a high level of professionalism. The ability to work effectively as a member of a fast-paced, high performing team is essential. Practitioner trainees must be willing to travel frequently (at least two weeks per month). Trainees will accrue the clinical hours necessary for licensure in Ohio; candidates are encouraged to attain licensure by the end of the two-year training program. Candidates from doctoral programs in clinical, counseling, social, personality, experimental, school, or I/O psychology are encouraged to apply. Candidates must have completed all requirements for their doctorate, including dissertation defense, prior to the start of the postdoc. Postdoc begins in early to mid-September each year.

Program Description
NOT UPDATED RECENTLY. CONTACT PROGRAM FOR INFORMATION
The LSCDVAMC offers one year, full-time APA accredited Postdoctoral Residencies in Clinical Psychology in seven separate emphasis areas: (1) Geropsychology (geriatric health psychology emphasis), (2) Psychosocial Rehabilitation of the Seriously Mentally Ill (Recovery Model emphasis), (3) Primary Care/Mental Health Integration, (4) PTSD, (5) Consultation to Specialty Medical Clinics, (6) Substance Abuse, and (7) Rehabilitation Psychology. The Clinical Psychology Residencies follow a practitioner-scholar training model, providing training for advanced competence in these areas. We also have a separate, two-year, full-time APA Accredited Postdoctoral Residency in Clinical Neuropsychology, which follows a scientist-practitioner training model. All Residencies require completion of a scholarly project. Applicants to all Residencies must be graduates of an APA accredited program in clinical or counseling psychology and have successfully completed an APA accredited internship. We encourage applications by a diverse group of candidates. The successful candidates will have to pass a physical exam, background security check, and possible random drug screen (all routine) prior to final appointment. An oath of office is required.

Program Description:
The primary goal of the Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in Clinical Psychology is to help fellows develop the clinical and research skills necessary to work competently with diverse pediatric populations and to obtain a position in a pediatric healthcare setting or university-based training program. A variety of clinical, research, and didactic experiences are provided, allowing fellows to benefit from placement at a leading children's medical center. In addition to supervised training experiences, fellows may have opportunities to supervise interns, externs and practicum students and to collaborate in multidisciplinary forums (case-centered consultations, research activities). Research is a highly-valued component of the fellowship experience, and all fellows integrate research goals into their overall plan for the fellowship.

Program Description

The purpose of the residency is to engage the resident in all aspects of University Counseling Center service to prepare for independent work as a licensed psychologist and to be a highly competitive candidate for UCC positions. The core of the resident's training includes individual and group counseling with undergraduate and graduate students, on-call crisis services, individual supervision, and consultation/outreach. After orientation, residents begin to build a caseload of individual clients, most of whom are seen every other week, due to the high demand for UCC services. Two hours of individual supervision, a weekly staff meeting, and postdoc seminar are scheduled each week. The UCC mainly provides brief treatment, but residents have the option of working long-term with several clients. Residents co-lead weekly group therapy with a doctoral student and provide supervision to that student. Training also provides collaborative assessment. As residents become more comfortable and familiar with the center and the university, they are asked to take on more responsibilities. On-call duty is assigned on a rotating basis (an average of once every six weeks). They participate in university functions as a representative of the Counseling Center. Residents are formally evaluated on a quarterly basis. In the event of a grievance, due process is followed and grievance procedures are in place to facilitate a fair resolution. The residency consists of 1800 hours of supervised professional psychological activities, and it meets the postdoctoral supervised experience requirements for licensure in Pennsylvania.

