The contents of this APPIC Directory and Policy Handbook appear in electronic form (www.appic.org) and represent the best efforts of APPIC to provide an up-to-date list of members and policies. However, due to changes in membership, policies, and the exigencies of reporting, APPIC cannot assure absolute accuracy of its Directory and Policy Handbook at any given moment. If questions regarding membership or policies require confirmation, please contact APPIC Central Office by email (appic@aol.com) or call (202)589-0600.
INTRODUCTION

The Association of Psychology Postdoctoral and Internship Centers (APPIC) is an educational, non-profit organization with the mission of enhancing internship and postdoctoral training programs in professional psychology. Members are independent agencies conducting or sponsoring internship or postdoctoral training programs, with over 700 programs represented. The Association of Psychology Internship Centers (APIC) was formed in 1968 to bring order to the process of internship selection by publishing a directory of programs and to begin the development of national intern selection procedures. In 1991, APIC changed its name to APPIC adding postdoctoral training programs. In 1999, APPIC developed the national computer match for internship placement and in 2000 developed the APPIC Application for Psychology Internships (AAPI). As of 2009, the AAPI was converted to an online application and submission process, improving the ease of use for all internship applicants and Directors of Training.

APPIC MISSION STATEMENT

The Association of Psychology Postdoctoral and Internship Centers (APPIC) is committed to enhancing internship and postdoctoral training in professional psychology.

To accomplish this mission, APPIC:

1. Develops minimum standards for quality internship and post-doctoral training programs.

2. Facilitates the development of new internship and postdoctoral programs.

3. Develops selection policies and procedures to facilitate a fair and orderly process of matching applicants with internship programs.

4. Publishes a directory of internship and postdoctoral programs in professional psychology that meet APPIC membership standards.

5. Facilitates the placement of unmatched internship applicants through the Phase II Match and Post-Match Vacancy Service.

6. Promotes the discussion of relevant selection and training issues for interns and postdoctoral fellows.

7. Facilitates, through both formal and informal mechanisms, resolution of issues and problems that arise during selection or training of interns or fellows;
8. Develops relationships with professional associations committed to doctoral and postdoctoral training and other aspects of professional psychology;

9. Facilitates the exchange of information between doctoral programs and agencies offering internship and/or postdoctoral training in professional psychology;

10. Represents the views of internship and postdoctoral agencies to relevant groups and organizations in professional psychology.

11. Disseminates information on experiential training to members of the psychology community.

12. Encourages research in the areas of psychology training and supervision.

APPIC MEMBERSHIP

APPIC is not an accrediting agency. Programs that would like to include their membership in written materials may list their programs as “APPIC member,” but not as “APPIC accredited” or “APPIC approved.” APPIC membership indicates that a program meets all membership criteria and conforms to APPIC policies.

Since 1997, APPIC has offered a website (www.appic.org) on the World Wide Web as a service to members, psychologists, graduate students in professional psychology, peer associations, and the public. The APPIC website is available without restriction to anyone who has WWW access. The goals of the website are to create an efficient, professional information tool for psychologists, and to publish information quickly so that it is available to all that are interested – consistent with APPIC’s objectives as an association.

The website contains the following “pages” or sections:

ABOUT APPIC
- Joining APPIC; Organizational Information; Policies and Procedures

WHAT’S NEW
- Events; Conference; APPIC Newsletters; TEPP Journal

DIRECTORY
- Access the Directory Online; Stats & Other Directories

MATCH
- About the Match; MATCH-NEWS E-mail List; Internship Application (AAPI Online); Match Policies; National Matching Services; Travel Links and Discounts

CLEARINGHOUSE
- Instructions for Applicants; Instructions for Programs

TRAINING RESOURCES

E-MAIL LISTS
- Using APPIC E-mail Lists; List Archives

PROBLEM RESOLUTION
- Informal Resolution Process; Formal Complaint Process

POSTDOCTORAL
- Search Postdoctoral Programs

SEARCH APPIC WEBSITE

The APPIC website is used to publish the results of membership ballots (Board elections, Committee appointments, policy changes, revisions in membership criteria), membership alerts, survey results, and other fast-breaking news of interest to psychologists involved in doctoral and postdoctoral training in professional psychology. In addition, the website has APPIC application forms, information about the Match Program, and access to the APPIC Directory online. The information available on APPIC’s website will be the most up-to-date that APPIC has to offer.

Permission is granted to other websites with related interests to link to this URL: http://www.appic.org.
APPIC POST-MATCH VACANCY SERVICE

Since 1976, APPIC has offered a professional psychology internship placement "clearinghouse" that provides information about internship positions that are still available after APPIC Match Day. Instructions for using the APPIC Post-Match Vacancy Service can be found on the APPIC web site (www.appic.org).

APPLYING FOR MEMBERSHIP IN APPIC

Agencies sponsoring predoctoral internship and/or postdoctoral training programs that are interested in joining APPIC should write to APPIC Central Office or access the application forms on the website (www.appic.org). The application fee is $250 and must be received prior to committee review. Membership applications must be postmarked by March 31 or September 1 of each year. Applicants must meet criteria listed in the policy section of this directory. Once approved, members receive all benefits listed for subscribers below. Membership in APPIC is required for listing in the APPIC Directory. In addition, to be included in the Directory, APPIC policy requires that each member's listing is updated each year and dues and fees are in good standing. Directory updates are completed online by accessing the member page after accessing the Directory Online from the APPIC website. A program code and password will be included in acceptance materials sent to new members in order to access their member page on the Directory Online. In addition to the yearly update, APPIC members can update their Directory page online at any time.

SUBSCRIBING TO APPIC PUBLICATIONS AND SERVICES

Universities and schools offering doctoral programs in psychology can subscribe to APPIC for $225 per year plus a $100 Match Fee. When subscribed an APPIC Newsletter is distributed, and the program is offered access to Subscriber News email list. In addition, Training Directors from APPIC Doctoral Program Associate sites whose students participate in the APPIC Match will receive notification directly from National Matching Services as to where their students have been matched.
A benefit to students from a Doctoral Program Associate site includes a $30 discount on the APPIC Directory Online fee due at the time of the Match (all students participating in the Match are required to pay a fee for the Match and the Directory Online).

An APPIC subscription form can be found on the APPIC website (www.appic.org) - click on the Joining APPIC link for more information.

APPIC DIRECTORY

APPIC Directory is available in a PDF Format on the APPIC Homepage. To access the electronic file go to our web address www.appic.org.

Doctoral Program Associate forms and orders, including payment, should be sent to APPIC Central Office at the address listed below.

DIRECTORY INCLUSION CRITERIA

1. In order to be included in the Online or Print Directory dues must be paid by April 1st each year. Inclusion in the Print Directory also requires that the Training Director, or his/her designate, update their program and user information by a designated date in the spring of each year.

2. Certain items of information are critical to applicants and/or are required by APPIC policies. These items are marked with an asterisk in the Directory Online update page. Member updates cannot be submitted for editor approval without entries in each of these required fields. Editor approval is required each year during a designated update period in the spring for the program updates to be included in the Print Directory and to be viewed on the Directory Online.

3. A program's Training Director may make changes to its Directory Online listing at any time. Each Training Director is responsible for ensuring that the program's information listed in the APPIC Directory is accurate and up-to-date. APPIC takes no responsibility for inaccurate or outdated information or for information that has been incorrectly entered by the program.

4. Each APPIC member is entitled to one listing in the Directory. Consortia or collaborative programs and single programs with separate tracks must designate a single Training Director and chief psychologist for their single Directory listing.
APPIC POLICIES

APPIC MEMBER POLICY

Adopted 1994

1. APPIC member programs conform to the basic ethical requirements of the profession as set forth in the current APA Ethical Principles for Psychologists.

2. APPIC member programs demonstrate high regard for human dignity. Dehumanizing practices or other restrictions on the exercise of civil and human rights in any part of the activities of APPIC members is unacceptable. As members of APPIC, training agencies have practices that are nondiscriminatory in regard to race/ethnic background, gender, age, sexual orientation, lifestyle, and disabilities.
APPIC MEMBERSHIP CRITERIA:
DOCTORAL PSYCHOLOGY INTERNSHIP PROGRAMS
(Criteria Revised May 2006; Clarification Revised May 2006)

INTRODUCTION

Internships that are accredited by the American Psychological Association or the Canadian Psychological Association are recognized as meeting APPIC doctoral membership criteria. All others must meet all of the following criteria (i.e., 1 through 16 below) and are reviewed for adherence to the criteria every three years.

EDUCATIONAL NOTE: A program's adherence to APPIC membership criteria does not guarantee that the trainees in the program will meet individual state, provincial, or territorial licensing requirements.

CRITERIA AND CLARIFICATION (Criteria In Bold)

1. A psychology internship is an organized training program which, in contrast to supervised experience or on-the-job training, is designed to provide the intern with a planned, programmed sequence of training experiences. The primary focus and purpose is assuring breadth and quality of training.

Clarification:

The organization of an internship program is evident in a clear:

a. statement of the goals and objectives of the training activities.

b. description of the plan, location, and sequence of direct service experiences.

c. description of the training curriculum; i.e., the content, duration, and frequency of the training activities.

d. description of how the psychology training program is integrated into the larger organization.

For programs with multiple sites, the services rendered by interns, the supervision offered, and the training director's involvement is clearly described at each site.

2. The internship agency has a clearly designated doctoral level staff psychologist who is responsible for the integrity and quality of the training program. This person is actively licensed, certified, or registered by the State Board of Examiners in the jurisdiction where the program exists, and is present at the training facility for a minimum of 20 hours a week.
Clarification:

The internship is administered by a doctoral level licensed (certified or registered for independent practice) psychologist who:

a. directs and organizes the training program and its resources.
b. is responsible for selection of interns.
c. monitors and evaluates the training program's goals and activities.
d. documents and maintains interns' training records.

3. The internship agency training staff consists of at least two full time equivalent doctoral level psychologists who serve as primary supervisors and who are actively licensed, certified, or registered as a psychologist by the Board of Examiners in the jurisdiction where the program exists.

Clarification:

"Full time equivalent" typically refers to 40 hours/week. However, there may be a range of hours that qualify as "full time equivalent" depending on the norms of the program. 35 hours/week is the minimum that will qualify for "full time equivalent" for APPIC member programs. "Full time" for interns could also be set at 35 hours/week if this meets licensure requirements in your jurisdiction. APPIC believes supervisor expectations should be similar to intern expectations.

It is expected that interns receive supervision during the year from at least two different supervisors. Interns' primary clinical supervision and role modeling must be provided by psychologists on the program's staff who are licensed (certified or registered) for independent practice at the doctoral level and who are:

a. officially designated as psychology intern supervisors.
b. significantly involved in the operation of the training program.

4. Intern supervision is provided by staff members of the internship agency or by qualified affiliates of that agency who carry clinical responsibility for the cases being supervised. Regularly scheduled individual supervision is provided by one or more doctoral level licensed psychologists, at a ratio of no less than one hour of supervision for every 20 internship hours. Supervision is provided with the specific intent of dealing with psychological services rendered directly by the intern.

Clarification:

Supervisors need to be clearly designated by the agency as clinically responsible for the cases (for example, countersigning documentation or having their name on the treatment plan or case summary). Depending on clinical needs, increased hours of supervision are expected. The required hours shall be through face-to-face individual supervision (rural sites may use visual telecommunication technology in unusual circumstances and when face-to-face supervision is impractical, but must demonstrate that such technology provides sufficient oversight). Programs shall adhere to all requirements of their state licensing boards.

5. The internship provides training in a range of psychological assessment and intervention activities conducted directly with recipients of psychological services.

Clarification:

Internship training in Psychology is primarily based on experiential learning which:

a. provides psychological services directly to consumers in the form of psychological assessment, treatment, and consultation.

b. exposes interns to a variety of types of psychological services and consumers.

6. At least 25% of trainees' time is in face-to-face psychological services to patients/clients.

7. The internship must provide at least two hours per week in didactic activities such as case conferences, seminars, in-service training, or grand rounds.

Clarification:

The Psychology training program should have scheduled didactic experiences available to meet the training needs of their interns. Didactic activities refers to actual training opportunities and should include training activities beyond Intern Case Presentations.

8. Internship training is at post-clerkship, post-practicum, and post-externship level, and precedes the granting of the doctoral degree.

Clarification:

Interns must have completed adequate and appropriate prerequisite training prior to the internship. This would include both:

a. completion of formal academic coursework at a degree-granting program in professional psychology (clinical, counseling, school), and

b. closely supervised experiential training in professional psychology skills conducted in non-classroom settings.
9. The internship agency has a minimum of two interns at the predoctoral level of training during any training year. These interns must be at least half-time (i.e., 20 hours per week). The minimum number of interns must be on site and in training at the time of the initial application for APPIC membership.

Clarification:

The intention of this criterion is to allow opportunities for personal (face-to-face) interaction with peers in formal settings in the training program and on the training site during each training week. Part-time internships must ensure that intern schedules sufficiently overlap to allow substantial and meaningful peer contact.

10. The internship level psychology trainees have a title such as "intern," "resident," "fellow," or other designation of trainee status.

11. The internship agency has a written statement or brochure which provides a clear description of the nature of the training program, including the goals and content of the internship and clear expectations for quantity and quality of the trainee's work. It is made available to prospective interns.

Clarification:

Internship programs must make available descriptions of their training program which give their applicants and interns a clear understanding of the program in terms of:

a. the program's training goals and objectives.

b. the program's training methods, content, and curriculum (for example, required rotations, sample weekly schedules, or available training seminars).

c. the program's training resources (e.g., training/supervisory staff, physical facilities and training equipment, clerical support, etc.)

d. the sites at which training and services are provided. For programs with multiple sites, clear descriptions are given for each site of services rendered by interns, supervision offered, and involvement of the training director.

Clarification: APPIC must be notified in writing of substantive changes to the training program (personnel, placements, etc.) that have the potential to impact quality of training or which substantially alters the advertised training experience. The training program is likewise responsible for maintaining an up-to-date and accurate description of the program in the APPIC Directory.

12. Internship programs have documented due process procedures that describe separately how programs deal with (1) concerns about intern performance, and (2) interns' concerns about training. These procedures include the steps of notice, hearing, and appeal, and are given to the interns at the beginning of the training period.

Clarification:

Due process procedures describe how an agency deals with intern deficiencies and how the interns’ handle grievances with the training program. The documentation would include:

a. description of formal evaluation and complaint procedures.

b. the program's and intern's responsibilities and rights in the process.

c. the appeal process.

d. description of procedures if interns have grievances about their training or supervision.

Programs need two written policies: (1) Due Process and (2) Grievance Process. The procedures must be specific to the internship training program; reliance on a more general HR policy is insufficient. Both procedures should be provided to interns at the commencement of training.

Due Process is a written procedure that comes into use when an intern's behavior is problematic. (The use of the term "impaired" is discouraged because if one identifies an intern by that term, legal issues having to do with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) could be invoked.) Due process must include three elements: Notice (i.e. the intern must be notified that problematic behavior has been identified and that the internship is addressing the problem); Hearing (i.e. the program must have a formal process by which the identified problematic intern has an opportunity to hear concerns and to respond to the concerns); and Appeal (i.e. the intern must have an opportunity to appeal the actions taken by the program in regards to the identified problematic behavior. The appeal should extend at least one step beyond the Training Director).

A Grievance Procedure is a process that is invoked when an intern has a complaint against the training program. The procedure should include specific steps an intern takes in the complaint process and be broad enough to cover any and all complaints that may arise for interns (e.g. complaints about evaluations, supervision, stipends/salary, harassment, etc.)

13. The internship experience (minimum 1500 hours) must be completed in no less than 9 months and no more than 24 months.

Clarification:

Internships may be conducted on a full or part-time basis. Only School Psychology programs will be accepted for 9-10 month internships.

14. APPIC member programs are required to issue a certificate of internship completion, which includes the word "Psychology," to all interns who have successfully completed the program.
15. At least twice a year the internship program conducts formal written evaluations of each trainee's performance.

Clarification:

The written evaluation process provides comprehensive evaluative feedback to doctoral psychology interns as follows:

a. The evaluation provides summary information of performance in all major competence areas that are a focus of internship training.

b. Interns have the opportunity to review their evaluation with supervisors to ensure the fullest possible communication between supervisors and interns.

c. Evaluation procedures provide feedback that validates trainees' achievements by noting areas of unusual strength and excellence and facilitate trainees' further growth by identifying areas that would benefit from additional training.

d. The program provides the doctoral psychology intern's graduate training director with feedback concerning the intern's progress in the internship program.

16. The program has the necessary financial resources to achieve its training goals and objectives. Intern stipends shall be reasonable, fair, and stated clearly in advance. Unfunded internship positions are allowable only in unusual and infrequent circumstances.

Clarification:

APPIC requires internship positions to be equitably funded across the site. Intern stipends shall be set at a level that is representative and fair in relationship to the geographic location and clinical setting of the training site. Stipends should be reasonable based on a comparison with other APPIC member programs in your area. Unfunded or poorly funded internship positions are allowed only in unusual and infrequent circumstances in which the creation of such a position would serve to alleviate a hardship for the potential intern candidate. The "burden of evidence" lies with the program to demonstrate that the lack of funding does not adversely affect morale or quality of training. In addition, training resources should be sufficient to afford the same training for an unfunded or poorly funded position as for fully funded positions.

The payment of a stipend is a concrete acknowledgment that a trainee in the agency is valued and emphasizes that the primary task of the year is educational in nature. Stipends are generally lower than a salary received by a regular employee and implies that there is a significant training component in addition to experiential learning. Stipends are equal among trainees unless there is an extenuating circumstance (e.g., specialized skills, consortia agreements). This distinction between trainee and regular employee emphasizes that an internship is "an organized training program, in contrast to supervised experience or on-the-job training."

GRANDPARENTING PROVISION: Programs that were current APPIC members on the date of implementation of this criterion (May 2006), but do not meet the criterion or clarification on that date, must request an exception at the time of each membership renewal. An exception may be granted if the program demonstrates that they have made reasonable efforts to secure funding and describes its plan to obtain future funding in order to meet this criterion.
APPIC MEMBERSHIP CRITERIA:
POSTDOCTORAL TRAINING PROGRAMS
(Criteria Revised May 2006; Clarification Revised May 2006)

INTRODUCTION

Postdoctoral training programs that are accredited by the American Psychological Association are recognized as meeting the APPIC Postdoctoral Membership criteria. All others must meet all of the following criteria (i.e., 1 through 14 below) and are reviewed for adherence to the criteria every three years.

EDUCATIONAL NOTE: A program's adherence to APPIC membership criteria does not guarantee that the trainees in the program will meet individual state, provincial, or territorial licensing requirements.

1. A postdoctoral training program is an organized experience which, in contrast to on-the-job training, is designed to provide the Fellow with a planned, programmed sequence of supervised training experiences. The primary task is advanced training in an area of professional psychology.

1. Clarification:

The organization of a postdoctoral program is evident in a clear:

- a. statement of the goals and objectives of the training activities.
- b. description of the training plan, location, and sequence of direct service experiences.
- c. description of the training curriculum: i.e., the content, duration, and frequency of the training activities.
- d. description of how the psychology training program is integrated into the larger organization.

For programs with multiple sites, the services rendered by the Fellow, the supervision provided, and the training director's involvement is clearly described for each site.

2. The postdoctoral program has a designated psychologist who is clearly responsible for the integrity and quality of the training program, who has administrative authority commensurate with those responsibilities, and who is licensed as a psychologist in the jurisdiction where the program exists. This director has expertise in an area of postdoctoral training offered and has credentials of excellence such as the American Board of Professional Psychology diploma, status as a Fellow in APA or CPA, record of active research productivity, or clear evidence of professional competence and leadership.
Clarification:

The postdoctoral program is administered by a doctoral level licensed (certified or registered for independent practice) psychologist who:

a. directs and organizes the training program and its resources.

b. is responsible for selection of Fellows.

c. monitors and evaluates the training program's goals and activities.

d. documents and maintains Fellows' training records.

3. The sponsoring institution has two or more psychologists on staff who are currently licensed as psychologists in the jurisdiction in which the program exists. The postdoctoral program has a training faculty which includes at least one psychologist with expertise in each area of postdoctoral training offered and has credentials of excellence such as a Fellow in APA or CPA, record of active research productivity, or clear evidence of professional competence and leadership in that program focus area.

Clarification:

Postdoctoral Fellows' primary clinical supervision and role modeling must be provided by psychologists licensed (certified or registered) for independent practice at the doctoral level on the program's staff who:

a. are officially designated as postdoctoral program supervisors.

b. are significantly involved in the training program.

c. show evidence of expertise in the focus area(s) of the training program.

4. The postdoctoral program includes a minimum of two hours per week of regularly scheduled, face-to-face individual supervision with the specific intent of supervising the psychological services rendered directly by the Fellow. This supervision is provided by staff members of the sponsoring institution who carry professional practice responsibility for the cases being supervised and are licensed as psychologists in the jurisdiction in which the program exists.

Clarification:

Supervisors need to be clearly designated by the agency as professionally responsible for the cases (for example, countersigning documentation or having their name on the treatment plan or case summary). Two hours of regularly scheduled, face-to-face, individual supervision by a licensed psychologist should be provided weekly regardless of whether the postdoctoral program is one year full-time or two years half-time.
5. In addition to individual supervision, the program includes at least two additional hours per week in learning activities, such as: case conferences involving cases in which the Fellow is actively involved; seminars dealing with clinical issues; co-therapy with a staff person, including discussion; group supervision; or additional individual supervision.

Clarification:

Above and beyond the two hours of individual supervision each Fellow receives weekly, the Postdoctoral Program should provide two hours per week of additional learning experiences, regardless of whether the program is one year full-time or two years half-time. These learning experiences should be regularly scheduled, and may include but are not limited to additional individual or group supervision, seminars, case conferences, workshops, or co-therapy with a supervisor. Clear descriptions of the learning activities should be provided.

6. At least 25% of the Fellow's time is in professional psychological services.

Clarification:

A minimum of 25% of the Fellow's time should be spent in provision of professional psychological services to patients/clients, students, consultees, and/or agencies. These services may include but are not limited to assessment, intervention, consultation, policy making, program design and implementation, provision of supervision, and clinical research.

7. Admission requirements include completion of all professional doctoral degree requirements from a regionally accredited institution of higher education or an APA/CPA-accredited program and predoctoral internship meeting APPIC standards. This is defined as having on the first day of the fellowship either the diploma in hand or a letter from the Director of graduate studies verifying the completion of all degree requirements pending institution graduation ceremony.

APA guidelines on specialty change are followed. Fellows having completed doctoral studies in fields other than clinical, counseling, or school psychology must have received a certificate of equivalency from an APA/CPA accredited university program attesting to their having met APA/CPA standards, including internship.

Clarification:

Postdoctoral Fellows must have completed the doctoral degree before beginning their postdoctoral training. At a minimum, Fellows must have completed all requirements for the doctoral degree from a regionally accredited institution of higher learning, including an internship meeting APPIC standards.

a. If the Postdoctoral Training Program requires that Fellows possess a doctoral degree from an APA- or CPA-accredited program, it need not state the requirement that it be a regionally accredited institution of higher learning. In this case, the brochure should state that Fellows must have completed all doctoral degree requirements from an APA/CPA-accredited program.
b. If the Postdoctoral Training Program requires that Fellows have completed an APA- or CPA-accredited internship, it need not state the requirement that it meets APPIC standards. In this case, the brochure should state that Fellows must have completed an APA/CPA-accredited internship.

c. If the Postdoctoral Training Program does not require completion of an APA- or CPA-accredited doctoral degree program or an APA- or CPA-accredited internship, the brochure should state that Fellows must have completed all professional doctoral degree requirements from a regionally accredited institution of higher education, including an internship meeting APPIC standards.

d. If the Postdoctoral Training Program accepts applications from individuals who have previously received a doctoral degree in some area of psychology other than clinical, counseling or school, the brochure should state that such applicants must have received a certificate of equivalency from an APA/CPA accredited university program designed for the "retraining" of such psychologists, attesting to completion of all requirements, including an internship meeting APPIC standards.

8. The postdoctoral agency has a minimum of one full-time equivalent postdoctoral Fellow at the postdoctoral level of training. This postdoctoral Fellow must be on site and in training at the time of initial application for APPIC Membership.

Clarification:

The agency must have a minimum of one full-time Fellow or two half-time Fellows in training at the time of initial application for APPIC Membership, and should maintain this minimum for any period of training. In special circumstances, such as changes in funding or reorganization, the Postdoctoral Training Program may maintain APPIC Membership for up to one year without training Fellows, as long as the training program is otherwise in good standing.

9. Postdoctoral trainees have a title, such as "Intern," "Resident," "Fellow," or other designation of trainee status.

Clarification:

The title should indicate the Fellow is in training, and it is helpful if the title distinguishes the Fellow from other trainees, e.g., if the title "Intern," is used, then the full title should be "Postdoctoral Intern," to distinguish the Fellow from those completing a predoctoral internship.

10. The sponsoring institution has a written statement or brochure made available to prospective Fellows which describes the goals and content of the program, program organization, entrance requirements, program faculty/staff, and mechanisms for Fellow evaluation.

