LISTING OF DOCTORAL INTERNSHIP PROGRAMS

- Programs are organized alphabetically by state; by city within state; and by agency within city. Programs outside of the United States are listed last.

- APPIC is not an accrediting agency. Listing in the directory indicates that program applications have been reviewed by APPIC Membership Committees and that the programs as submitted are in compliance with the requisites for APPIC Membership described in the policy section of the Directory.

- The information in the directory listings has been updated online by each program's training director and was correct as of May, 2004. APPIC does not take responsibility for information that has been incorrectly entered by training directors.

- APA accreditation status is accurate as the directory goes to press, and may change between this date and the appearance of the directory. Interested readers should contact APA and/or individual programs for information about current APA accreditation status.

Program Description
We embrace a generalist model in our internship training. Interns usually rotate across a range of psychiatric and medical settings but may also customize programming to some degree to meet individual specialized interests. We strongly prefer applicants from scientist-practitioner academic programs.

Program Description
Our training program is an integrated sequence of learning opportunities within a developmental focus. We see ourselves as practitioner-scholars, blending the art and science of psychology. The internship has a dual focus on both clinical training and professional growth, & uses a team-based model.

Interns have the option to receive special training, seek out clients and/or provide outreach and consultation to special populations to develop their skills in the specialization area. This is negotiated as part of the intern’s learning contract and in consultation with supervisors.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities

The Consortium intends to apply for APA accreditation for its postdoctoral residency program within a few years.

Program Description

The Arizona Psychology Training Consortium is a non-profit subsidiary corporation of the Arizona Psychological Association. The Consortium was developed to create internships and postdoctoral residencies. School psychology, pediatric neuropsychology, psychoanalytic psychology, and private practice sites are available. There are no clinical rotations between the training sites. All of the residencies provide advanced training in psychotherapy, cultural diversity, and independent practice. Residents participate in two-day didactic training events each month. There is a considerable amount of travel to the statewide training events. Training opportunities are provided by academics and practitioners from several Arizona universities, community agencies, and practices. In addition, members of the Arizona Psychological Association serve as mentors to residents to enhance their career development and networking opportunities. There is a selection preference for applicants from Arizona universities and internship programs, but applicants from any regionally accredited Clinical, Counseling, and School Psychology programs are encouraged to apply. Applicants must send at least two complete application packets. One complete application packet goes to the Consortium. Also send one complete application packet to each individual training site of interest. Please review the application procedures described on the Arizona Psychological Association website at www.azpa.org. During the application process, frequently check the website for new Consortium training opportunities.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities
Residents have the opportunity to create a focus area in an area of professional interest. Development of the resident's professional identity is emphasized.

Where Did Former Postdoctoral Fellows Go?

University Counseling Center 1 1 1

Program Description
The Counseling & Consultation (C&C) postdoctoral residency is a 2000 hour, 12 month advanced training program designed to prepare the resident for a psychologist position in a university counseling center. It meets the postdoctoral supervised experience requirements for licensure in Arizona. C&C has a multidisciplinary staff, including psychologists, counselors, social workers, and psychiatrists. Its mission is to serve a diverse student population, and models and promotes the valuing of human differences on individual, organization, and community levels as well as the facilitation of human potential. The postdoctoral resident is encouraged to tailor the program to provide experience in specific career interest areas within university counseling centers. Depending upon agency resources, possible interest areas include: 1) agency administration; 2) training program administration; 3) "wellness psychology" with emphasis on university consultation and secondary and tertiary preventative programming; 4) diversity focused work in a university setting. At the beginning of the program, the resident meets with the Training Director to develop a training contract reflecting individual interests. The program uses a developmental-practitioner training model and training activities are focused on developing existing skills through a range of professional activities, training, and feedback. Residents provide individual and group therapy, outreach, consultation, crisis intervention (both daytime and after-hours), and supervise masters or doctoral level advanced practicum students. Residents participate in agency staff meetings, staff development programs, and agency committees and teams.

Program Description

CONTACT PROGRAM FOR CURRENT INFORMATION

Residents will be responsible for providing: (a) individual, couples, and group therapy; (b) assessment and referral services; (c) crisis intervention and on-call services; (d) outreach programming; and (e) psychological consultation to the campus community. Residents may also have involvement in training and supervision of practicum students through Humboldt State University's Master's level Counseling program. Residents will receive both individual and group supervision commensurate with the requirements for licensure. Training Director has a feminist psychodynamic theoretical orientation. Associate Director is an integrationist. Although the training is in brief therapy, each resident may carry one longer term client. CAPS is housed in the Health Center building on campus. Each resident will have a private office, with computer and internet access, and a centralized video system for supervision. The counseling facility includes a group room, a professional library, and a staff kitchen. CAPS currently consists of four professional therapists working as a team. Peer consultation is emphasized and constantly utilized in a supportive and collegial atmosphere. The staff is especially interested in residents who will support this type of work environment. Residents will engage in both formal and informal supervisory contact with all professional staff. In addition to supervision, residents will participate in our weekly case conference and training seminar. Humboldt State University is located on the northern California redwood coast, in the community of Arcata (pop. 13,000). The hillside campus overlooks Humboldt Bay and the Pacific Ocean, amidst the surrounding Redwood forest. As one of the smaller campuses of the California State University system, with about 7,500 students, HSU is known for its open and friendly campus environment.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities
There will be extensive use of audio and videotaping of clients in our clinical supervision.

Program Description
A Better Way, Inc. is a nonprofit organization established as a Foster Family program serving the needs of the Bay Area, predominantly Alameda and Contra Costa Counties. The clinical mental health program integrates individual, group, assessment, and family therapy. The multilingual and multicultural staff reflects the diversity of the children and parents served. Services provide professional best practices in the mental health field with emphasis on evidence-based practice. The overall goal of this program is to provide excellent clinical services to the population that accesses our services. The focus of the work will be with children and their families. Postdoctoral Fellows will have the opportunity to participate in several specialty seminars: (1) Parent-Child Interaction Therapy, (2) Cognitive-Behavioral and other evidence-based therapeutic interventions, and (3) family therapy. Direct observations, as well as videotaping of sessions for feedback will also be a part of the supervisory experience.

Program Description

Casa Pacifica is a residential treatment center and a non-public school for emotionally disturbed adolescents within the community. We also offer temporary shelter for abused and neglected children and adolescents. Our two-year postdoctoral program offers advanced general training in child and adolescent clinical psychology with emphasis on community mental health. Our training program is an organized experience which, in contrast to on-job training, is designed to provide the Fellow with a planned, programmed sequence of supervised training experiences. We also provide advanced clinical training in cognitive-behavioral interventions, crisis management, brief and long-term psychotherapy, group therapy, and consultation. Our supervision satisfies California licensing requirements. To be eligible, applicants must have completed a doctoral program in clinical or counseling psychology and preference is given to applicants from programs with APA accreditation. Admissions requirements include completion of all professional doctoral degree requirements from a regionally accredited institute of higher education or an APA/CPA-accredited program and completion of a Pre-doctoral internship that meets APPIC standards. Applicants must provide a letter from the director of the graduate program that stipulates the applicant has completed requirements for the doctorate and will graduate by the starting date of the Fellowship. WE REQUIRE COMPLETION OF A CASA PACIFICA POSTDOCTORAL APPLICATION. Casa Pacifica is located outside of Los Angeles in the community of Camarillo, a few miles from the Pacific Ocean and one hour south of Santa Barbara. It is a beautiful setting adjacent to California’s newest University at Channel Islands.

Program Description
Program provides advanced training opportunities in the core service areas provided by CAPS including: Intake Assessment, Crisis Intervention, Brief Psychotherapy, Multicultural Counseling, Career Counseling, Consultation to Campus Units and Departments, Program Development and Outreach. The program stresses Generalist Training, with the goal of preparing the fellow for a staff position in a university counseling center. At the same time, this program offers specialized training in several emphasis areas: Eating Disorders, Sport Psychology, Multicultural Immersion, Mind-Body Wellness and a Clinical Practice area, depending upon the fellow's interests and experience level, as well as the current needs of the Center. The educational philosophy and training model is to provide training grounded in the scientific principles of our profession that emphasize the areas of applied practice. The overarching objective is to train ethical, competent psychologists who are capable of functioning independently and will contribute both to the welfare of society and to the profession. The training staff realizes that the most important learning occurs through providing service under the direct supervision and mentorship of a senior staff professional. Such "learning by doing" is guided, enriched and deepened through the postdoctoral seminar and clinical rotations, consultations, and in-service staff development activities. The fellowship program is defined by a commitment to the following goals: Goal #1: Commitment to mentoring and the scientist-practitioner model; Goal #2: Commitment to a broad range of skill development; Goal #3: Commitment to training in providing services to a diverse clientele; Goal #4: Commitment to facilitating personal growth and professional identity; Goal #5: Commitment to flexibility in developing each fellow's training program. Program Description

Kaiser Permanente offers postdoctoral residencies in the Union City/Hayward Medical Center and the Fremont Medical Center, located in the South East Bay sub-region of Northern California. Each of the medical centers is comprised of different departments, including Psychiatry in Union City and Fremont, as well as the Chemical Dependency Recovery Program in Union City. The residency is a comprehensive program that offers a broad range of training experiences in one of the richest multicultural areas in the nation. The residency is seen as a vital component of the integrative Kaiser Permanente health care system. Residents complete 40 hours per week in either the Department of Psychiatry or the Chemical Dependency Recovery Program for 12 months. One half of the residents’ time is spent providing direct services to clients through individual, group, or family therapy, and conducting psychological assessments. Residents also participate in research or program evaluation, and community projects. In addition to the required two hours of individual supervision weekly by a licensed psychologist, residents also participate in at least two additional hours of individual and/or group supervision, and case conferences. Residents at each of the three programs attend weekly seminars together with the exception of days when a regional seminar is held. Psychologists or psychiatrists, with particular advanced knowledge and expertise, address the postdoctoral residents on such topics as: Eating Disorders in Adolescents, Treatment of Anxiety and OCD, Medications for Patients with a History of Trauma and Abuse, Autistic Spectrum Disorders. Residents attend a monthly half-day regional seminar with over 60 residents from the other Kaiser Permanente Medical Centers in Northern California. Examples of seminars that have been presented in the past include: Ethics, Clinical Supervision, Neuropsychology, and Diversity.

Program Description

The Sullivan Center for Children is an intensive outpatient treatment center that specializes in providing psychological services to children, adolescents and their families. The Sullivan Center is a Psychological Corporation currently employing 14 clinicians. Four of those clinicians are Ph.D. Psychologists, two are a Psy.D. We also have three LMFT’s one LCSW and one Board Certified Child Psychiatrist. The populations we treat vary greatly in terms of age, type of pathology, socio-economic status, and cultural backgrounds. The Center is dedicated to the treatment of children, adolescents and their families. We provide intensive assessments and individualized treatment programs. We have a team approach in which, if appropriate, children and members of their families can be involved in an integrated treatment approach using more than one modality. We provide individual treatment for the children, individual therapy for the parents, if appropriate, educational/supportive therapy for the parents around the child’s needs, couples’ therapy if the problems lie in the parents and not in the child, family therapy if the pathology is best treated from a family systems perspective, group therapy for children, and supportive and educational groups for parents. If a child and their family are involved with more than one therapist, then a team approach is used to coordinating treatments. Age of people actually treated at the Center run from infancy through older adulthood, although adults treated at the Center usually arrived at our services through a child or adolescent problem. We are a for-profit corporation, and provide fee-for-service basis, we also have contracts with the Fresno Unified School District and Central Valley Regional Center that allow us to provide services to children who have a lower socio-economic status. We deal with problems of childhood that range from mild to severely disturbed.

Program Description

LMU is a private Catholic undergraduate and graduate institution located on the bluffs above Marina del Rey in California. Student Psychological Services (SPS) is a department in the Division of Student Affairs. The Division of Student Affairs supports the University mission through programs and services designed to advance student learning. In keeping with the mission, SPS aims "to foster students' personal, social, and intellectual development and emotional health by providing psychological services to students and by serving as an educational and consultative resource to the University community. Services are provided in a safe environment that is respectful of cultural and individual differences." LMU is a highly ranked regional university, and the student body of approximately 6,000 undergraduates and 2,000 graduate students is highly diverse. SPS is centrally located in new offices. Our postdoctoral fellowship is in its 8th year. In addition to providing direct services, Fellows participate in campus events, serve on university committees, and conduct research/program evaluation. Supervision meets licensure requirements, and Fellows have the opportunity to work with all staff members. Required hours are 1500 for the year.

Program Description

This Postdoctoral Fellowship is for psychologists who are looking to train in diagnostic and psychotherapeutic work with children, adolescents and their parents/caregivers from a psychodynamic perspective. The Center is located in the heart of West Los Angeles on the beautiful 17 acres campus of the parent agency, Vista Del Mar Child and Family Services. The Reiss-Davis Clinic has been serving the mental health needs of a racially, ethnically and socio-economically diverse population since 1950. The fellowship functions within the overall structure of the clinic. Modeled after the Hampstead Clinic in London, Reiss-Davis Child Study Center has been offering advanced training in psychoanalytic child-adolescent work for over fifty years. More recently, the program has also incorporated interpersonal neurobiology in its curriculum. Fellowships are available on a part-time (20-25 hours/week) or full-time (40 hours/week) basis. Fellows can begin any time mid-July to early September. A typical week for part-time fellows comprises of 10 hours of direct service, 2-3 hours of individual supervision and 10 hours of group supervision and didactic seminars, all taught by high caliber psychodynamically trained clinicians. Full-time fellows, in addition to the above, carry an additional 5 hours of direct service and spend the balance of their time in psychological and psychoeducational testing. The two-years provide a unique opportunity for the fellows to gain experience in longer-term intensive psychotherapy. The program is small and collegial, allowing for ample time with teaching faculty. The goal of the Reiss-Davis Fellowship is to graduate mental health professionals who have solid observational, diagnostic, and therapeutic skills, are knowledgeable about psychoanalytic theory and technique, are grounded in their familiarity with normal and pathological development and parenting issues and ultimately feel confident in their ability to integrate theory with practice.

Program Description

The Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in Neuropsychology at the UCLA Semel Institute for Neuroscience and Human Behavior aims to prepare clinician-scientists for careers in academic research and clinical applications within the specialty area of neuropsychology. The program offers training in a series of six tracks with clinician/educator and academic/research emphases, including: 1) General Track - 2 openings; 2) Child Track - 1 opening; 3) Genopsych Track - 0 openings; 4) HIV/AIDS Research Track - 2 openings. All Fellows, regardless of track, receive broad training and experience in both research and practice. All residents share an extensive curriculum of didactic and experiential offerings, and training programs are individually tailored to achieve specific goals considering the Residents' prior competencies and experiences. Patient populations span all age groups, and both clinical applications and research projects target a diversity of neurologic, psychiatric, and general medical disorders, with integration across diverse departments and centers including Psychiatry and Biobehavioral Sciences, Neurology, Neurosurgery, the Brain Injury Research Center, and Ahmanson-Lovelace Brain Mapping Center at UCLA. Additional offerings are made possible through strong collaborations with centers of excellence off-campus, including The Help Group (with a focus on neurodevelopmental disabilities), the Veterans Administration Greater Los Angeles Health Care System (VAGLAHS, with a focus on HIV/AIDS and major mental illness), and The University Neuropsychology Group in Pasadena.