Program Description

Our program in clinical psychology has 3 tracks: Geropsychology (2 slots), PTSD (1 slot), Substance Use Disorders (1 slot). Fellows in the geropsychology track complete two 6-month rotations. On the Neurobehavioral rotation, fellows conduct comprehensive neuropsychological assessments, provide consultation to the nursing home, and co-facilitate a caregiver support group and memory skills group. On the GRECC rotation, fellows work with the home-based primary care team to provide individual/couples psychotherapy, caregiver stress interventions, and cognitive screening in patients’ homes. The fellow on this rotation also conducts brief cognitive screenings in the outpatient geriatric specialty clinics (GEM clinic and Driving Safety Clinic). The fellow in the PTSD track works with the interdisciplinary PTSD clinical team for the year. The fellow completes diagnostic evaluations and provides empirically-based individual and group psychotherapy for combat-related PTSD. The fellow also has the opportunity to choose one or more training electives, such as Military Sexual Trauma, Substance Use, telemedical health, or research. The fellow in the SUD track works with the interdisciplinary team in the Center for the Treatment of Addictive Disorders for the year and has the opportunity to provide diagnostic evaluation and individual/group psychotherapy in the CORE program, recovery and aftercare clinic, and opioid substitution clinic. All fellows participate in the weekly postdoctoral fellowship didactic series which includes a case conference, journal club, professional development seminar, and topic seminar, in addition to other track-specific didactics. All fellows also have the option of conducting a research or program evaluation project.

Program Description

The Clinical Psychology Training Consortium offers three types of fellowships, hospital-based Investigator-funded clinical/research fellowships, APA-accredited clinical fellowships, and institutional NIH-funded T32 research fellowships. The purpose of the Investigator-funded clinical/research fellowships and APA-accredited fellowships is to provide a training experience that ensures the development of competency in a specific area of clinical psychology including: Adult, Child, Health Psychology/Behavioral Medicine, and Neuropsychology. Clinical/research fellowships range from 20%-100% research time. The exact nature of training (e.g., didactic experiences, percentage of direct patient care, exposure to ongoing faculty research, direct research involvement of the fellow) is decided on an individual basis by the fellow and his/her primary faculty mentor. The clinical experiences vary greatly depending on patient populations and hospital settings. Clinically focused fellowships are APA-accredited. NIH-funded T32 research fellowships include: NIMH Research Training in Child Mental Health; NIMH Research Training in Child/Adolescent Biobehavioral HIV; NIMH Training in Treatment Research; and NHLBI Training in Cardiovascular Behavior Medicine. Training objectives are achieved through an apprenticeship model where the fellow works closely with a faculty member in the provision of clinical services and in conducting research. The faculty member serves as primary supervisor and role model, and the close supervisory relationship permits the fellow to develop clinical and research skills as well as role identity. In most fellowships, there are typically at least 2 other supervisors directly involved with the fellow. Number and type of fellowships vary from year-to-year and most are 2 years in duration. Start dates vary from July 1 to September 1.

Program Description

We will provide training consistent with the Practitioner-Scholar model. We will strive to provide each postdoctoral resident with advanced clinical training, with an emphasis on consultation and behavioral health. There will be an emphasis in our program on the clinical, consultation, and behavioral health skills needed to provide patient centered care as part of a multidisciplinary team. Multidisciplinary teams in PACT/Behavioral Health will include primary care doctors, nurse practitioners, pharmacologists, psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, and administrative staff. Our resident will have the opportunity to train with other students and developing professionals from varying disciplines including but not limited to: primary care and psychiatry residents and nursing students of varying levels.,

The resident will spend at least 25 hours (62.5% of work time) a week providing direct clinical services including psychotherapy and assessment services to veterans. Currently, there are eighteen doctoral level psychologist positions through the Dorn VAMC, several of them assigned to two of our Community Based Outpatient Clinics. The psychologists have interests and expertise in PTSD, substance abuse, primary care psychology, health psychology, assessment, military sexual trauma, neuropsychology, end of life issues, geropsychology, and serious mental illness. Psychology staff come from diverse academic backgrounds and ascribe to a range of theoretical orientations including cognitive behavioral, psychodynamic, family, interpersonal, existential, and gestalt. We will be having three predoctoral psychology interns, so the resident will also have opportunities to engage with and help mentor these interns.