Clarification:

Postdoctoral training programs must make available descriptions of their training programs which give applicants and Fellows a clear understanding of the program in terms of:
a. the program's training goals and objectives.

b. the program's training methods, content, and curriculum, including rotations offered or required, seminars, supervision, and other training experiences.

c. the program's training resources, including training/supervisory staff, physical facilities, training support.

d. the sites at which training and services are provided. For programs with multiple sites, clear descriptions are given for each site of services rendered by Fellows, supervision offered, and involvement of the Director of Training.

e. specific application requirements. Postdoctoral programs must clearly indicate that applicants must have completed all requirements for the doctoral degree before beginning their postdoctoral training, and that they must have received the doctoral degree from an APA/CPA-accredited program or from a "regionally accredited institution of higher education," including an APA/CPA-accredited internship or an internship "meeting APPIC standards," as described in Criteria #7.

f. methods of Fellow evaluation, including the frequency of evaluation (a minimum of 2 written evaluations per year) and an indication of due process procedures in the event of a grievance.

g. licensure requirements for postdoctoral supervised practice. Programs must indicate whether satisfactory completion of the postdoctoral training program meets postdoctoral supervised practice requirements for licensure or certification in the jurisdiction within which the program resides.

11. Postdoctoral programs have documented due process procedures, including notice, hearing, and appeal for postdoctoral trainees. The procedures are given to postdoctoral trainees at the beginning of the postdoctoral training period.

Clarification:

Due process procedures describe how an agency deals with postdoctoral fellows' deficiencies and how the postdoctoral fellows handle grievances with the training program. The documentation would include:

a. a description of formal evaluation and complaint procedures.

b. the program's and fellow's responsibilities and rights in the process.

c. the appeal process.

d. a description of procedures if fellows have grievances about their training or supervision.

Programs need two written policies: (1) Due Process and (2) Grievance Process. The procedures must be specific to the postdoctoral fellowship training program; reliance on a more general HR policy is insufficient. Both procedures should be provided to postdoctoral fellows at the commencement of training.
Due Process is a written procedure that comes into use when a postdoctoral fellow’s behavior is problematic. (The use of the term “impaired” is discouraged because if one identifies a postdoctoral fellow by that term, legal issues having to do with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) could be invoked.) Due process must include three elements: Notice (i.e. the postdoctoral fellow must be notified that problematic behavior has been identified and that the postdoctoral fellow is addressing the problem); Hearing (i.e. the program must have a formal process by which the identified problematic postdoctoral fellow has an opportunity to hear concerns and to respond to the concerns); and Appeal (i.e. the postdoctoral fellow must have an opportunity to appeal the actions taken by the program in regards to the identified problematic behavior. The appeal should extend at least one step beyond the Training Director).

A Grievance Procedure is a process that is invoked when a postdoctoral fellow has a complaint against the training program. The procedure should include specific steps a postdoctoral fellow takes in the complaint process and be broad enough to cover any and all complaints that may arise for fellows (e.g. complaints about evaluations, supervision, stipends/salary, harassment, etc.).

12. The postdoctoral training program (minimum 1500 hours) must be completed in no less than 9 months and no more than 24 months (two years half-time). Depending on the area and standards of specialty practice, a postdoctoral program may be more than one year.

Clarification:

Postdoctoral training programs may be part-time or full-time experiences, and must be completed in not less than nine months, and not more than two years. Fellows must receive two hours per week of individual supervision and two hours per week of additional training activities as described in Criteria #4 and #5, regardless of their full-time or part-time status.

13. A certificate of completion is granted upon fulfillment of the program requirements.

Clarification:

The certificate should clearly indicate:

a. the name of the institution, organization or agency.

b. the postdoctoral nature of the training program.

c. the focus area of the training program, if applicable.

d. beginning and ending dates of the Fellow’s training.
The Director of Training should sign the certificate.

Example: the XYZ University certifies that Jane Doe, Ph.D. has successfully completed a postdoctoral fellowship in Clinical Psychology from September 1, 2001 to August 31, 2002.

14. The program has the necessary financial resources to achieve its training goals and objectives. Postdoctoral stipends shall be reasonable, fair, and stated clearly in advance. Unfunded postdoctoral positions are allowable only in unusual and infrequent circumstances.

Clarification:

APPIC requires postdoctoral positions to be equitably funded across the site. Postdoctoral stipends shall be set at a level that is representative and fair in relationship to the geographic location and clinical setting of the training site. Stipends should be reasonable based on a comparison with other APPIC member programs in your area. Unfunded or poorly funded postdoctoral positions are allowed only in unusual and infrequent circumstances in which the creation of such a position would serve to alleviate a hardship for the potential postdoctoral candidate. The “burden of evidence” lies with the program to demonstrate that the lack of funding does not adversely affect morale or quality of training. In addition, training resources should be sufficient to afford the same training for an unfunded or poorly funded position as for fully funded positions.

The payment of a stipend is a concrete acknowledgment that a trainee in the agency is valued and emphasizes that the primary task of the year is educational in nature. Stipends are generally lower than a salary received by a regular employee and implies that there is a significant training component in addition to experiential learning. Stipends are equal among trainees unless there is an extenuating circumstance (e.g., specialized skills, consortia agreements). This distinction between trainee and regular employee emphasizes that a postdoctoral fellowship is "an organized training program, in contrast to supervised experience or on-the-job training."

GRANDPARENTING PROVISION: Programs that were current APPIC members on the date of implementation of this criterion (May 2006), but do not meet the criterion or clarification on that date, must request an exception at the time of each membership renewal. An exception may be granted if the program demonstrates that they have made reasonable efforts to secure funding and describes its plan to obtain future funding in order to meet this criterion.
In addition to meeting the APPIC membership criteria for Doctoral Psychology Internship Programs or Postdoctoral Training Programs, consortia programs must demonstrate evidence of the following:

1. A primary consortium director or co-directors must be present at one or more of the training facilities for at least 20 hours a week.

   Clarification:

   The program is administered by a doctoral level licensed (certified or registered) for independent practice psychologist or psychologists who:

   1. must be at one facility at least 20 hrs./week and can be at additional facilities for additional hours beyond the 20 hours spent at the first facility.

   2. coordinates and organizes the consortium-wide training program and its resources.

   3. coordinates the selection of interns or post-doctoral residents.

   4. monitors and evaluates the training program's goals and activities.

   5. oversees the documentation and maintenance of interns' or post-doctoral residents' training records.

2. Each agency or site has at least one clearly designated, appropriately credentialed doctoral level staff psychologist who is responsible for the integrity and quality of training and present at the agency/site for a minimum of 20 hours per week.

   Clarification:

   At each site there is a doctoral level licensed (certified or registered) for independent practice psychologist who:

   1. directs and organizes the training program and its resources at that site.

   2. is involved in the selection of interns and/or post-doctoral residents.

   3. monitors and evaluates the training program's goals and activities at that site.

   4. is responsible for documenting and maintaining interns' and/or post-doctoral residents' training records at that site.
5. regularly participates in the consortium wide training faculty/staff meetings.

3. Regularly scheduled consortium-wide activities, including formal, didactic face-to-face contact among trainees at least monthly; ongoing informal contact among trainees across sites; and structured faculty meetings at least quarterly.

Clarification:

The Psychology training program should have scheduled didactic experiences available to meet the training needs of their interns and/or post-doctoral residents.

a. Provide a schedule of face-to-face contacts when all the interns or post-doctoral residents are together including dates, hours, topics covered, and presenters.

b. Describe opportunities for ongoing informal contact among trainees (e.g., listserv, scheduled lunches).

c. At least quarterly training faculty/staff meetings, where faculty discuss issues related to the overall program, interns’/post-doctoral residents’ performance and program evaluation.

4. A formal plan outlining the didactic activities and procedures provided in the training program.

Clarification:

A description of the complete training program for each site must be provided.

a. Please refer to Clarification #3a for Consortia programs above as well as Item #1 for Doctoral Criteria and Item #1 for Post-Doctoral Criteria.

b. Information should be provided for all training that is provided throughout the consortia, as well as all training that is provided specific to each site.

c. If this information is already well documented elsewhere, please reference to those sections of the report.

5. Assurance of trainee contact with more than one supervisor.

Clarification:

Interns’ primary clinical supervision and role modeling must be provided by two or more psychologists licensed (certified or registered) for independent practice at the doctoral level within the consortium who are:

a. officially designated as psychology intern or post-doctoral resident supervisors.
b. significantly involved in the operation of the training program.

6. A written consortia contractual agreement delineating:

   o the nature and characteristics of the participating entities;

   o the rationale for the consortial partnership;

   o each partner's commitment to the training/education program, its philosophy, model, and goals;

   o each partner's obligations regarding contributions and access to resources;

   o each partner's adherence to central control and coordination of the training program;

   o each partner's commitment to uniform administration and implementation of the program's training principles, policies, and procedures addressing trainee/student admission, financial support, training resource access, potential performance expectations, and evaluations (Guidelines and Principles for Accreditation of Programs in Professional Psychology; Committee on Accreditation of the American Psychological Association); and o due process procedures including notice, hearing and appeal.

Clarification:

This document should be signed and dated by an individual with administrative authority (such as Director, Executive Director, Director of Finance, or Department Chair) from each of the agencies within the consortia. It is advisable that the Director of Training of the consortia internship training program also sign the agreement.

h. The documentation should clarify the length and duration of the contract, as well as the renewal process.

i. This document should be binding for at least the duration of the internship/post-doc program training year.

j. This document should be reviewed annually by the training faculty.

k. Due process procedures describe how each agency within the consortia deals with problematic intern performance issues and how the interns' grievances with the training program are handled. The documentation would include:

   ▪ the formal evaluation and complaint procedures;

   ▪ the program's and intern's responsibilities and rights in the process;

   ▪ the appeal process;
- procedures if interns have grievances about their training or supervision.

1. Consortia member sites should document that these due process procedures have been reviewed in their consortia-wide training faculty/staff meetings. The training faculty/staff should determine the compatibility of their procedures. Given the constraints of each site, where possible procedures should be made comparable.

m. Please describe how you will inform APPIC within one month that there have been significant changes in any aspect of the program outlined above (e.g., leadership, site membership).

Guidelines for Development of Consortia

Revised July 2, 2003

Preface: What is a Consortium?

A consortium is comprised of multiple (more than one) independent agencies that have joined together to offer a well-rounded, unified psychology training program. A formal written agreement among the agencies in which lines of responsibility and financial commitments are delineated creates the consortium. The trainees (a) physically work at the multiple sites (or some combination thereof), and/or (b) obtain training from one primary site with some experience at or exposure to aspects of the other setting(s) that their primary site does not offer. Agencies within a consortium complement each other rather than duplicate strengths and weaknesses.

1. What is the purpose or rationale for a consortium? How can that purpose be assured?

   The purpose of a consortium is to pool the resources of more than one site to enhance and ensure the quality of training provided to interns and/or postdoctoral fellows. Consortia agencies each have a unique training objective that, when combined with other sites in a consortium, enhance and complement the overall mission of the consortium. In some cases, isolated agencies within a consortium cannot meet certain APPIC criteria for an internship or postdoctoral fellowship (e.g., they lack breadth of training experiences or resources to fund more than one trainee or licensed psychologist, etc.), but are able to contribute to a comprehensive training program when various types of resources are combined.

   Together (but perhaps not independently), the sites are able to meet APPIC requirements, which include:

   - provide breadth of training experiences;
   - increase exposure to a variety of service delivery options;
   - maximize trainees' exposure to a range of theoretical and professional orientations;
   - enhance trainees' experiences with diverse populations;
   - increase exposure to broad-based and diverse professional resources; and provide efficient mechanism for ensuring trainee interaction and collegiality. Trainee refers to a psychology intern and/or postdoctoral fellow.

2. When should a program be considered a consortium or several independent sites?

Consortia should have a clearly articulated mission that can only be met by a consortial arrangement and a unified perspective on training. Regular, ongoing communication and direct interaction should occur among licensed psychologists serving as training directors at each site. The purposes of these communications are to (a) monitor training needs and remain responsive to training issues as they arise, (b) ensure adequacy of individual sites at providing quality training experiences, and (c) consider means by which needs unique to the consortium can be met.

- Regular, ongoing, meaningful formal and informal communication and direct interaction occurs among trainees in a consortium (and may not occur among independent sites). Trainee meetings occurring at least monthly are recommended.
- Resources are shared among agencies to benefit trainees and the overall training program, such as staff expertise, research opportunities, university privileges, journal libraries, in-services, and unique supervision opportunities.

3. What are the criteria needed for a consortium?

Please refer to the Consortia Guidelines and Clarification Document for the answer to this question.

4. Can a site be both free standing and part of a consortium? Or must it be one or the other?

Consortia sites must make a commitment to one model of training (i.e., they cannot be a free-standing internship or postdoctoral fellowship and a member of a consortium). This ensures that adequate attention to important and unique consortia issues remain focal to all agencies within the arrangement, and minimize internal competition for trainees, role and responsibility confusion among participants, and other sources of potential conflict of interest.

5. If an established consortium accepts a new member into the consortium, what impact does that have on their APPIC membership?

Consortia should have the flexibility and ability to add new members (or omit existing members) when necessary to sustain their mission. New applicant agencies should apply directly to the consortium, which should have established membership criteria consistent with their mission statement and in compliance with APPIC criteria. The consortium must notify APPIC in writing within 30 days of adding a new member to the consortium, omitting a current member, or other major change. Documentation should also include changes to the APPIC application face sheet, revised tables (A, B,C), and a new signed and dated consortium agreement. The change will be reviewed by the APPIC Internship Membership Review Committee or Postdoctoral Review Committee to insure ongoing adherence to the Membership criteria.
The Committees reviewing the materials will then decide whether the change(s) warrants having the consortium reviewed at an earlier date than the normal, formal three-year review cycle for non-APA accredited programs. Consortium programs maintain their APPIC Membership during the review process. Only non-APA/CPA accredited programs need to have a formal review.

New applicant agencies should submit a formal request for consideration that includes a clear description of:

- the goals and objectives of the training activities;
- the plan, location, and sequence of direct service experiences;
- the training curriculum; i.e., the content, duration, and frequency of the training activities;
- a supervision plan, including the person responsible, number of hours devoted to supervision per week, and on-going availability of the supervisor; and
- how the psychology training program is integrated into the larger organization.

Agencies should be added to the consortium based on careful and thoughtful consideration of variables such as:

- How the applicant agency contributes to the unique mission of the consortium -- for example, does it offer experiences:
  - that are not otherwise available in the consortium (e.g., a diverse population or clientele); and/or
  - in a setting or area that presents unique service-delivery needs (e.g., rural locale)?
- Does the agency agree to the requirements of the consortium -- for example,
  - supervisors' representation at board meetings (if applicable);
  - trainees' attendance at regularly scheduled consortium meetings;
  - continuous annual selection and hiring of trainees, with no more than one year on inactive status; and/or
  - other consortium procedures and practices deemed necessary to maintain ongoing APPIC membership?

Sites that are added to existing APPIC-member consortia may not represent themselves as an independent APPIC member. Further, consortia members are listed only once in the APPIC Membership Directory; each agency is not listed separately.

For new member applicants, independent membership in APPIC is wholly and completely contingent upon successful review by the APPIC Doctoral Membership Committee or the APPIC Postdoctoral Membership and Review Committee.
If a site existing within an existing APPIC member consortia wishes to apply for independent membership, it can retain its status in the consortium while its application is being considered. If approved as an APPIC member, the site must resign from the consortium (i.e., it cannot be an independent member and part of a consortium simultaneously).

If two or more sites within an existing APPIC-member consortium wish to leave and create a new consortium, they will be reviewed as new member applicants and must submit all materials that would be required from a first time applicant. Their application would be reviewed by the APPIC Doctoral Membership Committee, or by the APPIC Postdoctoral Membership and Review Committee. Their prior status as APPIC members based on their relationship within a consortium is not sufficient to warrant continued membership status.

6. Do consortia internship programs have different needs from single site programs with regard to the APPIC Match?

Some consortia do have relatively complex needs for the internship selection process. However, the APPIC Match has a number of features that provide consortia with considerable flexibility in selecting interns. For example, a consortium can specify that it has multiple "programs" (e.g., rotations, training opportunities, sites) in the Match, which allows the Training Director to submit separate ranking lists for each program, and allows applicants to rank each program at the consortia according to their preferences. The instructions from National Matching Services (NMS) provide extensive information about these options, and the APPIC Match Coordinator and NMS are available for consultation as needed.
2010-2011 APPIC MATCH POLICIES

Phase I of the Match - For all participating applicants and programs.

- The Rank Order List Submission Deadline is February 9, 2011 at 11:59 p.m. EST.
- Results of the Match will be released on APPIC Phase I Match Day, February 25, 2011.

Phase II of the Match - Positions that remain unfilled in Phase I will be offered in Phase II. Applicants who do not obtain a position in Phase I (e.g., those who withdraw or remain unmatched) will be eligible to participate in Phase II.

- The Application Deadline is March 3, 2011 at 11:00 a.m. EST.
- The Rank Order List Submission Deadline is March 21, 2011 at 11:59 p.m. EST.
- Results of the Match will be released on APPIC Phase II Match Day, March 28, 2011.

1. These policies apply to all participants in the APPIC Match, including APPIC member internship programs, non-APPIC member internship programs, and student applicants.

   a. All participants shall abide by their agreements with APPIC for participation in the APPIC Match.

   b. Internship training directors must ensure that all people involved in recruiting or selecting interns understand and adhere to these policies.

   c. Directors of APPIC Doctoral Program Associates and other doctoral programs with students participating in the APPIC Match are requested to ensure that their students understand and adhere to these policies.

   d. Violations of APPIC Match Policies or Match Agreements by applicants or programs may result in sanctions by APPIC (e.g., being barred from future Matches) or legal action by other Match participants. In addition, violations by applicants may result in disciplinary action by the applicants' graduate and/or internship programs.

2. Internship programs must offer all of their internship positions in Phase I of the APPIC Match.

   a. Positions whose funding is not assured should not be offered in the Match.

   b. Positions that are left unfilled in Phase I of the Match must be offered in Phase II of the Match, in accordance with paragraphs 8b and 8c below.

   c. Positions that are not offered in Phase I of the Match cannot be offered in Phase II of the Match. Such positions can be offered to applicants only after the results of Phase II of the Match are released, in accordance with paragraph 9 and its subparagraphs below.

3. For both Phase I and Phase II of the APPIC Match, the AAPI Online application service must be used by applicants to apply to all internship programs that are participating in the Match. For both Phases of the Match, all applications must be submitted using the AAPI Online, and no site may request a printed copy of an applicant's application materials.

a. All programs participating in Phase II of the Match must accept applications until the application deadline for Phase II established by APPIC. Programs may elect to continue accepting applications for Phase II beyond the application deadline, but are not required to do so.

4. For Phase I of the Match, internship programs that conduct on-site or telephone interviews must make a reasonable effort to notify every applicant who submits a complete set of application materials as to his/her interview status.

b. Sites that conduct open houses to which all applicants are invited and conduct no other interviews are exempt from this interview notification requirement (this process should be clearly stated in the APPIC Directory Online and/or sites' publicity materials).

c. Notification of interview status for Phase I of the Match must occur no later than the interview notification date that appears in the program's APPIC Directory Online listing and/or other publicity materials, and may be communicated via e-mail, telephone, regular mail (to be received no later than the interview notification date), or other means.

d. For Phase II of the Match, notification of interview status is not required.

5. Participants in the APPIC Match, including applicants and internship programs, may not communicate, solicit, accept, or use any ranking-related information pertaining to either Phase of the Match prior to the release of the results for Phase II of the Match.

a. Internship programs must include the following statement on their web sites and in their brochures: "This internship site agrees to abide by the APPIC policy that no person at this training facility will solicit, accept, or use any ranking-related information from any intern applicant."

b. Internship programs may choose to inform applicants as to whether or not the applicants remain under consideration for admission (e.g., whether or not the applicants will be ranked) but may not communicate any other ranking information. The spirit of this item precludes any communication of rankings for either Phase of the Match prior to the release of the results for Phase II of the Match, however "veiled" or indirect such communication might be. However, sites and applicants are allowed to communicate about matters that do not involve the sharing of ranking information.
c. Internship programs and applicants may never solicit information regarding applicants' and programs' rankings at any time, either during the Match or after the Match results are released.

d. Internship sites that offer more than one program in the APPIC Match (i.e., sites with more than one program code number) are expected to ask applicants to identify the site's programs to which they are applying. In addition, these sites may, for the sole purpose of arranging interviews, ask applicants to designate their preferences regarding the programs at the site for which they wish to be interviewed. These sites may request interview preference information only when it is essential for making interview arrangements, and such information may not be used for any other purpose in the selection process. Furthermore, these sites may not solicit any information about applicants' final rankings of programs. Sites requesting interview preferences must state clearly in their written materials that these preferences will be used for arranging interviews only and for no other purpose.

e. Any ranking information that is communicated between applicants and internship programs, even though such communication is a violation of these policies, is non-binding and may be changed at any time prior to the Rank Order List submission deadline. The only binding rankings are the confidential Rank Order Lists that are submitted to the APPIC Match.

f. Internship programs may choose to provide applicants with information about the size of the applicant pool.

6. Results of the APPIC Match constitute binding agreements between applicants, internship programs, and APPIC that may not be reversed without APPIC’s consent.

a. Failure to receive timely notification of the APPIC Match results, for any reason, does not constitute a release from the obligations of the APPIC Match.

b. Appointments of applicants to internship positions may be contingent upon the applicants satisfying certain eligibility requirements. Such eligibility requirements must be clearly specified in the internship programs' written materials and provided to applicants in advance of the deadline for submitting rankings for the APPIC Match.

c. Internship training directors are encouraged to contact matched applicants by telephone as soon as possible after 11:00 a.m. Eastern Standard Time on the APPIC Match Day for each Phase of the Match.

d. It is not necessary for internship training directors to contact applicants with whom they have not been matched.

7. Internship training directors must put in writing their appointment agreements with matched applicants in letters postmarked no later than 72 hours following receipt of the APPIC Match results for each Phase of the Match.
a. Letters must be addressed to the applicants and must include confirmation of conditions of the appointment, such as stipend, fringe benefits, and the dates on which the internship begins and ends.

b. Copies of these appointment letters must be sent simultaneously to applicants' academic training directors.

8. Positions that remain unfilled in Phase I of the Match must be offered in Phase II of the Match to applicants who do not obtain a position in Phase I.

a. All applicants who register for Phase I of the Match and who do not obtain a position in Phase I (e.g., those who withdraw or remain unmatched) are eligible to participate in Phase II of the Match. Applicants who match to a position in Phase I are not eligible to participate in Phase II. Applicants who do not register for Phase I cannot register for or participate in Phase II.

b. Only programs that offer positions in Phase I of the Match and have one or more unfilled positions in Phase I are permitted to participate in Phase II of the Match. Internship sites that offer more than one program in the APPIC Match (i.e., sites with more than one program code number) may not shift a position in Phase II of the Match from one unfilled program to another unfilled program, or to a program that does not have an unfilled position in Phase I, and may not change the description of a program that is participating in Phase II.

c. All positions at an internship site that remain unfilled in Phase I of the Match must be offered to applicants in Phase II of the Match. A site can decide not to offer an unfilled position in Phase II only if it decides not to fill the position in the program for the coming year (e.g., anticipated loss of funding, shifting of funding to other purposes). Removing an unfilled position from Phase II of the Match for any other reason requires APPIC approval.

d. Internship programs with positions that remain unfilled in Phase I of the Match may not take any actions to fill these positions prior to 11:00 a.m. Eastern Standard Time on APPIC Phase I Match Day. Applicants who do not obtain a position in Phase I of the Match, along with other individuals acting on their behalf (e.g., doctoral program faculty), may not contact internship programs about unfilled positions prior to 11:00 a.m. Eastern Standard Time on APPIC Phase I Match Day. All applications to programs for Phase II of the Match must be submitted using the AAPI Online, as specified in paragraph 3a above.

9. Upon completion of both Phases of the APPIC Match, internship programs that have one or more open positions may then make other direct offers of admission (verbal or written) to applicants who are not already matched or to applicants who did not participate in the APPIC Match. Applicants who are not matched to a position may then receive other direct offers of admission.

a. Internship programs with open positions after completion of Phase II of the Match may not take any actions to fill these positions prior to 11:00 a.m. Eastern Standard Time on APPIC Phase II Match Day. Applicants who are not matched to a position after completion of both Phases of the Match, along with other individuals acting on their behalf (e.g., doctoral program faculty), may not contact internship programs about open positions prior to 11:00 a.m. Eastern Standard Time on APPIC Phase II Match Day.

b. Prior to making offers to fill open positions, internship training directors must verify with applicants, to the best of their abilities, that the applicants have not previously been matched to other internship programs nor accepted other offers.

c. Prior to making offers to fill open positions, internship training directors must ensure that doctoral programs have verified their applicants' eligibility and readiness for internship. Such verification can occur via a review of the appropriate application materials and/or via direct communication with the doctoral programs.

d. Applicants may not accept an offer if they have been matched or have already accepted an offer from another internship program.

e. An offer (verbal or written) that has been tendered by an internship program and accepted by an applicant constitutes a binding agreement between the program, the applicant, and APPIC that may not be reversed without APPIC's consent.

f. The internship training director must put in writing the appointment agreement with the applicant in a letter postmarked no later than 72 hours following acceptance of the offer by the applicant, as described in paragraphs 7a and 7b above.