Program Description
The University of Southern California, Division of Student Affairs, offers two postdoctoral fellowships in College Mental Health, each with a separate track; one with a specialization in Disability Services, and the other track with a specialization in Sports Psychology (applicants will need to specify which fellowship track they are applying to). The central training goal for both fellowships is that the postdoctoral fellows complete their training with advanced knowledge, confidence, and competence in the following areas of clinical practice: short-term therapy, group counseling, awareness and appreciation of human diversity, professional ethics and decision making, crisis intervention, outreach/consultation, and clinical supervision. The following is a description of the subspecialty for each fellowship: TRACK #1——College Mental Health and Disability Services: An 12-month fellowship with an emphasis in clinical assessment, including conducting psychoeducational assessments of learning disabilities and ADHD. The fellow will provide clinical services to students with disabilities who register with the Disability Services and Programs office as well as the general student population that seek services with USC Student Counseling Services. Further information on TRACK #1, go to website: http://www.usc.edu/student-affairs/Health_Center/cs.postdoctoral.shtml

TRACK #2——College Mental Health and Sports Psychology: A 12-month fellowship which has an emphasis with clinical services to the student athlete population that seek services with USC Student Counseling Center as well as outreach and consultation to student athletes within the USC Athletic Department. Further information on TRACK #2 go, to website: http://www.usc.edu/student-affairs/Health_Center/cs.postdoctoral.shtml

Program Description

The University of Southern California University Center for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities (USC UCEDD) at Children’s Hospital Los Angeles (CHLA) offers an advanced two-year postdoctoral training program in Clinical Child Psychology. The program offers unique training experiences in clearly defined emphasis areas. Individuals are recruited specifically for each emphasis area and are offered training opportunities in a variety of departments and clinical services. The emphasis practice areas include Pediatric Psychology, Early Childhood Mental Health, Trauma Psychology, Child and Family Therapy, and Adolescent Psychology. The postdoctoral training program at CHLA is based on an integrated community mental health and health psychology scientist practioner model. It is designed to train psychologists to assume leadership roles as experts in clinical psychology in pediatric community and medical settings. Depending on the emphasis area chosen, fellows may be gaining professional experiences in outpatient mental health clinics, community clinics, schools and/or pediatric hospital units. Through intensive supervision, didactic lectures and seminars, research and program development activities, and ample direct patient contact and consultation opportunities, fellows enhance and develop advanced clinical skills in their emphasis area. The program will only accept graduates of APA accredited programs who will have completed APA accredited internships and all the requirements for graduation by September 1, 2008.

Program Description

The USC Institute of Psychiatry, Law, and Behavioral Science is an integrated part of the USC Department of Psychiatry and the Behavioral Sciences and has been in existence since 1963. It offers a full-time one-year Fellowship and an option for a second year. Psychology Fellows are offered the same training and education as Psychiatry Fellows. All Fellows serve under supervision as consultants and as expert witnesses for the State and Federal Criminal Court, Family Law Court, Mental Health Court, Juvenile Court, and County and Federal Probation as well as the State Parole Board. Each Fellow is assigned approximately two cases per week involving psychological-legal issues for the courts and various administrative hearings. The Fellows have at least seven USC Fellowship-trained faculty supervisors at any given time. The Fellows also conduct treatment of mentally disordered offenders. Courses specifically designed for the Fellows include: criminal law, civil law, juvenile law, family law, mental health law, video tape seminar, a course on landmark mental health law cases, legal research, corrections psychology, and legal and ethical issues related to the practice of forensic psychology. Courses and seminars are approximately 14-18 hours per week. The lecturers are forensic psychologists and psychiatrists, judges, attorneys, and professionals in other forensic related disciplines. Each Fellow teaches and supervises USC psychiatric residents in the area of psychiatry and the law. Moreover, there are clinical case conferences where each Fellow presents a forensic case demonstrating his/her knowledge and application of clinical material to the legal issues. Additionally, each fellow will serve as a consultant to the largest jail in the United States. Finally, each fellow will have an opportunity to conduct a psychological autopsy for the Los Angeles County Department of Coroner. Use the telephone number and address listed above for inquiries and application.

Program Description

The Wright Institute Los Angeles Postgraduate Center's full-time and half-time postdoctoral training program is designed to develop and refine competence in the conduct of long-term, intensive psychotherapy and brief psychotherapy. The theoretical orientation of most of our faculty is contemporary psychodynamic/psychoanalytic. The field of psychoanalytic psychotherapy has undergone a substantial evolution in recent years. The program presents the core of theory and technique that has endured through this evolution as well as relatively recent developments which have advanced theory and enlarged the range of application and effectiveness of psychoanalytic psychotherapy. The program consists of the conduct of psychotherapy with an adult caseload presenting with a broad range of diagnoses and issues, individual and group supervision, an extensive series of seminars on theory and technique, and case conferences. Focused training in eating disorders, offered through our eating disorders program, is available to interested Postdoctoral Fellows. Full-time Fellows may also participate in a clinic project, the nature of which varies from year to year. Teaching and supervision are conducted by a small core faculty and a large group of mental health professionals on our Teaching and Supervisory Faculty. The training staff includes 2 full-time and 4 part-time psychologists and 40 mental health professionals in private practice who have appointments to WILA's Teaching and Supervisory Faculty. All faculty are licensed and experienced and have specialty training in psychoanalytically oriented psychotherapy and psychoanalysis. Participation in the postdoctoral training program requires a Ph.D. or Psy.D. in Clinical or Counseling Psychology.

Program Description
The South Bay Consortium is a joint program supported by the Santa Clara and San Jose/Santa Teresa Medical Centers. The Consortium began in 2006 as part of a restructuring of the larger Northern California Regional postdoctoral training programs. The goal was to provide an integrated and comprehensive training program while retaining local support. The South Bay Consortium is a comprehensive program that is well integrated into the Kaiser Permanente healthcare system. A total of 13 Clinical Psychology Residents are placed in Departments of Child or Adult Psychiatry or our Autism Spectrum Disorder Clinic. Their required clinic time is 40 hours per week during a 12-month period. One-half of the resident's time is spent providing direct services to clientele through individual, group, family, or couples therapy and conducting psychological assessments. In addition to the required two hours of individual supervision weekly by a licensed psychologist, residents also participate in two hours of group supervision, case conferences, team meetings, and weekly seminars. Residents are also encouraged to attend the monthly grand rounds for the general staff. In addition to weekly seminars and individual group supervision, residents are expected to attend a monthly half-day seminar, which is also open to supervising psychologists for continuing education credits. This first seminar focuses on Ethics and the Law. This ensures all postdoctoral residents have a sound working knowledge of California's professional code of conduct. Please refer to the website for further description of the program sites: http://residency.kp.org/ncal/psych/psychology.htm

Program Description
The focus of the Postdoctoral Fellowship training program at Children's Hospital of Orange County (CHOC) is to provide advanced in-depth training in child/pediatric psychology and prepare individuals for careers in medical settings. The CHOC Fellowship offers specialized training in child clinical psychology applied in a general pediatric tertiary care setting. Postdoctoral Fellows are supervised by Psychology faculty who have expertise in child clinical psychology, as well as specialized interests in neuropsychology, pain management, disruptive behavior disorders, infant development, and sports psychology. The Program provides experience with consultation/liaison to sub-specialty pediatric units, neuropsychological assessment, and work in our outpatient Pediatric Psychology Clinic. One position is with our Consultation and Liaison Program and one with the Oncology Service. The training program is housed within the Department of Pediatric Psychology which provides comprehensive psychological services throughout the Children's Hospital. Postdoctoral Fellows share some training experiences and seminars with interns in an APA accredited psychology internship as well as medical residents. Further, fellows have the opportunity to evaluate/consult/treat a wide variety of families from multicultural backgrounds. Fellows participate in research activities and complete a research project during their fellowship.

Program Description

The Children’s Health Council (CHC) is a private, non-profit, multidisciplinary agency offering outpatient mental health, educational, speech language, and occupational therapy services to children with emotional, behavioral, and/or developmental problems. The patient population served by CHC ranges in age from infancy to early adulthood and includes the full span of socioeconomic levels, cultural groups, and range of clinical problems. The CHC currently offers 2 one-year postdoctoral fellowships in child clinical psychology. Postdoctoral Fellows receive intensive training in psychological assessment and treatment of children and families in a multidisciplinary setting and are encouraged to select an area of specialization. Opportunities for focusing on training in Pediatric Neuropsychology or Young Child Assessment/Treatment are available. Additional opportunities for training in Pervasive Developmental Disorders or Medically Fragile Children are typically available. The postdoctoral fellowship follows the training guidelines of the APA as detailed by APPIC as well as Section 1 of Division 12 (Child Clinical Psychology). Each fellow spends approximately 65% of the time in direct clinical service (i.e., assessment, psychotherapy, consultation) and 35% of the time in supervision, seminars, and various clinical meetings (e.g., treatment team conferences). Supervision and didactics are provided primarily by psychologists at Children’s Health Council and clinical faculty members of Stanford University Medical School. Applicants from APA approved internship programs required.

Program Description

Please see the Training Program website at www.palo-alto.med.va.gov/MentalHealth/PsychologyTraining.asp for program brochure and application instructions. Application due date is Monday, January 5, 2009. All application materials must be sent by email to the Postdoctoral Coordinator at William.Faustman@va.gov. All offers will be made at the end of February, 2009. Contact Dr. William Faustman with specific questions. Applicants must be U.S. citizens and graduates of APA-accredited internships and APA-accredited doctoral programs in Clinical or Counseling Psychology. Dissertation must be completed to begin postdoctoral program. Postdoctoral training at the VA Palo Alto builds on the generalized foundation of the knowledge, skills, and proficiencies that define clinical psychology, and offers both breadth and depth to develop both advanced general clinical skills and specific skills within the following 7 areas of emphasis: Behavioral Medicine, Clinical Geropsychology, Palliative Care, Psychosocial Rehabilitation, Rehabilitation Psychology, PTSD/Trauma, and Substance Abuse/Homeless Rehabilitation. The core program also emphasizes professional development and the development of skills for supervision. Extensive individual and group supervision are available in all settings. The Behavioral Medicine emphasis area provides training in all areas of competence defined as essential for expertise in Behavioral Medicine. The Clinical Geropsychology emphasis area involves training in all areas of Geropsychology Competency as described in the APA Proficiency. The Palliative Care, Rehabilitation Psychology, PTSD/Trauma, and Substance Abuse/Homeless Rehabilitation emphasis areas involve training in the emerging competencies for Psychologists working in these areas. The Psychosocial Rehabilitation track provides training in a recovery/rehabilitation approach to working with patients with serious mental illness.

Program Description
This fellowship offers three tracks: Forensic Psychology (2 positions), Advanced Clinical Psychology (2 positions), and Neuropsychology (2-4 positions). Request applications specific to the track desired. The forensic program provides training in the specialized practice of forensic psychology, including case and statutory law, use of specialized forensic assessment instruments, forensic reports, and expert testimony. Fellows perform forensic evaluations and consultations, including trial competency, criminal responsibility, sex offender evaluations, mentally disordered offender evaluations, and assessments of psychopathy and general risk and sex offender risk assessment. The advanced clinical program is designed for the fellow who has significant experience working with severely mentally ill patients, seeking advanced training in therapy and assessment with a forensically involved population. The clinical fellows conduct intensive long-term individual psychotherapy and psychological assessments focused on treatment needs, diagnosis, and readiness for discharge. The neuropsychology fellowship has expanded to a two-year training program, and provides advanced training in the specialized practice of neuropsychology while working in a forensic setting. The program addresses core knowledge areas of neuropsychological assessment, functional neuroanatomy, neuropsychological assessment, and report writing. Fellows lead cognitive remediation groups, perform hospital-wide neuropsychological evaluations, and serve as consultants to treatment teams. We anticipate partnering with local medical hospitals and rehabilitation centers so we can offer assessment opportunities of non-psychiatric individuals.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities
Submit applications directly to site(s) of interest. Attend Open House for 2009/10 East Bay Consortium (date TBA at Walnut Creek - helpful, not required). Further information is listed under the Post Doctoral Residency section of the website at: http://residency.kp.org/ncal/psych/eastbay.htm

Program Description
The East Bay Consortium consists of at least two fellowships at each of four site locations in the Bay Area: Antioch, Martinez/Pleasant Hill, Pleasanton, and Walnut Creek. Residents are generalists, but may have a primary affiliation to the Adult, Child & Family, or Chemical Dependency teams depending on the site. Our training philosophy is to foster clinical competence and professional identity through the mastery of basic and specialized skills. Training in empirically validated techniques gives residents a menu of interventions, while supervision keeps a focus on the particulars of each therapist/client pairing. There is a clear emphasis on the role of the psychologist in a multi-cultural community, an outpatient setting and integrated with the medical center in providing quality health care to its members. The residency consists of three components: 1. Regular exposure, through active participation, to all facets of outpatient services. 2. Professional guidance through sessions of formal supervision, staff meetings and informal contacts with staff members. 3. Regular weekly and monthly training seminars. One half of the residents time is spent providing direct services to Kaiser members through individual, group, and family therapy. Residents complete 2 psychological test batteries over the course of the training year. SERVICES The Departments of Psychiatry at each site provide individual, group, family, child and adolescent therapy, post-hospital stabilization programs for teens and adults, and chemical dependency services for adults, as well as evidence based treatment groups for common disorders. Some specialized services are sub regionalized at Walnut Creek, including an eating disorders program and a lean chemical dependency program. STAFF ORIENTATION: Members of the staff represent a variety of theoretical orientations.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities
Opportunities exist for teaching, research, and community outreach work. Residents also receive training in conducting supervision.

Program Description
The central bay region encompasses the cultural and geographic heart of the Bay Area. The training sites of the Central Bay Training Consortium are located in the cities of Oakland and Richmond. The Departments of Psychology at each site provides psychotherapy, psychological testing, and psycho-educational programs. Each department includes an Intensive Outpatient Program (IOP) that provides services to recently hospitalized individuals. Certain sites in the Central Bay Training Consortium include the Chemical Dependency Recovery Program (CDRP) which offers intensive chemical dependency services. Each site runs many different groups such as Dialectic Behavioral Therapy (DBT). Residents are placed in Departments of Psychiatry and are required to complete 40 hours per week over a 12-month period. In addition to the required two hours of individual supervision weekly by a psychologist, the resident also participates in two or more hours of group supervision, case conference, and/or team meetings and a weekly seminar. Residents from the two sites attend weekly seminars at one site. Residents attend a monthly half-day Kaiser Permanente Northern California Post-Doctoral regional seminar. These seminars provide an opportunity to develop professional relationships with a large community of psychologists who will help orient the post-doctoral fellow to his or her career as a professional psychologist. We have made a commitment to evidenced-based treatments. Departments throughout the region have sent specialists to develop Best Practice guidelines based on the most current research for major psychological disorders. The Best Practices literature is made available to all residents and is considered part of the overall curriculum of the residency program. Visit our website to see our Best Practices Manuals.

Program Description

The Central Valley Consortium is a comprehensive program that is well-integrated into the Kaiser Permanente health care system. A total of 6 Clinical Psychology Residents are placed in Departments of Adult/Child Psychiatry and Behavioral Medicine in the Sacramento area. Location is either South Sacramento/Elk Grove-1 child, 1 Adult, 2 Adult/Behavioral Medicine residents or Roseville- 2 Adult residents. 40hrs a week is required over the 12 month residency period. 1/2 of the resident's time is spent providing direct services to clients through individual, group, family, or couple therapy and conducting psychological assessments. In addition to the required two hours of individual supervision weekly by a licensed psychologist, residents also participate in two hours of group supervision, case conferences, research projects, team meetings, and weekly seminars. Staff psychologists possess a wide range of specialties including Pain Management, Eating Disorders, Cultural Issues, Women's Health, Biofeedback, Health Psychology, Mood Disorders, ADHD, Family Systems, Autism. The patient population consists of Kaiser Health Plan members possessing prepaid psychiatric benefits and also Medi-Cal clients (South Sacramento). Our members consist of a wide spectrum of lower to middle/working class adults, families, couples, and children. The patient population is ethnically diverse and exhibits a wide array of psychological, medical and chemical dependency problems. The Central Sacramento Valley Region encompasses the cultural and geographic heart of Northern California with the richly diverse urban area of the Sacramento metropolitan area. It was named the most ethnically and culturally diverse city in the United States by Time Magazine in 2002. The Pacific Ocean, the famous Napa/Sonoma wine country, and San Francisco are all a short 2 hour drive away. The Sierra Nevada Mountains and Lake Tahoe only 90 minutes and Yosemite National Park and Monterey are 3 hours away.

Program Description
Our training program is designed for Clinical Psychology with three different areas of emphasis. One Fellow is selected for Child/Adolescent Psychology training, another for Geropsychology training, and a third for Cognitive-Behavioral training. The Child/Adolescent fellow provides clinical service to an inpatient population, the Geropsychology Fellow works with both an inpatient and partial hospitalization population, and the Cognitive-Behavioral Fellow is assigned to an Intensive Treatment Outpatient Program. Fellows supervise interns in our APA accredited internship program. Our orientation is largely CBT. Training occurs in the hospital and in the local professional community.