Program Description

Our program's training emphasis involves child and adolescent populations served primarily in an outpatient setting. Areas of training include Pediatrics (provision of psychological services to infants, children and adolescents experiencing comorbid psychological and medical problems), Autism and Developmental Disabilities (this concentration is integrated into the Children's Hospital Autism Program), Complex Medical/Neuropsychological, ADHD and School Problems. Our training program is a LEND (Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental and Related Disabilities) training site. The South Carolina LEND program is a state-wide interdisciplinary program established to improve the health of infants, children and adolescents with autism spectrum disorders (ASD) and neurodevelopmental disorders (ND). LEND trainees will participate in clinical training, didactics and leadership training. The training program adheres to a developmental training model, wherein trainees skills are assessed at the beginning of the training process, trainees are observed closely while their skills in evaluation and intervention grow, and trainees gradually move towards more independent practice as their level of proficiency warrants and under the close, supportive supervision of staff and faculty. The program has been designed to achieve an integration of clinical, academic, scientific, and professional training, and aims to strengthen and refine the trainee's knowledge and application of established and empirically-based assessment and intervention techniques. The faculty and training staff consist of licensed, doctoral level Psychologists and Neuropsychologists on staff within the Division of Psychology and Developmental-Behavioral Pediatrics and/or the Pediatric Hematology/Oncology Center and holding professorships in Clinical Pediatrics at the University of South Carolina School of Medicine.

Program Description
The purpose of the fellowship program is to refine the skills of the scientist-practitioner preparing for a career in an academic pediatric medical setting with primary emphasis in pediatric oncology, Sickle Cell Disease, and/or pediatric/adolescent HIV. As SJ CRH is a non-profit specialty children’s cancer hospital, training in general pediatrics is not available. The fellow will be trained within a scientist/practitioner consultation-liaison model of service provision which fosters collaboration with a variety of pediatric subspecialties and medical treatment teams. While preference is toward applicants intending toward a career as a clinical investigator in pediatric psychology, potential fellows may be considered for a primary clinical track (1 year), primary research track (2 years), or combined clinical/research track (2 years). Please indicate intention/preference in online application and supplemental materials requested.

Program Description

Fellows will complete one year (2000 hours) of supervised and advanced training in child assessment, evidence-based treatments (Applied Behavioral Analyst and Parent-Child Interaction Therapy), research, and interdisciplinary team approaches in the field of Developmental Disabilities. Additional responsibilities will include supervision of psychology trainees, participation in didactic learning experiences, scholarly presentations, and possible program development. The fellowship will focus on services to children between the ages of 3 and 10 years, as well as their caregivers and families. Primary or secondary diagnoses typically include Autism Spectrum Disorders, Intellectual/Developmental Disabilities, and Disruptive Behavior Disorders, although services are also provided to children with internalizing disorders. The typical population served is diverse in ethnicity, socioeconomic status, and geographic location (e.g., urban and rural). Although the start date is August 2nd, there can be some negotiation of this date. Please see our website for more detailed information about the position.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities

- Residents will receive training in the Evidence Based Psychotherapies (EBP) CPT, CBT, ACT, and PE and will carry two patients each half of the year, using one EBP (each for six months), in addition to primary emphasis area work.

Program Description

The post-doctoral psychology program offers 4 positions and provides intensive supervised training in clinical psychology with an emphasis in Substance Abuse (2 positions), Patient Aligned Care Teams (PACT/Medical Psychology) (1 position), and Geropsychology (1 position). Postdoctoral psychology residents in the Substance Abuse emphasis area address problems with chemical dependency as members of interdisciplinary teams. They combine psychological assessment with individual and group psychotherapy to conceptualize the psychosocial needs of the substance-abusing Veteran and facilitate the patients' development of coping strategies without the use of substances. These residents also actively participate in all interdisciplinary mental health teams, including the interdisciplinary mental health team and half of the year in a rehabilitation-oriented care unit which includes a palliative care and hospice section. Also, he/she will have exposure to home-based primary care and work with some mental health patients. A minimum of 2 hours per week of individual supervision with a licensed psychologist is provided, and the resident will attend training seminars and case conferences throughout the year. Applicants must have received a doctoral degree in clinical or counseling psychology and a completed a pre-doctoral internship, both accredited by the American Psychological Association. Discrimination in selection because of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, age, national origin, or disability is prohibited by VANTHCS.

Program Description

Ben Taub General Hospital is a county-funded general hospital that serves the needs of Houston/Harris County residents and is staffed by Baylor College of Medicine professionals. The Mental Health Service provides inpatient and outpatient services for medically indigent and psychiatrically impaired persons. The Postdoctoral Fellow provides assessment and therapy services to psychiatric outpatients and assessment and consultation service to medical inpatients through the Consultation and Liaison Service, participates in ongoing research protocols, and initiates research protocols.