10. Individuals who perceive violations of these policies are urged to request compliance with APPIC policies from the appropriate party (parties).

a. Unresolved compliance problems should be resolved informally, whenever possible, through consultation among applicants, internship training directors, academic training directors, and/or APPIC, or by other informal means. APPIC sponsors an "Informal Problem Consultation" process (described on the APPIC web site) that is recommended for use in addressing these issues.

b. Internship training directors who become aware of violations of these policies by other internship training directors should (a) urge the affected applicants and academic training directors to follow the informal resolution procedures described above, (b) directly contact the other internship training directors, and/or (c) use the APPIC "Informal Problem Consultation" process.

c. Perceived violations of APPIC Policies and/or the Match Agreement that are not resolved through the APPIC "Informal Problem Consultation" process may be reported as a formal complaint to the APPIC Standards and Review Committee (ASARC).

11. If a formal complaint is filed with APPIC regarding an alleged violation of these policies, the APPIC Standards and Review Committee (ASARC) will evaluate the allegations and recommend an appropriate course of action to the APPIC Board of Directors. The APPIC Board of Directors is the body that ultimately determines the course of action. ASARC policies are described on the APPIC web site. Formal complaints regarding violations of APPIC policies should be filed by submitting an ASARC Complaint Form (available from the APPIC web site) to:

INTERN APPLICANTS

APPIC has adopted the following policies of the American Psychological Association concerning intern applicants:

(1) Intern applicants shall have completed practicum experience and be enrolled in a doctoral program in professional psychology which requires internship training; or

(2) The internship is an essential component of the training for persons seeking to change to a professional specialty for which they were originally not prepared.

It must be stressed that taking an internship, or acquiring experience in a practicum setting, is not sufficient preparation for becoming a clinical, counseling, or school psychologist without prior training in the relevant specialty area. The internship experience is properly seen as only one element in the change of specialty. Thus, doctoral psychologists who are attempting to qualify as practitioners in an area different from that emphasized in their original training must be certified in writing by a director of a doctoral-level professional psychology training program in the new specialty, as having completed an organized program of didactic and practicum work which is the equivalent of the usual pre-internship preparation in the specialty area. APPIC members will not, therefore, accept applicants who do not meet these and other current policies regarding re-specialization in professional psychology.
Article I. Name

The name of this association shall be the Association of Psychology Postdoctoral and Internship Centers.

Article II. Purpose

The Association is organized and operated to:

• promote high quality training in professional psychology.

• provide a forum for exchanging views; recognizing differences; establishing policies, procedures and contingencies on training matters; and resolving issues for which common agreement is either essential or desirable.

• represent the views of training agencies to groups and organizations whose functions, objectives and/or actions impact our membership.

• facilitate exchange of information between institutions and agencies offering doctoral and postdoctoral professional training and doctoral and postdoctoral students in psychology.

• establish and monitor policies for matching students seeking internships or postdoctoral training with sites providing such training.

Article III. Offices

The principal office of the Association and such other offices as it may establish shall be located at such place or places as may be designated by the Board of Directors.

Article IV. Legislative Powers

Section 1. Vested Powers.

The legislative powers of the Association, including the power to amend the Articles of Incorporation and the bylaws and to specify methods of voting, are vested in the delegates of the member agencies and institutions present and voting at an annual or special meeting or by mail ballot.

Section 2. General Functions.

A. The Association so voting may promulgate policies and recommend procedures relative to standards of internship and postdoctoral levels of training, uniform notification times for internship matches, and other related matters.

B. The Association so voting may instruct its officers and the Board of Directors; authorize the raising of funds and appropriate available monies; create committees or authorize the appointment thereof; and initiate investigations and studies of such problems as it may designate.

C. The Association so voting may employ, or authorize the employment of staff.

D. The Association so voting may take such other actions not in conflict with these bylaws as it deems necessary, expedient or desirable to fulfill and implement its stated purpose.
Article V. Membership

Section 1. Classes and Eligibility.

The Association shall have one class of members: North American doctoral internships and postdoctoral training programs in professional psychology under the director of a licensed psychologist and in accordance with standards and regulations as APPIC shall determine shall be eligible for membership.

Section 2. Membership.

Members shall be duly elected dues paying programs in good standing. Each member program shall be represented by its Training Director or his/her designee. Such a designee shall be a credentialed psychologist actively involved in the administrative or clinical conduct of the member program by whom she/he has been designated. All applicants for membership shall file with the Secretary, or designee, a written application in such form as the Board of Directors shall from time to time determine.

Section 3. Voting Rights.

Each member shall be entitled to one vote on each matter submitted to a vote of the members.

Section 4. Termination of Membership.

The Board of Directors may (a) by a majority vote of those present at any regular constituted meeting, terminate the membership of any member who becomes ineligible for membership or suspend or expel any member who shall be in default in the payment of dues for the period fixed in Article XIV, Section 3 of these bylaws; and (b) by a two-thirds vote of the members of the Board suspend or expel a member for cause after an appropriate hearing.

Section 5. Resignation.

Any member may resign by filing a written resignation with the Secretary, or designee, but such resignation shall not relieve the member so resigning of the obligation to pay any dues, assessments or other charges theretofore accrued and unpaid.

Section 6. Reinstatement.

Upon written request signed by a former member and filed with the Secretary, or designee, the Board of Directors, may, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the members of the Board, reinstate such former member to membership upon such terms as the Board of Directors may deem appropriate if the former member has been inactive for one year or less. If a former member has been inactive for greater than one year, the program must reapply through the formal application process.

Section 7. Transfer of Membership.

Membership in this Association is not transferable or assignable.

Article VI. Membership Meetings

Section 1. Annual Meeting.

An annual meeting of the members shall be held at a time and place designated by the Board of Directors and announced to the membership at least three months in advance for the transaction of such business as may come before the meeting.

Section 2. Special Meeting.

Special meetings of the members may be called by the Chair of the Board of Directors, the Board, or not less than one-tenth of the members having voting rights.

Section 3. Place of Meeting.
The Board of Directors may designate any place as the place of meeting for any annual meeting or for any special meeting called by the Board. If no designation is made or if a special meeting be otherwise called, the place of meeting shall be the registered office of the Association; but if all of the members shall meet at any time and place and consent to the holding of a meeting, such meeting shall be valid without call or notice, and at such meeting any association action may be taken.

Section 4. Notice of Meetings.

Written notice stating the place, day and hour of any meeting of members shall be sent to each member entitled to vote at such meeting, not less than ten nor more than one hundred and fifty days before the date of such meeting, by or at the direction of the Chair, or the Secretary, or the officers or persons calling the meeting. In case of a special meeting or when required by statute or by these bylaws, the purpose or purposes for which the meeting is called shall be stated in the notice. If mailed, the notice of a meeting shall be deemed to be delivered when deposited in the United States mail addressed to the member at his/her address as it appears on the records of the Association, with postage thereon prepaid.

Section 5. Informal Action by Members.

Any action required by law to be taken at a meeting of the members, or any action which may be taken at a meeting of members, may be taken without a meeting if a consent in writing, setting forth the action so taken, shall be signed by all of the members entitled to vote with respect to the subject matter thereto.

Section 6. Quorum.

No less than twenty-five members shall constitute a quorum at any meeting. If a quorum is not present at any meeting of members, a majority of the members present may adjourn the meeting from time to time without further notice.

Section 7. Proxies.

At any meeting of members, a member entitled to vote may vote by proxy executed in writing by the member. No proxy shall be valid after eleven months from the date of its execution, unless otherwise provided in the proxy. Proxies shall be exercised only by other members.

Section 8. Manner of Acting.

A majority of the votes entitled to be cast on a matter to be voted upon by the members present or represented by proxy at a meeting at which a quorum is present shall be necessary for the adoption thereof unless a greater proportion is required by law or by these bylaws.

Section 9. Voting by Mail.

Where the Board of Directors is to be elected by members such election may be conducted by mail in such manner as the Board shall determine.

Article VII. Management of the Association

Section 1. Board of Directors.

The affairs, business, government and management of the Association shall be vested in a Board of Directors.

Section 2. Number, Tenure and Qualifications.

The number of Board of Directors members who are representatives of the members of the association shall be seven. Each member shall hold office for three years and until his/her successor is elected and qualified, subject to restrictions found in these bylaws. Service on the Board of Directors shall be limited to two consecutive terms which must be followed by a three year interval before further terms. This section does not apply to members appointed to fill vacancies on the committee, as provided by Section 5 of this Article. In addition, there will be one member who represents the public. The term for the public member will be three years, or until her/his successor is elected and qualified, subject to restrictions found in these by-laws, and renewable at the pleasure of the Board and the public member.

Section 3. Election to Board of Directors.

Board members who are representatives of the members of the Association shall be elected by members by mail ballot from nominations submitted by the Board prior to the annual meeting of the membership. The ballot shall be deemed to be delivered when deposited in the United States mail addressed to the member at his/her address as it appears on the records of the Association, with postage thereon paid. Ballots shall be returned within 30 days of that date. In case of a tie vote for a single position on the Board, a run-off election shall be held by a special ballot mailed to members. Elections shall be staggered so that no less than two Board members who are representatives of the members of the Association shall be elected each year. The public member of the Board will be elected by the other Board members, after being nominated prior to the annual meeting of the membership.

Section 4. Meetings.

A. Regular Meetings. Two regular meetings of the Board of Directors shall be held without other notice than this bylaw, one immediately before, and at the same place, as the annual meeting of members. The Board may provide by resolution the time and place for the holding of additional regular meetings of the Board without other notice for such resolution.

B. Special Meetings. Special meetings of the Board of Directors may be called by or at the request of the Chair or any two Board members. The person or persons authorized to call special meetings of the Board may fix any place as the place for holding any special meeting of the Board called by them.

C. Notice. Notice of any special meeting of the Board of Directors shall be sent at least two days previous to the meeting to each Board member at his/her address as shown by the records of the Association. Any Board member at any meeting shall constitute a waiver of notice of such meeting, except where a Board member attends a meeting for the express purpose of objecting to the transaction of any business because the meeting is not lawfully called or convened. Neither the business to be transacted at, nor the purpose of, any regular or special meeting of the Board needs to be specified in the notice or waiver of notice of such meeting, unless specifically required by law or by these bylaws.

D. Quorum. A majority of the Board of Directors shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at any meeting of the Board; but if less than a majority of the Board are present at said meeting, a majority of the Board present may adjourn the meeting from time to time without further notice until a quorum is present, when any business may be transacted that may have been transacted at the meeting as originally called.

E. Manner of Acting. The act of a majority of the Board of Directors present at a meeting at which a quorum is present shall be the act of the Board, unless the act of a greater number is required by law or by these bylaws.

Section 5. Vacancies.

Any vacancy occurring in the Board of Directors and any Board position to be filled by reason of an increase in the number of Board members may be filled by the affirmative vote of a majority of the remaining Board. A Board member elected to fill a vacancy shall be elected for the unexpired term of his/her predecessor in office.

Section 6. Compensation.

Board of Directors members as such shall not receive any stated salaries for their services, but by resolution of the Board a fixed sum and expenses of attendance, if any, may be allowed for attendance at each regular or special meeting of the Board; but nothing herein contained shall be construed to preclude any Board member from serving the Association in any other capacity and receiving compensation therefore.
Section 7. Informal Action by Board of Directors.

Any action required by law to be taken at a meeting of the Board, or any action which may be taken at a meeting of the Board, may be taken without a meeting if a consent in writing, setting forth the action so taken, shall be signed by all of the Board members.

Article VIII. Duties and Powers of the Officers and Executive Committee

Section 1. Officers.

The Officers of the Association shall be a Chair, Vice-Chair, a Secretary, a Treasurer, and/or such other officers as may be elected in accordance with the provisions of this Article. The Board of Directors shall elect from among its members the officers it shall deem advisable, such officers to have the authority and perform the duties prescribed, from time to time, by the Board. The term as officer shall be determined by the Board, as it shall deem advisable, but in no event, shall the term as officer exceed three years. It is permissible for an individual to have more than one term in office subject to the provisions of Article VII, Sections 2 and 5. No two offices may be held by the same person simultaneously.

A. Chair. The Chair shall be the principal officer of the Association and shall in general manage all of the business and affairs of the Association. He/she shall preside at all meetings of the members and of the Board of Directors. He/she shall sign, with the Treasurer or any other proper officer of the Association authorized by the Board of Directors, any deeds, mortgages, bonds, contracts, or other instruments which the Board has authorized to be executed, except in cases where the signing and execution thereof shall be expressly delegated by the Board or by these bylaws or by statute to some other officer or agent of the Association; and in general he/she shall perform all duties incident to the office of the Chair and such other duties as may be prescribed by the Board from time to time.

B. Vice-Chair. In the absence of the Chair or in event of his/her inability or refusal to act, the Vice-Chair shall perform the duties of the Chair and when so acting, shall have all the powers of and be subject to all restrictions upon the Chair. Any Vice-Chair shall perform such duties as from time to time may be assigned to him/her by the Chair or by the Board of Directors.

C. Treasurer. If required by the Board of Directors, the Treasurer shall give a bond for the faithful discharge of his/her duties in such sum and with such surety or sureties as the Board shall determine. He/she shall have charge and custody of and be responsible for all funds and securities of the Association; receive and give receipts for monies due and payable to the corporation from any source whatsoever, and deposit all such monies in the name of the Association in such banks, trust companies or other depositories as shall be selected in accordance with the provisions of Article X of these bylaws.

D. The Secretary shall keep the minutes of the meetings of the members and of the Board in one or more books provided for that purpose; see that all notices are duly given in accordance with the provisions of these bylaws or as required by law; be custodian of the Association records; keep a register of the post office address of each member which shall be furnished to the Secretary by such member; and in general perform all duties incident to the Office of Secretary and such other duties as from time to time may be assigned to him/her by the Chair or the Board.

Section 2. Staff.

The Board may employ staff who shall provide Central Office Services under the direction of the Board.

Section 3. Removal of Board of Directors Members.

An officer or other Board member may be removed for just cause by a two-thirds (2/3) majority vote of the membership of the Board of Directors.

Article IX. Committees
Section 1. Authorization.

Such committees as are necessary to carry out the functions of the Association may be created by the Association at any meeting, by the Board of Directors, or by the Chair.

Section 2. Committee Functions.

A. Such committees shall refer to the charge given to them by the Association, Board of Directors, or the Chair.

B. Each committee shall develop a mission statement which must be approved by the Board of Directors. The designation and appointment of such groups and delegation thereto of authority shall not operate to relieve the Board, or any individual Board member, of any responsibility imposed upon them by law.

C. Each committee shall report back to the Board of Directors upon completion of its mission, and at such other interim times as may be directed by the Chair or the Board.

Article X. Contracts, Checks, Deposits and Funds

Section 1. Contracts.

The Board of Directors may authorize any officer or officers, agent or agents of the Association, in addition to the officers so authorized by these bylaws, to enter into any contract or execute and deliver any instrument in the name of and on behalf of the Association, and such authority may be general or confined to specific instances.

Section 2. Checks, Drafts, etc.

All checks, drafts or orders for the payment of money, notes or other evidences of indebtedness issued in the name of the Association, shall be signed by such officer or officers, agent or agents of the Association and in such manner as shall from time to time be determined by resolution of the Board of Directors. In the absence of such determination by the Board, such instrument shall be signed by the Treasurer or by the Chair or Vice-Chair of the Association.

Section 3. Deposits.

All funds of the Association shall be deposited from time to time to the credit of the Association at such banks, trust companies or other depositories as the Board of Directors may select.

Section 4. Gifts.

The Board of Directors may accept on behalf of the Association any contribution, gift, bequest or device for the general purposes or for any special purpose of the Association.

Article XI. Books and Records

The Association shall keep correct and complete books and records of account and shall also keep minutes of the proceedings of its membership, Board of Directors and committees having any of the authority of the Board, and shall keep at its registered or principal office a record giving the names and addresses of the members entitled to vote. All books and records of the Association may be inspected by any member, or his/her agent or attorney, for any proper purpose at any reasonable time.

Article XII. Publications

Section 1. Authorized Publications.

There shall be two principal publications of the Association:
1. An annual Directory of doctoral internship and postdoctoral training programs in professional psychology. Listing in the Directory shall be in accordance with such criteria, conditions and standards as may be determined by the membership or the Board of Directors.

2. A Newsletter containing reports of the Annual Meeting, Board of Directors meetings and actions, and other such information deemed important to the membership.

Section 2. Copies.

All members of the Association will receive copies of the publications gratis. Other organizations, agencies, bodies and individuals may subscribe to the publications for fees to be determined by the Board of Directors on a periodic basis.

Article XIII. Fiscal Year

The fiscal year of the Association shall begin on the first day of January and end on the last day of December in each year.

Article XIV. Dues

Section 1. Annual Dues.

The membership, on the recommendation of the Board of Directors, may determine from time to time the amount of annual dues payable to the Association by the members.

Section 2. Payment of Dues.

Dues shall be payable in advance on the first day of each fiscal year. Dues of a new member shall be paid in a manner to be determined by the Board of Directors.

Section 3. Default and Termination of Membership.

When any member shall be in default in payment of dues for a period of twelve months from the beginning of the fiscal year, the membership may thereupon be terminated by the Board of Directors in the manner provided in Article V, Section 4 of these bylaws.

Section 4. Reinstatement.

Any member that has terminated membership while in good standing or that has forfeited membership by nonpayment of dues may be reinstated by the Board of Directors of the Association in the manner provided in Article V, Section 6 of these bylaws and payment of the current year's dues and any dues in arrears.

Article XV. Waiver of Notice

Whenever any notice is required under the provisions of the relevant Non-Profit Corporation Act or under the provisions of the Articles of Incorporation or the Bylaws of the Association, a waiver thereof in writing signed by the person or persons entitled to such notice, whether before or after the time stated therein, shall be deemed equivalent to the giving of such notice.

Article XVI. Amendments to Bylaws

These bylaws may be altered, amended or repealed and new bylaws may be adopted by two-thirds of the members responding by mail ballot. The ballot shall be deemed to be delivered when deposited in the United States mail addressed to the member at his/her address as it appears on the record of the Association, with postage thereon prepaid. Ballots shall be returned within thirty days of that date. Any Article or Section thereof contained in these bylaws may be amended to have full force and effect upon current and future members, without reservation.

LISTING OF DOCTORAL INTERNSHIP PROGRAMS

- Programs are organized alphabetically by state; by city within state; and by agency within city. Programs outside of the United States are listed last.

- APPIC is not an accrediting agency. Listing in the directory indicates that program applications have been reviewed by APPIC Membership Committees and that the programs as submitted are in compliance with the requisites for APPIC Membership described in the policy section of the Directory.

- The information in the directory listings has been updated online by each program's training director and was correct as of May, 2010. APPIC does not take responsibility for information that has been incorrectly entered by training directors.

- APA accreditation status is accurate as the directory goes to press, and may change between this date and the appearance of the directory. Interested readers should contact APA and/or individual programs for information about current APA accreditation status.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities
Interns provide services on the island of Molokai 3 days a week for a total of 6 months. During these 6 months, interns are required to stay 2 nights a week at private housing provided by I Ola Lahui. Housing includes full kitchen and all utilities excluding Internet.
Many of the minor experiences above are infused and not formal rotations. Interns often gain experience in areas not indicated above though there are not specific rotations devoted to the topics. For example, interns may address such topics in therapy, didactics, or in professional issues seminar.
Although the program is practitioner-scholar focused, interns are allowed to participate in research when effectively meeting training requirements.

About the Program:
Welcome to the Counseling Psychology Internship Program at the State University of New York at Buffalo. This program is designed to provide advanced training in the delivery of high-quality mental health services to a diverse population of clients. Our program is accredited by the American Psychological Association (APA), and we offer a comprehensive training experience that includes a variety of clinical, research, and administrative opportunities.

We offer internships in a range of specialties, including Clinical Psychology, Counseling Psychology, and School Psychology. Our program is open to applicants from a variety of institutional backgrounds, including APA-accredited, CPA-accredited, and non-accredited programs. Preference is given to applicants with a minimum of 300 hours of supervised counseling experience. We value diversity and are committed to providing a welcoming and inclusive environment for all applicants.

Fringe Benefits
- To support professional development, interns will have the opportunity to present on areas of interest or expertise during the year to fellow clinicians. ECC/EFI also hosts staff social events to build strong staff relationships.

Program Description
- ECC and EFI are dedicated to providing excellence in Christian psychological services. Interns are trained in the use of empirically supported treatments. Orientation of clinical supervisors is largely cognitive behavioral integrated with other modalities.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities
- Training opportunities in becoming co-leaders for Dialectical Behavior Therapy (DBT) are a part of our internship program. This site is one of only a few in the area to run DBT groups.

Program Description

At the Barrow Neurological Institute, St. Joseph's Hospital and Medical Center (SJHMC), individuals have the unique opportunity to be exposed to a wide variety of patients with neurological conditions. U.S. News & World Report has named SJHMC one of the 10 best hospitals in the United States for Neurology and Neurosurgery. In addition, St. Joseph's has been recognized nationally as one of the 2009 Top 100 Best Places to Work in Healthcare by Modern Healthcare. Barrow Neurological Institute, the neurological division at St. Joseph's, has long been recognized for providing state-of-the-art care for people with brain and spine diseases, disorders, and injuries. There are over 20 neurosurgeons on site as well as a large neurology department including a movement disorders program, stroke center, and comprehensive epilepsy program. The residency (fellowship) program is a two-year program. Residents in clinical neuropsychology are involved in direct patient care in several settings. Those settings may include the Inpatient Neuropsychiatric Consultation Unit, the (out)patient Center for Transitional Neuropsychiatric Consultation, the Epilepsy Monitoring Unit, the Outpatient Neuropsychological Consultation Service, and the Inpatient Neuropsychological Consultation Service. In addition, we have a growing number of clinic services within the hospital, including ones pertaining to Movement Disorders, Normal Pressure Hydrocephalus, and Hypothalamic Hamartoma. Our department also participates in a number of ongoing clinical research trials. Our setting is primarily dedicated to patient care, with heavy clinical demands placed on the resident. However, there is a strong interest and support for research and education. We believe this provides an excellent training setting. In return for the clinical services provided by the residents, the staff neuropsychologists in the Section of Clinical Neuropsychology will provide clinical supervision, teaching seminars, and research opportunities.

Program Description
The Arizona Psychology Training Consortium is a non-profit subsidiary corporation of the Arizona Psychological Association. The Consortium was developed to create internships and postdoctoral residencies. School psychology, neuropsychology, pediatric psychology, sex offender treatment, and private practice sites are available. There are no clinical rotations between the training sites. All of the residencies provide advanced training in psychotherapy, cultural diversity, and independent practice. Residents participate in two-day didactic training events each month. There is a considerable amount of travel to the statewide training events. Training opportunities are provided by academicians and practitioners from several Arizona universities, community agencies, and practices. In addition, members of the Arizona Psychological Association serve as mentors to residents to enhance their career development and networking opportunities. There is a selection preference for applicants from Arizona universities and internship programs, but applicants from any regionally accredited Clinical, Counseling, and School Psychology programs are encouraged to apply. Applicants must send at least two complete application packets. One complete application packet goes to the Consortium. Also send one complete application packet to each individual training site of interest. Please review the application procedures described on the Arizona Psychological Association website at www.azpa.org. During the application process, frequently check the website for new Consortium training opportunities.

Program Description

The Counseling & Consultation (C&C) postdoctoral residency is a 2000 hour, 12 month advanced training program designed to provide advanced training for professional and leadership roles in university counseling center settings. The program uses a developmental-practitioner training model and training activities are focused on developing existing skills through a range of professional activities, training, and feedback. Residents provide individual and group therapy, outreach, consultation, crisis intervention (both daytime and after-hours), and may supervise masters or doctoral level advanced practicum students. In addition to consolidating general clinical skills, residents engage in professional activities and receive training in a focus area related to their career interests. Available focus areas include: - training administration - wellness psychology - counseling center administration/residential life consultation - Besides clinical and focus area training, residents participate in agency staff meetings, staff development programs, and agency committees and teams. C&C has a multidisciplinary staff, including psychologists, counselors, social workers, and psychiatrists. Its mission is to serve a diverse student population, and models and promotes the valuing of human differences on individual, organization, and community levels as well as the facilitation of human potential.