S.F.VAMC is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

Registered for Selective Service if applicable. The application deadline is January 1, 2009. Please review our fellowship brochure for more detailed information.

Candidates must have completed an APA-approved internship and an APA-approved doctoral program prior to start of fellowship. Candidates must have clinical supervision or a contract with a licensed psychologist or other qualified mental health provider. Fellows who are not currently employed but who have completed all clinical training requirements are eligible for appointment.

Fellows attend two required advanced seminars and select from numerous other educational offerings. Can- didates may be at an approved off-site program. Fellows receive supervised experience in evaluation and assessment, psychological treatment modalities, consultation, and multidisciplinary treatment planning. They are given ample opportunity to develop team leadership and specialty areas.

San Francisco VA Medical Center offers three 1-year APA accredited Clinical Psychology post-doctoral fellowships in PTSD and Substance Use Disorders and one 2-year non-accredited fellowship in Neuropsychology. While all three Clinical Psychology fellowships focus on didactic and clinical training in assessment and treatment of Posttraumatic Stress Disorder and Substance Use Disorders, each position has a different area of emphasis. Each track also includes neuropsychological assessment. Candidates may apply to one or more tracks. The 2-year Neuropsychology fellowship includes rotations in the TBI/PTSD Program, Memory Disorders Clinic, Movement Disorders Clinic, Comprehensive Epilepsy Center, Nursing Home Geriatric Psychology, Health Psychology and Pain Clinic. Fellows receive supervised experience in evaluation and assessment, psychological treatment, clinical supervision, consultation, and multidisciplinary treatment planning. They are given ample opportunity to develop team leadership and program development skills. Up to six hours per week may be devoted to conducting research under an assigned mentor. Up to six hours per week may be at an approved off-site program. Fellows attend two required advanced seminars and select from numerous other educational offerings. Candidates must have registered for Selective Service if applicable. The application deadline is January 1, 2009. Please review our fellowship brochure for more detailed information.

Program Description
NOTE: ALL POSTDOCTORAL POSITIONS ARE FILLED BY UCSF PREDOCTORAL INTERNS ADVANCING TO THE SECOND YEAR OF OUR TWO-YEAR TRAINING PROGRAM. Postdoctoral training in clinical psychology is centered in one of the following cluster areas: clinical assessment and interventions, and public service and minority. The training has two major components: (1) collaborative and clinical research with a faculty member in the fellow’s cluster, and (2) advanced clinical training in that cluster and/or in other clusters.
Kaiser Permanente North Bay Consortium Postdoctoral Residency Program

Departments of Psychiatry & Chemical Dependency in San Rafael, Santa Rosa, and Vallejo, CA

PROGRAM OVERVIEW: The North Bay Consortium consists of three site locations in the Bay Area: Santa Rosa, San Rafael, and Vallejo. In San Rafael, there are 4 positions split between the adult and child teams. In Santa Rosa, there are 4 positions split between the adult and child teams. In Vallejo, there are 3 positions on the adult team. Our training philosophy is to foster clinical competence and professional identity through the mastery of basic and specialized skills. For example, depending on which site they choose, residents are involved in DBT group programs, teen and child programs, eating disorder group programs and behavioral medicine. There is a clear emphasis on the role of the psychologist in a multi-disciplinary medical center in providing quality health care to its members. The residency consists of three components: 1) Regular exposure, through active participation, to all facets of outpatient services; 2) Professional guidance through sessions of formal supervision, staff meetings and informal contacts with staff members; and 3) Regularly scheduled local and regional training seminars. One half of the resident's time is spent providing direct services to Kaiser members through individual, group, & family therapy. Residents complete 2 psychological test batteries over the course of the training year.

SERVICES: The Department of Psychiatry provides individual, group, and family therapy. Psychological evaluation and treatment are available for a variety of problems including, but not limited to: depression, anxiety, child/adolescent family problems, eating disorders, and psychiatric emergencies. The focus is on brief therapy using CBT, DBT, and Interpersonal Therapy.

Program Description

The Help Group’s post-doctoral Fellowship focusing on Autism Spectrum Disorders provides fellows an opportunity to obtain advanced clinical training and experience in intervention (individual, family, and group therapy) and assessment of children with autism spectrum disorders. In addition, fellows will develop skills in supervision, public speaking, program development and evaluation, and management in areas related to working specifically with an autistic population. The Help Group is one of the largest providers of school-based and outpatient services for children on the autism spectrum in the U.S., assessing and treating children and adolescents from pre-school through young adulthood. The year begins with the fellow completing a self-assessment of their strengths and areas in need of further training and experience. This self-assessment aids in the development of the individualized learning plan, which informs the training agreement for the year. The Help Group’s year long post-doctoral fellowship program helps fellows to develop specific skills and competencies to increase readiness for independent practice in the field of professional psychology with specialized skills and knowledge in working with children and adolescents with autism spectrum disorders in a community mental health center. The fellowship will provide extensive experiences and exposure to the multifaceted roles psychologists take on in community mental health, with a focus on autism. The post-doctoral fellow will be given more autonomy and independence as the year proceeds, while always having access to supervisors and training opportunities.

Program Description
Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) Postdoctoral Fellowship Program provides opportunities for advanced training and supervision in crisis intervention, assessment, on-call coverage, brief counseling, long-term counseling, individual and couples counseling, group psychotherapy, consultation, and special administrative projects. The Postdoctoral Fellowship emphasizes a generalist training in preparation for a Staff Psychologist position at a university counseling center. Over the course of the year, Postdoctoral Fellows continue to enhance and solidify the development of clinical skills required for professional practice in psychology including skills to effectively respond to crisis situations, consultation and collaboration skills to work with an interdisciplinary staff, the campus community and off-campus community, skills to work with individual and cultural diversity, and consultation, administration, education, liaison, and outreach skills. Additionally, CAPS provides Postdoctoral Fellows specialized training in the assessment and management of eating disorders, substance abuse, and attention deficit hyperactivity disorder. Postdoctoral Fellows provide 20 hours of clinical work per week. This includes weekly intakes, on-call coverage, consultations, referrals, short-term individual, couples, or group psychotherapy, and two long-term fee-paying students. Postdoctoral Fellows receive two hours of Primary Supervision, one hour of Specialty Supervision, and two hours of Case Consultation per week. Postdoctoral Fellows also attend a weekly staff meeting and a ninety minute Education Meeting. Postdoctoral Fellows also participate in various types of outreach to the Stanford community. Outreach encompasses both preventative work and may include responding to an event on-campus. Additionally, Postdoctoral Fellows provide consultation to faculty, staff, Resident Deans, Peer Counselors, or students.

Program Description

The Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences at Stanford University School of Medicine offers: 1) clinic-funded fellowships for those planning careers as clinicians; and 2) NIMH-funded research fellowships for those preparing for academic careers. Clinical fellowships are available in the Behavioral Medicine Clinic (psychosocial treatment of adults with anxiety, eating disorders, depression, chronic pain, interpersonal problems, personality disorders, and couple and family problems); Insomnia and Behavioral Sleep Medicine Program (non-pharmacological treatments of insomnia and other sleep disorders); Child Psychiatry Clinic (treatments of anxiety and mood disorders, PDD, disruptive behaviors, and eating disorders for children and adolescents); and the Pediatric Psychology Program (treatments of children with medical illnesses including cancer, solid organ transplant, bone marrow transplant, craniofacial anomalies and dermatologic conditions). Clinical fellows spend 50% time in direct clinical activity, with the balance in supervision, case conferences, and seminars. Clinical fellowship appointments are full-time for one year, but fellows may apply for a 2nd year at the midpoint of the academic year. NIMH-funded research fellowships are for 2-3 years. Research opportunities for NIMH fellows are in depression, anxiety, eating disorders, sleep disorders, and developmental psychopathology. NIMH fellows spend at least 80% of their time in research-related activities with one primary faculty mentor, and also spend 4-6 hours per week in direct patient care and supervision. Our fellowships are open to PhDs and PsyDs from APA-accredited clinical or counseling psychology programs, who have completed APA-accredited internships, and to candidates from programs accredited by the Canadian Psychological Association. Completion of this fellowship meets all requirements for California state licensure as a psychologist. NIMH research fellowships are also open to MDs.

Program Description
The Institute of Living offers Postdoctoral fellowship positions in (1) Clinical Neuropsychology, (2) Adult Inpatient Psychiatry, (3) Schizophrenia Rehabilitation/Persistent Mental Illness, (4) Anxiety Disorders, (5) Child and Adolescent school-based treatment and assessment and outpatient therapy, (6) Health Psychology/Behavioral Medicine, (7) Child/Adolescent inpatient psychiatry, (8) Pediatric Consultation/Liaison and (9) Psychological Assessment. We offer a 2-year postdoctoral program in clinical neuropsychology. The first year is primarily spent in a psychiatric setting (Institute of Living), whereas the second year is primarily in a general medical/rehabilitative setting. Our program complies with APA Division 40, INS, and Houston Conference guidelines. In addition, we have residency positions in the following areas: two positions in our Schizophrenia Rehabilitation Program/persistent mental illness, using cognitive-behavioral models and functional MRI; and inpatient treatment: one position in Adult Inpatient Psychiatry providing psychodynamically-informed brief individual, group, and family therapy and case-management; two positions in our behavioral-exposure based Anxiety Disorders Clinic; two positions in combined school-based individual and group therapies, assessment of children and adolescents, and in outpatient treatment of urban children and adolescents. Health Psychology/Behavioral Medicine position includes inpatient consultation, cognitive assessment, and outpatient psychotherapy. Child and Adolescent inpatient psychiatry involves advanced training in brief acute individual, group, and family therapies. Pediatric Clinical Psychology positions provide consultation/liaison services to Connecticut Children’s Medical Center. The department is led by senior Psychologists who adhere to a scholar-practitioner model that actively integrates contemporary psychodynamic and cognitive-behavioral models.

Training Description

The Child Guidance Center of Southern Connecticut is an independent non-profit agency that has served southwestern Fairfield County since 1954. A staff of over 35 clinicians offers a full array of outpatient mental health services to children, adolescents, and their families. The agency’s focus is to thoroughly evaluate each child and family so that treatment services can be matched to specific developmental, dynamic, systemic and behavioral needs. Evaluations at the Center include Developmental Evaluations of pre-schoolers, psychological and neuropsychological testing, psychiatric and psychopharmacological evaluations, crisis evaluations, and sexual abuse forensic investigations. Individual, group and family treatment along with psychopharmacological services are available for patients. The Center also provides consultative and psycho-ed services to schools, service providers, child protective services, and police. The Center provides two hours of individual supervision each week for post-doctoral fellows. A full schedule of weekly seminars and case conferences are provided for all staff and trainees. Fellows also attend in interdisciplinary treatment planning meetings. Fellows also attend a bi-weekly projective testing seminar. They also attend a bi-weekly CBT seminar, a bi-weekly family therapy seminar, and a group therapy seminar. A neuropsychology seminar and a reading study group are also part of the training experience. Fellows may also have the opportunity to supervise an intern, or extern on testing cases. The Center has 2 facilities in Stamford, CT and community offices in the surrounding towns of Greenwich and Darien. The Director of Training oversees all of the agency’s facilities. Fellows spend the majority of their time at the Stamford facilities, but may be asked to see patients in any one of the community offices. Fellows working at those offices will always have immediate access to a clinical supervisor either in person or by phone.

Program Description

The fellowship program subscribes to the guidelines for the specialty of Clinical Health Psychology advanced by the American Psychological Association and espouses a strong scientist-practitioner model. Training emphasizes the following 4 core competencies: (1) research/scholarship; (2) advanced clinical practice; (3) interprofessional training; and, (4) program development/policy guideline implementation. With the assistance of the training committee, fellows develop an individualized training plan to meet these 4 core competencies. While fellows are invited and encouraged to participate in existing projects (i.e., current research, teaching, clinical, or program development activities), training opportunities in other areas of behavioral medicine of particular interest to a fellow are also supported. A brief summary of the 4 core competences is below:* RESEARCH: Current faculty research interest areas include: adherence, alcohol/tobacco interactions, smoking cessation/nicotine dependence, chronic pain, diabetes, health promotion, obesity, patient-provider interactions, primary care psychology and telemedicine.* CLINICAL PRACTICE: Several clinics are supported by the Clinical Health Psychology Section, including (but not limited to): Primary Care Clinics, the Comprehensive Pain Management Center, the Smoking Cessation/Substance Abuse Clinics, Obesity Management Clinics, and Health Promotion Programs (stress management, healthy lifestyles). * INTERPROFESSIONAL TRAINING: Opportunities to teach, mentor, and supervise other trainees (predoctoral interns, practica students, and undergraduate research assistants) as well as to coordinate a yearlong didactic seminar series for all psychology trainees are provided. * PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT: Most opportunities include the development of innovative, integrative, and multidisciplinary models of care and/or involvement in hospital-, regional- or nation-wide program development projects.

Program Description
Applicants must apply to either the adult forensic, general adult, or child tracks. Send materials in one packet (excluding official transcripts). The Program’s training model is the Practitioner Apprenticeship Model which is characterized by learning by doing and refinement of clinical skills under the guidance and supervision of experienced practitioners. Trainees spend the majority of time (70%) in service delivery. Treatment settings include hospital setting for the general adult track, hospital setting for the forensic track, and community mental health center for the child track. Trainees have significant input in tailoring programs to meet their needs/interests. Generally trainees spend 16-20 hours per week at a major rotation with the exception of the child track, which is primarily based in the community. Training electives include: psychotherapy cases from various modalities, psychological assessment, leading seminars with psychology interns or psychiatric residents and/or clinical supervision of psychology interns. Qualified applicants must be a graduate of an APA-accredited doctoral program in clinical or counseling psychology and must have completed an accredited internship prior to beginning the post-doc. Training period is 1-2 years.

Program Description
The program is a two-year postdoctoral fellowship in clinical neuropsychology. The program is designed to produce an advanced level of competency in the specialty and to prepare graduates for board certification. Training is based on written objectives that fellows must meet for graduation. Approximately 50% of the fellow's time is spent in direct clinical services and 10-20% in research. Training activities include: (a) closely supervised training in neuropsychological assessment of adults; (b) organized didactic training in clinical neuropsychology; (c) medical school neurosciences course; (d) neurology and neurosurgery rounds; (e) case conferences, invited speakers, and outside educational activities. All fellows are active duty United States Army officers. Further information about the fellowship can be found on the Walter Reed Army Medical Center web page under the Department of Psychology.

Program Description

The Psychology Residency training program at Nova Southeastern University fully supports the mission of Nova Southeastern University by developing Professional Psychologists through multidisciplinary training activities including teaching, research, program evaluation and clinical experience. Our philosophy is that sound clinical practice is based on scientific research and empirical support. Our training model is the Scientist-Practitioner Model of Training where research and scholarly activities guide and direct clinical practice, and clinical practice leads to research questions and activities. Overall, the Residency year is in preparation to function effectively and autonomously as a psychologist. The goals of the Postdoctoral Training Program in Psychology include: 1. To develop advanced clinical skills, including psychological assessments and report writing competency in working with multicultural populations 2. To develop advanced levels of research skills 3. To develop professional supervision skills of interns & undergraduates and postdoctoral fellows 4. To develop advanced levels of teaching skills 5. To develop advanced levels of program evaluation and grant writing skills 6. To develop professional socialization. The objectives of the Postdoctoral Training Program in Psychology include: 1. Resident will participate in opportunities which will develop and improve research & grant writing skills and participate in seeking grant funding from federal agencies. 2. Resident will provide professional development activities, assessments, interventions and report writing to a diverse population with competencies of entry level & continue to improve and gain new skills as a clinician. 3. Resident will provide instruction to faculty, practitioners & students. Resident will participate in program development & evaluation and prepare for a career in an academic environment. 4. Resident will provide consultation services to relevant constituents.