The Fellow serves as a primary clinician in the Intensive Outpatient Program, a multidisciplinary program for patients with DSM Axis I and Axis II disorders; provides individual and group psychotherapy to children, adolescents, and adults; and conducts psychological and neuropsychological evaluations while training practicum students. Psychologists and psychiatrists on the Baylor faculty provide supervision for the clinical work and research activities pursued by the Fellow. All the educational opportunities of Baylor College of Medicine and the Texas Medical Center are available, including Grand Rounds, workshops, and scheduled training activities. The Fellow is expected to develop a research project for presentation or publication, provide lectures appropriate for the training of medical students and psychiatry interns and residents, and participate in training activities of the Service for psychiatry residents, medical students, and other professionals in training at Ben Taub General Hospital. The Fellowship meets the licensure requirements for the State of Texas, and the Fellow is encouraged to pursue licensure in Texas during the year.

Program Description
This one-year postdoctoral training program is based in a private psychiatric hospital which is well-known for high quality patient care. The theoretical orientation is broadly psychodynamic, but with opportunities for cognitive-behavioral and other empirically-based approaches. The educational mission of Menninger is to train promising young clinicians in advanced concepts of psychotherapy and psychological testing. Postdoctoral fellows work with a multidisciplinary team in a fully integrated, biopsychosocial model. The postdoctoral fellow is responsible for coordinating patient care, administering and interpreting psychological tests, providing individual and group therapy. Family therapy may also be an option. Patient treatment episodes range from approximately 2 weeks to 6-8 weeks, affording an opportunity for intensive psychotherapeutic interventions and complex diagnostic work. Clinical supervision of 3-4 hours per week and didactic training round out the training experience. The program is affiliated with the Baylor College of Medicine.

Program Description
The Deer Oaks Mental Health Associates Postdoctoral Psychology Residency Program designed to provide the highest quality advanced, geropsychological training for outpatient services billed in an inpatient nursing facility, psychiatric residential treatment facility or other inpatient setting. Our trainees are exposed to the full range of clinical services including individual, family and group psychotherapy with adults and seniors. In addition, assessment and psychological/neuropsychological testing observation and preparation offers the resident an opportunity to become quite competent in performing and interpreting a wide spectrum of psychological and neuropsychological instruments. Opportunities for continued employment/advancement after program completion. Training locations include San Antonio, Dallas, Ft. Worth, Victoria and Houston, Texas. Some travel is expected as needed to commute between nursing home sites. The organization is more than 17 years old and growing, with many opportunities for leadership in the areas of Geropsychological Services. Contact Training Director or Recruiting Department for more details at 7272 Wurzbach Rd., Suite 601, San Antonio, TX 78240.

Program Description
We offer scientist-practitioner training in applied clinical psychology in a VA medical center setting affiliated with the medical school UTHSCSA. Currently, there are four Clinical Psychology Residency positions with emphasis areas in the following: Primary Care/Health Psychology, Trauma, Palliative Care and Rural Mental Health. Additionally, we have two postdoc slots for our separate 2-year Neuropsychology Residency approved by APPCN. All residents are required to plan and conduct research/administrative projects and make professional presentations in addition to their clinical training experiences. Except for the Neuropsychology Residency, we typically select residents from our own internship class (from those in analogous special-focus areas). To be selected, our interns must have collected all of their dissertation data, be progressing satisfactorily in their internship, and be approved by their preceptor and Training Committee (all by December 1st of their internship year). These in-house selections are made by December 15th to allow time for open recruitment for any unfilled postdoctoral positions. Neuropsychology Residency questions should be directed to Dr. Robin Hilsabeck, Neuropsychology Residency Director at Robin.Hilsabeck@va.gov.
The United States Air Force offers two-year Postdoctoral Fellowship positions in Clinical Health Psychology (CHP) to qualified psychologists. The positions are located in San Antonio, Texas, at Wilford Hall Ambulatory Surgical Center (WHASC), the largest outpatient surgical center in the Department of Defense. WHASC is a teaching hospital with 43 medical specialty and allied health training programs. The fellowship is a comprehensive program of supervised clinical training, teaching, supervision, and research in the specialty area of CHP. The treatment programs include working as part of multidisciplinary/interdisciplinary teams including the following programs: Pain Management, Diabetes Education, Tobacco Cessation, Cardiac/Pulmonary Rehabilitation, and the Sleep Center. Fellows also gain experience as behavioral health consultants in Obstetrics. The education program consists of weekly workshops, professional seminars in CHP, Distinguished Visiting Professor Program, and attendance at one national psychology conference. Fellows participate in active research protocols and are expected to produce professional papers for submission to peer-reviewed journals or presentation at a national conference. Fellows also gain experience in grant writing.