Program Description
Three positions are available. This year there will be two pediatric psychology positions available (one year each) and one neuropsychology fellowship position (two years, Div 40 match). Fellows in pediatric psychology receive training in various activities including pediatric inpatient consultation/liaison, participating in a variety of outpatient multidisciplinary medical clinics in pediatrics. Over 20 diverse rotation experiences are offered including involvement with TBI, SCI, autism spectrum, obesity, sleep disorders, chronic pain, palliative care, asthma, CF, vent-dependent, burn, ADHD, learning disorders, neurodevelopmental disorders, etc. Fellows in pediatric neuropsychology receive training with various populations including epilepsy, head injury, neuro-oncology, and various disorders impacting the CNS. TRAINING PROGRAM: The Pediatric Psychology fellowship is part of a comprehensive interdisciplinary training effort in the Department of Pediatrics at the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences. The fellowship is under the direction of the Section of Pediatric Psychology. Training sites include the J. L. Dennis Developmental Center and Arkansas Children’s Hospital (ACH). ACH is the sixth largest pediatric hospital in the nation and provides clinical services through Arkansas Children’s Hospital (ACH). ACH is the sixth largest pediatric hospital in the nation and provides clinical services through Arkansas Children’s Hospital (ACH). As the capital city of Arkansas, Little Rock provides many of the benefits of living in a large city without the negative aspects, such as traffic congestion and high cost of living. The population of the greater Little Rock areas is approximately 500,000. Little Rock is located in a picturesque setting in the foothills of the Ozark Mountains.
The fellowship training experiences include required elements based on the chosen area of emphasis as well as options based on the learning and training goals of each fellow, whether clinical, research and professional development activities are an integral component. The fellowship offers the opportunity to work in a professional and scholarly community to establish a more integrated professional identity. Throughout all aspects of the program, an emphasis is placed on ethical and legal considerations, individual and cultural diversity, evidence-based practice and professionalism. Considerable attention is paid to the professional development of the fellow as a psychotherapist, diagnostician, consultant, clinical scholar, supervisor, educator, program innovator and evaluator, interdisciplinary team member and consumer advocate.

Program Description

Residents will be responsible for providing: (a) individual, couples, and group therapy; (b) assessment and referral services; (c) crisis intervention and on-call services; (d) outreach programming; and (e) psychological consultation to the campus community. Residents may also have involvement in training and supervision of practicum students through Humboldt State University’s Master’s level Counseling and Social Work programs. Residents will receive both individual and group supervision commensurate with the requirements for licensure. Although the training is in brief therapy, each resident may carry one longer term client. CAPS is housed in the Health & Counseling Center building on campus. Each resident will have a private office, with computer and internet access, and an assigned video camera to use for clinical supervision purposes. The counseling faculty includes a group room, a professional library, and a staff kitchen. CAPS currently consists of five professional therapists working as a team. Peer consultation is emphasized and constantly utilized in a supportive and collegial atmosphere. The staff is especially interested in residents who will support this type of work environment. Residents will engage in both formal and informal supervisory contact with all professional staff. In addition to supervision, residents will participate in our weekly case conference and training seminar. Humboldt State University is located on the northern California redwood coast, in the community of Arcata (pop. 13,000). The hillside campus overlooks Humboldt Bay and the Pacific Ocean, amidst the surrounding Redwood forest. As one of the smaller campuses of the California State University system, with about 7,500 students, HSU is known for its open and friendly campus environment.

Program Description
A Better Way, Inc. is a nonprofit organization established as a Foster Family program serving the needs of the Bay Area, predominantly Alameda and Contra Costa Counties. The clinical mental health program integrates individual, group, assessment, and family therapy. The multilingual and multicultural staff reflects the diversity of the children and parents served. Services provide professional best practices in the mental health field with emphasis on evidence-based practice. The overall goal of this program is to provide excellent clinical services to the population that accesses our services. The focus of the work will be with children and their families. Postdoctoral Fellows will have the opportunity to participate in several specialty seminars: (1) Parent-Child Interaction Therapy, (2) Cognitive-Behavioral and other evidence-based therapeutic interventions, and (3) family therapy. Direct observations, as well as videotaping of sessions for feedback will also be a part of the supervisory experience.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities
There will be extensive use of audio and videotaping of clients in our clinical supervision.

| Casa Pacifica is a residential treatment center and a non-public school for emotionally disturbed adolescents within the community. We also offer temporary shelter for abused and neglected children and adolescents. Our two-year postdoctoral program offers advanced general training in child and adolescent clinical psychology with emphasis on community mental health. Our training program is an organized experience which, in contrast to on-job training, is designed to provide the Fellow with a planned, programmed sequence of supervised training experiences. We also provide advanced clinical training in cognitive-behavioral interventions, crisis management, brief and long-term psychotherapy, group therapy, and consultation. Our supervision satisfies California licensing requirements. To be eligible, applicants must have completed a doctoral program in clinical or counseling psychology and preference is given to applicants from programs with APA accreditation. Admission requirements include completion of all professional doctoral degree requirements from a regionally accredited institution of higher education or an APA/CAP accredited program and completion of a Pre-doctoral internship that meets APPIC standards. Applicants must provide a letter from the director of the graduate program that stipulates the applicant has completed requirements for the doctorate and will graduate by the start date of the Fellowship. WE REQUIRE COMPLETION OF A CASA PACIFICA POSTDOCTORAL APPLICATION.Casa Pacifica is located outside of Los Angeles in the community of Camarillo, a few miles from the Pacific Ocean and one hour south of Santa Barbara. Program Description

Program provides advanced training opportunities in the core service areas provided by CAPS including: Intake Assessment, Crisis Intervention, Brief Psychotherapy, Multicultural Counseling, Consultation to Campus Units and Departments, Program Development and Outreach. The program stresses Generalist Training, with the goal of preparing the fellow for a staff position in a university counseling center. At the same time, this program offers specialized training in several emphasis areas - Eating Disorders, Sport Psychology, Multicultural Immersion, Mind-Body Wellness and a Clinical Practice area depending upon fellow’s interests and experience level, as well as the current needs of the Center. The educational philosophy and training model is to provide training grounded in the scientific principles of our profession that emphasize the area of applied practice. The overarching objective is to train ethical, competent psychologists who are capable of functioning independently and will contribute both to the welfare of society and to the profession.

The training staff realizes that the most important learning occurs through providing service under the direct supervision and mentorship of a senior staff professional. Such “learning by doing” is guided, enriched and deepened through the postdoctoral seminar and clinical rotations, consultations, and in-service staff development activities. The fellowship program is defined by a commitment to the following goals:

- Goal #1: Commitment to mentoring and the scientist-practitioner model.
- Goal #2: Commitment to a broad range of skill development.
- Goal #3: Commitment to training in providing services to a diverse clientele.
- Goal #4: Commitment to facilitating personal growth and professional identity.
- Goal #5: Commitment to flexibility in developing each fellow’s training program. See our website for a full description of our program http://caps.ucdavis.edu/training/index.htm

Program Description

Kaiser Permanente offers postdoctoral residencies in the Union City/Hayward Medical Center and the Fremont Medical Center. Together they form the South East Bay Consortium of Kaiser Permanente Northern California Residency Program. Each of the medical centers is comprised of different departments, including Psychiatry in Union City and Fremont, as well as the Chemical Dependency Recovery Program in Union City. The residency is a comprehensive program that offers a broad range of training experiences in one of the richest multicultural areas in the nation. The residency is seen as a vital component of the integrative Kaiser Permanente health care system. Residents complete 40 hours per week in either the Department of Psychiatry or the Chemical Dependency Recovery Program for 12 months. One half of the residents’ time is spent providing direct services to child, adolescent, and/or adult clientele through individual, group, and/or family therapy as well as conducting psychological assessments. Residents also participate in two additional hours of individual supervision by a licensed psychologist. Residents also attend weekly didactic seminars at each of the three programs. Seminars that address the postdoctoral residents on such topics such as: Psychopharmacology for Adolescents, Treatment of OCD, and Issues in Mental Health for Deaf Patients. A seminar in Epidemiology is also offered. Residents from all of the Kaiser Permanente Medical Centers in Northern California attend. Some past seminars include: Ethics, Clinical Supervision, Diversity, and License Preparation.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities

Program Description
CONTACT PROGRAM FOR UPDATED INFORMATION The Sullivan Center for Children is an intensive outpatient treatment center that specializes in providing psychological services to children, adolescents and their families. The Sullivan Center is a Psychological Corporation currently employing 16 clinicians. Eight of those clinicians are Ph.D. or Psy.D. Psychologists. We also have two LMFT's and one Board Certified Child Psychiatric Nurse Practitioner. The populations we treat vary greatly in terms of age, type of pathology, socio-economic status, and cultural backgrounds. The Center is dedicated to the treatment of children, adolescents and their families. We provide intensive assessments and individualized treatment programs. We offer a team approach in which, if appropriate, children and members of their families can be involved in an integrated treatment approach using more than one modality. We provide individual treatment for the children, individual therapy for the parents, if appropriate, educational/supportive therapy for the parents around the child's needs, couples' therapy if the problems lie in the parents and not in the child, family therapy if the pathology is best treated from a family systems perspective, group therapy for children, and supportive and educational groups for parents. If a child and their family are involved with more than one therapist, then a team approach is used to coordinating treatments. Age of people actually treated at the Center run from infancy through older adulthood, although adults treated at the Center usually arrive at our services through a child or adolescent problem. We are a for-profit corporation, and provide fee-for-service basis, we also have contracts with the Fresno Unified School District and Central Valley Regional Center that allow us to provide services to children who have a lower socio-economic status. We deal with problems of childhood that range from mildly to severely disturbed.

Program Description

There are four emphasis areas: Neuropsychology Across the Lifespan, Psychosocial Rehab and Recovery of the Seriously Mentally Ill (PPRRP), PTSD (with CPT, ACT, PE, and other mindfulness-based, substance abuse, and anger management interventions), and the Women’s Mental Health Center (WMHC) with extensive training in the treatment of trauma from multiple causes. The Neuropsych postdoc spans two years, while the other three emphasis areas are for one year. The training model is scientist-practitioner, with the theoretical orientations of the postdoc staff mirroring the above treatments as well as CBT. "Holographic reprocessing" training is available in the WMHC, and a more psychodynamic approach is featured in the PPRP emphasis area. The program started in August 2008 and we are in the process of reviewing and submitting a self-study to the Commissioner on Accreditation of APA. Our second cohort is currently in place with the third cohort of four fellows being fully selected on Feb 25, 2010. We look for postdoctoral fellowship candidates who typically come from the generalist training model usually featured at VA internships, and our mission is to train fellows to complete the program as independent practitioners who are ready for state licensure. We strive to train fellows for careers in ours, other VA sites, or similar interprofessional complex medical or mental health settings. VA Long Beach has had a longstanding commitment to clinical training with an internship program that has been accredited for over 30 years and a more informal practicum program that has attracted outstanding clinical trainees from local programs. Many trainees have gone on to interesting careers inside and outside VA. Although formally and legally interns and practicum students need to be supervised by licensed supervisors, opportunities are rich for supervision along with the clinical and didactic training experiences for our fellows.

Program Description

LMU is a private Catholic undergraduate and graduate institution located on the bluffs above Marina del Rey in California. Student Psychological Services (SPS) is a department in the Division of Student Affairs. The Division of Student Affairs supports the University mission through programs and services designed to advance student learning. In keeping with the mission, SPS aims “to foster students’ personal, social, and intellectual development and emotional health by providing psychological services to students and by serving as an educational and consultative resource to the University community. Services are provided in a safe environment that is respectful of cultural and individual differences.” LMU is a highly ranked region university, and the student body of approximately 5,500 undergraduates and 2,500 graduate students is highly diverse. SPS is centrally located in relatively new offices. In addition to providing direct services, Fellows participate in designing consultation and outreach programs, campus events, and conduct program evaluation. Supervision meets licensure requirements, and Fellows have the opportunity to work with all staff members. Fellowship meets 1500 required hours with up to a 44 hours week.

Program Description
This Postdoctoral Fellowship is for psychologists who are looking to train in diagnostic and psychotherapeutic work with children, adolescents and their parents/caregivers from a psychodynamic perspective. The Center is located in the heart of West Los Angeles on the beautiful 17 acre campus of the parent agency, Vista Del Mar. The Reiss-Davis Clinic has been serving the mental health needs of a racially, ethnically, and socio-economically diverse population since 1950. The fellowship functions within the overall structure of the clinic. Modeled after the Hampstead Clinic in London, the fellowship program has been offering advanced training in psychoanalytic child-adolescent work for sixty years. The program’s curriculum incorporates the latest in developmental interpersonal neurobiology. Fellowships are available on a part-time basis (25-28 hours/week), and begin in September. A typical week for part-time fellows is comprised of 12 hours of diagnostic and therapy cases and 2-3 hours of individual supervision. All fellows receive 10-15 hours of weekly group supervision and didactic teaching from psychoanalytically-trained faculty who are practicing clinicians. The program is small and collegial, allowing ample interaction time with the teaching faculty. The two-years provide a unique opportunity to gain experience in longer-term intensive psychotherapy. The goal of the Reiss-Davis Fellowship is to graduate mental health professionals who have solid observational, diagnostic, and therapeutic skills, knowledgeable about psychoanalytic theory and technique, are grounded in their familiarity with normal and pathological development and parenting issues and ultimately feel confident in their ability to integrate theory with practice.

Program Description

The Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in Neuropsychology at the UCLA Semel Institute for Neuroscience and Human Behavior aims to prepare clinician-scientists for careers in academic research and clinical applications within the specialty area of neuropsychology. The program offers training in a series of six tracks with clinician/educator and academic/research emphases, including: 1) General Track - 1 opening; 2) Child Track - 1 opening; 3) Geropsych Track - 0 openings; 4) HIV/AIDS Research Track - 3 openings. All Fellows, regardless of track, receive broad training and experience in both research and practice. All residents share an extensive curriculum of didactic and experiential offerings, and training programs are individually tailored to achieve specific goals considering the Resident’s prior competencies and experiences. Patient populations span all age groups, and both clinical applications and research projects target a diversity of neurologic, psychiatric, and general medical disorders, with integration across diverse departments and centers including: Psychiatry and Biobehavioral Sciences, Neurology, Neurourology, the Brain Injury Research Center, and Ahmanson-Lovelace Brain Mapping Center at UCLA. Additional offerings are made possible through strong collaborations with centers of excellence off-campus, including the Help Group (with a focus on neurodevelopmental disabilities), the Veterans Administration Greater Los Angeles Health Care System (VAGLAHS, with a focus on HIV/AIDS and major mental illness), and The University Neuropsychology Group in Pasadena.
The University of Southern California, Division of Student Affairs, offers two postdoctoral fellowships in College Mental Health, each with a separate track; one with a specialization in Disability Services, and the other with a specialization in Sports Psychology (applicants will need to specify which fellowship track they are applying to). The central training goal for both fellowships is that the postdoctoral fellows complete their training with advanced knowledge, confidence, and competence in the following areas of clinical practice: short-term therapy, group counseling, awareness and appreciation of human diversity, professional ethics, and decision making, crisis intervention, outreach/consultation, and clinical supervision. The following is a description of the subspecialty for each fellowship:

TRACK #1-----College Mental Health and Disability Services

Description: A 12-month fellowship with an emphasis in clinical assessment, including conducting psychoeducational assessments of learning disabilities and ADHD. The fellow will provide clinical services to students with disabilities who register with the Disability Services and Programs office as well as the general student population. The fellow will provide advanced knowledge, confidence, and competence in the following areas of clinical practice: short-term therapy, group counseling, awareness and appreciation of human diversity, professional ethics, and decision making, crisis intervention, outreach/consultation, and clinical supervision. The fellow will provide psychoeducational assessments of learning disabilities and ADHD.

Program Description
The University of Southern California University Center for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities (USC UCEDD) at Childrens Hospital Los Angeles (CHLA) offers an advanced two-year postdoctoral training program in Clinical Child Psychology. The program offers unique training experiences in clearly defined emphasis areas. Individuals are recruited specifically for each emphasis area and are offered training opportunities in a variety of departments and clinical services. The emphasis practice areas include Pediatric Psychology, Early Childhood Mental Health, Trauma Psychology, Child and Family Therapy, and Adolescent Psychology. The postdoctoral training program at CHLA is based on an integrated community mental health and health psychology scientist-practitioner model. It is designed to train psychologists to assume leadership roles as experts in clinical psychology in pediatric community and medical settings. Depending on the emphasis area chosen, fellows may be gaining professional experiences in outpatient mental health clinics, community clinics, schools and/or pediatric hospital units. Through intensive supervision, didactic lectures and seminars, and program development activities, and ample direct patient contact and consultation opportunities, fellows enhance and develop advanced clinical skills in their emphasis area. The program will only accept graduates of APA accredited programs who have completed APA accredited internships and all the requirements for graduation by September 1, 2011.

Program Description

The USC Institute of Psychiatry, Law, and Behavioral Science is an integrated part of the USC Department of Psychiatry and the Behavioral Sciences and has been in existence since 1963. It offers a full-time one year Fellowship and an option for a second year. Psychology Fellows are offered the same training and education as Psychiatry Fellows. All Fellows serve under supervision as consultants and as expert witnesses for the State and Federal Criminal Court, Dependency & Family Court, Mental Health Court, Juvenile Court, and County & Federal Probation as well as the State Parole Board. Each Fellow is assigned approximately 2 cases per week involving psychological/legal issues for the courts and various administrative hearings. The Fellows have at least 7 USC Fellowship-trained faculty supervisors at any given time. The Fellows also conduct treatment of mentally disordered offenders. Courses specifically designed for the Fellows include: criminal law, civil law, juvenile law, family law, mental health law, videolab seminar, a course on landmark mental health law cases, legal research, correctional psychology, and legal and ethical issues related to the practice of forensic psychology. Courses and seminars are approximately 14-18 hours per week. The lecturers are forensic psychologists and psychiatrists, judges, attorneys and professionals in other forensic related disciplines. Each Fellow teaches and supervises USC psychiatric residents in the area of psychiatry and the law. Moreover, there are clinical case conferences where each Fellow presents a forensic case demonstrating his/her knowledge and application of clinical material to the legal issues. Additionally, each fellow will serve as a consultant to the largest jail in the United States. Finally, each fellow will have an opportunity to conduct a psychological autopsy for the Los Angeles County Department of Coroner. Use the telephone number and address listed above for inquiries and application.

Program Description

Our training program seeks to ensure the development of advanced competence in the general practice of professional psychology integrated with specialized, in-depth, training and education in a specific area of emphasis. We believe that clinical training is complemented by attending didactics and gaining research experience within an emphasis area and all three of our Fellowship tracks enjoy strong connections with local academic institutions (especially the University of California, Los Angeles) that allow for educational and research collaborations. Our training program emphasizes application of current scientific knowledge to professional service delivery, including strong training in evidence-based practices. At the completion of their training terms, Fellows are expected to be prepared to successfully obtain licensure and, if relevant, be prepared for the board certification process in their area of emphasis. Ultimately, we strive to support the VA’s training mission of producing competent, creative psychologists who will go on to either VA jobs or will work in academia, other medical centers, the private sector, etc.

Training Opportunities

Training Program Description

The Wright Institute Los Angeles Postgraduate Center's full-time and half-time postdoctoral training program is designed to develop and refine competence in the conduct of long-term, intensive psychotherapy and brief psychotherapy. The theoretical orientation of most of our faculty is contemporary psychodynamic/psychoanalytic. The field of psychoanalytic psychotherapy has undergone a substantial evolution in recent years. The program presents the core of theory and technique that has endured through this evolution as well as relatively recent developments which have advanced theory and enlarged the range of application and effectiveness of psychoanalytic psychotherapy. The program consists of the conduct of psychotherapy with an adult caseload presenting with a broad range of diagnoses and issues, individual and group supervision, an extensive series of seminars on theory and technique, and case conferences. Focused training in eating disorders, offered through our eating disorders program, is available to interested postdoctoral fellows. Training is also offered in the Unanticipated Life Changes Program which currently offers services to those affected by the economic downturn. Full-time fellows may also participate in a clinic project, the nature of which varies from year to year. Teaching and supervision are conducted by a small core faculty and a large group of mental health professionals on our Teaching and Supervisory Faculty. The training staff includes 2 full-time and 4 part-time psychologists and 40 mental health professionals in private practice who have appointments to WILA's Teaching and Supervisory Faculty. All faculty are licensed and experienced and have specialty training in psychoanalytically oriented psychotherapy and psychoanalysis. Participation in the postdoctoral training program requires a Ph.D. or Psy.D. in Clinical or Counseling Psychology.

Program Description
The South Bay Consortium is a joint program supported by the Santa Clara and San Jose Medical Centers. The Consortium began in 2006 as part of a restructuring of the larger Northern California Regional postdoctoral training programs. The goal was to provide an integrated and comprehensive training program while retaining local support. The South Bay Consortium is a comprehensive program that is well integrated into the Kaiser Permanente health care system. A total of 13 Clinical Psychology Residents are placed in Departments of Child or Adult Psychiatry or our Autistic Spectrum Disorder Clinic. Their required clinic time is 40 hours per week during a 12-month period. One-half of the residents' time is spent providing direct services to clientele through individual, group, family, or couples therapy and conducting psychological assessments. In addition to the required two hours of individual supervision weekly by a licensed psychologist, residents also participate in two hours of group supervision, case conferences, team meetings, and weekly seminars. Residents are also encouraged to attend the monthly grand rounds for the general staff. In addition to weekly seminars and individual and group supervision, residents are expected to attend a monthly half-day seminar, which is also open to supervising psychologists for continuing education credits. The first seminar focuses on Ethics and the Law. This ensures all postdoctoral residents have a sound working knowledge of California's professional code of conduct. Please refer to web site for further description of the program site: http://residency.kp.org/ncal/psych/psychology.html

Program Description

The central bay region encompasses the cultural and geographic heart of the Bay Area. The training sites of the Central Bay Training Consortium are located in the cities of Oakland and Richmond. The Departments of Psychiatry at each site provides psychotherapy, psychological testing, and psycho-educational programs. Each department includes an Intensive Outpatient Program (IOP) that provides services to recently hospitalized individuals. Certain sites in the Central Bay Training Consortium include the Chemical Dependency Recovery Program (CDRP) which offers intensive chemical dependency services. Each site runs many different groups such as Dialectic Behavioral Therapy (DBT). Residents are placed in Departments of Psychiatry and are required to complete 40 hours per week over a 12-month period. In addition to the required two hours of individual supervision weekly by a psychologist, the resident also participates in two or more hours of group supervision, case conference, and/or team meetings and/or a weekly seminar. Depending on the program and site other seminars may required or recommended to the resident. Residents attend a periodic half-day Kaiser Permanente Northern California Post-Doctoral regional seminar. These seminars provide an opportunity to develop professional relationships with a large community of psychologists that will help orient the post-doctoral fellow to his or her career as a professional psychologist. We have made a commitment to evidenced-based treatments. Departments throughout the region have sent specialists to develop Best Practice guidelines based on the most current research for major psychological disorders. The Best Practices literature is made available to all residents and is considered part of overall curriculum of the residency program. Visit our website to see our Best Practices Manuals.

<td>We are a private, non-profit community psychology clinic that provides comprehensive psychological services to children, youth, and families/caregivers. Many of our clients are in foster care. Graduates accepted into our program must have completed all doctoral requirements prior to the start of the fellowship. They must have received a degree from an APA accredited program and completed an APPIC or CAPIC internship. Fellows contract for a 12-month, 40 hour/week commitment. The postdoctoral program exceeds the 1500 hour post degree supervised professional experience requirement of the California Board of Psychology. Fellows are embedded within one or two of the agency’s major clinical programs. They provide services in the Outpatient Therapy Program and/or the Therapeutic-Collaborative Assessment Program (T-CAP). Fellows work alongside staff clinicians to provide services. Applicants are selected based on criteria that include academic preparation, successful completion of a predoctoral internship program of at least 1500 hours, clinical experience relevant to the population we serve, diversity and multicultural experience, experience with the foster care system, match with the mission of the agency, excellent professional writing skills, and strong letters of recommendation. Fluency in Spanish a plus. Applicants are expected to have a high level of general training at the predoctoral level with some training in the area of their desired track(s). Racial and ethnic minorities and men are encouraged to apply. Please see our brochure (can be downloaded from our website) for more information.</td>

Program Description

The focus of the Postdoctoral Fellowship training program at Children’s Hospital of Orange County (CHOC) is to provide advanced in-depth training in child/pediatric psychology and prepare individuals for careers in medical settings. The CHOC Fellowship offers specialized training in child clinical psychology applied in a general pediatric tertiary care setting. Postdoctoral Fellows are supervised by Psychology faculty who have expertise in pediatric and child clinical psychology, as well as specialized interests in neuropsychology, pain management, disruptive behavior disorders, infant development, and sports psychology. The Program provides experience with consultation/liaison to sub-specialty pediatric units, neuropsychological assessment, and work in our outpatient Pediatric Psychology Clinic. One position is with our Consultation and Liaison Program and one with the Oncology Service. The training program is housed within the Department of Pediatric Psychology which provides comprehensive psychological services throughout the Children’s Hospital. Postdoctoral Fellows share some training experiences and seminars with interns in an APA accredited psychology internship as well sharing some educational opportunities with medical residents. Further, fellows have the opportunity to evaluate/consult/treat a wide variety of families from multicultural backgrounds. Fellows participate in research activities and complete a clinical/research project during their fellowship. Fellows also have the opportunity to provide supervision to practicum students.

Program Description

The Children’s Health Council (CHC) is a private, non-profit, multidisciplinary agency offering outpatient mental health, educational, speech language, and occupational therapy services to children with emotional, behavioral, and/or developmental problems. The patient population served by CHC ranges in age from infancy to early adulthood and includes the full span of socioeconomic levels, cultural groups, and range of clinical problems.