Program Description
We offer three fellowships in Clinical Psychology, one each in the emphasis areas of substance abuse, geropsychology, or post traumatic stress disorder. The structure of the program allows for specific training in the above clinical areas as well as additional training experiences of the fellows' choice, including medical psychology, pain psychology, primary care, neuropsychology, women's clinic, mental health clinic, and palliative care. Our web-based brochure describes each of the emphasis area training experiences as well as the additional training experiences described above. The program also includes ongoing supervision experience with our APA accredited internship program's interns. Our Medical Center is a large, comprehensive university-affiliated facility with 35 doctoral level psychologists and multiple treatment milieus and theoretical modalities. Fellows can expect to be collaborative partners in the development of their training plans for the year and will receive a comprehensive training experience while also developing a specialized knowledge and skill base in their respective emphasis area. Five of our six fellows so far have gone on to VA careers in a area related to or consistent with their emphasis area training.

Program Description

PLEASE CONTACT PROGRAM FOR UPDATED INFORMATION Florida International University is located in Miami, Florida. Florida International University is an urban multicultural/multietnic academic institution with more than 38,000 students. This is a minority-majority institution; 10% of our students are international. The training philosophy emphasizes treatment within the matrix of cultural differences. The professional staff is comprised of twelve licensed psychologists. The staff is from diverse ethnic and cultural backgrounds, and maintains a wide spectrum of theoretical and psychotherapeutic approaches. TRAINING FOCUSUS: Population: Registered Florida International University students. Treatment Modalities: Outpatient Individual therapy, couples therapy, group therapy, crisis intervention, consultation/liaison, stress management programs TREATMENT APPROACH: The center offers time-limited, focused psychotherapy. Treatment plans are individualized to reflect the cultural and developmental needs of the students. PHILOSOPHY OF TRAINING: The Counseling and Psychological Services Center stresses its strong commitment to training. The post-doctoral fellowship training program is designed to reflect the Association of Psychology Postdoctoral and Internship Center’s (APPIC) guidelines. To attain this goal, the Fellow will be required to integrate theoretical, research, and ethical/legal issues in psychology into his/her conceptualization and provision of service delivery as a psychologist. TRAINING EXPERIENCES AND METHODS: SUPERVISION: Supervision is based on a developmental approach to training. Educational goals are individualized to integrate the Fellow’s strengths and own interest with the CPSC clinical and research needs. Supervision will only be provided for clients seen at the Counseling Center.

CONTACT PROGRAM

Program Description

CONTACT PROGRAM FOR CURRENT INFORMATION The Division of Psychology at UM/JMH is one of the largest clinical, training, and research psychology entities in the country. The Division is comprised of over 30 full-time doctoral level faculty including 6 with ABPP. Psychologists at this Medical Center are in an integral part of clinical practice, training, and research on the specialized units throughout the Medical Center. The UM school of Medicine and JMH are joined together to form the UM/JMH, which is centrally located on a 75-acre campus near downtown Miami. The Medical Center UM/JMH is comprised of 18 clinical, teaching, and research buildings housing approximately 1500 inpatient beds and 300 outpatient programs serving over 600,000 patients with 800,000 patient visits per year. The mission of the Medical Center is to provide a single high standard of health care, teaching and research.

Program Description

The Counseling and Psychiatric Services (CAPS) postdoctoral fellowship program is designed to develop advanced skills in the practice of clinical and counseling psychology. Our diverse faculty is able to provide training across multiple approaches and levels of care, as well as to work with clients including: psychodynamic, humanistic, cognitive-behavioral, developmental, and multicultural. Fellows will have the opportunity to work with 14-18 clients in individual therapy per week as well as the opportunity to work with clients in a group. Concentrations within CAPS are available in the areas of eating disorders, mind-body approaches, assessment, and alcohol/drug. Additionally, each fellow will work 4-8 hours per week providing brief evaluation and crisis intervention in our walk-in counseling service. Opportunities to provide workshops, educational programming, consultation, and supervision to practicum students are also available. Postdoctoral fellows will work in close collaboration with senior staff and will function as professionals with many of the same responsibilities. Fellows attend all case conferences, professional development workshops, and staff meetings.

Program Description
The Emory University Counseling Center (EUCC) provides comprehensive mental health and preventive services for a student population that is culturally and clinically diverse. In addition to working at EUCC, Fellows spend one day per week working at Emory's Faculty Staff Assistance Program (FSAP), which provides outreach, clinical services, organizational intervention and consultation to Emory's 21,000+ employees and their families. Fellows gain experience in individual, couples & group psychotherapy, outreach, intake assessments, consultation, teaching and supervision of practicum students, & crisis intervention. The EUCC is a multidisciplinary setting, with staff and trainees representing Counseling Psychology, Clinical Psychology, Clinical Social Work, and Psychiatry; a variety of theoretical orientations and intervention models are represented among the senior staff. The Center's model of training emphasizes three components: development over the course of the training year, mentoring relationships with senior professionals, and the importance of combining practice with science (practitioner/scholar model). Fellows at the Emory Counseling Center receive intensive, supportive training, which is designed to prepare Fellows for the diversity of roles which psychologists assume in their career paths. Postdoctoral Fellows have the opportunity to work with a variety of clients, cultural backgrounds, presenting problems and treatment modalities, and each Fellow also has the opportunity to work with an identified Specialty Supervisor in order to focus his or her training on a particular area of clinical interest. The 2000 hour Postdoctoral Fellowship meets or exceeds all requirements for licensure in the State of Georgia. The EUCC's clientele is diverse in terms of age (from late teens to 60's), race, ethnicity, religion, national origin, gender, gender identity, sexual/affectional orientation, disability status, and SES.

Program Description
The program provides exemplary training consistent with a scientist-practitioner model. The competency-based training is developmental and contextual in nature, and centered on the fellows' individual needs and goals. While our expertise is in developing professional psychologists for leadership roles that combine service, research, and education, our ultimate commitment is to helping fellows define and progress towards their own chosen career path. We offer training in the following emphasis areas. Pediatric Consultation and Liaison - Children's Healthcare of Atlanta: Opportunities to work in two private children's hospitals with youth with oncological and hematological disorders. Neuropsychological assessment opportunities are available. Child Clinical Psychology: Opportunities to work in community-based program with abused children, and Teen Clinic. Adult Serious Mental Illness - Grady Health System: Direct clinical service, psychiatric assessments, and clinical research at Adult Day Treatment Program and Evaluation and Brief Treatment Unit. Developmental Disabilities and Feeding Problems - Marcus Institute: Opportunities to work with children and adolescents with a broad array of developmental difficulties conducting both assessments and interventions. Women's Health - Grady Health System: Clinical research positions available to conduct intervention trials with abused and suicidal women and work in a comprehensive breast cancer clinic service. Rehabilitation and Neuropsychology - Department of Rehabilitation Medicine: Neuropsychological assessment, cognitive rehabilitation, and research. Pediatric Neuropsychology - Children's Health Care of Atlanta: Neuropsychological assessment. All positions include direct service, research and scholarship, the conduct of supervision, and professional development activities. START DATE IS FLEXIBLE FROM JULY THROUGH THIRD MONDAY IN SEPTEMBER.

Program Description
2000 hour postdoctoral fellowship at Georgia State University Counseling Center balances individual, group, and couples therapy with outreach, supervision of practicum students, program development, outreach teaching. Full-time position assumes 22 hours of direct contact per week and a 44 hour week. Fellows may teach one Freshmen Orientation class in the fall semester. Fellows also have the option of serving on the Alcohol and Other Drugs Treatment Team and developing a AOD subspecialty. Culturally informed, use of self as instrument supervision model is emphasized. Nontraditional as well as traditional diverse students seek services. Client issues often include trauma histories. Postdocs participate in supervision of supervision seminars, attend faculty meetings, and may engage with staff in on-going diversity dialogues facilitated by an outside consultant or senior staff member. The Counseling Center’s orientation and training programs all stress cultural competency and use of self as instrument to further the learning process. Fellows supervise 2 practicum students, co-lead at least one of 10 interpersonal groups, treat individual clients and couples, participate as Housing liaisons, Safe Zone, stress management and suicide response/education presenters, lead intercultural dialogue groups and other outreach experiences on campus.

Program Description

"PLEASE CONTACT PROGRAM FOR UPDATED INFORMATION" The primary purpose of the Psychology Postdoctoral Training Program at RWSIR is to prepare fellows to function autonomously as licensed psychologists in a medical, rehabilitation, or vocational setting. While there is a neuropsychological component to the postdoc, it is designed as a postdoc in rehabilitation psychology. The experiences and training available are primarily clinical. The primary goal of the program is to provide more intensive and advanced training in the practice of psychology with medical and vocational rehabilitation patients in order that fellows will develop a professional identity that is appropriate for a psychologist working within a multidisciplinary treatment team environment. We encourage a collegial relationship between psychology staff and fellows, where the primary difference between the two is breadth and depth of knowledge and experience. Fellows are encouraged to assume clinical responsibilities at the level that their skills and experience allows. Psychologists at the Roosevelt Institute are committed to training and mentoring and are responsible for providing adequate supervision and to be accessible mentors for postdoctoral fellows. Fellows are provided with opportunities to serve both in the Medical Rehabilitation Unit (MRU) and the Vocational Rehabilitation Unit (VRU). They are required to work in each of the following three areas: 1) Neurological Rehabilitation Program, 2) Orthopedic Rehabilitation Program, and 3) Vocational Rehabilitation Unit. The fellow will provide psychotherapy and psychological assessment. The fellow will maintain a long-term therapy caseload and provide psychological assessment throughout the year in the VRU. In the MRU, the fellow will spend half the year in the Neurological Rehabilitation Program and half the year in the Orthopedic Rehabilitation Program. See http://www.rooseveltrehab.org/psychologypostdoc.asp for a more detailed description.

Program Description
The Kapi'olani Child Protection Center's Post-Doctoral Psychology Fellowship Training Program was started in 1992 to provide specialty training in child clinical psychology with an emphasis in child maltreatment. The training program is part of KCPC's Training Institute, which includes Pediatric Residency training, Nurse Specialist training, Social Work Practicum, University of Hawaii Law Student Training and the Argosy University-Hawaii clinical psychology graduate practicum training. The program offers the opportunity to work in a multidisciplinary setting with multicultural families. The program provides 2,000 hours of supervised training within a one year period. Meets requirements for licensure in Hawaii & most States. Training on areas includes: Comprehensive psychological evaluations and report writing. Supervisors and Center Director observe initial psychological evaluations, provide feedback and supervise interpretation and report writing. Fellows complete an average of eight to ten child or adult comprehensive evaluations per month, focused on the impact of child maltreatment, parenting abilities and treatment/service planning. Referrals are screened and assigned according to increasing complexity throughout the training year. Psychotherapy training is ongoing throughout the training year. Intakes are presented weekly and cases are assigned with increasing complexity. Training in Family therapy for reunification with biological parents and Parent Child Interaction Therapy is also provided. Fellows participate with supervisors as co-therapists for group therapy. Case loads average six to eight clients per week. Case consultation training in working with Child Welfare Services Workers, Guardians Ad Litem, foster parents, school counselors, etc. Special training in mentoring children in foster care, substance abuse, expert testimony, psychopharmacology, diversity, etc. Supervision of Peer Mentors & Psychology Practicum Students.

Program Description

CONTACT PROGRAM This APA-accredited Post-Doctoral Fellowship in Clinical Psychology is designed to provide education, supervised clinical experiences, research, and program development opportunities directly related to post-traumatic stress, with a focus on US Veterans of war and their families. A special emphasis is additionally placed on ethnocultural factors in the understanding and treatment of trauma-related disorders among Native Hawaiian/Pacific Islanders, Asian Americans, and other underserved populations. Other emphases include Active Duty military populations, non-combat trauma, women’s health, use of telehealth and technology, resilience, and early intervention/prevention intervention. The training is centered at the Pacific Islands Division of the National Center for PTSD. The Center provides comprehensive education on trauma-related disorders, including PTSD, acute stress disorder, child sexual abuse, complex trauma, and other comorbid disorders. A Fellow’s typical training plan may include three days of clinical work at the Honolulu VA, one day of research activities, and one day for didactics, individual supervision, and group supervision. Primary clinical activities take place at the Honolulu Veterans Affairs Medical Center. Secondary rotations may be available at neighbor island VA clinics, with Active Duty populations at Tripler Army Medical Center or local military bases, and with community populations at state mental health clinics. Applicants must be US citizens, and prior to beginning the Fellowship must have completed an APA-accredited doctoral program in clinical or counseling psychology and an APA-accredited predoctoral internship. The program length is one year. Inquiries should be emailed to Julia M. Whealin, Ph.D., Deputy Director for Education, at julia.whealin@med.va.gov, or mailed to the National Center for PTSD, 1132 Bishop Street, Suite 307, Honolulu, Hawaii 96813. Application materials become available in December.

Additionally, each fellow completes intensive specialty training in Clinical Health Psychology, Child/Pediatric Psychology or Clinical Neuropsychology. The APA Model Psychopharmacology Training Program, the Ethics Seminar Series, weekly Core Seminars, and multi-specialty case conferences are included in the core training curriculum. Workshops by Visiting Distinguished Professors, graduate-level training in psychopharmacology, and contributing to the scientific underpinnings of clinical practice. An intensive learning experience is provided through our core curriculum. Working from a scientist-practitioner model, our two-year program is structured to produce psychologists who are capable of understanding, appreciating, and contributing to the scientific underpinnings of clinical practice.

Program Description
The Tripler post-doctoral fellowship in Clinical Psychology strives to provide each postdoctoral fellow with advanced training and specialty expertise. Working from a scientist-practitioner model, our two-year program is structured to produce psychologists who are capable of understanding, appreciating, and contributing to the scientific underpinnings of clinical practice. An intensive learning experience is provided through our core curriculum.

The core training curriculum includes workshops by Visiting Distinguished Professors, graduate-level training in psychopharmacology consistent with the APA Model Psychopharmacology Training Program, the Ethics Seminar Series, weekly Core Seminars, and multi-specialty case conferences. Additionally, each fellow completes intensive specialty training in Clinical Health Psychology, Child/Pediatric Psychology or Clinical Neuropsychology. Fellows in each specialty area train to national standards if such are available. The training program is housed at Tripler Army Medical Center, a major teaching hospital, with residency and fellowship programs in a variety of medical disciplines. Both Tripler and the co-located VA Medical Center have APA accredited predoctoral internship/residency programs. This setting provides a rich environment for training and learning.

Faculty of the Department of Psychology participate in ongoing programs of research in pediatric oncology, ADHD, telehealth, tobacco cessation, weight management, pain management, biofeedback, memory disorders, virtual reality, etc. Fellows complete research of publishable quality in these or other areas of interest. Fellows receive training from faculty from various other disciplines including neurology, psychiatry, endocrinology, oncology, and pediatrics, and learn to work closely with physician colleagues. Please see our webpage for further information regarding our program.

Program Description
The Isaac Ray Center, Inc. (IRC) offers two (2) one-year post-doctoral fellowships in Clinical Psychology. The program is a twelve-month, forty-hour week experience (2000 hours), providing the necessary post-doctoral hours required for licensure to practice psychology independently in the State of Illinois. The program is designed to provide a variety of clinical and didactic training experiences in preparation for autonomous, professional practice. The program is based upon a practitioner-scholar model offering hands-on experience complemented by knowledge of relevant psychological science. Graduates of this program are competent to work in numerous settings that may include public institutions such as jails, prisons, mental health clinics and forensic centers, as well as private practice and academic settings. The fellowship program allows for training with a variety of patients, problems, and treatment teams. Our philosophy is to provide a broad array of experiences for our fellows rather than any specialized training. They work in different areas of the jail and provide assessment and treatment to detainees with acute and chronic needs. They also provide assessment, intervention, and consultation to a variety of multidisciplinary teams. Fellows also have the flexibility to engage in program development and pursue specific clinical interests. The psychology staff of the Isaac Ray Center, within the Department of Mental Health Services of the Cook County Department of Corrections, administers the fellowship program.