During the second year, fellows receive training in population health-level program management as well as neuropsychology assessment. In recent years most fellows have been selected from those already on active duty as a licensed Air Force clinical psychologist with several years of professional experience. Highly qualified civilian applicants with similar credentials will be considered for acceptance into the fellowship training program. ### Program Description

The mission of the VISN 19 MIRECC Postdoctoral Psychology Fellowship Program is to train psychologists to become outstanding clinical researchers in the high priority area of mental health care for Veterans, specifically in the area of suicide. The clinical and research focus of the VISN 19 MIRECC is the treatment and assessment of individuals with severe psychiatric disorders, including combat related syndromes, who are at risk for suicide. There is an emphasis on the accurate evaluation of the interaction between cognition and suicide in individuals with psychiatric diagnoses. There is also an emphasis on the neurobiology of individuals with severe psychiatric disorders who are at risk for suicide.

Program Description:
The Salem VAMC offers 3 full-time paid Postdoctoral Fellowship positions. One-year positions are offered in the emphasis areas of Posttraumatic Stress Disorder and Primary Care-Mental Health Integration. A two-year position is offered in Clinical Neuropsychology. The Scientist-Practitioner and Developmental models guide our psychology training programs. The Neuropsychology fellow is exposed to training consistent with the Division 40 Houston Conference guidelines. Our ideal is that of a psychologist who is skilled in the understanding and application of clinical research and scientific methods to her/his practice. The majority of the clinical staff's primary theoretical orientation is Cognitive-Behavioral or Behavioral. Neuropsychology staff's theoretical orientation tends to be Biopsychosocial. Fellows' time is spent in clinical and testing duties (50%); research and/or program development (20%); providing supervision (10%); interprofessional treatment team participation and consultation (10%); and teaching, leadership, and didactics activities (10%). A special focus of our fellowship is fostering the growth and integration of fellows' personal and professional identities. We emphasize the need for balance in our lives. This results in our insistence on a 40-hour work week and encouraging our fellows to pursue interests outside of psychology, such as recreation, exercise, family, and friendships. Professional identity development, especially in the areas of employment location and selection, is assisted by seminars about job searches, licensure, program development, mental health administration, and supervision. In addition, psychology staff are very open to providing informal assistance in these areas.

Program Description

Postdoctoral Fellowships are available with emphases in PTSD, substance abuse, integrated primary care, rehabilitation care, telehealth, Hepatitis C/HIV, and neuropsychological disorders. 1) Two positions in addiction care are offered through the Center of Excellence in Substance Abuse Treatment and Education (CESATE) - one of only two programs funded nationally by the Department of Veterans Affairs to offer a specialized clinical fellowship in the interdisciplinary approach to substance use disorders. The primary goal of this fellowship is to provide clinical training in the interdisciplinary assessment and treatment of substance abusers, intended to prepare fellows to assume clinical, academic and/or administrative positions in a variety of settings. 2) One first-year position in PTSD is available in the Mental Illness Research, Education and Clinical Center (MIRECC). This two-year fellowship has a research emphasis (75% research, 25% clinical time). The primary goal of this training is to prepare fellows for independent investigator status in VA Medical Center and academic settings, with expertise in trauma disorders. These positions offer training in integrated care delivery and evidence-based treatment for PTSD and co-morbid disorders, or alternatively, in evidence-based assessment and treatment of physical trauma and traumatic brain injury. 3) Two positions are offered in Rehabilitation Psychology. Both are devoted primarily to the care of returning OIF/OEF veterans, sited in a variety of rehab medicine settings. These positions offer training in integrated care delivery and evidence-based treatment for PTSD and co-morbid disorders, or alternatively, in evidence-based assessment and treatment of physical trauma and traumatic brain injury. 4) One position is available in each of four additional areas: Primary Care, Neuropsychological disorders, HIV/AIDS, and Telehealth. Applicants for all positions must be US citizens, and must have completed a doctoral degree from an APA accredited graduate program and an APA accredited internship prior to the start of the fellowship. Inquiries should be directed to Steve McCutcheon, PhD, at the above address.