The CHC currently offers 2 one-year postdoctoral fellowships in child clinical psychology. Postdoctoral Fellows receive intensive training in psychological assessment and treatment of children and families in a multidisciplinary setting and are encouraged to select an area of specialization. Opportunities for focusing on training in Pediatric Neuropsychology or Young Child Assessment/Treatment are available. Additional opportunities for training in Pervasive Developmental Disorders or Medically Fragile Children are typically available. The postdoctoral fellowship follows the training guidelines of the APA as detailed by APPIC as well as Section 1 of Division 12 (Child Clinical Psychology). Each fellow spends approximately 65% of the time per week in direct clinical service (i.e., assessment, psychotherapy, consultation) and 35% of the time in supervision, seminars, and various clinical meetings (e.g., treatment team conferences). Supervision and didactics are provided primarily by psychologists at Children’s Health Council and clinical faculty members of Stanford University Medical School. Applicants from APA approved internship programs required.

The Postdoctoral Training Program at the VA Palo Alto Health Care System offers training in seven areas of emphasis: Behavioral Medicine, Clinical Geropsychology, Palliative Care, Psychosocial Rehabilitation, Rehabilitation Psychology, PTSD/Trauma, and Substance Use/Homeless Rehabilitation. It is open to U.S. citizens and graduates of APA-accredited internships and doctoral programs in Clinical or Counseling Psychology.

Applicants must complete their dissertations prior to beginning postdoctoral training, which builds on the generalized foundation of APA Proficiency. Areas of emphasis include training in all areas of competence defined as essential for expertise in Behavioral Medicine. The Clinical Geropsychology emphasis area involves training in all areas of Geropsychology Competency. The Palliative Care emphasizes professional development and the development of skills for supervision. Extensive individual and group supervision is available.

Applications are due by January 5, 2011, and all materials must be sent by email to the Postdoctoral Coordinator. Contact Dr. William Faustman for specific questions. The program brochure and application instructions can be found on the VA Palo Alto website.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities:
The program offers three tracks: Forensic Psychology (3-4 positions), Advanced Clinical Psychology (1-2 positions), and Neuropsychology (1-2 positions). Fellows perform forensic evaluations and consultations, including trial competency, criminal responsibility, sex offender evaluations, mentally disordered offender evaluations, assessments of psychopathy and general risk and sex offender risk assessment. The Advanced Clinical Psychology Program is designed for the fellow who has significant experience working with severely mentally ill patients, seeking advanced training in therapy and assessment with a forensically involved population. The clinical fellows conduct intensive long-term individual psychotherapy and psychological assessments focused on treatment needs, diagnosis, and readiness for discharge. The Neuropsychology fellowship is a two-year training program (consistent with the Houston Conference Guidelines), and provides advanced training in the specialized practice of neuropsychology while working in a forensic setting. The program addresses core knowledge areas of neurobehavioral syndromes, functional neuroanatomy, neuropsychological assessment, and report writing. Fellows lead cognitive remediation groups, perform hospital-wide neuropsychological evaluations, and serve as consultants to treatment teams. The program offers opportunities for local medical hospitals and rehabilitation centers so we can offer assessment opportunities of non-psychiatric individuals.

Program Description

The East Bay Consortium consists of at least two fellowships at each of four site locations in the Bay Area: Antioch, Martinez/Pleasant Hill, Pleasanton, and Walnut Creek. (2009: third positions at two sites.) Residents are generalists, but may have a primary affiliation to the Adult, Child & Family, or Chemical Dependency teams depending on the site. Separate applications must be made to each site of interest. Our training philosophy is to foster clinical competence and professional identity through the mastery of basic and specialized skills. Training in empirically validated techniques gives residents a menu of interventions, while supervision keeps a focus on the particulars of each therapist/client pairing. There is a clear emphasis on the role of the psychologist in a multi-cultural community, an outpatient setting and integrated with the medical center in providing quality health care to its members. The residency consists of three components: 1. Regular exposure, through active participation, to all facets of outpatient services. 2. Professional guidance through sessions of formal supervision, staff meetings and informal contacts with staff members. 3. Regular weekly and monthly training seminars. One half of the residents time is spent providing direct services to Kaiser members through individual group, & family therapy. Residents complete 2 psychological test batteries over the course of the training year. SERVICES: The Departments of Psychiatry at each site provide individual, group, family, child and adolescent therapy, post-hospital stabilization programs for adults and teens, and chemical dependency services for adults, as well as evidence based treatment groups for common disorders. Some specialized services are sub-regionalized at Walnut Creek, including an eating disorders program and a teen chemical dependency program. STAFF ORIENTATION: Members of the staff represent a variety of theoretical orientations.

Program Description
The Central Valley Program is a comprehensive postdoctoral psychology residency program that is well-integrated into the Kaiser Permanente health care system. A total of 3 Clinical Psychology Residents are placed in the Departments of Adult or Child Psychiatry in the Sacramento area. Location is either South Sacramento or Elk Grove-1 Child and 2 Adult residents. 40hrs a week is required over the 12-month residency period. Half of the resident's time is spent providing direct services to clientele through individual, group, family, or couple therapy and conducting psychological assessments. In addition to the required two hours of individual supervision weekly by a licensed psychologist, residents also participate in two hours of group supervision, case conferences, research projects, team meetings, and weekly seminars. Staff psychologists possess a wide range of specialties including Pain Management, Eating Disorders, Cultural Issues, Women’s Health, Biofeedback, Health Psychology, Mood Disorders, ADHD, Family Systems, Autism. The patient population consists of Kaiser Health Plan members possessing prepaid psychiatric benefits and also Med-Cal clients (South Sacramento). Our members consist of a wide spectrum of lower to middle/working class adults, families, couples, and children. The patient population is ethnically diverse and exhibits a wide array of psychological, medical and chemical dependency problems. The Central Valley Program encompasses the cultural and geographic heart of Northern California with the richly diverse urban area of the Sacramento metropolitan area. It was named the most ethnically and culturally diverse city in the United States by Time Magazine in 2002. The Pacific Ocean, the famous Napa/Sonoma wine country, and San Francisco are all a short 2 hour drive away. The Sierra Nevada Mountains and Lake Tahoe only 90 minutes and Yosemite National Park and Monterey are 9 hours away.

Program Description:
The Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences is recruiting 4 clinical psychology fellows. The fellowship will begin September 1, 2011 and will continue for 1 year. In conjunction with the Sacramento County Division of Mental Health, we are recruiting 4 fellows to provide psychological services, under supervision, in 3 division of mental health clinical programs associated with the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences; an adult inpatient service, an adult outpatient service, and a children’s outpatient service. Two psychology fellows will be child focused and be based in the Sacramento County Child and Adolescent Psychiatry Services Clinic, and two fellows will be adult focused and will split their time between the county inpatient and outpatient facilities. In addition, fellows from both of these tracks may have the option of placing a minor emphasis in either adult or child work.

Program Description

The West Bay Consortium is a comprehensive program that is well-integrated into the Kaiser Permanente health care system. The central San Francisco Bay region encompasses the cultural and geographic heart of the Bay Area. The training sites of the West Bay Consortium are located in the cities of Redwood City, San Francisco, and South San Francisco. The Departments of Psychiatry at each site provides psychotherapy, psychological testing, and psycho-educational programs. Each department includes an Intensive Outpatient Program (IOP) that provides services to recently hospitalized individuals, or individuals at risk for psychiatric hospitalization. Certain sites in the West Bay Consortium include Chemical Dependency Recovery Programs (CDRP) which offer intensive chemical dependency services. One site provides services for those patients with chronic pain-behavioral health concerns. Certain departments offer Neuropsychological assessment services. Each site runs many different groups such as Depression, Anxiety, and Dialectic Behavioral Therapy (DBT). All residents are required to complete 40 hours per week over a 12-month period. In addition to the required two hours of individual supervision weekly by a psychologist, the resident also participates in two or more hours of group supervision, case conference, and/or team meetings and a two-hour weekly seminar. Residents are also encouraged to attend departmental grand rounds and seminars. Residents will also have the opportunity to teach and gain experience conducting supervision. Starting in September, 2010, residents from each of the sites will attend weekly seminars in San Bruno. Residents also attend regular half-day Kaiser Permanente Northern California Post-Doctoral regional seminars. A core feature of our training program is supporting and mentoring new professionals in their transition from internship through licensure.

Program Description

PROGRAM OVERVIEW: The North Bay Consortium (NBC) is a comprehensive post doctoral training program that is well integrated into the Kaiser Permanente health care system. NBC residents are placed at one of three medical centers: Santa Rosa, San Rafael, and Vallejo. The program accepts 13 psychology residents: 8 positions are split between the adult and child teams in both Santa Rosa and San Rafael, 2 positions are in chemical dependency services in San Rafael and 3 positions are on the adult team in Vallejo. Our training philosophy is to foster clinical competence and professional identity through the mastery of basic and specialized skills. Depending on which site they choose, residents are involved in DBT group programs, teen and child programs, eating disorder programs, behavioral medicine, emergency services, etc. Emphasis is placed on the role of the psychologist in a multi-disciplinary medical center. The residency consists of three components: 1) Regular exposure, through active participation, to all facets of outpatient services; 2) Professional guidance through sessions of formal supervision (2 hours of individual supervision with licensed psychologists and 2 hours of group supervision); and 3) Regularly scheduled local and regional training seminars. One half of the residents’ time is spent providing direct services to Kaiser members through individual, group, and family therapy. Over the training year, residents are expected to complete a minimum of two psychological test batteries and at least one program evaluation project. Departments of Psychiatry at each site provide mental health and chemical dependency services to Kaiser members in the form of evaluation, psychotherapy, psychosocial educational programs, and intensive outpatient treatment. The focus of treatment is on brief therapy using CBT, DBT, and IPT. Evidenced-based treatments are offered for depression, anxiety, child/adolescent-family problems, eating disorders, etc.

Program Description

The Help Group's post-doctoral Fellowship focusing on Autism Spectrum Disorders provides fellows an opportunity to obtain advanced clinical training and experience in intervention (individual, family, and group therapy) and assessment of children with autism spectrum disorders. In addition, fellows will develop skills in supervision, public speaking, program development and evaluation, and management in areas related to working specifically with an autistic population. The Help Group is one of the largest providers of school-based and outpatient services for children on the autism spectrum in the U.S., assessing and treating children and adolescents from pre-school through young adulthood. The year begins with the fellow completing a self-assessment of their strengths and areas in need of further training and experience. This self-assessment aids in the development of the individualized learning plan, which informs the training agreement for the year. The Help Group's year long post-doctoral fellowship program helps fellows to develop specific skills and competencies to increase readiness for independent practice in the field of professional psychology with specialized skills and knowledge in working with children and adolescents with autism spectrum disorders in a community mental health center. The fellow's post-doctoral year will provide extensive experiences and exposure to the multifaceted roles psychologists take on in community mental health, with a focus on autism. The post-doctoral fellow will be given more autonomy and independence as the year proceeds, while always having access to supervisors and training opportunities.

Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) Postdoctoral Fellowship Program provides opportunities for advanced training and supervision in crisis intervention, assessment, on-call coverage, brief counseling, long-term counseling, individual and couples counseling, group psychotherapy, and consultation. The Postdoctoral Fellowship emphasizes a generalist training in preparation for a Staff Psychologist position at a university counseling center. Over the course of the year, Postdoctoral Fellows continue to enhance and solidify the development of clinical skills required for professional practice in psychology including: skills to effectively respond to crisis situations, consultation and collaboration skills to work with interdisciplinary staff, the campus community and off-campus community, skills to work with individual and cultural diversity, and consultation, administration, education, liaison, and outreach skills. Additionally, CAPS provides Postdoctoral Fellows opportunities to select year long specialized training: LGBT or Mental Health Promotion. Fellows in the LGBT track provide clinical services, education, and training to the Stanford community while Fellows in our Health Promotion Track teach a course in Peer Counseling and provide consultation, education, liaison, and outreach to the campus community. Postdoctoral Fellows provide 20 hours of clinical work per week. This includes weekly intakes, on-call coverage, consultations, referrals, short-term individual, couples, or group psychotherapy, and two long-term fee-paying students. Postdoctoral Fellows receive two hours of Primary Supervision, one hour of Specialty Supervision, and one hour of Case Consultation per week. Postdoctoral Fellows also attend a weekly staff meeting and a ninety minute Education Meeting.

Program Description
The Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences at Stanford University School of Medicine offers: 1) clinic-funded fellowships for those planning careers as clinicians; and 2) NIMH-funded research fellowships for those preparing for academic careers. Clinical fellowships are available in the Behavioral Medicine Clinic (psychosocial treatment of adults with anxiety, eating disorders, depression, chronic pain, interpersonal problems, personality disorders, and couple and family problems); Insomnia and Behavioral Sleep Medicine Program (non-pharmacological treatments of insomnia and other sleep disorders); Child Psychiatry Clinic (treatments of anxiety and mood disorders, ADHD, disruptive behaviors, and eating disorders for children and adolescents); and the Pediatric Psychology Program (treatment of children with medical illnesses including cancer, solid organ transplant, bone marrow transplant, craniofacial anomalies and dermatologic conditions). Clinical fellows spend 50% time in direct clinical activity, with the balance in supervision, case conferences, and seminars. Clinical fellowship appointments are full-time for one year, but fellows may apply for a 2nd year at the midpoint of the academic year. NIMH-funded research fellowships are for 2-3 years. Research opportunities for NIMH fellows are in depression, anxiety, eating disorders, sleep disorders, and developmental psychopathology. NIMH fellows spend at least 80% of their time in research-related activities with one primary faculty mentor, and also spend 4-6 hours per week in direct patient care and supervision. Our fellowships are open to PhDs and PsyDs from APA-accredited clinical or counseling psychology programs, who have completed APA-accredited internships, and also to candidates from programs accredited by the Canadian Psychological Association. Completion of this fellowship meets all requirements for California state licensure as a psychologist. NIMH research fellowships are also open to MDs.

Program Description

The Rocky Mountain Blood and Marrow Transplant Program (RMBMTP) (www.rockymountainbmt.com) is a large regional transplant center for Colorado and surrounding states, transplanting over 200 patients per year. Utilizing a multidisciplinary team approach, RMBMTP provides comprehensive care to transplant patients and their family members. The training program for the postdoctoral fellowship follows a developmental model. Fellows are assumed to have a strong basis of competency in assessment, diagnosis and intervention. In addition, many fellows come with a strong background in health or medical psychology. The transplant program is busy, with a brisk pace, which provides opportunities for fellows to master how to work efficiently within a medical setting as well as how to prioritize their time with the demands of their clinical responsibilities. Fellows carry a clinical case load that is comprised of individual transplant patients and their caregivers (usually family members). Approximately 25 hours per week are spent in direct and indirect patient care. Direct clinical services include conducting patient intakes and providing individual, family or group interventions. Indirect patient care includes providing consultation to staff regarding patient behaviors and treatment planning, and active involvement in 3 weekly multidisciplinary meetings. The rest of the fellows time is spent in supervision, didactics, administrative activities, or other training activities. Colorado has a large Latino population and a large Spanish-speaking only population. Therefore, there are opportunities for bilingual Spanish-speaking postdoctoral fellows to work with Latino patients and their families in the transplant program. Supervision for these clients is provided by a bilingual psychologist on staff at the RMBMTP.

Program Description
The Child Guidance Center of Southern Connecticut is an independent non-profit agency that has served southwestern Fairfield County since 1954. A staff of over 35 clinicians offers a full array of outpatient mental health services to children, adolescents, and their families. The agency's focus is to thoroughly evaluate each child and family so that treatment services can be matched to specific developmental, dynamic, systemic and behavioral needs. Evaluations at the Center include Developmental Evaluations of pre-schoolers, psychological and neuro-psychological testing, psychiatric and psychopharmacological evaluations, crisis evaluations, and sexual abuse forensic investigations. Individual, group and family treatment along with psychopharmacological services are available for patients. The Center also provides consultative and psycho-ed services to schools, service providers, child protective services, and police. The Center provides two hours of individual supervision each week for post-doctoral fellows. A full schedule of weekly seminars and case conferences are provided for all staff and trainees. Fellows also participate in interdisciplinary treatment planning meetings. Fellows also attend a weekly projective testing seminar. They also attend two bi-weekly didactic seminars. A neuro-psychology seminar and a reading study group are also part of the training experience. Fellows may also have the opportunity to supervise an intern, or extern on testing cases, or coordinate consultation to a local Head Start Program. The Center has 2 facilities in Stamford, CT and community offices in the surrounding towns of Greenwich and Darien. The Clin. Dir. oversees all of the agency's clinical programs. Fellows will spend the majority of their time at the Stamford facilities, but may be asked to see patients in any one of the community offices. Fellows working at those offices will always have immediate access to a clinical supervisor either in person or by phone.

Program Description

Our program subscribes to the guidelines for the specialty of Clinical Health Psychology advanced by the American Psychological Association and espouses a strong scientist-practitioner model. Training emphasizes the following 4 core competencies: (1) research/scholarship; (2) advanced clinical practice; (3) interpersonal training; and, (4) program development/policy guideline implementation. With the assistance of the training committee, fellows develop an individualized training plan to meet these 4 core competencies. While fellows are invited and encouraged to participate in existing projects (i.e., current research, teaching, clinical, or program development activities), training opportunities in other areas of behavioral medicine of particular interest to a fellow are also supported. A brief summary of the 4 core competencies is below.* RESEARCH: Current faculty research interest areas include: adherence, alcohol-tobacco interactions, smoking cessation/nicotine dependence, chronic pain, diabetes, health promotion, obesity, patient-provider interactions, primary care psychology, tinnitus and telemedicine. * CLINICAL PRACTICE: Several clinics are supported by the Clinical Health Psychology Section, including (but not limited to): Primary Care Clinics, the Comprehensive Pain Management Center, the Smoking Cessation/Substance Abuse Clinics, Obesity Management Clinics, and Health Promotion Programs (stress management, healthy lifestyles). * INTERPROFESSIONAL TRAINING: Opportunities to teach, mentor, and supervise other trainees (predoctoral interns, practica students, and undergraduate research assistants) as well as to coordinate a yearlong didactic seminar series for all psychology trainees are provided. * PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT: Most opportunities include the development of innovative, integrative, and multidisciplinary models of care and/or involvement in hospital-, regional- or nation-wide program development projects.

Program Description

We offer two tracks in our residency program: Civil (for voluntary and civilly-committed patients) and Forensic (for patients committed by the legal system). The Program’s training model is the Practitioner Apprenticeship Model which is characterized by learning by doing and refinement of clinical skills under the guidance and supervision of experienced practitioners. Trainees spend the majority of time (70%) in service delivery. The treatment setting is inpatient psychiatric hospital working with the severely mentally ill population that is either civilly or forensically committed to the hospital. Trainees have input in tailoring programs to meet their needs/interests. Generally trainees spend 16-20 hours per week at a major rotation and 8-12 hours per week at a minor rotation. Training activities include: individual and group psychotherapy, psychological assessment, leading seminars with dental or psychiatric residents, treatment team consultation, treatment planning conferences, and clinical supervision of psychology externs. The residency is a 12-month, full-time experience beginning on July 1st of each year, totaling to 2000 required hours. Qualified applicants must be a graduate of an APA-accredited doctoral program in clinical or counseling psychology and must have completed an APA-accredited or APPIC member internship and all degree requirements prior to beginning the residency. Training period is 1 year. Applicants must apply to either the forensic or civil tracks. Send request for electronic program brochure to seh.psychtraining@dc.gov for a more detailed explanation of the programs.

Program Description

The program is a two-year postdoctoral fellowship in clinical neuropsychology. The program is designed to produce an advanced level of competency in the specialty and to prepare graduates for board certification. Training is based on written objectives that fellows must meet for graduation. Approximately 50% of the fellow’s time is spent in direct clinical services and 10-20% in research. Training activities include: (a) closely supervised training in neuropsychological assessment of adults; (b) organized didactic training in clinical neuropsychology; (c) medical school neurosciences course; (d) neurology and neurosurgery rounds; (e) case conferences, invited speakers, and outside educational activities. All fellows are active duty military officers. Further information about the fellowship can be found on the Walter Reed Army Medical Center web page under the Department of Psychology.

Program Description
The Psychology Residency training program at Nova Southeastern University fully supports the mission of Nova Southeastern University by developing Professional Psychologists through multidisciplinary training activities including teaching, research, program evaluation and clinical experience. Our philosophy is that sound clinical practice is based on scientific research and empirical support. Our training model is the Scientist-Practitioner Model of Training where research and scholarly activities guide and direct clinical practice, and clinical practice leads to research questions and activities. Overall, the Residency year is in preparation to function effectively and autonomously as a psychologist. The goals of the Postdoctoral Training Program in Psychology include: 1. To develop advanced clinical skills, including psychological assessments and report writing competency, in working with multicultural populations. 2. To develop advanced levels of research skills. 3. To develop professional supervision skills of interns & graduate students. 4. To develop advanced levels of teaching skills. 5. To develop advanced levels of program evaluation and grant writing skills. 6. To develop professional socialization. The objectives of the Postdoctoral Training Program in Psychology include: 1. Resident will participate in opportunities which will develop and improve research & grant writing skills and participate in seeking grant funding from federal agencies. 2. Resident will provide clinical services, assessments, interventions and report writing to a diverse population with competencies of entry-level & continue to improve and gain new skills as a clinician. 3. Resident will provide instruction to faculty, practitioners & students. Resident will participate in program development & evaluation and prepare for a career in an academic environment. 4. Resident will provide consultation services to relevant constituents.
FLORIDA / Ft. Lauderdale

Program Description

We offer three fellowships in Clinical Psychology, one in each of the primary emphasis areas of substance abuse, geropsychology, or post traumatic stress disorder. The structure of the program allows for specific training in the above clinical areas as well as additional training experiences of the fellows' choice, including medical psychology, pain psychology, primary care, neuropsychology, women's clinic, mental health clinic, and palliative care. Our web-based brochure describes each of the emphasis area training experiences as well as the additional training experiences described above. The program also includes ongoing supervision experience with our APA accredited internship program's interns. Our Medical Center is a large, comprehensive university-affiliated facility with 35 doctoral level psychologists and multiple treatment milieus and theoretical modalities. Fellows can expect to be collaborative partners in the development of their training plans for the year and will receive a comprehensive training experience while also developing a specialized knowledge and skill base in their respective emphasis area. Five of our six fellows so far have gone on to VA careers in a area related to or consistent with their emphasis area training. We currently have an additional fellowship with an emphasis in Health Psychology which will require a request for continued funding for the 2011-2012 training year.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities

Training in the area of Clinical Psychology with the goal of preparing candidates for Board Certification. A rich program of didactic seminars, colloquia & supervision with a large faculty body.

Program Description

CONTACT PROGRAM FOR UPDATED INFORMATION Citrus Health Network, Inc. has defined its training philosophy to reflect a practitioner informed by the literature X orientation. By virtue of this orientation, we seek to train residents in a variety of clinical skills augmented by regular seminars in related subject areas, scientific colloquia and reviews and discussions of relevant current and past literature based on the Empirically Supported Practice Documentation created by the Society of Clinical Psychology, Division 12 APA, Committee on Science and Practice. Postdoctoral residents also receive training and exposure to empirically supported treatments through seminars, colloquia, supervision, review and discussion. However, residents are expected to enter the training program with an understanding of fundamental principles and are expected to practice more independently. Unlike the predoctoral program, which provides a wide range of experiences in different programs throughout the agency, the postdoctoral program provides a more intensive experience in a single program. Residents are expected to provide direct services to clients. However, in an effort to continue the professional development of trainees, the resident positions are designed to facilitate residents in becoming comfortable in leadership roles.

Where Did Former Postdoctoral Fellows Go?

Program Description:
FIU’s Counseling and Psychological Services Center (CPSC) is housed on two campuses: one on the bay, the other in South-West Miami, where the Post-doctoral Fellow will work. FIU is a large, dynamic, urban, multicultural, and multi-ethnic Research 1 University with approximately 38,000 students, 10% of whom are international students. The Fellow has the opportunity to provide individual, group, and couples therapy, as well as crisis intervention. The Fellow presents Outreach workshops and offers consultation to various university departments. The Fellow also coordinates and facilitates the weekly Practicum Student Training Seminar and assists with the online student retention program, PASS. The training philosophy emphasizes treatment within the matrix of cultural differences. The professional staff is comprised of 12 licensed psychologists from diverse ethnic and cultural backgrounds who maintain a wide spectrum of theoretical and psychotherapeutic approaches. TRAINING FOCUS: Population: Regis-tered FIU students Treatment Modalities: Outpatient individual, couples, and group therapy, crisis intervention, consultation, workshops, and other outreach programming TREATMENT APPROACH: CPSC offers time-limited, focused psychotherapy. Treatment plans are individualized to reflect the cultural and developmental needs of the students. PHILOSOPHY OF TRAINING: CPSC maintains a strong commitment to training. The Post-doctoral Fellowship is designed to reflect APPIC guidelines. The Fellow is required to integrate theoretical, research, and ethical/legal issues into her conceptualization and provision of psychological services. TRAINING EXPERIENCES & METHODS: Supervision is based on a developmental approach to learning. Goals are individualized to integrate the Fellow’s strengths and interests with CPSC’s needs.