Program Description
The program is supported by the departments of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences and the Cognitive Neurology and Alzheimer's Disease Center at Northwestern University Medical School. Neuropsychology also has a graduate level training program within the Clinical Psychology division at the medical school. This provides opportunities for teaching and clinical supervision of graduate students. The goal of training is to provide fellows with advanced skills in clinical evaluation and diagnosis and in short-term treatment aimed at patient and caregiver education; to provide research opportunities; to provide teaching and supervision opportunities with graduate students and visiting scholars. A pervasive theme within the program is the importance of multidisciplinary cooperation at all levels - clinical, research, and academic. To this end, neuropsychology fellows participate in joint academic and research activities with fellows and staff from other disciplines, including neurology, psychiatry, social work, and basic and cognitive neuroscience. One to two postdoctoral fellowships in clinical neuropsychology are offered annually or every two years depending on availability of funding. Clinical responsibilities consist of inpatient evaluations of adults with a range of disorders including dementia, stroke, epilepsy, neoplasm, traumatic brain injury and psychiatric disorders. Outpatient experience is in a multidisciplinary clinical/academic unit specializing in behavioral neurology and dementia. Research areas include Alzheimer's disease and other dementias (primary progressive aphasia, frontotemporal dementia), apraxia, attention, and language. Opportunities to work with the Human Brain Mapping group using functional magnetic resonance imaging are available. Direct supervision is provided by Sandra Weintraub, PhD, Robert Hanlon, PhD, Nancy Johnson, PhD, Suzanne Musil, PhD and Beth Borosh, PhD. See website: www.brain.northwestern.edu.
Connection’s Day School

Connection’s Day School is a private therapeutic day school, founded in 1998, that serves high-risk children and adolescents in Lake County who require an alternative school program that is both educational and therapeutic. CDS utilizes therapeutic, educational, family and community connections to facilitate social/emotional well-being, academic achievement and personal growth. CDS Staff Members employ a variety of methods to help students make academic progress, and develop and/or improve their coping and social skills. By utilizing a combination of respect, humor, empathy, and kindness balanced with firmness (i.e., maintaining high expectations and ensuring that students adhere to rules, boundaries and limitations), Staff Members are able to establish and maintain supportive, nurturing relationships with our students. In turn, these relationships can help the students be more open to learning the life skills required for long-term success.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities

Our Post-Doctoral Fellows serve as Secondary Supervisors to our 2 Pre-Doctoral Interns and 4 Psychotherapeutic Externs. In the past 4 years that we have provided this training opportunity, our Fellows, Interns and Externs have reported that it has been an extremely valuable learning experience.

By utilizing a combination of respect, humor, empathy, and kindness balanced with firmness (i.e., maintaining high expectations and ensuring that students adhere to rules, boundaries and limitations), Staff Members are able to establish and maintain supportive, nurturing relationships with our students. In turn, these relationships can help the students be more open to learning the life skills required for long-term success. We are seeking highly-motivated individuals, who have experience working with challenging young people, and are interested in being an active part of our dynamic clinical staff. Please contact Dr. Pollina to receive more detailed information about Connection’s Day School, the Post-Doctoral Fellowship Program and application requirements.

APPLICATION NOTE: Please do not send any application materials under separate cover—all materials should be contained within the same envelope.

INTERVIEW NOTE: Each candidate who is granted an interview will have her/his photo taken at the beginning of the interview. The purpose of this photo is to give every candidate an equal place in Dr. Pollina’s recollection, regardless of the date of his/her interview. This photo will be utilized exclusively for the purpose of Post-Doctoral Fellow selection at Connection’s Day School and will be destroyed at the end of this selection process.

Program Description

The counseling or clinical psychology post-doctoral fellowship is a full-time 12-month temporary position beginning August 3, 2009. It is designed for advanced training and supervised practice to prepare an individual for a staff psychologist position in a university counseling service. Duties include 2000 hours of supervised practice professional psychology activity within the counseling service and also with special assignment to athletic department including athlete referrals, biofeedback, team and individual consults, performance enhancement class, psychological support for injury rehabilitation. Kansas State University Counseling Services is a comprehensive counseling service located in a comfortable, attractive facility. We have an interdisciplinary staff including counselors, psychologists, psychology interns, and a psychiatrist. We are an APA accredited training site for pre-doctoral psychology interns and a practicum site for students in a counselor education program. The service includes an alcohol and other drug prevention program, a stress management/biofeedback laboratory, and a career development program that include credit classes. The mission of the service is to support the educational goals of students through the process of decision-making, crisis intervention, and personal skill building. Education and prevention are a major part of the agency purpose. While students are seen and evaluated with a wide range of student concerns, those requiring intensive, long-term treatment may be referred to outside agencies. Kansas State University is a land grant institution of 23,000 students in Manhattan, KS a city of 45,000 in the beautiful Kansas Flint Hills. There are abundant recreational, cultural and educational activities in the area. Kansas State University is an equal opportunity employer and actively seeks diversity among its employees.

Program Description

The Lovick C. Miller Fellowship in Pediatric/Clinical Child Psychology allows the postdoctoral fellow to develop an individually tailored experience in a multidisciplinary pediatric and child psychiatric setting. Extensive experience is available with pediatric patient populations via the Pediatric Consultation/Liaison Service with Kosair Children's Hospital and other area hospitals in the U of L HSC system. Patients with chronic illness and serious medical problems (cystic fibrosis, childhood cancer including bone marrow transplantation, chronic fatigue syndrome, fibromyalgia, juvenile diabetes, heart transplantation, traumatic injury, brain injury, burns, etc.) are routinely seen on this service, with opportunity for outpatient involvement. Clinical populations available include outpatient children and adolescents seen through the facilities of the Bingham Clinic, the fourth oldest such facility in the country (established in 1913). This includes individual and group therapy with youth as well as parent involvement through group and individual modalities. Patients with more severe psychopathology are seen through both the Keller Partial Hospitalization Program and the Ackerly Child and Adolescent Psychiatric Inpatient Service. Clinical experiences include assessment and therapy from a variety of modalities and case consulta-

Program Description

"CONTACT PROGRAM FOR CURRENT INFORMATION" The Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in Pediatric Psychology is designed to provide trainees with assessment and therapy experiences that are consistent with the professional expectations of a pediatric/child clinical psychologist. The goals of the fellowship are to familiarize the trainee with pediatric populations, to introduce assessment and therapy techniques that are relevant to and adapted for the acutely or chronically ill child. The fellowship is also designed to provide experience working with child and adolescent outpatient populations and their families, and to promote professional development through experience within an interdisciplinary model. A mentoring model of training is followed and consists of assigning the Fellow to one primary supervisor for the entire year, with additional supervision provided by staff involved in the trainee's specialty rotations. In addition to verbal feedback, training will consist of observation and modeling from staff in clinical settings. Fellows will receive at least two hours of individual supervision and one hour of group supervision on a weekly basis throughout the fellowship year. The supervision provided meets post-doctoral supervision requirements for licensure by APPIC and the Louisiana State Board of Examiners of Psychologists. A competitive stipend is provided for the 12-month fellowship position. The hospital also provides a full benefits package for the fellow. Applicants should send a letter stating their interests and goals, a current vita, and 3 letters of recommendation.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities
We offer and implement advanced training in the areas of Clinical Psychology and Clinical Neuropsychology, with a rural psychology emphasis. In the process of rebuilding a formal research program, we identify with and conceptualize from a scientist-practitioner model. Clinical Psychology training provides an emphasis in Posttraumatic Stress Disorder/Mental Health. Clinical Neuropsychology training provides an emphasis in Geriatric Neuropsychology. At the postdoctoral level, we aim to train ethical and morally grounded, culturally aware clinical psychologists and neuropsychologists with advanced competency in thoughtful development and application of evidence-based psychological assessment, treatment, and consultation skills for the benefit of persons and organizations, particularly within a rural environment. Training consists of 2080 hours with concurrent training experiences in at least three different treatment settings. We are located on spacious wooded grounds five miles east of Augusta, the state capital of Maine. The Clinical Psychology resident trains in the PTSD Intensive Outpatient Program, as well as the PTSD Clinical Team, Inpatient Unit and Adult Primary Care Team. The Clinical Neuropsychology resident trains in the Neuropsychology Clinic, as well as the Nursing Home, SCI Clinic, and Inpatient C/L.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities:

Program Description:
The Department of Behavioral Psychology provides clinical services to a variety of pediatric populations with learning, behavioral and developmental disabilities. The Department's philosophy is that the principles and procedures of behavioral science form the basis for effective and ethical clinical services. Fellows typically elect to develop their expertise through advanced training in one or two clinical services under the direction of an identified mentor(s). Specific training opportunities include hospital consultation in severe behavior disorders, family therapy, pervasive developmental disorders, autism, and pediatric feeding disorders in both outpatient and inpatient programs. Research participation is strongly encouraged and typically integrated into clinical experience. Fellows have the opportunity to work with their mentor to tailor the training experiences to meet their needs with regard to clinical, supervisory, research, and didactic training. Fellows complete their 12-month training in one clinic, rather than completing rotations across clinics. Applicants are encouraged to specify the clinic(s) in which they are interested. Please note, we require a background check prior to final acceptance into our postdoctoral fellowship program.

Program Description
The program offers positions within four areas of emphasis:* Center for Integrative Psychotherapy: In collaboration with the Director of Training, the two residents will assume primary administrative and program development responsibility within the Center. Residents will engage in one particular area of interest. * Interdisciplinary Psychosocial Rehabilitation: Residents will train in two primary psychosocial rehabilitation venues, and will also become actively involved in program development and educational dissemination activities. * Primary Care: Residents will fully participate in all aspects of our integrated primary care behavioral health program. In addition, residents will also be a part of a collaborative training program with the Univ. of Massachusetts School of Medicine. * Neuropsychology: Within this 2-year residency position, the resident will engage in neuropsychological assessment along with supervision of neuropsychology interns and practicum students. The resident will also spend one full day per week at the Alzheimer's Disease Center, where a range of research opportunities and clinical work are available. The training program involves an integration of professional activity and training from four primary domains: clinical; program development and administration; supervision and teaching; and research. All residents train in the provision of psychotherapy supervision to practicum students, provide both individual and group psychotherapy, engage in research or program evaluation, become involved in program development and administration, and present professional development seminars to psychology interns and hospital staff. The resident is afforded considerable flexibility regarding training experiences and clinical focus.

- Program Description

All requirements (clinical, academic, administrative) for the doctoral degree must be completed prior to September 1st and verified before July 1, 2008. Training Programs: The fellowship consists of 2 APA accredited Training Programs: one in Clinical Psychology and one in Neuropsychology. We offer training in the following tracks: CLINICAL PSYCHOLOGY - 1 year positions: Geropsychology; Integrated Mental Health in Primary Care and Suicide Prevention; PTSD; Substance Abuse Treatment Program; Returning Veterans and Substance Use; and Medical Psychology; NEURO-PSYCHOLOGY (2 years): Geniatric/Polytrauma and Rehabilitation, Philosophy and Mission: The mission of the Postdoctoral Fellowship Training Program of the Boston Consortium in Clinical Psychology is to produce independently functioning psychologists. Our model for training entails four core components: (1) To identify, respect, and nurture the unique personal attributes that the Fellow brings to his or her work with patients, by providing an environment with support and guidance through supervision and collaboration with faculty actively working in the field; (2) To encourage and model a scientist-practitioner approach to professional psychology, wherein empirically-informed knowledge informs psychological assessment and intervention with children and adults and wherein questions arising from clinical practice drive research endeavors; (3) To provide a range of training settings and experiences that allow Fellows to develop a breadth of expertise in psychological practice, as well as options for developing more specific interests in depth; (4) To provide training in multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary care environments in which the Fellow develops confidence as a local mental health expert who collaborates effectively with a range of providers in the context of a large medical care system. We are an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to excellence through diversity.

Program Description
The Mental Health Service of the Harvard University Health Services offers full-time post-doctoral fellowships in clinical or counseling psychology to start September 1. The multidisciplinary staff of more than forty clinicians serves an extremely diverse population of students, staff, faculty and their family members. All students are eligible for services, as are those faculty and staff members (and their dependents) who select Harvard University Group Health Plan (HUGHP) as their HMO; fellows conduct evaluations and therapy with currently registered students and their dependents. The staff is augmented by consultants who are available to provide additional supervision. Supervision in dynamic psychotherapy and cognitive/behavioral therapy (either or both) is provided. Training opportunities in couples, DBT, CBT and group therapy are also available. Sixty percent of the fellow’s week is direct patient care, the majority of which is short-term therapy; caseloads are typically 30-40 clients per week. Some weekly, ongoing therapy cases are available; two to four clients per week. The remainder of time in the fellowship is comprised of supervision and seminars with different modules addressing eating disorders, DBT/CBT, couples therapy, and ADHD. There is a weekly lecture series of invited professionals from the Greater Boston mental health community as well. While there may be only two psychology fellows in any given year, there are two to four other fellows comprised of part-time psychiatric residents and social workers. Please submit the following information by January 10th to Maureen Rezendes, Ph.D.: curriculum vita, letter of interest, letters of recommendation from three current or recent supervisors, a letter from a faculty member outlining your current status in your doctoral program, and an original transcript.

Program Description

The Clinical Psychology Training Program prepares Post-Doctoral Fellows in Psychology to understand and treat persons suffering with a broad spectrum of emotional distress, using a scholar-practitioner model. With close faculty-trainee interaction, we provide a solid grounding in treatment and assessment that takes into account ethnic and cultural influences. We also teach Fellows to integrate a variety of treatment modalities while working with persons with an array of psychological problems, including persons diagnosed with major mental illness and severe personality disorders. A distinctive feature of our program is that Psychology Fellows can pursue a wide variety of individual specialty interests in the context of a fellowship program that emphasizes growth as a professional clinical psychologist. All Fellows meet together weekly in a Professional Development Seminar, which includes such topics as providing supervision, teaching in both medical and academic settings, writing for publication, obtaining grants and conducting research, licensing procedures and legal and ethical issues for the psychologist. Fellows are evaluated by supervisors and training directors twice yearly, and the program follows the Cambridge Health Alliance's due process and grievance procedures. There are currently eight different Psychology Fellowship options available. They are: 1. Neuropsychology (Adult or Child) 2 yr outpatient. 2. Clinical Psychology (Behavioral Medicine Clinic). 3. Clinical Psychology (Child Adolescent Acute Services). 4. Clinical Psychology (Couples and Family Clinic). 5. Clinical Psychology (Cultural-linguistic Clinics: Latino, Portuguese, Asian or Haitian). 6. Clinical Psychology (MIT Mental Health Inpatient or Cultural Linguistic Clinic). 7. Clinical Psychology (Program for Psychotherapy) 2 year requirement. 8. Clinical Psychology (Victims of Violence Program). 724

Program Description

The fellowship is designed to provide postdoctoral fellows with a training experience that is first, concentrated on deepening their diagnostic and clinical skills, and second, representative of university mental health practice today. We are a relatively large counseling service, highly utilized on this campus of over 14,000 students. In this setting fellows are actively engaged in the varied roles and functions of our work: evaluation and treatment of students; crisis and emergency response; consultation; and outreach programming. Boston College (BC) students are diverse and talented.

At an institutional level, BC is invested in the integration of students’ intellectual development with their personal formation. This makes for a psychologically rich population with which a fellow can explore closely and intensively the practice of psychotherapy. A fellow’s clinical work and individual supervision, which are the core of his/her training, are embedded in the more encompassing experience of being part of a clinical staff that is committed and thoughtful in its work.