Program Description

The Pediatric Psychology Post-Doctoral Fellowship at Madigan Army Medical Center is an APA Accredited intensive two-year training program in Clinical Child Psychology with an emphasis in Pediatric Psychology. The program accepts a new civilian fellow every two years and a new Active Duty Army fellow yearly. The next civilian fellow will be selected in 2013. The focus of the fellowship is the training and development of psychologists with an advanced level of competency in Clinical Child Psychology with an emphasis in Pediatric Psychology who can meet the specific research and service needs of children, adolescents, and families. The philosophy of the fellowship is based on a scientist-practitioner training model with the goal of training Clinical Child Psychologists who can conduct research and integrate research findings into clinical work at an advanced level of competency. The fellowship emphasizes the developmental and social contexts of child psychopathology and the use of empirically validated assessments and interventions. Fellows gain experience in diagnosis, assessment, and treatment of children with a wide range of medical, developmental, and psychological difficulties. Over the course of the two-year training experience, the curriculum is graduated and progressive such that fellows advance from exposure to experience and the development of expertise. The curriculum closely follows and is based on recommendations from the APA Division 53 Task Force on Postdoctoral Accreditation in Clinical Child Psychology and the APA Division 54 Task Force Report on Training Pediatric Psychologists. Fellows are also expected to participate in clinical research and produce a publishable research product during the fellowship. During the two-year training program, fellows will participate with a faculty member in a variety of multidisciplinary clinics and extensive didactic seminars. Fellows are expected to carry an outpatient therapy caseload during the fellowship.

Program Description

Western State Hospital (WSH) through the Washington Institute for Mental Illness Research and Training, sponsors a postdoctoral fellowship in forensic clinical psychology. The fellowship runs from September through August, full time. The goal of the fellowship is to produce clinical specialists in the practice and research of forensic clinical psychology who will lead the development of the field. The fellowship is structured in such a way as to prepare fellows for the ABPP examinations. Some fellowship training activities (e.g., seminar and cross-training with law students) occur in tandem with our forensic post-doctoral training program in juvenile forensic psychology at the Child Study and Treatment Center (CSTC), and the forensic post-doctoral training program specializing in work with sexually violent predators at the Special Commitment Center (SCC). Work sites include WSH, CSTC, local correctional facilities, community, and private practice settings. Duties include forensic evaluations of criminal defendants; assessment, treatment and consultation of mentally ill offenders and correctional inmates; supervised report writing and testimony; independent study and research. Six full-time psychologists and one neuropsychologist are available for supervision, training and consultation. Four to six hours of face-to-face clinical supervision are provided each week. A demanding nine-month, weekly forensic seminar series provides further didactic education. WSH offers extensive collateral opportunities for education and training. The fellowship program also maintains an active, collegial relationship with the Seattle University School of Law. WSH has a long-standing and fully APA-approved pre-doctoral internship program.