Program Description

The Mailman Center offers a diverse postdoctoral training experience that may encompass both pediatric and child clinical research and clinical training, as well as developmental neuropsychological training. Postdoctoral positions are offered as they become available through training or other grants. Many postdocs remain in residence for more than a year, which, along with funding, leads to fluctuations in the number of positions available. As such, it is best to contact the Training Director before sending in an application.

Program Description

The Counseling and Psychiatric Services (CAPS) postdoctoral fellowship program is designed to develop advanced skills in the practice of one year and a two year fellowship available. Our diverse faculty is able to provide training in multiple approaches in working with clients including: psychodynamic, humanistic, cognitive-behavioral, developmental, and multicultural. Fellows will have the opportunity to work with 14-18 clients in individual therapy per week as well as the opportunity to work with clients in a group. Concentrations within CAPS are available in the areas of eating disorders, mind/body approaches, assessment, and alcohol/drug. Additionally, each fellow will work 4-8 hours per week providing brief evaluation and crisis intervention in our walk-in counseling service. Opportunities to provide workshops, educational programming, consultation, and supervision to practicum students are also available. Postdoctoral fellows will work in close collaboration with senior staff and will function as professionals with many of the same responsibilities. Fellows attend all case conferences, professional development workshops, and staff meetings.

Program Description

The Emory University Counseling Center (EUCC) provides comprehensive mental health and preventive services for a student population that is culturally and clinically diverse. In addition to working at EUCC, Fellows spend two half days per week working at Emory’s Faculty Staff Assistance Program (FSAP), which provides outreach, clinical services, organizational intervention and consultation to Emory’s 21,000+ employees and their families. Fellows gain experience in individual, couples & group psychotherapy, outreach, intake assessments, consultation, teaching and supervision of practicum students. EUCC is a multidisciplinary setting, with staff and trainees representing Counseling Psychology, Clinical Psychology, Clinical Social Work, and Psychiatry; a variety of theoretical orientations and intervention models are represented among the senior staff. The Center’s model of training emphasizes three components: development over the course of the training year, mentoring relationships with senior professionals, and the importance of combining practice with science (practitioner/scholar model). Fellows at the Emory Counseling Center receive intensive, supportive training, which is designed to prepare Fellows for the diversity of roles which psychologists assume in their career paths. Postdoctoral Fellows have the opportunity to work with a variety of clients, cultural backgrounds, presenting problems and treatment modalities, and each Fellow also has the opportunity to work with an identified Specialty Supervisor in order to focus his or her training on a particular area of clinical interest. The 2000 hour Postdoctoral Fellowship meets or exceeds all requirements for licensure in the State of Georgia. The EUCC’s clientele is diverse in terms of age (from late teens to 65+), race, ethnicity, religion, national origin, gender, gender identity, sexual/affectional orientation, disability status, and SES.

Program Description

The program provides exemplary training consistent with a scientist-practitioner model. The competency-based training is developmental and contextually based in nature, and centered on the fellows' individual needs and goals. While our expertise is in developing professional psychologists for leadership roles that combine service, research, and education, our ultimate commitment is to helping fellows define and progress towards their own chosen career path. We offer training at the following sites: (1) Grady Hospital: (a) child clinical psychology working in a community based program with abused children and the Teen Clinic; (b) adults serious mental illness working on inpatient units, psychiatric emergency service, intensive outpatient program, psychosocial rehabilitation program, and outpatient community mental health clinic; (c) women's health working with abused and suicidal women and women with breast cancer; (d) psychoanalytic research, (e) health psychology with individuals living with HIV/AIDS, and (f) trauma psychology; (2) Children's Healthcare of Atlanta - (a) pediatric consultation-liaison and neuropsychological assessment with youth with oncological and hematological disorders, (b) pediatric neuropsychology, (c) pediatric feeding disorders, (d) fetal alcohol syndrome, and (e) developmental and behavioral disorders; (3) Department of Rehabilitation Medicine - (a) rehabilitation and neuropsychology. Positions at all sites include a focus on direct clinical service (assessment, intervention, consultation), research/scholarship, the receipt and provision of supervision, and professional development activities. START DATE IS FLEXIBLE FROM JULY THROUGH THIRD MONDAY IN SEPTEMBER.
Academic Non-Teaching Position

2000 hour postdoctoral fellowship at Georgia State University Counseling and Testing Center balances individual, group and couples therapy with outreach, supervision of practicum students, program development, outreach/teaching. Full-time position assumes 22 hours of direct contact per week and a 44 hour week. Fellows will also serve on the Alcohol and Other Drugs Treatment Team and develop a AOD subspecialty. Culturally informed, use of self as instrument supervision model is emphasized. Nontraditional as well as traditional diverse students seek services. Client issues often include trauma histories. Postdocs participate in case conference, group psychotherapy seminar, supervision of supervision seminar, crisis intervention seminar, trauma seminar (optional depending on previous training) and meet and case disposition meetings. The Counseling and Testing Center's orientation and training programs all stress cultural competency and use of self as instrument to further the learning process. Fellows supervise 1 practicum student, co-lead at least one of 10 interpersonal or support groups, and treat individual clients and couples. Consultation and campus outreach activities may include classroom and student organization presentations; Safe Zone, stress management and suicide response/education presentations; serving as housing liaisons; and leading intercultural dialogue groups.

Program Description

The Kapi'olani Child Protection Center's Post-Doctoral Psychology Fellowship Training Program was started in 1992 to provide specialty training in child clinical psychology with an emphasis in child maltreatment. The training program is part of KCPC's Training Institute, which includes Pediatric Residency training, Nurse Special training, Social Work Practicum, University of Hawaii Law Student Training and the Argosy University-Hawaii clinical psychology graduate practicum training. The program offers the opportunity to work in a multidisciplinary setting with multicultural families. The program provides 2,000 hours of supervised training within a one year period. Meets requirements for licensure in Hawaii & most States. Training on areas includes: Comprehensive psychological evaluations and report writing. Supervisors and Center Director observe initial psychological evaluations, provide feedback and supervise interpretation and report writing. Fellows complete an average of eight to ten child or adult comprehensive evaluations per month, focused on the impact of child maltreatment, parenting abilities and treatment/service planning. Referrals are screened and assigned according to increasing complexity throughout the training year. Psychotherapy training is ongoing throughout the training year. Intakes are presented weekly and cases are assigned with increasing complexity. Training in Family therapy for reunification with biological parents and Parent Child Interaction Therapy is also provided. Fellows participate with supervisors as co-therapists for group therapy. Caseeloads average six to eight clients per week. Case Consultation training in working with Child Welfare Services Workers, Guardians Ad Litem, foster parents, school counselors, etc. Special training in mentoring children in foster care, substance abuse, expert testimony, psychopharmacology, diversity, etc. Supervision of Peer Mentors & Psychology Practicum Students.

Program Description

This APA-accredited Post-Doctoral Fellowship in Clinical Psychology is designed to provide education, supervised clinical experiences, research, and program development opportunities directly related to post-traumatic stress, with a focus on US Veterans of war and their families. A special emphasis is additionally placed on ethnocultural factors in the understanding and treatment of trauma-related disorders among Native Hawaiian/Pacific Islanders, Asian Americans, and other underserved populations. Other emphases include Active Duty military populations, non-combat trauma, women’s health, use of telehealth and technology, resilience, and early intervention/prevention/education intervention. The training is centered at the Pacific Islands Division of the National Center for PTSD. The Center provides comprehensive education on trauma-related disorders, including PTSD and other combat-related disorders. A Fellow’s typical training plan may include three days of clinical work, one day of research activities, and one day for didactics, individual supervision, and group supervision. Primary clinical activities take place at the Honolulu Veterans Affairs Medical Center. Secondary rotations may be available at neighbor island VA clinics, with Active Duty populations at Tripler Army Medical Center or local military bases, and with community populations at rural state health clinics. Applicants must be US citizens, and prior to beginning the Fellowship must have completed an APA-accredited doctoral program in clinical or counseling psychology and an APA-accredited predoctoral internship. The program length is one year. Inquiries should be emailed to Julia M. Whealin, Ph.D. at julia.whealin@va.gov, or mailed to the National Center for PTSD, 3375 Koapaka Street, Suite I-5601, Honolulu, HI 96819. Application materials become available in December.

Program Description

The TAMC Integrated Postdoctoral Psychology Training Program strives to provide each fellow with advanced training. Fellows can choose from one of our three Specialty Training areas, Clinical Child Psychology, Clinical Health Psychology and Clinical Neuropsychology. The Neuropsychology Program is only accepting application from army military psychologists. The training includes workshops by Visiting Distinguished Professors, a significant emphasis on graduate-level training in psychopharmacology, Ethics Seminar Series, Specialty Areas Seminars, and case conferences. Fellows in each specialty area train to national standards. Clinical Health Psychology Fellows have the option of completing a research project of publishable quality or to complete a Master's in Psychopharmacology. Clinical Child Psychology and Clinical Neuropsychology required all fellows to complete a research project. The training programs are housed at TAMC, a major teaching hospital, with residency and fellowship programs in a variety of medical disciplines. Our Fellowship Training Program is accredited as a tradtional training program. We are currently pursuing accreditation as an Integrated Practice Program with three Specialty Training Areas (Clinical Child Psychology, Clinical Health Psychology and Clinical Neuropsychology). TAMC provides a rich environment for training and learning. Faculty of the Department of Psychology participate in ongoing projects of research in pediatric oncology, ADHD, telehealth, tobacco cessation, weight management, pain management, biofeedback, memory disorders, virtual reality, etc. Fellows receive training from faculty from various other disciplines including psychiatry, endocrinology, oncology, and pediatrics, and learn to work closely with physician colleagues. Refer to our webpage for further information or contact the director of training for copies of the Specialty Handbooks.

Program Description

The Isaac Ray Center, Inc. (IRC) offers two (2) one-year post-doctoral fellowships in Clinical Psychology. The program is a twelve-month, forty-hour week experience (2000 hours), providing the necessary post-doctoral hours required for licensure to practice psychology independently in the State of Illinois. The program is designed to provide a variety of clinical and didactic training experiences in preparation for autonomous, professional practice. The program is based upon a practitioner-scholar model offering hands-on experience complemented by knowledge of relevant psychological science. Graduates of this program are competent to work in numerous settings that may include public institutions such as jails, prisons, mental health clinics and forensic centers, as well as private practice and academic settings. The fellowship program allows for training with a variety of patients, problems, and treatment teams. Our philosophy is to provide a broad array of experiences for our fellows rather than any specialized training. They work in different areas of the jail and provide assessment and treatment to detainees with acute and chronic needs. They also provide assessment, intervention, and consultation to a variety of multidisciplinary teams. Fellows also have the flexibility to engage in program development and pursue specific clinical interests. The psychology staff of the Isaac Ray Center, within the Department of Mental Health Services of the Cook County Department of Corrections, administers the fellowship program.

Program Description

The program is supported by the departments of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences and the Cognitive Neurology and Alzheimer's Disease Center at Northwestern University Medical School. Neuropsychology also has a graduate level training program within the Clinical Psychology division at the medical school. This provides opportunities for teaching and clinical supervision of graduate students. The goal of training is to provide fellows with advanced skills in clinical evaluation and diagnosis and in short-term treatment aimed at patient and caregiver education; to provide research opportunities; to provide teaching and supervision opportunities with graduate students and visiting scholars. A pervasive theme within the program is the importance of multidisciplinary cooperation at all levels - clinical, research, and academic. To this end, neuropsychology fellows participate in joint academic and research activities with fellows and staff from other disciplines, including neurology, psychiatry, social work, and basic and cognitive neuroscience. One to two postdoctoral fellowships in clinical neuropsychology are offered annually or every two years depending on availability of funding. Clinical responsibilities consist of inpatient evaluations of adults with a range of disorders including dementia, stroke, epilepsy, neuropsychiatric acute and chronic conditions including dementia, stroke, epilepsy, neuropsychiatric disorders, traumatic brain injury and psychiatric disorders. Outpatient experience is in a multidisciplinary academic/clinical unit specializing in behavioral neurology and dementia. Research areas include Alzheimer’s disease and other dementias (primary progressive aphasia, frontotemporal dementia), aging, attention, and language. Opportunities to work with the Human Brain Mapping group using functional magnetic resonance imaging are available. Direct supervision is provided by Sandra Weintraub, PhD, Robert Harkon, PhD, Nancy Johnson, PhD, and Beth Borosh, PhD. See website: www.brain.northwestern.edu.

Program Description

Connection’s Day School (CDS) is a private therapeutic day school, founded in 1998, that serves high-risk children and adolescents in Lake County who require an alternative school program that is both educational and therapeutic. CDS utilizes therapeutic, educational, family and community connections to promote social/emotional well-being, academic achievement and personal growth. CDS Staff Members employ a variety of methods to help students make academic progress, and develop and/or improve their coping and social skills. By utilizing a combination of respect, humor, empathy, and kindness balanced with firmness (i.e., maintaining high expectations and ensuring that students adhere to rules, boundaries and limitations), Staff Members are able to establish and maintain supportive, nurturing relationships with our students. In turn, these relationships can help the students be more open to learning the life skills required for long-term success.

Program Description

Applications for the program should include: 1) CV; 2) Two sanitized reports (one psychological evaluation and one other—forensic, neuropsychological evaluation, etc)(3) Cover letter outlining interest in LSH and degree plan (e.g., planned graduation dates and plan to obtain temporary license in Kansas); 4) Graduate school transcripts. Three references (one of which being a current supervisor) will be required. Fellows will complete a 12-month rotation on one of the three programs at Larned State Hospital (LSH): 1) State Security Program (SSP) 2) Psychiatric Services Program (PSP) 3) The Sexual Predator Treatment Program (SPTP). On SSP, all fellows will be exposed to working with chronically mentally ill inpatient patients. On PSP, all fellows will be exposed to working with patients either voluntarily or involuntarily committed by court for inpatient treatment due to psychiatric issues causing them to be a danger to themselves or others. Fellows will serve as a treatment team leader, provide therapy, and complete various assessments. On SPTP, all fellows will work directly with sex offenders who have been found to meet the criteria of Sexually Violent Predators pursuant to Kansas law. Specific activities will be assigned by the Supervising Psychologist of SPTP and will include psychological testing, serving as a treatment team leader, report writing, facilitating various therapy groups including phase groups, DBT groups, Co-Occurring Disorders groups, and individual therapy.

Program Description
The University of Louisville School of Medicine, Division of Child, Adolescent & Family Psychiatry, Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, has provided postdoctoral fellowship for candidates desiring specialization in pediatric health psychology since 1993. The fellow assumes administrative and clinical responsibilities in an innovative outpatient project treating adolescents with chronic painful and fatiguing conditions: the Children's Health and Illness Recovery Program (CHIRP). Currently recruitment and data collection are underway to assess for treatment effectiveness. Patients are referred from various sources including pediatricians, fellows, and other health care professionals. The fellowship includes a comprehensive curriculum, including didactic and experiential components. Fellows are expected to participate in clinical supervision, case conferences, and other activities. The fellowship also includes a research component, allowing fellows to develop and conduct research in the area of pediatric health psychology. Fellows are encouraged to develop and maintain a professional network, including connections with other professionals in the field.

Representative specialty rotations include intensive training in Rehab, C & L, infant testing, pediatric neuropsychology, autism, endocrinology, and gastroenterology.

Program Description

“CONTACT PROGRAM FOR CURRENT INFORMATION”The Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in Pediatric Psychology is designed to provide trainees with assessment and therapy experiences that are consistent with the professional expectations of a pediatric/child clinical psychologist. The goals of the fellowship are to familiarize the trainee with pediatric populations, to introduce assessment and therapy techniques that are relevant to and adapted for the acutely or chronically ill child. The fellowship is also designed to provide experience working with child and adolescent outpatient populations and their families, and to promote professional development through experience within an interdisciplinary model. A mentoring model of training is followed and consists of assigning the Fellow to one primary supervisor for the entire year, with additional supervision provided by staff involved in the trainee’s specialty rotations. In addition to verbal feedback, training will consist of observation and modeling from staff in clinical settings. Fellows will receive at least two hours of individual supervision and one hour of group supervision on a weekly basis throughout the fellowship year. The supervision provided meets post-doctoral supervision requirements for licensure by APPIC and the Louisiana State Board of Examiners of Psychologists. A competitive stipend is provided for the 12-month fellowship position. The hospital also provides a full benefits package for the fellow. Applicants should send a letter stating their interests and goals, a current vita, and 3 letters of recommendation.

Program Description

We offer and implement advanced Clinical Psychology training with a rural psychology emphasis, in accord with a scholar-practitioner model. In the process of rebuilding a formal research program, we identify with and conceptualize from a scientist-practitioner model. We offer advanced postdoctoral training within the traditional practice area of Clinical Psychology, with an emphasis in Posttraumatic Stress Disorder/Mental Health. At the postdoctoral level, we aim to train ethically grounded, culturally aware clinical psychologists with advanced competency in thoughtful development and application of evidence-based psychological assessment, treatment, and consultation skills for the benefit of persons and organizations, particularly within a rural environment. Training consists of 2060 hours per year with concurrent training experiences in at least two different treatment settings. We are located on spacious wooded grounds five miles east of Augusta, the state capital of Maine. The Clinical Psychology positions represent a one year appointment. Start date is variable: July 1, August 1, or September 1.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities
Applied Behavior Analysis, Developmental Disabilities, Behavioral Pediatrics, Pediatric Feeding Disorders, Pervasive Developmental Disorders, Autism, Inpatient and Outpatient, and Family Therapy.

Program Description
The Department of Behavioral Psychology provides clinical services to a variety of pediatric populations with learning, behavioral and developmental disabilities. The Department's philosophy is that the principles and procedures of behavioral science form the basis for effective and ethical clinical services. Fellows typically elect to develop their expertise through advanced training in one or two clinical services under the direction of an identified mentor(s). Specific training opportunities include hospital consultation in severe behavior disorders, family therapy, pervasive developmental disorders, autism, and pediatric feeding disorders in both outpatient and inpatient settings. Research participation is strongly encouraged and typically integrated into clinical experience. Fellows have the opportunity to work with their mentor to tailor the training experiences to meet their needs with regard to clinical, supervisory, research, and didactic training. Fellows complete their 12-month training in one clinic, rather than completing rotations across clinics. Applicants are encouraged to specify the clinic(s) in which they are interested. Please note, we require a background check prior to final acceptance into our postdoctoral fellowship program.
Care: Residents fully participate in all aspects of our integrated primary care behavioral health program. In addition, residents will be a part of a collaborative social rehabilitation venues, and will also become actively involved in program development and educational dissemination activities. Primary Care residents will become part of an interdisciplinary team of post-graduate fellows. Residents train within two primary psychology training experiences and clinical focus.

The program offers positions within four areas of emphasis:

1. Center for Psychotherapeutic Change: In collaboration with the Director of Training and other staff, the two residents will assume administrative and program development responsibility within the Center. Residents will engage in individual and group psychotherapy, engage in research or program evaluation, become involved in program development and administration; supervision and teaching; and research. All residents train in the provision of psychotherapy supervision to practicum students, provide continued evaluation, and present professional development seminars to psychology interns and hospital staff. The resident is afforded considerable flexibility regarding training experiences and clinical focus.

Program Description

All requirements (clinical, academic, administrative) for the doctoral degree must be completed prior to September 1st and verified before July 1, 2011. Training Programs: The fellowship consists of 2 APA Accredited Training Programs: Clinical Psychology and Neuropsychology CLINICAL PSYCHOLOGY (1 year): Geropsychology; Integrated Mental Health in Primary Care and Suicide Prevention; PTSD; Substance Abuse Treatment Program; Returning Veterans and Substance Use; and Medical Psychology NEUROPSYCHOLOGY (2 years): Geriatric Neuropsychology; Polytyma and Rehabilitation. We will only be recruiting for the Polytyma and Rehabilitation track for the 2011-2012 training year. Philosophy and Mission: The mission of the VA Boston Psychology Postdoctoral Training Program is to produce independently functioning psychologists. Our model for training entails four core components: (1) To identify, respect, and nurture the unique personal attributes that the Fellow brings to his or her work with patients, by providing an environment with support and guidance through supervision and collaboration with faculty actively working in the field; (2) To encourage and model a scientist-practitioner approach to professional psychology, wherein empirically-informed knowledge informs psychological assessment and intervention with adults and wherein questions arising from clinical practice drive research endeavors; (3) To provide a range of training settings and experiences that allow Fellows to develop a breadth of expertise in psychological practice, as well as options for developing more specific interests in depth; (4) To provide training in multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary care environments in which the Fellow develops confidence as a local mental health expert who collaborates effectively with a range of providers in the context of a large medical care system. We are an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to excellence through diversity.
The Cambridge Hospital/Harvard Medical School
Division of Psychology/Department of Psychiatry

The Clinical Psychology Training Program prepares Post-Doctoral Fellows in Psychology to understand and treat persons suffering with a broad spectrum of emotional distress, using a scholar-practitioner model. With close faculty-trainee interaction, we provide a solid grounding in treatment and assessment that takes into account ethnic and cultural influences. We also teach Fellows to integrate a variety of treatment modalities while working with persons with an array of psychological problems, including persons diagnosed with major mental illness and severe personality disorders. A distinctive feature of our program is that Psychology Fellows can pursue a wide variety of individual specialty interests in the context of a Fellowship program that emphasizes growth as a professional clinical psychologist. All Fellows meet together weekly in a Professional Development Seminar, which includes such topics as providing supervision, teaching in both medical and academic settings, writing for publication, obtaining grants and conducting research, licensing procedures and legal and ethical issues for the psychologist. Fellows are evaluated by supervisors and training directors twice yearly, and the program follows the Cambridge Health Alliance's due process and grievance procedures.

Program Description

The fellowship is designed to provide postdoctoral fellows with a training experience that is first, concentrated on deepening their diagnostic and clinical skills, and second, representative of university mental health practice today. We are a relatively large counseling service, highly utilized on this campus of over 14,000 students. In this setting fellows are actively engaged in the varied roles and functions of our work: evaluation and treatment of students; crisis and emergency response; consultation; and outreach programming. Boston College (BC) students are diverse and talented. At an institutional level, BC is invested in the integration of students' intellectual development with their personal formation. This makes for a psychologically rich population with which a fellow can explore closely and intensively the practice of psychotherapy. A fellow's clinical work and individual supervision, which are the core of her/his training, are embedded in the more encompassing experience of being part of a clinical staff that is committed and thoughtful in its work. In formulating client difficulties, we emphasize psychodynamic, developmental, and culturally sensitive approaches. Formal training functions include individual supervision (2 hrs weekly); case conference; group/peer supervision with discussion on diversity and other clinical issues (1.5 hrs weekly); a professional practice seminar; and administrative participation. Distinct features of this advanced training experience include: 1) fellows generally advance their formulation and treatment-planning skills significantly; 2) they learn psychotherapy process with a particular class of clients who are high-functioning while also very troubled diagnostically; and 3) they develop a practical understanding of the intersections of psychopathology with developmental forces. This is an eleven-month fellowship.
The Austen Riggs Center is a Joint Commission accredited not-for-profit private psychiatric hospital and residential treatment center with 72 patients. The program setting.

This is a two-plus-two year Fellowship/Advanced Fellowship emphasizing intensive psychoanalytic psychotherapy in a therapeutic community of examined living. A full range of assessment, including diagnostic psychological testing, is provided to each patient. At least ten hours per week are devoted to seminars, supervision, and case conferences. Research opportunities are available and presentations at national meetings are encouraged and fully supported. We offer a two-plus-two year post-doctoral Fellowship/Advanced Fellowship with benefits such as health and life insurance, annual vacation, and 2 years of psychoanalysis. We require a doctoral degree from an APA-approved program and APA-approved completed internship.

Program Description

We anticipate one potential postdoctoral position available for 2011-12: The University of Michigan Institute for Human Adjustment Postdoctoral Fellowship Training Program is designed to provide advanced training in professional psychology to qualified postdoctoral psychologists. Training is based in the Psychological Clinic, a multidisciplinary training-focused adult outpatient center with a welcoming and supportive atmosphere. The training prepares fellows for licensure in the State of Michigan (or any other state with similar requirements) through a one-year full-time program that provides robust, advanced training in many key professional competencies (two-year option is available if desired). These competencies include assessment and diagnosis, intervention including individual and couples therapy, consultation and interdisciplinary collaboration, multicultural competencies, clinical teaching and supervision, professional development, ethics, and leadership/administrative skills. These competencies are enhanced through direct clinical service with supervision from expert clinicians, participation in seminars and clinical meetings and conferences, consultation with other professionals outside the Clinic, teaching of seminars to psychology interns and social work students, supervision of clinical work conducted by social work students, and participation in the Clinic’s senior staff meetings and workgroups.