In formulating client difficulties, we emphasize psychodynamic, developmental, and culturally sensitive approaches. Formal training functions include individual supervision (3 hrs weekly); case conference; a didactic and experiential seminar on diversity and other clinical issues; a professional practice seminar; and administrative participation. Distinct features of this advanced training experience include: 1) fellows generally advance their formulation and treatment-planning skills significantly; 2) they learn psychotherapy process with a particular class of clients who are high-functioning while also very troubled diagnostically; and 3) they develop a practical understanding of the intersections of psychopathology with developmental forces. This is an eleven-month fellowship.
MASSACHUSETTS / Stockbridge
—— Postdoctoral Training Program ——

The Austen Riggs Center

The Austen Riggs Center is a JCAHO-accredited not-for-profit private psychiatric hospital and residential treatment center with 72 patients and 26 full-time Ph.D. and M.D. staff. Situated on Main St. in the Berkshire Hills town of Stockbridge, the Center has maintained an open setting for over 85 years in which patients collaborate in all aspects of treatment. A psycho-social treatment model, drawing on the work done at Riggs by Erik Erikson and other psychoanalysts, includes four times weekly intensive psychotherapy, groups, medication, activities, and family work in the context of an active therapeutic community of examined living. A full range of assessment, including diagnostic psychological testing, is provided to each patient. At least ten hours per week are devoted to seminars, supervision, and case conferences. Research opportunities are available and presentations at national meetings are encouraged and fully supported. We offer a two-plus-two year post-doctoral Fellowship/Advanced Fellowship emphasizing intensive psychoanalytic psychotherapy in a therapeutic community program setting.

Program Description

"PLEASE CONTACT PROGRAM FOR UPDATED INFORMATION" Our Post-Doctoral Fellowship is a twelve-month, full-time experience, with the possibility of renewal for a second year. (Full Michigan licensure requires 4000 post-doctoral hours.) Our curriculum provides advanced training and clinical experience in multiculturally sensitive services to university students with a wide range of developmental issues and mental health concerns. Our practitioner-scholar training program offers hands-on experience, complemented by access to and knowledge of relevant psychological science. Within the context of our multicultural, multidisciplinary, and multitheoretical setting, our aim is to support entry-level professionals as they get ready for licensure, and to prepare them to move with competence, creativity and flexibility into professional positions in a range of settings, with a focus on counseling center practice. Post-Doctoral Fellows provide service in intake evaluation; individual counseling and psychotherapy (both brief and longer when appropriate); crisis intervention and emergency services; third party consultation; outreach; program development; group interventions (structured, semi-structured or process groups); and supervision of practicum students. Opportunities are available to make use of the MMP-II, the MCMI-III, the NEO PI-R and NEO-FFI, and to conduct interview assessment of substance use and eating issues. Fellows may also serve on agency committees, In addition, Post-Doctoral Fellows will choose an area of specialization. Examples include but are not limited to: 1. Administration (clinical, training, or outreach); 2. Clinical Practice (eating disorders; multicultural counseling; or sexual assault); 3. Outreach (to specific campus communities, campus substance abuse network and/or general); 4. Clinical Scholarship/Research; Additional program information and learning supports are described on our web site: www.umich.edu/~caps."

Program Description:
The University of Michigan Institute for Human Adjustment Postdoctoral Fellowship Training Program is designed to provide advanced training in professional psychology to qualified postdoctoral psychologists. Training is based in the Psychological Clinic, a multidisciplinary training-focused adult outpatient center with a welcoming and supportive atmosphere. The training prepares fellows for licensure in the State of Michigan (or any other state with similar requirements) through a one year full time program that provides robust, advanced training in many key professional competencies (two year option is available if desired). These competencies include assessment and diagnosis, intervention including individual and couples therapy, consultation and interdisciplinary collaboration, multicultural competencies, clinical teaching and supervision, research, professional development, ethics, and leadership/administrative skills. These competencies are enhanced through direct clinical service with supervision from expert clinicians, participation in seminars and clinical meetings and conferences, participation in research meetings and projects, consultation with other professionals outside the Clinic, teaching of seminars to psychology interns and social work students, supervision of clinical work conducted by social work students, and participation in the Clinic’s senior staff meetings and workgroups.
Leader and Clinical Settings

The program consists of a core professional development curriculum and graduated research and clinical training experiences over two years in the areas of Clinical Adult Psychology (APA Accreditation), Clinical Child Psychology (APA Specialty Accreditation), and Clinical Neuropsychology (APA Specialty Accreditation). The core curriculum exposes fellows to cutting edge topics in psychology and health care, and enhances fellows' understanding of medical/legal issues, ethical dilemmas, career development, EPPP, grant writing skills and sensitivity to cultural diversity. The Clinical Adult Psychology track focuses on depression, anxiety, and clinical outcome, and emphasizes scientific behaviorism and learning theory. Fellows are expected to become knowledgeable about and to employ empirically supported interventions for the treatment of self-management and self-regulation disorders, anxiety, depression, and various other psychiatric conditions. The Clinical Child & Adolescent Psychology specialty track emphasizes the developmental and social contexts of child psychopathology, and the use of empirically validated assessments and interventions. Fellows gain expertise in diagnosis, assessment, and treatment of children with a wide range of psychological difficulties. They also participate in clinical research and prepare to function as independent, programmatic researchers. The Neuropsychology specialty track participates in the APPCN match process for matching applicants. This track provides advanced training in the application of knowledge of brain-behavior relationships and Clinical Psychology for the benefit of patients suffering from disorder, disease, or injury to the central nervous system. It will prepare fellows for eventual board certification in Clinical Neuropsychology.

Program Description
As the first program in the nation to be specialty accredited in Clinical Health Psychology by the American Psychological Association (APA), we are pleased to offer a 24 month long postdoctoral residency in association with Michigan State University/Flint Area Medical Education (MSU/FAME), and the three area affiliated teaching hospitals - Genesys Regional Medical Center, Hurley Medical Center, and McLaren Regional Medical Center. Within each of these institutions consortium faculty and fellows provide clinical and didactic teaching to a variety of medical residency training programs, medical student programs, and allied health programs. Consistent with experts in the field of health psychology, the residency works toward the goal of training professional psychologists in general knowledge and skills as well as specific proficiencies and competencies. The common training elements of the residency programs include: Group Supervision (2 hrs./week), Individual Supervision, a year long Psychopharmacology curriculum, a Pathophysiology course, a Seminar Series (3 hrs./week), Continuing Medical Education lectures, Grand Rounds, noon conferences, and visiting guest lecturers. Upon graduation, fellows are ready to assume leadership roles in Clinical Health Psychology and medical education. Their training prepares them to be effective collaborators with physicians and allied health personnel, to understand the culture and language of medicine, to be able to design and implement effective education programs which incorporate sound psychological constructs.

Program Description
We have two different postdoctoral fellowships. One is in human sexuality and the other is in behavioral medicine. There is opportunity for some fellows to have a split fellowship if desired. This is a two-year full-time fellowship with an outstanding faculty and extensive supervision provided. The emphasis is on clinical experience and training, however there is a required research or scholarly project requirement as well. The human sexuality fellowship is offered through the Center for Sexual Health which is an outpatient clinic which treats a variety of sexual disorders and dysfunctions (average 1200 patient visits per month). This is an ideal fellowship for someone who is interested in developing a career in sex therapy, teaching, and research or adding this specialization to their training and experience. Our patients have a number of comorbid Axis I and Axis II diagnoses, so there is ample opportunity to learn to manage a myriad of psychiatric problems as well as treatment of sexual dysfunctions and disorders. The Program in Human Sexuality is one of the premier sexuality programs in the country with an internationally renowned faculty. We anticipate adding four fellows to our current group of 5 postdoctoral fellows in 2009. The behavioral medicine fellowship is offered through one or two of our family practice clinics which are training sites for family practice residents. The Department of Family Medicine and Community Health is one of the largest departments in the country with a very strong behavioral medicine emphasis. This is an excellent opportunity to be involved in behavioral medicine in a busy outpatient family practice clinic serving an ethnically diverse and urban client population. The fellows are also involved in the behavioral medicine teaching component of the residency training program. We have one fellow completing in 2009 and anticipate adding one new fellow in September or throughout 2009.

Program Description

The two-year American Psychological Association (APA) Accredited Postdoctoral Medical Psychology Fellowship Program at Mayo Clinic Rochester, is designed for recent graduates of an APA-Accredited Clinical or Counseling Psychology Doctoral Program and an APA-Accredited Predoctoral Psychology Internship who wish to acquire specialty training in one of three Substantive Specialty Practice Programs offered in this fellowship: Clinical Child Psychology, Clinical Health Psychology, Clinical Neuropsychology. The three accredited fellowship Substantive Specialty Practice Programs are designed to complement your background and provide more in-depth training in your chosen specialty area. You will be admitted to one of our three practice programs in the fellowship. In each specialty, you will receive advanced training in assessment, psychodiagnostics, research methodology and evidence-based practice. Clinical Child Psychology: clinical training and research in pediatric psychology (chronic medical conditions such as diabetes, pain, POTS, chronic illness and elimination disorders), clinical child psychology (anxiety disorders, eating disorders, mood disorders, and externalizing disorders) and pediatric neuropsychology in outpatient and inpatient treatment settings. Clinical Health Psychology: Clinical and research specialization in the evaluation, treatment and study of: anxiety disorders, chronic disease self-management, obesity and bariatric surgery, pain management, primary care psychology, and psycho-oncology. Clinical Neuropsychology: Clinical training in diagnostic neuropsychology evaluations of a wide range of neurological, medical, and psychiatric conditions; patient and outpatient rehabilitation of patients with epilepsy, spinal cord injury, multiple sclerosis, dementia, stroke and traumatic brain injury. Member of APPCN.

Program Description
The Psychology Department at State Operated Forensic Services (SOFS) offers a post-doctoral fellowship program for professionals interested in gaining expertise in the area of forensic evaluation. SOFS is comprised of secure inpatient psychiatric facilities. Patients come to SOFS on an involuntary basis, sometimes being committed by the courts for evaluation or treatment. SOFS also serves as a statewide treatment facility for persons found not guilty or unable to stand trial by reason of mental illness. SOFS serves a patient population that is both clinically and demographically quite diverse. Our patients have a very wide range of diagnoses, covering virtually all the major categories of the DSM-IV-TR. SOFS consists of eleven programs and fellows may serve as evaluators in any of these programs. The primary goal of our training program is to prepare the fellow to be an expert in forensic practice capable of independent practice. To meet that end, the fellowship is an academic environment with a focus on forensic literature and test methods. We provide a multitude of training opportunities through didactic exercises, weekly case law study, case conferences, literature reviews, and close supervision of all aspects of the completion of a variety of forensic cases. The training at SOFS will be professionally challenging. The selected fellow(s) will observe and participate in all aspects of the forensic evaluation process, including interviewing defendants, making collateral contacts, administering and interpreting specialized forensic instruments (e.g., malingering assessments), and writing clear and concise reports that address the Court's referral questions. The fellow may also be called upon to testify throughout the fellowship year. The requirements of the fellowship fulfill the requirements for licensure in the state of Minnesota.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities
Mental Health: general mental health, substance abuse, PTSD, treatment. Inpatient and outpatient experiences in mental health and substance abuse are available. In addition, some introductory experiences in neuropsychology, rehabilitation psychology, and health psychology may be available. The philosophy of training at the KCVAMC is best described as a "scholar-practitioner" model. The training experiences have a strong clinical focus. However, knowledge and use of empirically supported processes and interventions are expected and encouraged in all aspects of the program. At the end of the program, residents will be prepared to function autonomously as practicing clinical or counseling psychologists in a broad range of applied, teaching, and research settings. Applicants must have completed an APA accredited doctoral program in clinical or counseling psychology, including an APA accredited internship, prior to the residency start date. We especially encourage applications from students with knowledge and experience in diversity issues. Applicants are required to have a strong interest in mental health issues and treatment with long-term goals to provide service and contribute to this area in psychology. In addition, residents must be interested in studying and utilizing different theoretical orientations in their clinical work including cognitive, psychodynamic, and existential-humanistic. Candidates must be citizens of the United States.

Program Description

The mission of the postdoctoral residency is to provide a structured training program designed to develop advanced competency in clinical practice and program evaluation. The resident will be required to spend part of their time in specific research and program evaluation activities and part in providing direct services. The primary theoretical orientation of Burrell clinicians is cognitive-behavioral, but most would describe themselves as eclectic. Clinical area options include medical psychology; child or adult treatment in inpatient and/or outpatient environments. Residency will be offered in the Southwest and Central Missouri areas.

Program Description
Apply for one of three clinical tracks: 1) Anxiety Disorders Center, 2) Dual Program: Psychology and Religion/Eating Disorders Program or 3) Health Psychology (pending funding). Anxiety disorders work is done primarily in the context of a cognitive behavioral intensive outpatient program for people with severe anxiety disorders. Anxiety Disorders Center residents are provided ongoing training in evidence-based treatments for Anxiety Disorders. The Dual Program resident works with both the Psychology and Religion team (providing Treatment of Obesity with Religious Professionals, integrated spirituality and evidence-based practice, and Assessment of Fitness for Ministry) and the Eating Disorders team (conducting cognitive behavioral treatment for adolescents/young adults in the intensive outpatient program.) The Health Psychology resident trains in a primary care medicine practice affiliated with St. Louis University Health Sciences Center, screening medical patients for psychological issues, consulting with medical and support staff, providing staff education, triaging patients, and providing short term psychotherapeutic interventions including health behavior promotion. Appointments are for 1 year with possible renewal for an additional year. In general, training in most programs follows a clinical preceptship model with two hours of individual supervision per week, plus seminars and group/peer supervision. Requirements include APA-accredited doctorate degree and internship completed. Submit application form and send 3 letters of reference, copies of relevant publications, CV, and graduate transcript. Application forms and program description may be found at www.slbmi.com. Application deadline March 5; selections made by March 15 or until filled. An Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Program Description
Two year intensive scientist-practitioner training within a rehabilitation research center housed in the Department of Rehabilitation Medicine, Mount Sinai School of Medicine in NY. Fellowships are federally funded positions under several NIDRR and a CDC grant focused on Traumatic Brain Injury Interventions. Fellows spend 80% of their time working closely with a multidisciplinary team of renowned clinical researchers completing ongoing research intervention studies. Opportunities include collaboration with the team to develop, implement, evaluate and disseminate clinical rehabilitation interventions focused on group cognitive remediation for executive dysfunctions, cognitive behavioral therapy for depression, evaluation of the benefits of exercise and/or complete evidence based reviews. Fellows will spend 20% time in direct clinical service delivery reflective of their prior clinical training. Intensive research and clinical didactics are provided each week. Each fellow will complete an individual research project under mentoring provided by senior clinician researchers. Fellows will be involved in teaching within the department’s APA internship program. Fellows will participate in NIH, hospital based trainings and workshops to round out their research expertise.

Program Description

The basis of the UCC postdoctoral training program is an apprenticeship model which promotes the independent practice of the fellow to competently perform in positions in which advanced level psychologists function. To this end, the fellowship is tailored to accomplish the following four objectives: 1) Add to clinical competencies already established by rounding out training (e.g., increasing one's depth and breadth of brief treatment); 2) develop one's level of supervising and teaching; 3) begin to understand administrative functions in which counseling center psychologists engage; and 4) develop outreach and consultation skills. Possibilities are numerous and are determined in conjunction with the director of training. The fellow conducts individual, couples, and group psychotherapy, receives 4 hours of supervision, provides 2-3 hours of supervision to advanced graduate students, offers consultation and outreach services to the university community, performs administrative functions, and attends selected case-oriented seminars.