Program Description

Training program is aimed at preparing post-doctoral fellows for a career within a medical setting. There are three tracks available, two focused on adult patients, and one on pediatric patients. Adult-track fellows will gain experience working in a university-based medical center and a federally-funded health center. The Pediatric-track fellow will gain experience working in a university-based children’s hospital and its outpatient clinics. Activities involve assessment, intervention, and consultation to and participation on multidisciplinary treatment teams. Fellows will receive training in pre-surgical evaluation. They will serve patients on oncology, family practice, neurology, organ transplant, pulmonary, orthopedics, trauma and burn services, and palliative care. Fellows have the opportunity to receive training in supervision. Fellows also receive formal didactic training in areas related to health psychology. Fellows may engage in some project development, teaching, and/or research during the fellowship year.
The Psychology Fellowship Program offers 1 position in each of 2 specialties: Pediatric Psychology and Child/Adolescent Clinical Psychology. The Pediatric Psychology Fellow is trained in the assessment and treatment of problems of children and adolescents with medical disorders. The Pediatric Psychology Fellow spends half of each week in supervised experience on the inpatient pediatric, pediatric intensive care and neonatal intensive care units of St. Joseph’s Children’s Hospital and the other half in the outpatient Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Health. The Child/Adolescent Psychology Fellow is based in the outpatient Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Health. Supervised experience in assessment and treatment also occurs in the Child Development Center and at a psychiatric inpatient unit for adolescents. Both fellows receive training in the assessment and treatment of children and adolescents with a wide range of behavioral/emotional problems. Assessment procedures include psychological testing, behavioral questionnaires, diagnostic interviewing and collateral interviews. Interventions include individual therapy, parent guidance and family therapy. Fellows receive at least 3 hours of individual supervision per week, participate in weekly postdoctoral seminars and are encouraged to attend other conferences within the medical complex. The faculty utilize a variety of therapeutic approaches, but the prevailing approach is behavioral or cognitive-behavioral embedded in developmental and systematic understanding of the child. The fellowship is 2 Years due to the goals and milestones of the program. Please see our website’s Outcomes Section to see the rationale for a 2 year fellowship. The goal of the program is to facilitate the development of professional psychologists with advanced skills in child and pediatric psychology to function independently in a variety of practice settings. Program information and application are available at www.marshfieldclinic.org.

Program Description

The program operates within a scholar-practitioner model. There are six fellowship positions each with a specific area of concentration: one in Geropsychology, one in Palliative Care, one in Clinical Neuropsychology, one in Psychosocial Rehabilitation, one in Post-deployment Mental Health Services, and one in Women's Health. The Clinical Neuropsychology and Women's Health positions are two year appointments, with candidates selected in alternate years. There will be no Women's Health fellow selected for the 2013-2014 training year. Fellows will be prepared for psychological practice either with older adults, with patients with end-stage disease, with patients with neurobehavioral disorders and pathologies, with the seriously mentally ill, including those with co-morbid substance abuse, or with newly returning veterans, many of whom have suffered multiple physical and/or psychological injuries. While the training primarily occurs within the context of the delivery of psychological services, training needs always take priority over service needs. The objective of the fellowship program is to provide the environment and experience that will promote in-depth development in each area of concentration. Fellows are expected to demonstrate competence in the following broad areas: Bioethics/Professional Behavior, Theoretical Conceptual Skills, Psychological Assessment, Psychological Intervention, Consultation, Program Development and Evaluation, and Teaching/Supervision. Within each area of competence, sound clinical skill and judgment, an active knowledge of current research, and an ability to teach and communicate well with clients and other professionals are required. The fellowship program is organized around a core of clinical experiences, but allows some flexibility in pursuing individual goals. While there are sometimes opportunities to conduct research during the fellowship, the major emphasis is on clinical practice.

Appendix C: Additional Sources of Information about Internship and Postdoctoral Programs

Listing of Training Programs in Clinical Neuropsychology, 2000
A listing of over 120 academic, internship, and postdoctoral programs in Clinical Neuropsychology is maintained for Division 40 of the American Psychological Association by Lloyd I. Cripe, Ph.D. The list can be downloaded from the Division 40 website and is periodically published in The Clinical Neuropsychologist, by Swets & Zeitlinger. This was last published in 2000. The reference is:

Directory of Internships and Postdoctoral Training Programs in Clinical Child and Pediatric Psychology
This directory is published by Division 53 (Clinical Child Psychology) of the American Psychological Association. There are data pertaining to recruitment, setting, activities, and resources for predoctoral internship and postdoctoral clinical child and pediatric psychology training sites. The Division 53 website has a link to order the Directory, and also lists current programs self-identifying as training sites with a formalized curriculum in clinical child and/or pediatric psychology training. This list is available to the public.

Contact: Division 53 website: www.clinicalchildpsychology.org

Directory of Psychology Internships with Training in Behavioral Emergencies
This is an updated survey of APPIC member internship sites indicating that they provide didactic and/or experiential training in dealing with client emergencies and crises, including violent and/or suicidal behaviors. This directory was created and maintained by Section VII ("Clinical Emergencies and Crises") of Division 12 of the American Psychological Association, in collaboration with APPIC.