Program Description

Our APA-Accredited training program is based on the scientist-practitioner model. It prepares psychologists for academic careers or positions of leadership in clinical and educational settings. The program consists of a core professional development curriculum and graduated research and clinical training experiences over two years in the areas of Clinical Adult Psychology (APA Accreditation), Clinical Child Psychology (APA Specialty Accreditation), and Clinical Neuropsychology (APA Specialty Accreditation). The core curriculum exposes fellows to cutting edge topics in psychology and health care, and enhances fellows’ understanding of medical/legal issues, ethical dilemmas, career development, EPPP, grant writing skills, sensitivity to cultural diversity and eventual ABPP Board Certification in their specialty. The Clinical Adult Psychology track focuses on depression, anxiety, and clinical outcome, and emphasizes scientific behaviorism and learning theory. Fellows are expected to become knowledgeable about and to employ empirically-supported interventions for the treatment of self-management and self-regulation disorders, anxiety, depression, and various other psychiatric conditions. The Clinical Child & Adolescent Psychology specialty track emphasizes the developmental and social contexts of child psychopathology, and the use of empirically validated assessments and interventions. Fellows gain expertise in diagnosis, assessment, and treatment of children with a wide range of psychological difficulties. They also participate in clinical research and prepare to function as independent, programmatic researchers. The Neuropsychology specialty track participates in the APPCN match process for matching applicants. This track provides advanced training in the application of knowledge of brain-behavior relationships and Clinical Psychology for the benefit of patients suffering from disorder, disease, or injury to the central nervous system.

<td>As the first program in the nation to be specialty accredited in Clinical Health Psychology by the American Psychological Association (APA), we are pleased to offer a 24 month long postdoctoral residency in association with Michigan State University/Flint Area Medical Education (MSU/FAME) and the three area affiliated teaching hospitals - Genesys Regional Medical Center, Hurley Medical Center, and McLaren Regional Medical Center. Within each of these institutions consortium faculty and fellows provide clinical and didactic teaching to a variety of medical residency training programs, medical student programs, and allied health programs. Consistent with experts in the field of health psychology, the residency works toward the goal of training professional psychologists in general knowledge and skills as well as specific proficiencies and competencies. The common training elements of the residency programs include: Group Supervision (2 hrs./week), Individual Supervision, a year long Psychopharmacology curriculum, a Pathophysiology course, a Seminar Series (3 hrs./week), Continuing Medical Education lectures, Grand Rounds, noon conferences, and visiting guest lectures. Upon graduation, fellows are ready to assume leadership roles in Clinical Health Psychology and medical education. Their training prepares them to be effective collaborators with physicians and allied health personnel, to understand the culture and language of medicine, to be able to design and implement effective education programs which incorporate sound psychological constructs.</td>

Program Description

MCARPT is an alliance of mental health professionals, mental health agencies, social service providers, medical health facilities and county and tribal government along with allied agencies located in rural Becker, Mahnomen, Pennington and Ottertail counties along with the White Earth Reservation. The primary goal of MCARPT is to recruit and prepare doctoral level psychology graduates to assume positions of healthcare leadership in rural and frontier communities. The MCARPT program subscribes to a practitioner-scientist training model. It is our belief that professional psychologists are uniquely trained to assume clinical, teaching and leadership roles in rural communities. We value that combination of scholarship, academics, familiarity with research in psychology, and the ability of these to directly inform applied practice. MCARPT envisions the one year postdoctoral training experience as the minimum necessary preparation for trainees to assume positions of psychology leadership in rural areas. As rural psychologists are by nature and by need, generalists, the MCARPT program strives to provide supervised training in a diverse spectrum of ages, patient populations, patient problems, psychopathology, and treatment modalities. Further, MCARPT emphasizes the understanding and appreciation of the unique needs, culture, and customs of rural America. The MCARPT program is based on the acquisition and mastery of 11 core competencies that MCARPT believes are necessary to function as a psychologist clinician, consultant, teacher and community leader in rural areas. The selection and design of the rotational sites and curriculum is heavily dependent on their relationship to the core competencies of rural practice. All clinical activities of the fellowship are based on their relationship to these competencies and it is these values that drive the continuous quality assurance and ongoing evolution of the training program.

Program Description

The Indian Health Board of Minneapolis is a Federally Qualified Health Center (FQHC) with medical, dental and Counseling & Support on site. Training within Counseling & Support is based on a practitioner model with a primary goal of equipping emerging mental health professionals with the highest quality skills for addressing the health disparities and mental health needs of the American Indian community in a culturally sensitive and proficient way. Theoretical orientations of staff are varied and include conceptualization from object relational, systemic, interpersonal, psychodynamic, feminist and cognitive behavioral perspectives. Postdoctoral fellows provide outpatient therapy to children, adolescents and adults; perform psychological assessments; and, develop a project, such as a group or other intervention.

Program Description

Our training program follows a Scientist Practitioner model with an emphasis on mentoring and self-directed development, and training which provides both breadth with depth. We emphasize a scholarly approach to clinical work and an integration of scientific data into the varied training experiences. Residents choose an area of special emphasis including Primary Care/Health Psychology, Rehabilitation Psychology, Neuropsychology and/or Serious Mental Disorders. We are currently in the process of applying for specialty accreditation in Clinical Neuropsychology for the Neuropsychology emphasis position and expect to be site visited during the 2010/2011 training year.
We anticipate adding one new fellow in 2011 or 2012. The behavioral medicine fellowship is offered through one or two of the largest departments in the country with a very strong behavioral medicine emphasis. This is an excellent opportunity to be involved in behavioral family practice clinics which are training sites for family practice residents. The Department of Family Medicine and Community Health is one of the premier departments in the country with an internationally renowned faculty. We anticipate adding three fellows to our current group of six postdoctoral fellows in 2011. The behavioral medicine fellowship is more general dealing with general mental health. The human sexuality fellowship is offered through the Center for Sexual Health which is an outpatient clinic which treats a variety of sexual disorders and dysfunctions; the behavioral medicine fellowship is more general dealing with general mental health.

Program Description

We have two different postdoctoral fellowships. One is in human sexuality and the other is in behavioral medicine. There is opportunity for some fellows to have a split fellowship if desired. This is a two-year full-time fellowship with an outstanding faculty and extensive supervision provided. The emphasis is on clinical experience and training, however there is a required research or scholarly project requirement as well. The human sexuality fellowship is offered through the Center for Sexual Health which is an outpatient clinic which treats a variety of sexual disorders and dysfunctions (average 1200 patient visits per month). This is an ideal fellowship for someone who is interested in developing a career in sex therapy, teaching and research or adding this specialization to their training and experience. Our patients have a number of comorbid Axis I and Axis II diagnoses, so there is ample opportunity to learn to manage a myriad of psychiatric problems as well as treatment of sexual dysfunctions and disorders. The Program in Human Sexuality is one of the premier sexuality programs in the country with an internationally renowned faculty. We anticipate adding one new fellow in 2011 or 2012.

Program Description

The Medical Psychology Fellowship Program at Mayo Clinic Rochester, is designed for recent graduates of an APA-Accredited Clinical or Counseling Psychology Doctoral Program and an APA-Accredited Predoctoral Psychology Internship who wish to acquire specialty training in one of three specialty practice programs offered in this fellowship: Clinical Child Psychology, Clinical Health Psychology, or Clinical Neuropsychology. You will be admitted to one of these 2-year APA-Accredited postdoctoral programs. The fellowship prepares doctoral-level psychologists for a career in an academic medical center by offering them clinical training, integrated with teaching opportunities and research in the scientist-practitioner tradition of training in psychology. Clinical service areas and research training opportunities are available to you to ensure you are provided an integrated experience that is relevant to your needs and career goals. Clinical Child Psychology: clinical training and research in pediatric psychology (chronic medical conditions such as diabetes, pain, POTS, chronic illness and elimination disorders), major clinical health psychology rotations include: Blood and Marrow Transplantation, Behavioral Medicine Program, Psycho-Oncology Service, Pain Rehabilitation Center, Primary Care Psychology, and Obesity Program. Clinical Health Psychology: clinical training in diagnostic neuropsychology evaluations of a wide range of neurological, medical, and psychiatric conditions; inpatient and outpatient rehabilitation of patients with epilepsy, spinal cord injury, multiple sclerosis, dementia, stroke and traumatic brain injury. Member of APPCN.

Program Description

The Psychology Department at State Operated Forensic Services (SOFS) offers a postdoctoral fellowship program for individuals interested in gaining expertise in the area of forensic evaluation. SOFS is comprised of secure inpatient psychiatric facilities. Patients come to SOFS on an involuntary basis, typically after commitment by the courts for evaluation or treatment. In addition to providing statewide forensic evaluation services, many SOFS programs serve as treatment facilities for individuals found incompetent to stand trial, not guilty by reason of mental illness or deficiency, or mentally ill and dangerous. SOFS serves a clinically and demographically diverse patient population. Patients have a wide range of diagnoses which cover most major categories of the DSM-IV-TR. SOFS consists of eleven programs and fellows may serve as evaluators in any of these programs.

The primary goal of our training program is to prepare the fellows to be highly competent forensic examiners capable of independent practice. To meet that end, the fellowship is an academic environment with a focus on forensic literature and test methods. We provide a multitude of training opportunities through didactic exercises, weekly case law study, case conferences, literature reviews, and close supervision of all aspects of the completion of a variety of forensic cases. The training at SOFS will be professionally challenging. The selected fellows will observe and participate in all aspects of the forensic evaluation process, including: interviewing defendants, making collateral contacts, administering and interpreting specialized forensic instruments (e.g., malingering assessments), and writing clear and concise reports that address the Court's referral questions. The fellows may also be called upon to testify throughout the fellowship year. The requirements of the fellowship fulfill the requirements for licensure in the state of Minnesota.

Where Did Former Postdoctoral Fellows Go?

Veterans Affairs Medical Center 2 2 2

Program Description

Please see our website www.psychologytraining.va.gov/kansascity/ for more detailed information and application instructions. The postdoctoral residency is in clinical psychology with a mental health focus emphasizing substance abuse and PTSD treatment, with opportunities in other aspects of mental health, including evidence-based practices. Inpatient and outpatient experiences in mental health and substance abuse are available. In addition, some introductory experiences in neuropsychology, and health psychology may be available. The philosophy of training at the KCVAMC is best described as a “scholar-practitioner” model. The training experiences have a strong clinical focus. However, knowledge and use of evidence-based processes and interventions are expected and encouraged in all aspects of the program. At the end of the program, residents will be prepared to function autonomously as practicing clinical or counseling psychologists in a broad range of applied, teaching, and research settings. Applicants must have completed an APA accredited doctoral program in clinical or counseling psychology, including an APA accredited internship, prior to the residency start date (including all aspects of the dissertation). We especially encourage applicants from students with knowledge and experience in diversity issues. Applicants are required to have a strong interest in mental health issues and treatment with long-term goals to provide service and contribute to this area in psychology. In addition, residents must be interested in studying and utilizing different theoretical orientations that have evidence-based or empirically supported elements of treatment. Candidates must be citizens of the United States.

Program Description
Our one-year, full-time pediatric psychology postdoctoral training program is housed within the Department of Psychology at St. Louis Children’s Hospital. We serve a diverse population of families from urban and rural settings, range of SES, range of ethnic diversity, ages (newborn-young adult), referral concern, and disease presentation. We are primarily a clinical training program, with several year-long primary clinical rotations and the opportunity to choose two 6-month elective rotations that allow for additional specialty training in specific disease areas. Formal and informal didactic opportunities exist within our department as well as within the Washington University School of Medicine Departments of Pediatrics and Child Psychiatry. We offer an individualized training program that allows us to tailor training opportunities to the specific clinical and professional needs of the resident. The resident is a valued member of the Department of Psychology as well as the medical teams she or he works with.

Program Description

The mission of the postdoctoral residency is to provide a structured training program designed to develop advanced competency in clinical practice and program evaluation. The resident will be required to spend part of their time in specific research and program evaluation activities and part in providing direct services. The primary theoretical orientation of Burrell clinicians is cognitive-behavioral, but most would describe themselves as eclectic. Clinical area options include medical psychology, child or adult treatment in inpatient and/or outpatient environments.

Program Description

St. Louis Behavioral Medicine Institute (SLBMI) is an academic affiliate of St. Louis University Health Science Center. Our primary mission is to provide state-of-the-art, specialized services for various disorders and patient populations. Our Postdoctoral Positions include opportunities for group and individual treatment modalities as part of our multidisciplinary teams: 1) Anxiety Disorders Center, 2) Dual Program: Eating Disorders Program / Psychology and Religion Program Anxiety disorders work is done primarily in the context of a cognitive behavioral intensive outpatient program for people with severe anxiety disorders, including obsessive-compulsive disorder, panic disorder, generalized anxiety, social anxiety, post-traumatic stress, phobias, and related problems. Anxiety Disorders Center residents are provided ongoing training in evidence-based treatments for Anxiety Disorders. The Dual Program resident works with both the Eating Disorders team (conducting cognitive behavioral treatment for adolescents/youth in the intensive outpatient program) and the Psychology and Religion team (providing treatment of obesity with religious professionals, integration of spirituality and evidence-based practice, and comprehensive psychological assessment). Appointments are for 1 year with possible renewal for an additional year. In general, training in most programs follows a clinical preceptorship model with two hours of individual supervision per week, plus seminars and group/peer supervision. Requirements include APA-accredited doctoral degree and internship completed. Submit application form and send 3 letters of reference, copies of relevant publications, CV, and graduate transcript. Application forms and program description may be found at www.slbmi.com. Application deadline February 15; selections made by March 15 or until filled. An Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Program Description
Postdoctoral training is offered in adult (1-2 positions) and pediatric (1 position) neuropsychology. Emphasis is placed on professional development through teaching and research opportunities, advanced seminar work, intensive individual supervision, and inter-disciplinary collaboration. Each fellow negotiates with the training director for an individual program which balances these learning experiences. Interest in brain imaging technologies and their application to neuropsychology is encouraged; previous experience in these areas is not required. Program Description
The Samuel S. Stratton VA Medical Center (VAMC) offers two trainees per year the opportunity to complete a postdoctoral residency in Clinical Psychology with emphasis in Post Traumatic Stress Disorder. The training year runs from September through August, and applications are invited from individuals who will have completed an APA accredited program in Counseling or Clinical Psychology and an APA accredited internship by the start of the training year. The residency is housed in the PTSD program of the Behavioral Health Clinic, and this program is the primary placement throughout the year. However, training is broad based and integrative, and residents also have opportunities to work in the Polytomia Clinic, the Chemical Dependence Rehabilitation Program, Inpatient Psychiatry, the Behavioral Health Recovery Center, Home Based Health Care and Community Based Outpatient Clinics. In addition, there is an emphasis on the neuropsychology of PTSD and evaluation of traumatic brain injuries. Training in these settings highlights varying presentations of post traumatic stress as seen in different age cohorts and types of trauma. Supervised experience in supervising interns and practicum students in both group and individual settings is provided. Finally, a series of didactic seminars complement the clinical experiences of the residency. Research and scholarly activity are viewed as integral parts of the postdoctoral training experience.

To this end, residents will be provided with up to 25% of their training time to complete a research, scholarly, or program development project commensurate with their interests and areas of PTSD Program staff expertise. The residency received initial funding in the fall of 2007 with our first class beginning in September 2008. Residents will join well established and fully accredited Psychology training programs at the internship and practitioner levels.

Program Description
The two separate but integrated postdoctoral programs are briefly described below. See our brochure at www.northshorelij.com/NDSL/Psychology+Training+at+The+Zucker+Hillside+Hospital for a full description. The Clinical Geropsychology Fellowship offers placements in diverse settings where mental health services are provided to elderly people with a range of psychiatric difficulties, including psychotic, affective, anxiety, adjustment and personality disorders, as well as Alzheimer’s disease and related dementing conditions. The Fellowship includes a didactic program of seminars, case conferences and opportunities for involvement in research. Clinical placements in the Geriatric Psychiatry Clinic, Geriatric Partial Hospital, psychological/neuropsychological assessment, and consultation to a nursing home, form the core of the Fellowship. The CLINICAL CHILD PSYCHOLOGY program is designed to further the education and skills of post doctoral trainees within child psychology. The goals of the fellowship are based on published guidelines and recommendations for training in Clinical Child Psychology as articulated by the APA Division 53’s Board of Directors and Division 53 Task Force on Postdoctoral Accreditation in Clinical Child Psychology. Overall the clinical child psychology fellows receive between 4 and 6 hours a week of supervision. Efforts are made to arrange for supervision that will expose the trainee to a variety of theoretical orientations. All fellows spend one-half time in the Division of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry’s Ambulatory Care Service. Based upon interest and prior experience, each fellow is also assigned half-time to the Adolescent (Inpatient) Pavilion, Eating Disorders Program, or the Trauma Center. The Medical Center serves a diverse clientele. We believe that diversity is a rich resource for personal and professional development. Candidates with diverse personal and demographic characteristics are strongly urged to apply.

Program Description
Two year intensive scientist-practitioner training within a Brain Injury Research Center housed in the Department of Rehabilitation Medicine, Mount Sinai School of Medicine in NY. Fellowships are federally funded positions under NIDRR and CDC grants focused on Traumatic Brain Injury. Fellows spend 80% of their time working closely with a multidisciplinary team of renowned clinical researchers in the field of brain injury. Opportunities include collaboration with the team to develop, implement, evaluate and disseminate clinical rehabilitation interventions focused on group cognitive re- mediating for executive dysfunctions, cognitive behavioral therapy for depression, evaluation of the benefits of exercise and complete evidence-based reviews, in addition to any new studies funded over the next 18 months. Fellows will spend 20% time in direct clinical service delivery reflective of their prior clinical training. Intensive research and clinical didactics are provided each week. Each fellow will complete an individual research projects under mentoring provided by senior clinical researchers. Fellows will be involved in teaching within the department's APA internship program. Fellows will participate in NIH, hospital based trainings and workshops to round out their research expertise.

The basis of the UCC postdoctoral training program is an apprenticeship model which promotes the independent practice of the fellow to competently perform in positions in which advanced level college mental health psychologists function. To this end, the fellowship is tailor-made to accomplish the following four objectives: 1) Add to clinical competencies already established by rounding out training (e.g., increasing one’s depth and breadth of brief treatment); 2) develop one’s level of supervising and teaching; 3) begin to understand administrative functions in which counseling center psychologists engage; and 4) develop outreach and consultation skills. Possibilities are numerous and are determined in conjunction with the director of training. The fellow conducts individual, couples and group psychotherapy, receives 4 hours of supervision, provides 2-3 hours of supervision to advanced graduate students, offers consultation and outreach services to the university community, performs administrative functions, and attends selected case-oriented seminars. A brief rotation with the University of Rochester Medical Center’s psychiatric emergency department is also included.

--- Program Description ---
We are committed to the development of psychologist leaders who have sufficient breadth and depth of clinical knowledge to assume full responsibility for patient care, teaching, and administration of clinical programs in a variety of health care settings. Depending on the track selected and the professional goals of the applicant, trainees may also gain experience in clinical research in a variety of areas. We offer advanced education and training in four substantive areas of clinical psychology: Adult Ambulatory Psychology, Child and Adolescent Psychology, Primary Care Family Psychology and the Rochester PRIDE track (focused on clinical work and research with communities of color and health and mental health disparities). Program Description

Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center is one of the largest children's hospitals in the country with a reputation for excellence in clinical care, teaching, and research. Fellowships are available on a one- and two-year training cycle across several sub-specialties and offer a combination of training opportunities across research and clinical care. An apprenticeship model focused on active mentoring, career development, professional role identity, and development of skills in clinical research and care that ensures success as a scientist-practitioner, is a hallmark of the training program. Postdoctoral training focus areas include: 1) Behavioral Medicine a. Nutrition and Health (Scott Powers, PhD, ABPP) b. Pain Management (Susmita Kashikar-Zuck, PhD) c. Adherence (Dennis Drotar, PhD) d. Risk and Prevention (Robert Ammerman, PhD) 2) Neuropsychology (Marsha Nortz, PhD, ABPP) 3) Child Clinical/ADHD (Jeff Epstein, PhD) 4) Developmental Disabilities (Patricia Eiler-Sims, PhD) 5) Autism (Rena Sorensen-Burrows, PhD) Training is specific to each focus area but is expected to take place in clinical care and research, teaching, administration, professional development, and community activities. Each program is developed within a focus area such that the fellow will be eligible for licensure at the end of the fellowship. For all areas applicants must have a doctoral degree from an APA approved program, completed an APA approved internship, and defended their dissertation prior to beginning the fellowship. The majority of the positions are supported by NIH research grants, and some are supported by an NIH/NIDDK Postdoctoral Training Grant in Child Behavior and Nutrition (Program Director: Scott W. Powers, PhD).

Program Description

The VA National Center for Organization Development (NCCOD) offers a two-year postdoctoral fellowship in Organization Consulting and Development. The Center serves VA facilities and offices nationwide. The Center's practice is based on an action research model, services include executive coaching, leadership development and assessment, team building, strategic planning, large and small group facilitation, work redesign, survey design and analysis, and psycheducational interventions. Fellows will be involved in the All Employee Survey of job satisfaction (administered annually to 250,000+ employees) and the CREW (Civility, Respect and Engagement in the Workplace) initiatives. The training program offers trainees the opportunity to "learn by doing", and they are involved in all aspects of the Center's work. Trainees participate in weekly didactic seminars based on readings from psychology and business sources and on work experiences in the field. The supervision model affords trainees the opportunity to learn from multiple senior practitioners. The Center's staff provides rich, intensive ongoing feedback. Trainees are expected to have a strong organizational and academic background and to display a high level of professionalism. The ability to work effectively as a member of a fast-paced, high performing team is essential. Trainees must be willing to travel frequently (at least two weeks per month) and to work evening and early morning shifts when needed. Trainees will accrue the clinical hours necessary to attain licensure in Ohio; candidates are encouraged to apply. Candidates must have completed all requirements for their doctorate, including dissertation defense, prior to the start of the postdoc. Rolling admission allows flexible start dates.

Program Description

The goal of this clinical health psychology fellowship is to provide clinical interventions with adult patients experiencing a wide range of medical and psychological problems. Our fellowship is primarily outpatient-based and includes consultations and diagnostic interviews, short-term psychotherapy, behavioral interventions, and group psychotherapy. This is a one year certificate program in one major rotation area: fellows may apply for second year of fellowship in same or different area of specialty upon goodness of fit/mutual consent. Current major rotations include: Headache, Bariatrics, and Cardiac Biofeedback clinics. Minor rotations in these areas are assigned based on goodness of fit: primary care, sleep disorders, biofeedback, personality testing, and teaching at the medical school. The fellowship is clinical in nature, but the fellow is expected to participate in ongoing research, poster presentations, didactics, and teaching opportunities with medical students/residents. See our advertisement in the APA Monitor online edition. Our fellowship is not currently APA accredited. We are in the process of submitting a self-study as part of our application for accreditation by APA. Application Instructions: Interested applicants should initially e-mail a cv and letter of intent to pezdirc@ccf.org between 9/1/09 and 1/1/10.

Applicants selected for interviews will be contacted via e-mail. Program Description

The LSCDVAMC offers one year, full-time APA accredited Postdoctoral Residencies in Clinical Psychology in six separate emphasis areas: (1) Geropsychology (geriatric health psychology emphasis). (2) Psychosocial Rehabilitation of the Seriously Mentally Ill (Recovery Model emphasis). (3) Primary Care/Mental Health Integration. (4) PTSD. (5) Consultation to Specialty Medical Clinics. (6) Substance Abuse. The Clinical Psychology Residencies follow a practitioner-scholar training model, providing training for advanced competence in these areas. The Fellowships require completion of a scholarly project, for which fellows are given 8 hours/week time. We also have a two-year Postdoctoral Residency in Clinical Neuropsychology, NOT APA ACCREDITED, which follows a scientist-practitioner training model. However, NO new CN position is offered in 2011-2012 (the second year of the two-year sequence). Applicants must be graduates of an APA accredited program in clinical or counseling psychology and have successfully completed an APA accredited internship. The successful candidates will have to pass a physical exam, background security check, and possible random drug screen (all routine) prior to final appointment. An oath of office is required.

Additional Information About Training Opportunities

Community Clinics are fully funded. Positions with Office of Disability Services and domestic violence populations are offered based on funding availability.

Program Description

PLEASE CONTACT PROGRAM FOR UPDATED INFORMATION

All Positions include didactic training as part of the program. Teaching; umbrella supervision of residents and practicum trainees are required but amount varies by site. Postdoctoral trainees will either be in a community-based service center, a specialty program for domestic violence, or a comprehensive community mental health clinic. Fellows receive 25%-50% direct service time which meets state requirements. Research opportunities are available at each site. Training is guided and evaluated using a self-generated competency-based training plan.