Program Description
We are committed to the development of psychologist leaders who have sufficient breadth and depth of clinical knowledge to assume full responsibility for patient care, teaching, and administration of clinical programs in a variety of health care settings. Depending on the track selected and the professional goals of the applicant, trainees may also gain experience in clinical research in a variety of areas. We offer advanced education and training in four substantive areas of clinical psychology: Adult Ambulatory Psychology, Child and Adolescent Psychology, Primary Care Family Psychology and the new Rochester PRIDE track (focused on clinical work and research with communities of color). Program Description

Our Post Doctoral training program reflects the belief that the postdoctoral year is a critical time for professional and personal development – a time to consolidate earlier learning, to solidify a sense of oneself as a professional psychologist, and to further expand clinical and consulting skills. The program strives to strike a balance between clinical experience, clinical training, experience in consultation, and involvement in professional activities. Postdocs participate alongside senior staff in all ongoing services and activities and are responsible for intake/assessment, crisis intervention, individual, couple, and group counseling and psychotherapy; outreach activities and programming; and consultation to faculty and staff. In addition to clinical services and training, involvement in professional and administrative activities is encouraged. Postdocs inevitably work in a multicultural context wherein articles of faith are as suspect as feature to grind. Knowledge of, and respect for, cultural and ethnic alternatives in living, loving, and working are prerequisites for relatedness in a multicultural context. Intensive supervision is provided for all activities and careful consideration is given to ensure diversity of clinical experience and a range of supervisory styles. UCC staff members are actively involved in and committed to training and make themselves available for both formal and informal consultations. In the clinical training seminar we address the theoretical and practical issues raised in the course of doing clinical work and topics closely parallel the postdocs’ clinical experience. Readings are drawn from classical and contemporary psychoanalytic sources with an emphasis on their relevance for the postdoc’s own development and for the nature of the work at in the University setting. Postdocs are also readily informed of conferences and learning opportunities in the nearby area and in New York City.
Program Description

Cincinnati Children’s Hospital Medical Center is one of the largest children’s hospitals in the country with a reputation for excellence in clinical care, teaching, and research. Fellowships are available on a one- and two-year training cycle across several sub-specialties and offer a combination of training opportunities across research and clinical care. An apprenticeship model focused on active mentoring, career development, professional role identity, and development of skills in clinical research and care that ensures success as a scientist-practitioner, is a hallmark of the training program. Postdoctoral training focus areas include: 1) Developmental and Behavioral Pediatrics, 2) Neuropsychology, 3) Pediatric Psychology (including Biobehavioral Assessment and Treatment, Adherence Medicine, Risk and Prevention, and Clinical Child/ADHD). Training is specific to each focus area but is expected to take place in clinical care (not less than 25%), research, teaching, administration, professional development, and community activities. Each program is developed within a focus area such that the fellow will be eligible for licensure at the end of the fellowship. For all areas applicants must have a doctoral degree from an APA approved program, completed an APA approved internship, and defended their dissertation prior to beginning the fellowship. Some of the fellowship positions are supported by an NIH/NIDDK Postdoctoral Training Grant in Child Behavior and Nutrition (Program Director: Scott W. Powers, PhD). Specific information regarding each focus area can be obtained from: Dev Beh Pediatrics: J. Creedon, PhD (513)636-4633; Neuropsychology: M. Program Description

The VHA National Center for Organization Development (NCOD) offers a two-year postdoctoral fellowship in Organization Consulting and Development. The Center serves VA facilities and offices nationwide. The Center's practice is based on an action research model; services include executive coaching, leadership development and assessment, team building, strategic planning, large and small group facilitation, work redesign, survey design and analysis, and psychoeducation interventions. Fellows will be involved in the All Employee Survey (administered annually to a quarter million employees) and the CREW (Civility, Respect and Engagement in the Workplace) initiatives. The training program offers trainees the opportunity to "learn by doing", and they are involved in all aspects of the Center's work. Trainees participate in weekly didactic seminars based on readings from psychology and business sources and on work experiences in the field. Trainees also participate in a research project. The supervision model affords trainees the opportunity to learn from multiple senior practitioners. The Center's staff provides rich, intensive ongoing feedback. Trainees are expected to have a strong organizational and clinical background and to display a high level of professionalism. The ability to work effectively as a member of a fast-paced, high performing team is essential. Trainees must be willing to travel frequently (at least two weeks per month) and to work evening and early morning shifts when needed. Trainees will accrue the clinical hours necessary for licensure in Ohio; candidates are expected to attain licensure by the end of the two-year training program. Candidates from doctoral programs in clinical, counseling, social, or I/O psychology are encouraged to apply. Candidates must have completed all requirements for their doctorate, including dissertation defense, prior to the start of the postdoc. Rolling admission allows flexible start dates.

Program Description

The goal of this fellowship is to provide individualized, clinical opportunities for psychological assessment and interventions with adult patients experiencing a wide range of medical and psychological problems. The fellowship is primarily outpatient-based and includes psychological consultations and diagnostic interviews, short-term psychotherapy, behavioral interventions, group and couples therapy. Current major rotation areas include: Headache, Bariatrics, and Primary Care clinics. Opportunities are available for minor rotations in specialty areas, including: insomnia, biofeedback, objective and projective testing, weight management, executive health, and communications skills training at the medical school. Some time allotments are arranged for research; however, the primary objective of the fellowship is clinical experience. The fellow is expected and encouraged to participate in ongoing research, poster presentations, didactics, and teaching opportunities with medical students and residents. Details of the interview and selection process are posted in the APA Monitor Fall online editions and on our website. Application materials should be gathered by the applicant and mailed together in one envelope. Application requirements include: a letter of interest/intent, curriculum vitae, official graduate transcript, a clinical work sample, and three letters of recommendation. A letter from your program director attesting to the applicant's status as a doctoral candidate is also required. Applications and any questions should be directed to: Dana Brendza, Psy.D., Director, Clinical/Health Psychology Training Program, Section of General and Health Psychology, Department of Psychiatry and Psychology (P57), Cleveland Clinic Foundation, 9500 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, OH 44195. Program Description

The LSCDVAMC offers one year, full-time APA accredited Postdoctoral Residencies in Clinical Psychology in six separate emphasis areas: (1) Geropsychology (geriatric health psychology emphasis), (2) Psychosocial Rehabilitation of the Seriously Mentally Ill (Recovery Model emphasis), (3) Primary Care/Mental Health Integration, (4) PTSD, (5) Consultation to Specialty Medical Clinics, (6) Substance Abuse. We follow a practitioner-scholar training model providing training for advanced competence in these areas. The Fellowships require completion of a scholarly project, for which fellows are given 8 hours/week time. We also offer two-year specialty training in our Postdoctoral Residency in Clinical Neuropsychology (one position), which is NOT APA ACCREDITED. The Fellowship is renewable if performance is satisfactory in the first year. Applicants must be graduates of an APA accredited program in clinical or counseling psychology and have successfully completed an APA accredited internship. The successful candidates will have to pass a physical exam, background security check, and possible random drug screen (all routine) prior to final appointment. An oath of office is required.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities

Community Clinics are fully funded. Positions with Office of Disability Services and domestic violence populations are offered based on funding availability.

Program Description

"PLEASE CONTACT PROGRAM FOR UPDATED INFORMATION" All positions include didactic training as part of the program. Teaching; umbrella supervision of residents and practicum trainees are required but amount varies by site. Postdoctoral training will either be in a community-based service center, a specialty program for domestic violence, or a university based service for students with disabilities. Fellows receive 25%-50% direct service time which meets state requirements. Research opportunities are available at each site. Training is organized by a competency based training plan.

Program Description

These one- or two-year Fellowships associated with the Department of Psychology at The Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia are designed for individuals who have completed all doctoral degree requirements and who aspire to academic careers and leadership positions in pediatric medical settings or university departments supporting Ph.D. training programs. Diverse pediatric populations, including infants, preschoolers, school age, and adolescent cohorts presenting with developmental disorders, behavior problems, and/or chronic illness/disability receive family-centered services within an interdisciplinary context. Opportunities exist to acquire or refine skills pertaining to Pediatric Psychology, Pediatric Neuropsychology, Early Childhood, and Child Clinical, Community, Schools Psychology. Training occurs in both in- and outpatient clinical settings. Training and supervision is provided in vivo, in office, and during small and large group rounds. Video-mediated training facilities are available. Research opportunities are abundant. We offer the opportunity for fellows to be involved in federally funded research programs such as psychosocial interventions within pediatric oncology, community-based ADHD intervention, violence prevention in urban schools, and pain intervention with adolescents with sickle cell disease. Specific areas of focus vary each year and available positions are posted on our website by December. Didactic seminars, conferences, and rounds are frequent and address multiple topics and methodologies. Fellows have direct access to all faculty and staff and work closely with one or two mentors who ensure programmatic integrity and continuity. Fellows receive instrumental support when searching for career-enhancing positions.

Program Description

The purpose of the residency is to engage the resident in all aspects of University Counseling Center service and administration in order to provide preparation for a career in university counseling. To this end, the core of the resident’s training includes individual counseling with students, crisis response, individual supervision, participation on the Center’s Consultation/Outreach Team, and participation in department projects and initiatives. The residency begins with two weeks of orientation prior to the start of the fall semester. Once the semester begins, residents begin to build a caseload of individual clients up to an average of 20 per week. Upon completion of training in our career assessment process, residents also begin to see clients for career counseling. In September, residents begin to take “on-call” duty on a rotating basis. As residents become more comfortable and familiar with the center and the university, they are asked to take on more responsibilities. Residents are sometimes asked to take the lead on administrative projects, such as coordinating research efforts or organizing outreach functions. They are often asked to participate in university functions as a representative of the Counseling Center. By the spring semester, residents are expected to function as senior staff at the center. They are offered the opportunity to form and lead a group on the topic of their choosing. While still under supervision, residents are expected to take more initiative and demonstrate increasing independence in their work. Residents are formally evaluated at the mid-point of the residency and at the completion of the residency. In the event of a grievance, due process is followed and grievance procedures are in place to assure fair resolution. The residency consists of 1800 hours of supervised professional psychological activities, and it meets the post-doctoral supervised experience requirements for licensure in Pennsylvania.

<td>Our program in clinical psychology has 3 tracks: Geropsychology (2 slots), PTSD (1 slot), Substance Use Disorders (1 slot). Fellows in the geropsychology track complete two 6-month rotations. On the Neurobehavioral rotation, fellows conduct comprehensive neuropsychological assessments, provide consultation to the nursing home, and co-facilitate a caregiver support group and memory skills group. On the GREEC rotation, fellows work with the home-based primary care team to provide individual/couples psychotherapy, caregiver stress interventions, and cognitive screening in patient’s homes. The fellow on this rotation also conducts brief cognitive screenings in the outpatient geriatric specialty clinic (GEM clinic). The fellow in the PTSD track works with the interdisciplinary PTSD clinical team for the year. The fellow completes diagnostic evaluations and provides individual and group psychotherapy for combat-related PTSD. The fellow also has the opportunity to choose one or more of the following 6 to 12 month elective training rotations: Vet Center, Military Sexual Trauma, Substance Use, or research. The fellow in the SUD track works with the interdisciplinary team in the Center for the Treatment of Addictive Disorders for the year and has the opportunity to provide diagnostic evaluation and individual/group psychotherapy in the CORE program, recovery and aftercare clinic, and opioid substitution clinic. The fellow also may choose elective training experiences in motivational interviewing, primary care, PTSD, neuropsychological assessment, and research. All fellows participate in the weekly postdoctoral fellowship didactic series which includes a case conference, journal club, professional development seminar, and topic seminar, in addition to other track-specific didactics. All fellows also receive training in program development/evaluation in their specific emphasis area.</td>

Program Description

Two types of fellowships are offered: hospital based CLINICAL RSCH fellowships and NIH funded rsch fellowships (NIMH Rsch Tmg in Child Mental Health; NIH Rsch Tmg in Child/Adol Biobehavioral HIV; NIAAA Rsch Tmg in Alcohol Intervention/Treatment; NIDA Rsch Tmg in Subs Abuse Intervention Outcome Treatment; NIMH Rsch Tmg in Treatment Resc.; NIHNI Rsch Tmg in Cardiovascular Behavioral Med). The CLINICAL RSCH fellowship provides a trng experience that ensures the development of competency in Adult Clinical, Child Clinical, Behavioral Medicine, and Clinical Neuropsychology, 20% minimum rsch time in all clinical rsch fellowships. The Fellow and his/her primary faculty mentor decide the exact nature of trng. Clinical experiences vary greatly depending on patient populations and hospital settings. Through an apprenticeship model, the Fellow works closely with a faculty member providing clinical services and/or conducting rsch to achieve trng objectives. Faculty member serves as primary supervisor and role model. Close supervision relationship permits the Fellow to develop clinical and/or rsch skills as well as role identity. Typically, there are at least 2 other supervisors directly involved with trng. Number and type of fellowships vary yearly and most are 2 years.

Program Description

The purpose of the fellowship program is to refine the skills of the scientist-practitioner preparing for a career in an academic pediatric medical setting with primary emphasis in pediatric oncology, Sickle Cell, or pediatric/adolescent HIV. As SJCRH is a specialty children’s cancer hospital, training in general pediatrics is not available. The fellow will be trained within a consultation-liaison model of service provision which fosters collaboration with a variety of pediatric subspecialties and medical treatment teams. While applicants intending toward a career as a clinical investigator are preferred, potential fellows may opt for the primary clinical track (1 year) or primary research track (2 years). Please indicate intention/preference in online application and supplemental materials requested.

Program Description

A postdoctoral position is offered in the area of developmental disabilities within a Center of Excellence in Developmental Disabilities, Training, Research, and Service. When available an adolescent sexual offender fellowship is offered within an outpatient clinic in the Department of Psychiatry.

Where Did Former Postdoctoral Fellows Go?

A postdoctoral position is offered in the area of developmental disabilities. The position is clinically oriented with intensive supervision provided with the opportunity for research. In addition to direct patient contact, fellows will be involved in providing supervision, program development, and didactic learning experiences. Upon completion of the postdoctoral year, fellows should have the skills to establish a program in their area of specialty.

The primary purpose of the position in developmental disabilities is to provide in-depth training for future work in prevention, early identification, and treatment of individuals with developmental disabilities. Depending on funding, a fellowship is offered in Sex Offender Treatment and Evaluation with a focus on adolescent sex offenders and children with sexual behavior problems. Those interested in this opportunity should contact the program to determine if it will be offered next year. Although the start date is August 4th there can be some negotiation of this date.

Program Description
This post-doctoral psychology program (3 positions) exists within an interdisciplinary training program and provides more intensive supervised training in clinical psychology with an emphasis in substance abuse (2 positions) and in Geropsychology (1 position). In the substance abuse program, postdoctoral psychology fellows address the problem of chemical dependency among veterans as members of interdisciplinary teams. The psychology fellow combines psychological assessment and individual and group psychotherapy both to conceptualize the psychosocial needs of the substance-abusing veteran and to facilitate the veterans' development of adaptive coping strategies as alternatives to continued substance abuse. These goals are achieved by performing assessments as needed and as requested by the treatment team, conducting individual psychotherapy, co-leading psychoeducational and process-oriented group psychotherapy, attending continuing education programs on substance abuse, and participating actively in all interdisciplinary treatment team meetings. In the Geropsychology program, the fellow will spend one half of the year on an interdisciplinary mental health team and one half of the year in a rehabilitation-oriented nursing home which includes a palliative care section. Also, he/she will have exposure to home-based primary care. A minimum of 2 hours per week of individual supervision with a licensed psychologist will be provided, and the fellow will be required to attend training seminars and case conferences throughout the year. Applicants must have received their doctoral degree in clinical or counseling psychology and must have completed a predoctoral internship, both of which must be accredited by the American Psychological Association.

Program Description
The postdoctoral program at UTMB provides specialty postdoctoral training in clinical health psychology. The positions are typically funded by NIH, HRSA, and NIDDR grants. Clinical settings are focused on health psychology and combine research and clinical service (approximately 50% each depending on grant funding). The clinical component provides psychological services including evaluation, consultation, and treatment in a number of settings including pain management, rehabilitation and disability, and geropsychology. Research opportunities are dependent on funding. Teaching opportunities exist in the clinical psychiatry course and the sexual health and rehabilitation course both coordinated by the training director. Inpatient work is also available on the geriatrics unit and a wide variety of surgical units focusing on pain management. Limited opportunities exist to work with children and adolescents at the Shriners Burns Hospital. It is expected the postdoc will work in conjunction with on-going research projects and develop at least one project with the goal of publication or grant funding. UTMB has a scientist practitioner model of training and includes didactics and supervision of no less than 2 hours per week of individual face to face supervision. The program is designed to enhance research and clinical skills to prepare the trainee for a position in a medical or academic setting. Trainees are expected to develop advanced skills in the practice and competencies of a clinical health psychologist.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities

The training program is flexible and tailored to the fellow's interests and needs; although some activities are required, there is considerable room for customization within the general categories of training activities.