Program Description

These one- or two-year Fellowships associated with the Department of Psychology at The Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia are designed for individuals who have completed all doctoral degree requirements and who aspire to academic careers and leadership positions in pediatric medical settings or university departments supporting Ph.D. training programs. Diverse pediatric populations, including infants, preschoolers, school age, and adolescent cohorts presenting with developmental disorders, behavior problems, and/or chronic illness/disability receive family-centered services within an interdisciplinary context. Opportunities exist to acquire or refine skills pertaining to Pediatric Psychology, Pediatric Neuropsychology, Early Childhood, and Child Clinical, Community, School Psychology. Training occurs in both in- and outpatient clinical settings. Training and supervision is provided in vivo, in office, and during small and large group rounds. Video-mediated training facilities are available. Research opportunities are abundant. We offer the opportunity for fellows to be involved in federally funded research programs within various medical populations including: oncology, cardio-thoracic transplant, injury prevention, cranio-facial disorders, and pain. Additional opportunities include community-based ADHD interventions and violence prevention in urban schools. Specific areas of focus vary each year and available positions are posted on our website by December. Didactic seminars, conferences, and rounds are frequent and address multiple topics and methodologies. Fellows have direct access to all faculty and staff and work closely with one or two mentors who ensure programmatic integrity and continuity. Fellows receive institutional support when searching for career-enhancing positions.
The purpose of the residency is to engage the resident in all aspects of University Counseling Center service and administration in order to provide preparation for a career in university counseling. The core of the resident’s training includes individual and group counseling with students, crisis response, individual supervision, participation on the Center’s Consultation/Outreach Team, and participation in department projects and initiatives. The residency begins with two weeks of orientation prior to the start of the fall semester. Once the semester begins, residents begin to build a caseload of individual clients up to an average of 20 per week. Upon completion of training in our career assessment process, residents also begin to see clients for career counseling. In September, residents begin to take “on-call” duty on a rotating basis. As residents become more comfortable and familiar with the center and the university, they are asked to take on more responsibilities. Residents are sometimes asked to take the lead on administrative projects, such as coordinating research efforts or organizing outreach functions. They are often asked to participate in university functions as a representative of the Counseling Center. By the spring semester, residents are expected to function as senior staff at the center. They are offered the opportunity to form and lead a group on the topic of their choosing. While still under supervision, residents are expected to take more initiative and demonstrate increasing independence in their work. Residents are formally evaluated at the mid-point of the residency and at the completion of the residency. In the event of a grievance, due process is followed and grievance procedures are in place to assure fair resolution. The residency consists of 1800 hours of supervised professional psychological activities, and it meets the post doctoral supervised experience requirements for licensure in Pennsylvania.
Our program in clinical psychology has 3 tracks: Geropsychology (2 slots), PTSD (1 slot), Substance Use Disorders (1 slot). Fellows in the geropsychology track complete two 6-month rotations. On the Neurobehavioral rotation, fellows conduct comprehensive neuropsychological assessments, provide consultation to the nursing home, and co-facilitate a caregiver support group and memory skills group. On the GRECC rotation, fellows work with the home based primary care team to provide individual/couples psychotherapy, caregiver stress interventions, and cognitive screening in patient's homes. The fellow on this rotation also conducts brief cognitive screenings in the outpatient geriatric specialty clinic (GEM clinic). The fellow in the SUD track works with the interdisciplinary PTSD clinical team for the year. The fellow completes diagnostic evaluations and provides individual/group psychotherapy in the CORE program, recovery and aftercare clinic, and opioid substitution clinic. The fellow may also choose elective training experiences in motivational interviewing, primary care, PTSD, neuropsychological assessment, and research. All fellows participate in the weekly postdoctoral fellowship didactic series which includes a case conference, journal club, professional development seminar, and topic seminar, in addition to other track-specific didactics. All fellows also receive training in program development/evaluation in their specific emphasis area.

Program Description
The Clinical Psychology Training Consortium offers two types of fellowships, hospital based CLINICAL RESEARCH fellowships and NIH funded T32 research fellowships. The NIH RESEARCH FELLOWSHIPS are: NIMH Research Training in Child Mental Health; NIMH Research Training in Child/Adolescent HIV; NIAAA Research Training in Alcohol Intervention/Treatment; NIDA Research Training in Substance Abuse Intervention Outcome Treatment; NIMH Training in Treatment Research; NHLBI Training in Cardiovascular Behavioral Medicine. The purpose of the CLINICAL RESEARCH fellowships is to provide a training experience that ensures the development of competency in a specific area of clinical psychology, including: Adult Clinical, Child Clinical, Behavioral Medicine, and Clinical Neuropsychology. Clinically focused fellowships are APA approved. All clinical research fellowships have a minimum of 20% research time. The exact nature of training (e.g., didactic experiences, percentage of direct patient care, exposure to ongoing faculty research, direct research involvement of the Fellow) is decided on an individual basis by the Fellow and his/her primary faculty mentor. The clinical experiences vary greatly depending on patient populations and hospital settings. Training objectives are achieved through an apprenticeship model where the Fellow works closely with a faculty member in the provision of clinical services and/or in conducting research. The faculty member serves as primary supervisor and role model, and the close supervisory relationship permits the Fellow to develop clinical and research skills as well as role identity. In most fellowships, there are typically at least 2 other supervisors directly involved with the Fellow. Number and type of fellowships vary from year-to-year and most are 2 years in duration. Starting dates vary from July 1 to September 1.

Program Description

The purpose of the fellowship program is to refine the skills of the scientist-practitioner preparing for a career in an academic pediatric medical setting with primary emphasis in pediatric oncology, Sickie Cell Disease, and/or pediatrics/adolescent HIV. As SJCRH is a non-profit specialty children's cancer hospital, training in general pediatrics is not available. The fellow will be trained within a scientist-practitioner consultation-liaison model of service provision which fosters collaboration with a variety of pediatric subspecialties and medical treatment teams. While preference is toward applicants intending toward a career as a clinical investigator in pediatric psychology and/or pediatric neuropsychology, potential fellows may be considered for a primary clinical track (1 year) or combined clinical/research track (2 years). Please indicate intention/preference in online application and supplemental materials requested.

Program Description

Fellows will complete one year (2000 hours) of supervised and advanced training in child assessment, evidence-based treatments (Applied Behavioral Analysis and Parent-Child Interaction Therapy), research, and interdisciplinary team approaches in the field of Developmental Disabilities. Additional responsibilities will include supervision of psychology trainees, participation in didactic learning experiences, scholarly presentations, and possible program development. The fellowship will focus on services to children between the ages of 3 and 10 years, as well as their caregivers and families. Primary or secondary diagnoses typically include Autism Spectrum Disorders, Intellectual/Developmental Disabilities, and Disruptive Behavior Disorders, although services are also provided to children with internalizing disorders. The typical population served is diverse in ethnicity, socioeconomic status, and geographic location (e.g., urban and rural). Although the start date is August 2nd, there can be some negotiation of this date. Please see our website for more detailed information about the position.

Program Description

This post-doctoral psychology program (4 positions) exists within an interdisciplinary training program and provides more intensive supervised training in clinical psychology with an emphasis in substance abuse (2 positions) and in Gerospsychology (2 position). In the substance abuse program, postdoctoral psychology fellows address the problem of chemical dependency among veterans as members of interdisciplinary teams. The psychology fellow combines psychological assessment and individual and group psychotherapy both to conceptualize the psychosocial needs of the substance-abusing veteran and to facilitate the veterans' development of adaptive coping strategies as alternatives to continued substance abuse. These goals are achieved by performing assessments as needed and as requested by the treatment team, conducting individual psychotherapy, co-leading psychoeducational and process-oriented group psychotherapy, attending continuing education programs on substance abuse, and participating actively in all interdisciplinary treatment team meetings. In the Gerospsychology program, the fellows will spend one half of the year in an interdisciplinary mental health team and one half of the year in a rehabilitation-oriented nursing home which includes a palliative care section. Also, these fellows will have exposure to home-based primary care. A minimum of 2 hours per week of individual supervision with a licensed psychologist will be provided, and the fellow will be required to attend training seminars and case conferences throughout the year. Applicants must have received their doctoral degree in clinical or counseling psychology and must have completed a predoctoral internship, both of which must be accredited by the American Psychological Association.

Program Description
The University of Texas Medical Branch training program has a program with a focus on clinical health psychology training. The postdoctoral program at UTMB provides specialty postdoctoral training in clinical health psychology in a variety of health care clinics. The positions are typically funded by NIH, HRSA, and NIDDR grants as well as clinical revenue though unlicensed providers do not generate clinical revenue. Clinical settings are focused on health psychology and combine research and clinical service (approximately 50% each depending on grant funding). The clinical component provides psychological services including evaluation, consultation, and treatment in a number of settings including pain management, rehabilitation and disability at the Transitional Learning Center, the Teen Health, the Pelvic Health Center (Pain and Sexual Function) and geropsychology. Research opportunities are dependent on funding. Teaching opportunities exist in the clinical psychiatry course and the sexual health and rehabilitation course both coordinated by the training director. Inpatient work is also available on the geriatrics unit and a wide variety of surgical units focusing on pain management. It is expected the postdoc will work in conjunction with on-going research projects and develop at least one project with the goal of publication or grant funding. UTMB has a scientist practitioner model of training and includes didactics and supervision of no less than 2 hours per week of individual face to face supervision and additional didactics. The program is designed to enhance research and clinical skills to prepare the trainee for a position in a medical or academic setting and is not a good fit for those wanting to go into private practice. Trainees are expected to develop advanced skills in the practice and competencies of a clinical health psychologist.

Program Description

Ben Taub General Hospital is a county-funded general hospital opened in 1964 to serve the needs of Houston/Harris County residents and is staffed by Baylor College of Medicine professionals. The Mental Health Service provides inpatient and outpatient services for medically indigent and psychiatrically impaired persons. The Postdoctoral Fellow provides assessment and therapy services to psychiatric outpatients and assessment and consultation service to medical inpatients through the Consultation and Liaison Service, participates in ongoing research protocols, and initiates research protocols relevant to the Service. The Fellow serves as a primary clinician in the Intensive Outpatient Program, a multi-disciplinary program for patients with DSM Axis I and Axis II disorders; provides individual and/or group psychotherapy to children, adolescents, and adults; and conducts psychological and neuropsychological evaluations while training practicum students from area universities. Both psychologists and psychiatrists on the Baylor faculty provide supervision for the clinical work and research activities pursued by the Fellow. All the educational opportunities of Baylor College of Medicine and the Texas Medical Center are available, including Grand Rounds, workshops, and scheduled training activities, (such as individual and group supervision), and the postdoctoral seminar series for Baylor affiliated Fellows in the Houston area. The Fellow is expected to develop a research project for presentation or publication, provide lectures appropriate for the training of medical students and psychology and psychiatry interns and residents, and participate in training activities of the Service for interns, psychology residents, medical students, and other professionals in training at Ben Taub General Hospital. The Fellowship meets the licensure requirements for the State of Texas, and the Fellow is encouraged to pursue licensure in Texas during the year.

Program Description
The Clinical Psychology Fellowship program is composed of a total of five post-doctoral positions. Three of the positions provide 1-year of training in clinical psychology with an emphasis in either Trauma and Related Anxiety Disorders (2 positions) or Serious Mental Illness (1 position). The two remaining postdoctoral positions provide 2-year training in the specialty area of Clinical Neuropsychology. Fellows in the postdoctoral training program devote 80% time to clinical service delivery and 20% to research. We are in the process of seeking APA accreditation for these three 1-year postdoctoral positions. The specialty area of Neuropsychology follows Division 40 and APCN standards. Robert L. Collins, Ph.D., ABPP directs this fellowship, which is integrated with the overall Clinical Psychology Fellowship. Neuropsychology fellows devote 80% time to clinical service delivery and 20% to research. We are in the process of seeking APA accreditation for the Neuropsychology Specialty and submitted a self study in April 2010.

Program Description

This one-year postdoctoral training program is based in a private psychiatric hospital which is well-known for high quality patient care. The theoretical orientation is broadly psychodynamic, but with opportunities for cognitive-behavioral and other empirically-based approaches. The educational mission of Menninger is to train promising young clinicians in advanced concepts of psychotherapy and psychological testing. Postdoctoral fellows work as primary clinicians in a multidisciplinary team in a fully integrated, biopsychosocial model. The primary clinician is responsible for coordinating patient care, administering and interpreting psychological tests, providing individual and family therapy and group therapy to patients. Patient treatment episodes range from approximately 2 weeks to 6-8 weeks, affording an opportunity for intensive psychotherapeutic interventions and complex diagnostic work. Clinical supervision of 3-4 hours per week and didactic training round out the training experience. The program is affiliated with the Baylor College of Medicine.

Program Description
We offer scientist-practitioner training in applied clinical psychology in VA medical center setting affiliated with the medical school UTHSCSA. Currently, there are three Clinical Psychology Residency positions with emphasis areas in the following: Primary Care/Health Psychology, Trauma, and Palliative Care. We have recently been awarded a fourth one-year postdoc with an emphasis in Rural Mental Health for the 2010-2011 training year.
Additionally, we have two postdoc slots for our separate 2-year Neuropsychology Residency approved by APPCN. All residents are required to plan and conduct research/administrative projects and make professional presentations in addition to their clinical training experiences. Except for the Neuropsychology Residency, we typically select residents from our own internship class (from those in analogous special-focus areas). These in-house selections are made by December 15th to allow time for open recruitment for any unfilled postdoctoral positions. Applicants should contact the Director of Training after that date regarding any openings not filled by internal candidates. Neuropsychology Residency questions should be directed to Dr. Robin Hilsabeck, Neuropsychology Residency Director at Robin.Hilsabeck@va.gov.

Program Description
The United States Air Force offers two-year Postdoctoral Fellowship positions in Clinical Health Psychology (CHP) to qualified psychologists. The positions are located in San Antonio, Texas, at Wilford Hall Medical Center (WHMC), the largest medical center in the U.S. Air Force. WHMC is a teaching hospital with over 50 medical specialty and allied health training programs. The fellowship is a comprehensive program of supervised clinical training, teaching, supervision, and research in the specialty area of CHP. The treatment programs include working as part of multidisciplinary/interdisciplinary teams including the following programs: Pain Management, Diabetes Education, TMID/Ontocical Pain Treatment, Tobacco Cessation, Cardiac/Pulmonary Rehabilitation, and the Sleep Center. Fellows also gain experience as behavioral health consultants in Obstetrics. The education program consists of weekly workshops, professional seminars in CHP, Distinguished Visiting Professor Program, and attendance at one national psychology conference. Fellows participate in active research protocols and are expected to produce professional papers for submission to peer-reviewed journals or presentation at a national conference. Fellows also gain experience in grant writing. During the second year, fellows receive training in population health-level program management as well as neuropsychology assessment. In recent years most fellows have been selected from those already on active duty as a licensed Air Force clinical psychologist with several years of professional experience. Highly qualified civilian applicants with similar credentials will be considered for acceptance into the fellowship training program. The program usually accepts applicants who are licensed psychologists with one or more years experience beyond completion of their psychology internship program. The application due date is approximately 8 months prior to the start date of the fellowship program.

Program Description

"PLEASE CONTACT PROGRAM FOR UPDATED INFORMATION" The primary goal of this clinical psychology postdoctoral program is to provide the resident with advanced training through an extensive range of supervised clinical activities within the context of a large, multidisciplinary community mental health system. The context of learning includes adults, adolescents, and children receiving outpatient psychotherapy and medication services. Residents also complete psychological testing evaluations on children, adolescents, and adults. Each resident usually has the opportunity to see children, adolescents, and adults during the training year. Sometimes the resident has a primary placement in Youth & Family Services or in Adult Services. Other times, each resident is placed on one Youth & Family Services team and one Adult Services Team. The resident receives two hours of individual face to face supervision with a licensed psychologist throughout the year. The resident registers this postdoctoral residency supervision with the Board of Psychology in Virginia. This registration allows the resident to take the psychologist licensing exams during the training year.

Program Description

ECC and EFI are dedicated to providing excellence in Christian psychological and counseling services. EFI, which residents in clinical psychology, interns, and practica students are affiliated with, provides therapeutic and educational services, counselor training, and world mission support. The integration of Biblical truth with empirically-based treatments provides a basis for treating individuals in the community and church to transform lives and reduce human suffering. Clinical staff draw from a number of theoretical orientations, such as cognitive-behavioral, family systems, and experiential as appropriate. Specialized training in Parent-Child Interaction Therapy (PCIT), Dialectical-Behavior Therapy (DBT) and marriage/family therapy are available. Residents are supervised by two licensed clinical psychologists, and also receive group supervision. In addition to being assigned to the main office in Virginia Beach, residents will provide therapeutic services in several other settings within the Hampton Roads area, such as Portsmouth and Suffolk. In addition to the didactic seminars facilitated by clinical staff at ECC, residents have the opportunity to attend monthly colloquia at Regent University, which has an APA-accredited Psy.D. program, and to attend monthly seminars at a local psychiatric facility. Although it is not required, residents are encouraged to participate in research and to present on their findings in their area of specialty for the edification of the organization and for professional development purposes.

Program Description

Postdoctoral Fellowships are available with emphases in PTSD, substance abuse, primary care and rehabilitation medicine. 1) Two positions in addition care are offered through the Center of Excellence in Substance Abuse Treatment and Education (CESATE) - one of only two programs funded nationally by the Department of Veterans Affairs to offer a specialized clinical fellowship in the interdisciplinary approach to substance use disorders. The primary goal of this fellowship is to provide clinical training in the interdisciplinary assessment and treatment of substance abusers, intended to prepare fellows to assume clinical, academic and/or administrative positions in a variety of settings. 2) One first-year position in PTSD is available in the Mental Illness Research, Education and Clinical Center (MIRECC). This two-year fellowship has a research emphasis (75% research, 25% clinical time). The primary goal of this training is to prepare fellows for independent investigator status in VA Medical Center and academic settings, with expertise in trauma disorders. 3) Two positions are offered in Behavioral Medicine (with a focus on either Primary Care/Mental Health integration or Rehabilitation/Polytrauma care). Both are devoted primarily to the care of returning OIF/OEF veterans, sited in a variety of primary care and rehab medicine settings. These positions offer training in integrated care delivery and evidence-based treatment for PTSD and co-morbid disorders, or alternatively, in evidence-based assessment and intervention of physical trauma and traumatic brain injury. Applicants for all positions must be US citizens, and must have completed a doctoral degree from an APA accredited graduate program and an APA accredited internship prior to the start of the fellowship. Inquiries should be directed to Steve McCutcheon, Ph.D., at the above address.

Program Description

The Post-Doctoral Fellowship in Pediatric Psychology (seeking APA accreditation as a Clinical Child Psychology Post-Doctoral Fellowship) at Madigan Army Medical Center is an intensive two-year training program in the Department of Psychology with an emphasis upon child development and behavioral medicine. The program begins in October. One position is open to licensed military active-duty psychologists and one position is open to civilian applicants. The primary goal of the fellowship program is to provide advanced training in pediatric psychology. Major areas of focus are behavioral medicine. The program begins in October. One position is open to licensed military active-duty psychologists and one position is open to civilian applicants. The primary goal of the fellowship program is to provide advanced training in pediatric psychology. Major areas of focus are childhood psychopathology, pediatric consultation/liaison services, and military related adjustment. During the 2 years the fellows provide services in various settings within the medical center. These areas include the developmental pediatrics clinic, high-risk newborn follow-up clinic, pediatric ward, well baby clinic, dysmorphology clinic, and pediatric subspecialty clinics (e.g., pediatric neurology, pediatric oncology/hematology, pediatric endocrinology). Additionally, fellows are expected to develop one area of sub-specialization and produce a publishable professional project. The fellowship program is geared toward training fellows who can deliver high quality clinical services and who can train and supervise interns and other pediatric psychologists. Finally, fellows have the advantage of cross training in weekly clinics with pediatric fellows from the Developmental and Behavioral Pediatric Fellowship at Madigan Army Medical Center, as well as residents from the Pediatric Residency.

Program Description
The University of Washington (UW) Department of Psychiatry, Division of Public Behavioral Health and Justice Policy, and Western State Hospital (WSH), through the Washington Institute for Mental Illness Research and Training, jointly sponsor a postdoctoral fellowship in forensic clinical psychology. The fellowship runs from September through August, full time. The goal of the fellowship is to produce clinical specialists in the practice and research of forensic clinical psychology who will lead the development of the field. The fellowship is structured in such a way as to prepare fellows for the ABPP examinations. Some fellowship training activities (e.g., seminar and cross-training with law students) occur in tandem with our ACGME-accredited post-doctoral training program in forensic psychiatry, a forensic post-doctoral training program in juvenile forensic psychology at the Child Study and Treatment Center (CSTC), and the forensic post-doctoral training program specializing in work with sexually violent predators at the Special Commitment Center (SCC). Work sites include WSH, CSTC, local correctional facilities, community, and private practice settings. Duties include forensic evaluations of criminal defendants; assessment, treatment and consultation of mentally ill offenders and correctional inmates; supervised report writing and testimony; independent study and research. Eleven psychologists, several psychiatrists, and one neuropsychiatrist are available for supervision, training and consultation. Four to six hours of face-to-face clinical supervision are provided each week. A demanding nine-month, weekly forensic seminar series provides further didactic education. UW and WSH offer extensive collaborative opportunities for education and training. The fellowship program also maintains an active, collegial relationship with the Seattle University School of Law. WSH has a long-standing and fully APA-approved pre-doctoral internship program.

Program Description

Training program is aimed at preparing post-doctoral fellows for a career within a medical setting. Fellows have training opportunities to work with adult medical patients in both inpatient and outpatient settings. Fellows have the opportunity to work both in a community-based federally-funded health center (Access) and a university-based hospital and its clinics (UW Hospital). Activities involve assessment, intervention, and consultation to and participation in multidisciplinary treatment teams. Fellows will receive training in decisional capacity evaluation and pre-surgical evaluation. They will serve patients on oncology, family practice, neurology, organ transplant, pulmonary, orthopedics, trauma and burn services, and palliative care. They will also provide brief outpatient services to patients presenting within a primary care setting. Fellows have the opportunity to receive training in supervision. Fellows also receive formal didactic training in areas related to health psychology. Fellows may engage in some project development, teaching, and/or research during the fellowship year.

Program Description

The Psychology Fellowship Program offers 1 position in each of 2 specialties: Pediatric Psychology and Child/Adolescent Clinical Psychology. The Pediatric Psychology Fellow is trained in the assessment and treatment of the problems of children and adolescents with medical disorders. The Pediatric Fellow spends half of each week in supervised experience on the inpatient pediatric, pediatric intensive care and neonatal intensive care units of St. Joseph’s Children’s Hospital and the other half in the outpatient Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Health. The Child/Adolescent Psychology Fellow is based in the outpatient Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Health. Supervised experience in assessment and treatment also occurs in the Child Development Center and at a psychiatric inpatient unit for adolescents. Both fellows receive training in the assessment and treatment of children and adolescents with a wide range of behavioral and emotional problems. Assessment procedures include psychological testing, behavioral questionnaires, diagnostic interviewing and collateral interviews. Interventions include individual therapy, parent guidance, family therapy and group therapy. Fellows receive approximately 3 hours individual supervision per week, participate in weekly postdoctoral seminars and are encouraged to attend other conferences within the medical complex. The faculty utilize a variety of therapeutic approaches, but the prevailing approach is behavioral or cognitive-behavioral embedded in a developmental and systematic understanding of the child. The fellowship is 1 Year with the option to apply for a second year. Fellows are encouraged to apply for a second year. The goal of the program is to facilitate the development of professional psychologists with advanced skills in child and pediatric psychology to function independently in a variety of practice settings. Program information and application are available at www.marshfieldclinic.org.

The program operates within a scholar-practitioner model. There are four fellowship positions each with a specific area of concentration: one in Geropsychology, one in Palliative Care, one in Psychosocial Rehabilitation, and one in Post-deployment Mental Health Services. Fellows will be prepared for psychological practice either with older adults, with patients with end-stage disease, with the seriously mentally ill, including those with co-morbid substance abuse, or with newly returning veterans, many of whom have suffered multiple physical and/or psychological injuries. While the training primarily occurs within the context of the delivery of psychological services, training needs always take priority over service needs. The objective of the fellowship program is to provide the environment and experience that will promote in-depth development in each area of concentration. The goal of effective independent practice requires competence in assessment, interdisciplinary consultation, individual and systems-based interventions, program development and evaluation, staff training and development, and bioethics. Within each area of competence, sound clinical skill and judgment, an active knowledge of current research, and an ability to teach and communicate well with clients and other professionals are required. The fellowship program is organized around a core of clinical experiences, sometimes opportunities to conduct research during the fellowship, the major emphasis is on clinical practice.

Appendix C: Additional Sources of Information about Internship and Postdoctoral Programs

Listing of Training Programs in Clinical Neuropsychology, 2000
A listing of over 120 academic, internship, and postdoctoral programs in Clinical Neuropsychology is maintained for Division 40 of the American Psychological Association by Lloyd I. Cripe, Ph.D. The list can be downloaded from the Division 40 website and is periodically published in The Clinical Neuropsychologist, by Swets & Zeitlinger. This was last published in 2000. The reference is:

Directory of Internships and Postdoctoral Training Programs in Clinical Child and Pediatric Psychology
This directory is published by Division 53 (Clinical Child Psychology) of the American Psychological Association. There are data pertaining to recruitment, setting, activities, and resources for predoctoral internship and postdoctoral clinical child and pediatric psychology training sites. The Division 53 website has a link to order the Directory, and also lists current programs self-identifying as training sites with a formalized curriculum in clinical child and/or pediatric psychology training. This list is available to the public.

Contact: Division 53 website: www.clinicalchildpsychology.org

Directory of Psychology Internships with Training in Behavioral Emergencies
This is an updated survey of APPIC member internship sites indicating that they provide didactic and/or experiential training in dealing with client emergencies and crises, including violent and/or suicidal behaviors. This directory was created and maintained by Section VII ("Clinical Emergencies and Crises") of Division 12 of the American Psychological Association, in collaboration with APPIC.