Program Description

Ben Taub General Hospital is a county-funded general hospital built in 1963 to serve the needs of the Houston area. The Psychiatry Service provides inpatient and outpatient treatment for medically indigent and psychologically impaired persons. As a member of the Psychiatry team, the post-doctoral fellow will provide assessment and therapy services to psychiatric inpatients through the Consultation and Liaison Service, as well as participate in ongoing research protocols and initiate research protocols relevant to the Service. Specific activities include serving as a primary clinician in the Intensive Outpatient Program, a multi-disciplinary program for patients with Axis I and Axis II disorders; providing individual and/or group psychotherapy to children, adolescents, and adults; and conducting psychological and neuropsychological evaluations. Members of both the psychology and psychiatry faculty provide supervision as appropriate to the clinical work being done and research activities pursued by the fellow. A full range of educational opportunities of the Baylor College of Medicine and the Texas Medical Center is available, including Baylor Psychiatry Grand Rounds, on-site workshops, and regularly scheduled training activities (e.g., individual and group supervision), as well as a post-doc seminar series for Baylor-affiliated fellows in the Houston area. The fellow is expected to develop at least one research project for presentation and/or publication, to provide lectures appropriate for the training of psychology and psychiatry interns and residents, and to participate in the training activities of the Service for interns, psychiatry residents, medical students, and other staff in training at Ben Taub General Hospital. In addition, the fellowship meets the licensure requirements for the state of Texas, and the fellow is encouraged to pursue licensure in Texas during the fellowship year.

Program Description
Our overall fellowship program is now composed of a total of seven fellows, three with a one year term and four with a two year term. There are two separate postdoctoral programs at MEDVAMC. There is a MIRECC fellowship with two fellows who have two year training terms. There is also a Clinical fellowship program consisting of three fellows with one year terms (one with emphasis in Serious Mental Illness and two fellows emphasizing PTSD) and two fellows in the specialty area of Neuropsychology who both have two year terms. The MIRECC emphasis is on mental health research with 75% time devoted to this within the VAMC complex and related facilities. 25% time is devoted to clinical service delivery and fellows may elect rotations from a wide variety of offerings. The director for the MIRECC program is Nancy Jo Dunn, Ph.D. The Clinical fellowship has fellows with clinical emphasis areas or specialty areas. One of the emphasis areas is serious mental illness and the other two are in the treatment of Post Traumatic Stress and related disorders. These fellowship experiences last for one year: 75% of the fellowship is devoted to clinical service delivery skills and 25% to research/program evaluation. Thomas Anderson, Ph.D., is the preceptor for the postdoctoral training in the treatment of serious mental illness and Su Bailey, Ph.D., serves as the preceptor for the clinical fellowship in treatment of stress related disorders. The Clinical fellowship also has two fellows in the specialty area of Neuropsychology. This program follows Division 40 and APCN standards. Robert L. Collins, Ph.D., is the preceptor for this fellowship which also devotes 25 % time to research activities and the balance to clinical work.

Program Description
This one-year postdoctoral training program is based in a private psychiatric hospital which is well-known for high quality patient care. The theoretical orientation is broadly psychodynamic, but with opportunities for cognitive-behavioral and other empirically-based approaches. The educational mission of Menninger is to train promising young clinicians in advanced concepts of psychotherapy and psychological testing. Postdoctoral fellows work as primary clinicians with a multidisciplinary team in a fully integrated, biopsychosocial model. The primary clinician is responsible for coordinating patient care, administering and interpreting psychological tests, providing individual and family therapy and group therapy to patients. Patient treatment episodes range from approximately 2 weeks to 4-5 months, affording an opportunity for intensive psychotherapeutic interventions and complex diagnostic work. Clinical supervision of 3-4 hours per week and didactic training round out the training experience. The program is affiliated with the Baylor College of Medicine.

Program Description

PLEASE CONTACT PROGRAM FOR UPDATED INFORMATION

The Deer Oaks Mental Health Associates Postdoctoral Psychology Residency Program is designed to provide the highest quality advanced, training in clinical psychology in an outpatient setting. Our trainees are exposed to the full range of clinical services including individual, family, group therapy, couples therapy and geriatric/neuropsychological consultation and therapy. In addition, residents may have some assessment and psychological testing exposure with limited opportunity to test clients. A special feature of the Residency Program is supervised experience working with the elderly residing in nursing homes as well as with children who have been abused and/or neglected and placed in foster care/adoption situations. There is a special emphasis on training with multicultural issues. Opportunities for continued employment/advancement after program completion. Training locations include San Antonio, Dallas, Ft. Worth, Victoria, Houston, Brownsville, McAllen, Lubbock, and Laredo, Texas. Some travel is expected between sites, as needed. The organization is more than 14 years old and growing, with many opportunities for leadership in the areas of Employee Assistance Programs, Child Protective Services, and inpatient/nursing home psychological services. Contact Training Director or Human Resources for more details at 7272 Wurzbach Rd., Suite 601, San Antonio, TX 78240. APA ACCREDITATION IS ONLY FOR THE RIO GRANDE VALLEY OF SOUTH TEXAS CITIES OF HARLINGEN, MCALLEN AND BROWNSVILLE.

Program Description

We offer scientist-practitioner training in applied clinical psychology in a medical school-affiliated VA medical center setting. There are three postdoctoral residency training tracks: a two-year specialty track in Neuropsychology; a one-year specialty-focus track in Primary Care/Health Psychology; a one-year specialty focus-track in Trauma Psychology, and a one-year specialty focus-track in Palliative Care Psychology. All tracks are accredited by APA, and the Neuropsychology track is approved by APPCN. All residents are required to plan and conduct research projects, make professional presentations, and complete program evaluation projects, in addition to their clinical training experiences. Except for the Neuropsychology track, we usually select postdoctoral residents from our own internship class (from those in analogous special-focus tracks). To be selected, our interns must have collected all of their dissertation data, be progressing satisfactorily in their internship, and be approved by the special-focus track preceptor (all by December 1st of their internship year). These in-house selections are made by December 15th to allow time for open recruitment for any unfilled postdoctoral positions. Applicants should contact the Director of Training after that date regarding any openings not filled by internal candidates.

The United States Air Force offers two-year Postdoctoral Fellowship positions in Clinical Health Psychology (CHP) to qualified psychologists. The positions are located in San Antonio, Texas, at Wilford Hall Medical Center (WHMC), the largest medical center in the U. S. Air Force. WHMC is a teaching hospital with over 50 medical specialty and allied health training programs. The fellowship is a comprehensive program of supervised clinical training, teaching, supervision, and research in the specialty area of CHP. The treatment programs include working as part of multidisciplinary/interdisciplinary teams including the following programs: Pain Management, Diabetes Education, TMJ/Orofacial Pain Treatment, Tobacco Cessation, Cardiac/Pulmonary Rehabilitation, and the Sleep Center. Fellows also gain experience as behavioral health consultants in Obstetrics. The education program consists of weekly workshops, professional seminars in CHP, Distinguished Visiting Professor Program, and attendance at one national psychology conference. Fellows participate in active research protocols and are expected to produce professional papers for submission to peer-reviewed journals or presentation at a national conference. Fellows also gain experience in grant writing. During the second year, fellows receive training in population health-level program management as well as neuropsychology assessment. In recent years most fellows have been selected from those already on active duty as a licensed Air Force clinical psychologist with several years of professional experience. Highly qualified civilian applicants with similar credentials will be considered for acceptance into the fellowship training program. The program usually accepts applicants who are licensed psychologists with one or more years experience beyond completion of their psychology internship program. The application due date is approximately 1 year prior to the start date of the fellowship program.
ECC and EFI are dedicated to providing excellence in Christian psychological and counseling services. EFI, which residents in clinical psychology, interns, and practica students are affiliated with, provides therapeutic and educational services, counseling training, and world mission support. The integration of Biblical truth with empirically-based treatments provides a basis for treating individuals in the community and church to transform lives and reduce human suffering. Clinical staff draw from a number of theoretical orientations, such as cognitive-behavioral, family systems, and experiential as appropriate. Specialized training in Parent-Child Interaction Therapy (PCIT), Dialectical-Behavior Therapy (DBT) and marriage/family therapy are available. Residents are supervised by two licensed clinical psychologists, and also receive group supervision. In addition to being assigned to the main office in Norfolk, residents will provide therapeutic services in several other settings within the Hampton Roads area, such as Portsmouth and Chesapeake. In addition to the didactic seminars facilitated by clinical staff at ECC, residents have the opportunity to attend monthly colloquia at Regent University, which has an APA-accredited Psy.D. program, and to attend monthly seminars at a local psychiatric facility. Although it is not required, residents are encouraged to participate in research and to present their findings in their area of specialty for the edification of the organization and for professional development purposes.
Program Description

The primary goal of this clinical psychology postdoctoral program is to provide the Resident with advanced training through an extensive range of supervised clinical activities within the context of a large, multidisciplinary community mental health system. The context of learning includes adults, adolescents, and children receiving outpatient psychotherapy and medication services. Residents also complete psychological testing evaluations on children, adolescents, and adults during the training year. Sometimes the resident has a primary placement in Youth & Family Services or in Adult Services. Other times, each resident is placed on one Youth & Family Services team and one Adult Services team. The resident receives two hours of individual face-to-face supervision with a licensed psychologist throughout the year. The resident registers this postdoctoral residency with the Board of Psychology in Virginia. This registration allows the resident to take the psychologist licensing exams during the training year.

Program Description

Postdoctoral Fellowships are available with emphases in PTSD, substance abuse, primary care and rehabilitation medicine. 1) Two positions in addictions care are offered through the Center of Excellence in Substance Abuse Treatment and Education (CESATE) - one of only two programs funded nationally by the Department of Veterans Affairs to offer a specialized clinical fellowship in the interdisciplinary approach to substance abuse disorders. The primary goal of this fellowship is to provide clinical training in the interdisciplinary assessment and treatment of substance abusers, intended to prepare fellows to assume clinical, academic and/or administrative positions in a variety of settings. 2) One position in PTSD is available in the Mental Illness Research, Education and Clinical Center (MIRECC). This two-year fellowship has a research emphasis (75% research, 25% clinical time). This year's primary goal is to prepare fellows for independent investigator status in VA Medical Center and academic settings, with expertise in trauma disorders. 3) Two positions are offered in Behavioral Medicine (with a focus on either Primary Care/Mental Health integration or Rehabilitation/Polytrauma care). Both are devoted exclusively to the care of returning OIF/OEF veterans, situated in a variety of primary care and rehab medicine settings. These positions offer training in integrated care delivery and evidence-based treatment for PTSD and co-morbid disorders, or alternatively, in evidence-based assessment and intervention of physical trauma and traumatic brain injury. Applicants for all positions must be US citizens, and must have completed a doctoral degree from an APA accredited graduate program and an APA accredited internship prior to the start of the fellowship. Inquiries should be directed to Steve McCutcheon, PhD, at the above address.

Program Description
The Post-Doctoral Fellowship in Pediatric Psychology at Madigan Army Medical Center is an intensive two-year training program in the Department of Psychology with an emphasis upon child development and behavioral medicine. The program begins in October. One position is open to licensed military active-duty psychologists and one position is open to civilian applicants. The primary goal of the fellowship program is to provide advanced training in pediatric psychology. Major areas of focus are normal child development, developmental pediatrics, behavioral medicine interventions, dysmorphology, developmental and intellectual assessment, childhood psychopathology, pediatric consultation/liaison services, and military related adjustment. During the year the fellows provide services in various settings within the medical center. These areas include the developmental pediatrics clinic, high-risk newborn follow-up clinic, pediatric ward, well baby clinic, dysmorphology clinic, and pediatric subspecialty clinics (e.g., pediatric neurology, pediatric oncology/hematology, pediatric endocrinology). Additionally, fellows are expected to develop one area of subspecialization and produce a publishable professional project. The fellowship program is geared toward training fellows who can deliver high quality clinical services and who can train and supervise interns and other pediatric psychologists. Finally, the fellow has the advantage of cross training in weekly clinics with pediatric fellows from the Developmental and Behavioral Pediatric Fellowship at Madigan Army Medical Center, as well as residents from the Pediatric Residency.

Program Description
The University of Washington (UW) Department of Psychiatry, Division of Public Behavioral Health and Justice Policy, and Western State Hospital (WSH), through the Washington Institute for Mental Illness Research and Training, jointly sponsor a postdoctoral fellowship in forensic clinical psychology. The fellowship runs from September through August, full time. The goal of the fellowship is to produce clinical specialists in the practice and research of forensic clinical psychology who will lead the development of the field. The fellowship is structured in such a way as to prepare fellows for the ABPP examinations. Some fellowship training activities (e.g., seminar and cross-training with law students) occur in tandem with our ACGME-accredited post-doctoral training program in forensic psychiatry, a forensic post-doctoral training program in juvenile forensic psychology at the Child Study and Treatment Center (CSTC), and the forensic post-doctoral training program specializing in work with sexually violent predators at the Special Commitment Center (SCC). Work sites include WSH, CSTC, local correctional facilities, community, and private practice settings. Duties include forensic evaluations of criminal defendants; assessment, treatment and consultation of mentally ill offenders and correctional inmates; supervised report writing and testimony; independent study and research. Eleven psychologists, several psychiatrists, and one neuropsychiatrist are available for supervision, training and consultation. Four to six hours of face-to-face clinical supervision are provided each week. A demanding nine-month, weekly forensic seminar series provides further didactic education. UW and WSH offer extensive collateral opportunities for education and training. The fellowship program also maintains an active, collegial relationship with the Seattle University School of Law. WSH has a long-standing and fully APA-approved pre-doctoral internship program.

Program Description

Training program is aimed at preparing post-doctoral fellows for a career within a medical setting. Fellows have the training opportunities to work with adult medical patients in both inpatient and outpatient settings. Fellows have the opportunity to work both in a community-based federally-funded health center (Access) and a university-based hospital and its clinics (UW Hospital). Activities involve assessment, intervention, and consultation to and participation on multidisciplinary treatment teams.

Program Description
The Psychology Fellowship Program offers 1 position in each of 2 specialties: Pediatric Psychology and Child/Adolescent Clinical Psychology. The Pediatric Psychology Fellow is trained in the assessment and treatment of the problems of children and adolescents with medical disorders. The Pediatric Fellow spends half of each week in supervised experience on the inpatient pediatric, pediatric intensive care and neonatal intensive care units of St. Joseph's Children's Hospital and the other half in the outpatient Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Health. The Child/Adolescent Psychology Fellow is based in the outpatient Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Health. Supervised experience in assessment and treatment also occurs in the Child Development Center and at a psychiatric inpatient unit for adolescents. Both fellows receive training in the assessment and treatment of children and adolescents with a wide range of behavioral and emotional problems. Assessment procedures include psychological testing, behavioral questionnaires, diagnostic interviewing and collateral interviews. Interventions include individual therapy, parent guidance, family therapy and group therapy. Fellows receive approximately 3 hours individual supervision per week, participate in weekly postdoctoral seminars and are encouraged to attend other conferences within the medical complex. The faculty utilize a variety of therapeutic approaches, but the prevailing approach is behavioral or cognitive-behavioral embedded in a developmental and systematic understanding of the child. The fellowship is 1 Year with the option to apply for a second year. Fellows are encouraged to consider applying for a second year. The goal of the program is to facilitate the development of professional psychologists with advanced skills in child and pediatric psychology to function independently in a variety of practice settings. Program information and the application are available at www.marshfieldclinic.org.

Program Description

The program operates within a scholar-practitioner model. There are four fellowship positions each with a specific area of concentration: one in Geropsychology, one in Palliative Care, one in Psychosocial Rehabilitation, and one in Post-deployment Mental Health Services. Fellows will be prepared for psychological practice either with older adults, with patients with end-stage disease, with the seriously mentally ill, including those with co-morbid substance abuse, or with newly returning veterans, many of whom have suffered multiple physical and/or psychological injuries. While the training primarily occurs within the context of the delivery of psychological services, training needs always take priority over service needs. The objective of the fellowship program is to provide the environment and experience that will promote in-depth development in each area of concentration. The goal of effective, independent practice requires competence in assessment, interdisciplinary consultation, individual and systems-based interventions, program development and evaluation, staff training and development, and biometrics. Within each area of competence, sound clinical skill and judgment, an active knowledge of current research, and an ability to teach and communicate well with clients and other professionals are required. The fellowship program is organized around a core of clinical experiences, but allows some flexibility in pursuing individual goals. While there are sometimes opportunities to conduct research during the fellowship, the major emphasis is on clinical practice.
